THE MON RIVER BIG BAND

Big Band Set To Perform At AG Kick-Off Dinner

The Mon River Big Band will perform at this year's Autumn Glory kick-off dinner and reception Wednesday, Oct. 11, at the Lodge at Wisp.

The band was founded in the spring of 2004 by Mike Roberts and Mark Cappellini. The purpose of the band was to "keep alive the sounds of the Big Band Era and to provide an opportunity for musicians to participate in a great band and have fun," said a spokesperson.

The 17-member band performs music by Glenn Miller, Count Basie, Les Brown, Woody Herman, Tommy Dorsey, Buddy Rich, and many others. A male vocalist permits the band to include vocals from the Frank Sinatra library. The members of the band are music teachers and music professors, students, and retired band directors. The program will feature music from the 1920s to the music of 2006.

The band played in June at the opening event of the Little Yough Festival.

"The kick-off reception and dinner is a great way to begin enjoying our Autumn Glory events," said Charlie Ross, president and CEO of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce. "We are excited to have a band like this to jump start our favorite festival. We hope area dance instructors will pitch in with swing dance offerings and maybe a few fancy steps."

The 2006 Honorary Golden Ambassador will be announced at the dinner, which also includes the coronation of the Autumn Glory Royal Court and recognition of the parade marshals.

To make reservations for the kick-off dinner, persons may call Jessica Schmidt at 301-387-4386 or jessica@garrettchamber.com.

Just what is an Evangelical Free Church?

Evangelical: We seek to know Jesus Christ personally and to make Him known through evangelism both locally and around the world.

Free: It's a term that goes back to our European roots, when our founders sought to be free from state church control.

Church: We're a body of biblical, evangelical Christians who follow Jesus Christ and desire to grow in our walks with Him. Our services are a blend of contemporary and traditional worship.

The Evangelical Free Church of America is one of the fastest growing Protestant denominations with over 1,300 U.S. churches. It extends to some 43 other nations, encompassing nearly 1,300 additional churches.

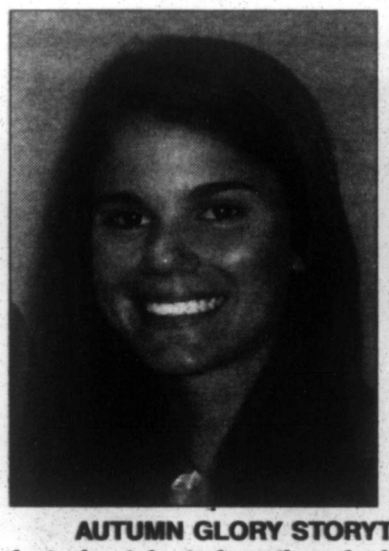
Guest Storyteller Slated For Annual Tall Tale Festival

Gail Herman, the coordinator of the Tall Tale Storytelling and Book Sale Festival, has announced that Lois Springnether, a storyteller and newly retired children's library director from Michigan, will be the guest storyteller at this year's event.

Springnether, a member of the National Storytelling Network, is the originator and president of the Northern Oakland County Storytellers' Guild in Michigan and the facilitator and originator of the Mt. Clemens Raconteurs. Springnether will tell several tall tales during the Book Sale event. Her specialties include Paul Bunyan; Speewah tales (an Australian version of tall tales); and her own original tales. She has performed in numerous libraries, schools, and community organizations. She also conducted a tall tale festival in Michigan for 19 years.



AUTUMN GLORY STORYTELLING – The Tall Tale Festival, featuring talented youth and adult storytellers, will be held from 9 a.m. until 12:15 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 14, at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland. Pictured above left is Joanna Guy, a 10th grade student at Southern High School who represented Maryland at the National Storytelling Conference in Pittsburgh in July. Joanna will present an original story, "Hyperbole," at the Tall Tale Festival. At the top right is Lois Springnether, a storyteller and newly retired children's library director from Michigan, who will be the guest storyteller at the event. She and Dr. Gail Herman will also host a workshop. See story for more information. For more information about the festival or to be a teller at the festival, persons may contact Herman at 301-387-9199. Proceeds of the event benefit scholarships to students given by the AAUW (American Association of University Women).

Another guest performer will be Joanna Guy who told an original story called "Hyperbole." Guy told this story as the Maryland Student Storyteller for the Kids Koncert in Pittsburgh, Pa., at the National Storytelling Conference in July. Joanna was a former tall tale teller champion in 2004.

The event will take place on Oct. 14 at the St. Paul's United Methodist Fellowship hall on the corner of Oak and Fourth streets in Oakland. Students will tell stories at 9 a.m. and adults tell stories from 10:45 a.m. until noon. Adults and students interested in telling a "true" or tall story (for 5 to 7 minutes) at this event may call Dr. Gail N. Herman at 301-387-9199 and leave a name and a phone number to receive fur-

LOOKING FOR A FAMILY DOCTOR?

We're here for you at MOUNTAIN LAUREL

Medical Center

OPEN HOUSE
1 PM – 5 PM Thursday, October 12
9 AM – 5 PM Friday, October 13

- A new family practice medical office providing primary health care services for all ages
- Discount programs available based upon family size and income (assets not included)
- Medicare and Medicaid programs accepted
- Private insurance acceptance coming soon
- Referral assistance available for other health care and financial programs and services
- Convenient location in the lower level of the Regional Eye Center on Memorial Drive

There are three ways your doctor can help you stay healthy: prevention, screening and treatment. Unfortunately, many people see their doctors only to get treated when they are sick. These people often miss lifesaving opportunities to prevent health problems or catch them at an early stage, when they can be treated most easily.

"HOME OWNERSHIP"

in 2006

THE GARRETT COUNTY BOARD OF REALTORS® is working to create an environment where home ownership is feasible and affordable in Garrett County. We work with local and state officials to facilitate homeownership and to keep taxes and other homeownership costs down.

We recognize the economic and personal benefits of owning a home, and encourage voters to support candidates that have the same vision for our community.

- In 2005, the construction of 334 new single family homes in Garrett County resulted in $31.9 million in wages and $17.1 million in federal, state and local taxes.
- Real property provides more than $2.7 billion in assessable tax base and more than 24% of the county government's total revenue.
- Homeowners in our community spent more than $2.1 million to furnish, repair and improve their homes in 2005.
- The County's assessable base of real property value is projected to total over $3.162 billion in FY2007.

Festival Features Wide Variety Of Fantastic Food

Festive fare to appeal to all palates will be available during the 39th annual Autumn Glory Festival, from full-course dinners to three-scoop ice cream sundaes.

Old World German-style food and beverages will be served at the Oktoberfest meal in the Oakland fire hall on Thursday, Oct. 12, from 4 to 7 p.m. The meal will be followed by the Firemen's Parade and the OVFD Oktoberfest. Admission is free, with a charge for each meal. For more information, persons may call 301-334-3535.

Everyone is invited to "Glorious Harvest" at the Mountain Fresh Producers' Market with fresh local produce, baked goods, jellies, pumpkins, ornamental corn, crafts, children's activities, and more. The market will open at the Mountain Fresh Pavilion in the Oakland town parking lot Wednesday, Oct. 11, from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m., Thursday from noon until 1 p.m., and Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Admission is free. For more information, persons may call 301-334-6960.

Hot sausage sandwiches and hotdogs will also be served by members of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department on Saturday, beginning at 11 a.m. in front of the fire hall along Third Street. All proceeds benefit the Oakland VFD.

Festival-goers may also enjoy a variety of foods sold by vendors during the Grand Feature Parade and throughout the day on Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Oakland. Vendors will be set up primarily along Green Street. The proceeds will benefit many local non-profit organizations.

Visitors planning to watch the parade will be able to come early and/or stay late, and dine while enjoying the musical entertainment and displays throughout Oakland.

The festival will again feature the 10th annual No-Hands Sundae Eating Contest. Competitors will face off against a three-scoop dish of homemade ice cream with toppings and whipped cream. This challenge will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. at Lakeside Creamery, 20282 Garrett Highway, along Deep Creek Lake.

The fee for contestants is $5, with proceeds to benefit Big Brothers Big Sisters. Several age categories will be available, with prizes awarded to all winners. Admission is free for spectators.

VISIT THE COUNTY'S PAST at the Garrett County Historical Museum during Autumn Glory. Many historical artifacts, such as those pictured above, will be on display. The museum will be open Thursday and Friday from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m., and on Saturday from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m., except during the Grand Feature Parade. Admission is free, but donations are appreciated. The museum is located at 107 S. Second Street in Oakland. For more information, persons may call 301-334-3226.

PRIZES DONATED FOR QUILT SHOW AWARD – Pictured are a Longaberger basket and bathroom accessories donated by Linda Reagan, a Longaberger basket representative. These items will be given to the People's Choice Award winner at the fourth annual Autumn Glory Quilt Show. The show will be held Oct. 14 and 15 from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. each day at St. Peter's Catholic Church social hall at the corner of Oak and 4th streets in Oakland. The show is sponsored by the Heritage Quilters. The public is encouraged to the show. Quilts will be accepted on Friday, Oct. 13, from 9 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Persons who would like to enter may call Martha McGettigan at 301-387-4959. The Heritage Quilters meet the second Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m. in the Continuing Education building at Garrett College, McHenry campus. Group members invite others to join them and share their talents and love of quilting. Pictured, left to right, are members Thelma Emory, Joan Chaney, and Maxine Legeer.

Local Quilt Group To Present Fourth Annual AG Show

The Heritage Quilters will hold their fourth annual Autumn Glory Festival Quilt Show on Saturday, Oct. 14, and Sunday, Oct. 15, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church social hall, located at the intersection of Oak and Fourth streets in Oakland.

This show is a non-judged event, and some quilts may be available for sale. Admission is $2 per person, with children 12 and under attending for free.

The show will feature more than 100 quilts from local quilt makers as well as vendors and a craft boutique. This year's event includes a "Bear's Paw" quilt (pictured) that was pieced by the Heritage Quilters and machine

Various Traditional AGF Events Scheduled Again

The traditional Firemen's Parade in Oakland is one of the many special activities and events slated for the 39th annual Autumn Glory Festival. Dozens of fire and rescue units from throughout the tri-state area will participate in this salute to firefighters. The parade will begin at 7 p.m. in downtown Oakland on Thursday, Oct. 12.

Following the parade, everyone is invited to attend the Oktoberfest celebration, a perennial favorite, in the Oakland fire hall along Third Street. German-style food, drink, and a live oom-pah band will be featured. The parade and Oktoberfest are sponsored by the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department.

The Oakland Post Office will offer application of the 39th annual Autumn Glory Festival pictorial cancellation to letters and cards prepared by customers. This special two-day-only opportunity is scheduled Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Saturday from 8 a.m. to noon. For more information, customers may call 301-334-3151. The post office is located at 22 South Second Street.

Big Bucks Bingo will be held Friday at 6:30 p.m. at the Elks Lodge, 100 Elk Street, Oakland, with the doors opening at 5 p.m. Admission is $30, which includes all regular games. Tickets are available from any Oakland Volunteer Fire Department or Elks Lodge member. Persons must be 18 years of age or older. Refreshments will be available. For more information, one may call 301-334-3535.

The Autumn Glory 5K/2-Mile Walk, sponsored by the Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club, will be held Saturday at Broadford Lake Park. Gates will open 7:30 a.m. for registration, with the race scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m. Registration is $20. Cash awards will be given to the top male and female finishers. Awards will also be given to the top three finishers in each age group. All proceeds will benefit the Lions Club's sight programs. For more information, persons may call 301-334-4287 or visit online at iplayoutside.com.

The High Mountain Sports annual Autumn Glory Ski and Snowboard Swap gives shoppers a chance to purchase skis, snow shoes, snowboards, and other equipment at bargain prices. The event will be in operation Friday, Saturday, and Sunday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Trader's Landing, Deep Creek Lake.

Used equipment will be consigned for sale at High Mountain Sports during Autumn Glory weekend. Stock will continually change, so buyers are encouraged to stop in several times to see what else has come in for the sale. Persons may drop off used equipment Friday and Saturday morning. For more information, persons may call 301-387-4199. Admission is free.

The T.L.T. Sports Card Show will again be held at the Oakland fire hall on Saturday from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. The event is one of the oldest sports card shows in western Maryland. Dealers from the tri-state area will offer old and new cards, and NASCAR, Beanie Babies, and other collectibles. Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for children. Family rates will also be available. To learn more, persons may call 724-592-5038.

GALS Group Set To Hold Annual Fundraising Dance

The Garrett Area Ladies Society (GALS), originated by Maggie Lemak, will hold its second annual Autumn Glory fundraising dance, "Fall-ing for You." This dance supports local area charities, and will be held on Saturday, Oct. 14, from 7 to 11 a.m. Reservations are required.

Persons interested in joining the group may contact Lemak at 301-387-7800.

American Legion To Serve Dinners During Festival

American Legion Post #71 Ladies Auxiliary, Oakland, will serve turkey dinners with "all the trimmings" during the Autumn Glory Festival on Saturday, Oct. 14, beginning at 11 a.m.

The cost is $7. Proceeds benefit the post home foundation.

Post #71 is located across from Garrett County Memorial Hospital along Memorial Drive.

Military Personnel Asked To March In AG Parade

The Western Maryland Military Family Support Group invites all military personnel to participate in the Autumn Glory Grand Feature Parade on Saturday, Oct. 14, at 1 p.m.

"The Military Support Group would like to see many show up to march (or ride if unable to walk) proudly for the service you have shown our country, either here at home or overseas," said a group spokesperson. "Let all of Garrett County and its visitors show you how much we appreciate your dedication."

Participants are asked to wear their uniforms and line up by 11:30 a.m. where they see the military vehicles.

For more information, persons may call Judy Fazenbaker at 301-746-4019 or Debbie Workman at 301-746-8717.

THE SOUND OF BAGPIPES WILL AGAIN BE HEARD during the Autumn Glory Festival when the Garrett College Pipes and Drums march in the annual Firemen's Parade, slated Thursday, Oct., 12, at 7 p.m. in Oakland. Following a traditional church service and a kirkin 'o' the tartans (blessing of the tartans), the group will also present a concert on Sunday at 9 a.m. at St. John's Episcopal Church, located along Rt. 135 in Deer Park. Admission is free, but donations will be appreciated. For more information, persons may call 301-387-6315.

Artists, Artisans Displaying Works During AG Festival

Numerous Garrett County artists and artisans will be opening their shops and demonstrating their crafts during the 39th annual Autumn Glory Festival.

Spruce Forest Artisan Village, located along Rt. 40 near Grantsville, will be open Wednesday through Saturday, Oct. 11-16, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. each day. Festival goers are invited to visit artisans at work in rustic log cabin studios, plus the fine craft galleries, historic house museums, Stanton's mill, and Penn Alps Restaurant. Admission is free. For more information, persons may call 301-895-3332 or e-mail info-@spruceforest.org.

Art and handmade products will also be available for purchase in the Shoppe at Heritage Square, located in the Oakland Train Station, Wednesday through Sunday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. each day. The event features "a sampling of the region's best traditional and contemporary artisans."

Items available include stained glass, handcrafted soap, herbal items, wool products, jewelry, and pottery.

Craft shows will also be held at Dennett Road Elementary, Broad Ford Elementary, and Southern Middle schools on Saturday from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. and Sunday from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Hundreds of talented people will be offering a wide selection of traditional and contemporary items. Admission is free.

The Heritage Quilters will also present their fourth annual Autumn Glory Quilt Show Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. in St. Peter's Catholic Church social hall, Oakland. Admission is $2.

The Autumn Glory Fine Arts Exhibit at the Gallery of the Garrett County Arts Council will feature paintings, photography, jewelry, sculpture, wood craft, fabric art, and more by local and regional artisans. The Gallery is located along Alder Street in Oakland and will be open from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. each day during Autumn Glory.

Festival goers can also see glassblowing at the Simon Pearce factory, 265 Glass Drive near Mtn. Lake Park. The facility will be open to the public Thursday through Saturday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Admission is free. For more information, one may call 301-334-5277.

The Stained Glass Gallery, located at 214 I Street in Mtn. Lake Park, will be open during the Autumn Glory Festival from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Lou DiCarlo's showroom will feature 2,000 stained glass creations. Admission is free. The number to call for further information is 301-334-8222.

Annual Banjo Fiddle, Mandolin Contest Slated

The 39th annual Official Maryland State Banjo and Fiddle Championship and Mandolin Contest will be held Oct. 13 and 14 at the Southern Garrett County High School gymnasium,.

The banjo competition will be held Friday evening, with mandolin and fiddle players sharing their talents on Saturday.

Doors open at 6 p.m. each evening for the events, which will feature contestants of all ages from a five-state area. Cash prizes will be awarded.

On Friday, well-known bluegrass and country music performers Ronnie Reno and The Reno Tradition will take the stage at 7 p.m.

The events are being presented by the Dove Center, a domestic violence and sexual assault resource center. The center provides counseling, shelter, hotline and other support services for victims of domestic violence or sexual assault, according to Heather Hanline, executive director.

Rob Michael, a State Farm Insurance agent, is a major sponsor of the competitions.

Children under 12 years of age will be admitted free of charge. Tickets may be purchased through Oct. 12 from Arrowhead Market, Deep Creek Foodland Fresh and the following pharmacies: Gregg's, Proudfoot's, Deep Creek Lake, Friendsville and Beachy's in Grantsville.

Tickets may also be purchased at the door.

Refreshments will be available for purchase.

For more information regarding tickets or contest participation, persons may call 301-334-6255.

Corinth Church To Hold Bazaar During Autumn Glory Fest

Corinth (W.Va.) United Methodist Church will hold a bazaar Friday, Oct. 13, and Saturday, Oct. 14, from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. each day during the Autumn Glory Festival.

"There will be something for everyone," said a church spokesperson.

The event will feature handmade crafts and gifts, holiday decorations, Christmas tree ornaments, baked goods, and a soup and sandwich sale. Proceeds benefit the church's building fund.

Directions to Corinth United Methodist from Oakland are as follows: Take Rt. 39 west past the Maryland/West Virginia line, where the highway becomes Rt. 7. The church is located on the right approximately ½ mile past the West Virginia line. From Terra Alta, W.Va., take Rt. 7 east. The church is located 4½ miles from the town on the left.

AGF Pictorial Cancellations Again Available

Share the Autumn Glory spirit in your correspondence to friends and family. The Oakland Post Office is again offering a special pictorial cancellation during the Autumn Glory Festival.

Customers may bring their prepared letters and postcards to the post office on Friday, Oct. 13, from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. and on Saturday, Oct. 14, from 8 a.m. until noon to receive a colorful cancellation.

The Oakland Post Office is located at 22 South Third Street. For more information, persons may call 301-334-3151.

Parade Pass Required On AG Saturday

A parade pass will be necessary to get into downtown Oakland on Saturday, Oct. 14, prior to the Autumn Glory Grand Feature Parade, according to a release from the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce. Several Oakland roads are closed before and during the parade.

"People who work in downtown Oakland but do not go in to work until after 10:30 a.m. must have a pass to get past the barricaded roads," said Regina Sweitzer, director of office administration for the chamber. Anyone who must be able to utilize those closed routes that day needs a pass, including those using the handicapped parking areas.

Business owners or employees should contact town officials or the chamber in advance for a pass. Parade passes are available from Oakland City Hall, at the Visitors Center at McHenry, and at the Shoppe at Heritage Square in the 1884 B&O Train Station.

Second Street will be closed to traffic from Liberty Street to Center Street at 9:30 a.m. Saturday for the Pleasant View Baptist Church's presentations of music, puppetry, and drama, as well as the food vendors along Green Street. Omar and South Green streets will also be closed during the Autumn Glory festivities.

Both Second and Third streets from Omar Street to Alder Street will be closed to all vehicles at 11 a.m. that day. Traffic needing to bypass Oakland will be directed to detour along Fourth Street until the parade ends. Center Street will remain open until 12:45 p.m.

Memorial Drive also will be closed to through traffic from Fourth to Eighth streets. No one will be permitted to turn onto Fourth Street from Memorial Drive. Barricades and police officers will prevent access onto Memorial Drive from Fourth to Eighth streets. Emergency vehicles should use Kings Run Road or Eighth Street to Memorial Drive. Parking along the parade route, which includes parts of Second, Third, and Alder streets, is prohibited prior to and during the parade.

ONE BIG STREET PARTY takes place every year at the Autumn Glory Festival in the hours before the grand feature parade. The main roads of Oakland are closed to traffic, and opened to the thousands of festival-goers, who have fun seeing the sights, eating the food, and reuniting every few feet with friends, old and new. Photo by John McEwen.

The Grand Feature Parade will begin at 1 p.m., but Oakland Police Chief John Sines encourages anyone coming to the parade to arrive early and enjoy the many other activities.

"If you come early, you can find a good parking space and enjoy the entertainment," he said, suggesting an 8 or 9 a.m. arrival.

Some roads will also be closed Thursday, Oct. 12, for the Oktoberfest dinner and celebration and the annual Firemen's Parade. Some roads will be closed at 6:30 p.m. and others at 6:45 p.m. Everyone should be in place to see the parade by then, said Sines.

After Thursday's parade, Third Street from Center to Green will be closed for the Oktoberfest activities.

Persons with questions concerning parking and road closing during the Autumn Glory Festival may telephone the Oakland Police Department at 301-334-2100 or Oakland City Hall at 301-334-2691.

Enjoy the parade!

State's First Fire Wardens To Be Honored At DCL

This year's Autumn Glory activities will include a Fire Wardens' Remembrance Day at Deep Creek Lake State Park on Sunday, Oct. 15, at 2 p.m.

As part of its Centennial Celebration, the Maryland Department of Natural Resources State Forest and Park Services will dedicate a plaque in memory of early fire wardens who formed the first organized effort to fight forest fires in the state.

The plaque will be placed at the foot of the trail leading up to the Thayerville fire tower.

The State Forest and Park Service began in Garrett County in 1906, with the Garrett brothers donating nearly 2,000 acres to Maryland. That land is now part of the Garrett State Forest.

For more information about the Fire Wardens' Remembrance Day, persons may call 301-387-7314.

Church To Serve Turkey Dinners

Oak Park Church of the Brethren will serve turkey dinners during the Autumn Glory Festival on Saturday, Oct. 14, beginning at 2 p.m.

The cost is $7 for adults and $4 for children 10 years and younger. Take-outs will be available.

The church, which is handicapped accessible, is located in Mtn. Lake Park across from Southern High School at 110 Church Lane

For more information, persons may call 301-334-2243.

Decorate And Celebrate The Season Of Fall

by Andy Newcom
Courtesy of ARA Content

Fall is here...and with cooler weather comes the perfect time to reflect the spirit, beauty, and richness of the season, while adding warmth and comfort to your home decor. If the thought of decorating for the season – making that transition from summer's bright splashes to autumn's earthy flashes – sounds a bit daunting, don't let it stop you this year. All it takes is a little creative inspiration.

There are simple ways to spice up your home décor every few months, mixing items you already own with a few key seasonal pieces, or finding new ways to display those special mementos you've collected over the years. "Hey, I can do that" ideas for warming up your home this fall are as close as your Hallmark Gold Crown store.

Incorporate Seasonal Icons

•Warm up your home décor with fall colors such as deep red and vibrant orange. Drape a hall table (or any flat surface against a wall) with a textured fabric such as burlap or muslin, or simply use a vintage table cloth in warm colors. Place a mirror or large framed photo on the table, resting against the wall, and surround it with ceramic pumpkins and an oak leaf garland. To complete the display, light small ceramic pumpkin candles to reflect in the mirror, bouncing warm candlelight through your room.

•Want to feel like you've just returned from the local orchard with some of fall's bountiful fruit favorites? Now's the perfect time to bring those old bushel baskets up from the basement or out of the garage. Wad up newspaper to fill the baskets and then arrange apples, pears and pomegranates (purchased at your local grocery store) as the top layer. Place the baskets just inside your front door or on the fireplace hearth for an instant reminder of autumn's harvest.

Fall Decorating Shouldn't be Confined to the Living Room

•Even though the kitchen usually ends up being the home's most popular gathering spot, too many homeowners put this room last on their seasonal decorating lists. Make it your priority this year by stringing a fall-colored ribbon through an autumn leaf wreath and hanging it on a cabinet door. Using a tack, secure the ends of the ribbon behind the cabinet door, out of sight, so that the ribbon is draped over the top of the door. Carry your autumn touch to the table with a centerpiece that's the center of attention. Encircle your favorite Yankee candle with a second smaller wreath. Select a candle scent that brings to mind a fresh

Lions Hosting 12th Annual AG Run/Walk

The Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club will host its 12th annual Autumn Glory 5K-Run/2-Mile Walk for Sight on Saturday, Oct. 14, at Broadford Lake Park. Registration will begin at 7 a.m., with the race starting promptly at 8:30. Admission is free for spectators.

Participants may run the five kilometers or walk the two miles. The race, which is on a mostly flat course, will start and end at Broadford Lake Park.

The age categories are as follows: 13 and under, 14 to 19, 20 to 29, 30 to 39, 40 to 49, 50 to 59, 60 to 69, 70 to 80, and over 81.

Awards will be presented to the first-place and second-place male and female runners and walkers. The top three finishers in each age group will also receive awards. There will be no duplication of awards.

Additionally, a grand-prize drawing for participants will be held, with the winner taking home a Trek mountain bike.

A souvenir sweatshirt will go to the first 150 entrants. An additional $2 is required for an XXL sweatshirt. Late registration (after Oct. 1 and the day of the race) is $20.

Proceeds from the event benefit persons with sight and hearing impairments.

The event is sponsored by Team One Auto Mall. For more information, one may call 301-334-4287. Information and entry forms are also available online at iplayoutside.com.

Pleasant View Baptist To Present "Autumn Declares God's Glory"

The Pleasant View Baptist Church will present "Autumn Declares God's Glory" on Saturday, Oct. 14, at 11:30 p.m. in Oakland. The event will take place in front of the post office prior to the Autumn Glory Grand Feature Parade.

This free musical event will include the church's Kidz Choir, puppetry, and drama to celebrate "God's display of His glory in autumn."

The Oakland Post Office is located along Second Street across from First United Bank and Trust. For more information, persons may call 301-334-8515.

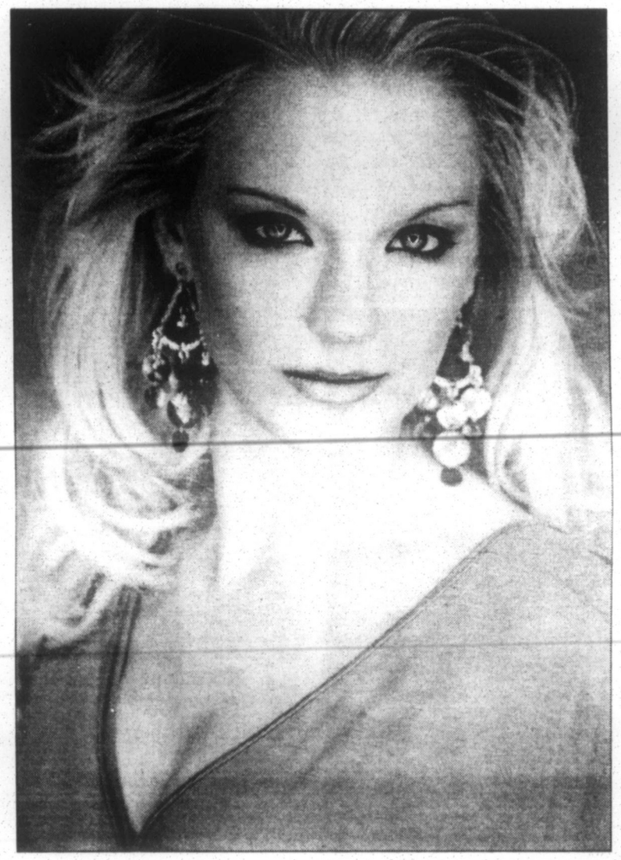
Miss Maryland Brittany Lietz To Attend AGF



Brittany Lietz, Miss Maryland 2006, will be one of the distinguished guests at this year's 39th annual Autumn Glory Festival. Her attendance is once again sponsored by Gregg's Pharmacy, Oakland.

Lietz, a native of Edgewater, is a student at the University of Maryland School of Nursing. Brittany is the recipient of the Nursing Training and Medical Technology Scholarship and has made dean's list academic status throughout her college years. She hopes to attain a master's degree in pediatric oncology nursing.

In 2003 she attended Towson University on a dance scholarship and was a member of the seven-time national award-winning Towson University Dance Team. In 2005 she attended the Prix de Italia as a member of the American Dance Company and brought back the gold medal to the United States.

In April of 2005, she was diagnosed with Stage II malignant Melanoma, the most serious and lethal form of skin cancer. Brittany used tanning beds frequently and lay in the sun without sunscreen because she said she thought she looked better and healthier with a tan. She is a patient at John's Hopkins hospital, where she must visit on a regular basis to make sure that the cancer has not spread.

Her initial surgery left her with an 8-inch scar across her back and few lymph nodes under her right arm. Since then she has had 23 additional surgeries to remove other various pre-cancerous lesions, which have left her with more than 25 scars covering her body.

Along with winning the title of Miss Maryland 2006, Lietz was also the recipient of the Newcomer Talent award and Rookie of the Year award.

"Knowing first hand the effects that sun damage can have on the body, she is determined to set the record straight on the myths about tanning and show people what skin cancer truly is," said a spokesperson. "She has put a face to skin cancer and has made her story known. Using her title and crown as a microphone she has been able to partner with national organizations like the Joanna Nicolay Melanoma Foundation, The Skin Cancer Foundation, and Doak Dermatologics to help spread the message about skin cancer prevention, detection, treatment and research."

She has spoken to children throughout the state about the dangers of sun exposure and tanning beds and of the importance of regular dermatology visits. She said she hopes to raise awareness of this "totally preventable disease" through her title of Miss Maryland.

"I was an avid user of the tanning bed for probably about 2½ years," she said.

•On cool autumn nights, a glowing fireplace is a welcome treat around which family and friends love to gather. Make this the home's focal point as well, showcasing a gorgeous seasonal display. Hang a small acorn wreath on either corner of the mantle, then drape an autumn leaf garland from end-to-end and through the wreaths. Hang a larger sized autumn acorn wreath on the wall above the mantle to complete the grouping. To add a pop of color, place a few candles in deep reds, oranges, or golds, on the mantle, then sit back and enjoy your take on the season.

ther information, confirmation, or assistance about participation.

All students who tell a story individually or with one or more other students will receive a gift bag and a Certificate of Exaggeration. Other prizes will also be given to several students and the adult tellers. The book sale and story festival is part of the Garrett American Association of University Women's goal to raise three to four scholarships. These scholarships will help students with book purchases, tuition for returning women, and transfer expenses. Admission is $2 for students, $3 for seniors, and $4 for adults.

An addition this year will be a tall tale story workshop by Springnether, assisted by Gail Herman. They will discuss how to find stories, create stories, and adapt traditional, personal and "true" stories. Resources and handouts will be available. Participants have the option of lunching with the storytellers from 12:15 to 1 p.m. and then attending the hour-long workshop from 1:15-2:15 p.m. A small fee will be charged to cover costs of the workshop itself. For information on the location of the workshop, persons may call Herman at 301-387-9199.

Why Leaves Change Color

by the USDA

If you are lucky, you live in one of those parts of the world where Nature has one last fling before settling down into winter's sleep. In those lucky places, as days shorten and temperatures become crisp, the quiet green palette of summer foliage is transformed into the vivid autumn palette of reds, oranges, golds, and browns before the leaves fall off the trees. On special years, the colors are truly breathtaking.

How does autumn color happen?

For years, scientists have worked to understand the changes that happen to trees and shrubs in the autumn. Although we don't know all the details, we do know enough to explain the basics and help you to enjoy more fully Nature's multicolored autumn farewell. Three factors influence autumn leaf color-leaf pigments, length of night, and weather, but not quite in the way we think. The timing of color change and leaf fall are primarily regulated by the calendar, that is, the increasing length of night. None of the other environmental influences-temperature, rainfall, food supply, and so on-are as unvarying as the steadily increasing length of night during autumn. As days grow shorter, and nights grow longer and cooler, biochemical processes in the leaf begin to paint the landscape with Nature's autumn palette.

Where do autumn colors come from?

A color palette needs pigments, and there are three types that are involved in autumn color.

• Chlorophyll, which gives leaves their basic green color. It is necessary for photosynthesis, the chemical reaction that enables plants to use sunlight to manufacture sugars for their food. Trees in the temperate zones store these sugars for their winter dormant period.

• Carotenoids, which produce yellow, orange, and brown colors in such things as corn, carrots, and daffodils, as well as rutabagas, buttercups, and bananas.

• Anthocyanins, which give color to such familiar things as cranberries, red apples, concord grapes, blueberries, cherries, strawberries, and plums. They are water soluble and appear in the watery liquid of leaf cells.

Both chlorophyll and carotenoids are present in the chloroplasts of leaf cells throughout the growing season. Most anthocyanins are produced in the autumn, in response to bright light and excess plant sugars within leaf cells.

During the growing season, chlorophyll is continually being produced and broken down and leaves appear green. As night length increases in the autumn, chlorophyll production slows down and then stops and eventually all the chlorophyll is destroyed. The carotenoids and anthocyanins that are present in the leaf are then unmasked and show their

Autumn Glory Bunting Now On Display

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce is already displaying its colors as the Autumn Glory bunting decorates the front of the building and the side that faces Route 219.

As the fall season approaches, more businesses and organization begin to hang the bunting to show their support of the county's largest festival. The colorful buntings add to the festive fall atmosphere and invite visitors into local establishments.

"Show your colors," said Charlie Ross, president and CEO of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce. "Become one of the more than 100 businesses and organizations that now fly the Autumn Glory bunting early to let people know Autumn Glory is approaching."

The 39th annual Autumn Glory Festival will be held Wednesday, Oct. 11, through Sunday, Oct. 15, with parades, dinners, musical entertainment, and more.

"IT'S TIME TO SHOW YOUR COLORS," said Charlie Ross, president and CEO of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce. The official Autumn Glory bunting is now flying at the chamber's visitors center, and Ross encourages all to "show your colors" to let people know Autumn Glory is approaching. Pictured above are 2005 Autumn Glory Royalty King James Naylor and Queen Holly Wampler. See story.

The colorful Autumn Glory bunting is now available from the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce office located in the Visitors Center, McHenry. Buntings cost $75, tax included, for a set. A limited number of sets are available at this time.

"Autumn Classics" Available By Joining Arbor Day Found.

Enjoy a little bit of Autumn Glory in your own yard next year. Ten free "autumn classic" trees will be given to each person who joins the National Arbor Day Foundation during this month.

The trees are part of the nonprofit foundation's Trees for America campaign.

The saplings are two sugar maples, a scarlet oak, sweetgum, red oak, silver maple, white dogwood, Washington hawthorn, and two red maples.

"These trees will produce vibrant red, orange, scarlet, and purple leaves in the fall," said John Rosenow, the foundation's president.

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between Nov. 1 and Dec. 10 with enclosed planting instructions. The 6- to 12-inch trees are guaranteed to grow, or they will be replaced free of charge, noted a foundation spokesperson.

To receive them, send a $10 membership contribution to Autumn Classic Trees, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by Oct. 31. One may also join the foundation online at arborday.org.

Why Leaves

Certain colors are characteristic of particular species. Oaks turn red, brown, or russet; hickories, golden bronze; aspen and yellow-poplar, golden yellow; dogwood, purplish red; beech, light tan; and sourwood and black tupelo, crimson. Maples differ species by species-red maple turns brilliant scarlet; sugar maple, orange-red; and black maple, glowing yellow. Striped maple becomes almost colorless. Leaves of some species such as the elms simply shrivel up and fall, exhibiting little color other than drab brown.

The timing of the color change also varies by species. Sourwood in southern forests can become vividly colorful in late summer while all other species are still vigorously green. Oaks put on their colors long after other species have already shed their leaves. These differences in timing among species seem to be genetically inherited, for a particular species at the same latitude will show the same coloration in the cool temperatures of high mountain elevations at about the same time as it does in warmer lowlands.

How does weather affect autumn color?

The amount and brilliance of the colors that develop in any particular autumn season are related to weather conditions that occur before and during the time the chlorophyll in the leaves is dwindling. Temperature and moisture are the main influences.

A succession of warm, sunny days and cool, crisp but not freezing nights seems to bring about the most spectacular color displays. During these days, lots of sugars are produced in the leaf but the cool nights and the gradual closing of veins going into the leaf prevent these sugars from moving out. These conditions-lots of sugar and lots of light-spur production of the brilliant anthocyanin pigments, which tint reds, purples, and crimson. Because carotenoids are always present in leaves, the yellow and gold colors remain fairly constant from year to year.

The amount of moisture in the soil also affects autumn colors. Like the weather, soil moisture varies greatly from year to year. The countless combinations of these two highly variable factors assure that no two autumns can be exactly alike. A late spring, or a severe summer drought, can delay the onset of fall color by a few weeks. A warm period during fall will also lower the intensity of autumn colors. A warm wet spring, favorable summer weather, and warm sunny fall days with cool nights should produce the most brilliant autumn colors.

What triggers leaf fall?

In early autumn, in response to the shortening days and declining intensity of sunlight, leaves begin the processes leading up to their fall. The veins that carry fluids into and out of the leaf gradually close off as a layer of cells forms at the base of each leaf. These clogged veins trap sugars in the leaf and promote production of anthocyanins. Once this separation layer is complete and the connecting tissues are sealed off, the leaf is ready to fall.

What does all this do for the tree?

Winter is a certainty that all vegetation in the temperate zones must face each year. Perennial plants, including trees, must have some sort of protection to survive freezing temperatures and other harsh wintertime influences. Stems, twigs, and buds are equipped to survive extreme cold so that they can reawaken when spring heralds the start of another growing season. Tender leaf tissues, however, would freeze in winter, so plants must either toughen up and protect their leaves or dispose of them.

The evergreens-pines, spruces, cedars, firs, and so on are able to survive winter because they have toughened up. Their needle-like or scale-like foliage is covered with a heavy wax coating and the fluid inside their cells contains substances that resist freezing. Thus the foliage of evergreens can safely withstand all but the severest winter conditions, such as those JEWISH SUKKAH ON DISPLAY AT ST. MARK'S – The adult forum members at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, under the leadership of Pastor C. Scott Robinson, have constructed and adorned a wooden frame to celebrate a Jewish festival that happens to fall at the same time as this year's Autumn Glory Festival. The structure is called a "sukkah," which is a Hebrew word meaning 'booth' or 'temporary shelter.' The plural form is sukkot, which is the name of the fall harvest festival referenced in the Bible and celebrated by observant Jews for thousands of years. See story. Pictured from left are adult forum members Laura Robinson, Susan Peterson, Bob and Betsy Dempsey, MaryAnn Vincent, Hannah Sincell, Ryan Roszell (grandson of members Will and Sharon Rozsell), and Pastor Robinson. Additional class members who have helped build the structure are Ida Durben, Ted and Linda Bowman, Jerry Moyer, and others. All are invited to come see the sukkah anytime during the Autumn Glory Festival. The adult forum is held each Wednesday at 6:15 p.m. in the church basement. The class is followed by a very brief (15-20 minute) contemporary service. All are welcome.

St. Mark's Adult Class Builds "Sukkah" To Celebrate Sukkot And Autumn Glory

So what exactly is that decorated wooden frame in the side yard of St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland?

"It's a sukkah," Pastor C. Scott Robinson explained. "Sukkah is a Hebrew word meaning 'booth' or 'temporary shelter.' The plural form is sukkot, and that is the name of the fall harvest festival referenced many times in the Bible and celebrated by observant Jews for thousands of years.

"This year the 7-day festival of Sukkot overlaps Autumn Glory, so the adult forum of St. Mark's Lutheran Church decided to erect a sukkah as part of our seasonal adornment," the pastor said.

The corn stalk, leaf, branch, fruit, and flower-adorned structure stands abutted to the church building, which is located at the corner of Center and Second streets.

"I'm sure my congregation thinks I am a little weird at times, but I try very hard to teach them about Judaism, both as an exercise in cultural and religious understanding, and because it is the faith in which Christianity arose," Robinson said. "I don't think you can understand our faith without understanding Judaism. And I think we as a people of faith have unfortunately mistreated Jews through much of our history, from the Crusades and Spanish Inquisition through the Holocaust. I think it is important today that we recognize Jews as a covenantal people of the same God we worship."

The pastor said he tries to promote not only an understanding but an appreciation of its rich traditions, many of which Christians also claim as part of their own.

He noted that Jesus himself went to the temple to celebrate Sukkot, according to the Gospel of John.

"Jesus used it as an opportunity to teach," the pastor said. "I'm doing the same."

Observant Jews live, sleep, and eat meals in the sukkah throughout the 7-day festival, Robinson explained, with an eighth day, Shemini Atzeret, added as a gift from God.

"It is a festive, joyous, weeklong campout, recalling in the Arctic. Evergreen needles survive for some years but eventually fall because of old age.

The leaves of broadleaved plants, on the other hand, are tender and vulnerable to damage. These leaves are typically broad and thin and are not protected by any thick coverings. The fluid in cells of these leaves is usually a thin, watery sap that freezes readily. This means that the cells could not survive winter where temperatures fall below freezing. Tissues unable to overwinter must be sealed off and shed to ensure the plant's continued survival. Thus leaf fall precedes each winter in the temperate zones.

What happens to all those fallen leaves?

Needles and leaves that fall are not wasted. They decompose and restock the soil with nutrients and make up part of the spongy humus layer of the forest floor that absorbs and holds rainfall. Fallen leaves also become food for numerous soil organisms vital to the forest ecosystem.

It is quite easy to see the benefit to the tree of its annual leaf fall, but the advantage to the entire forest is more subtle. It could well be that the forest could no more survive without its annual replenishment from leaves than the individual tree could survive without shedding these leaves. The many beautiful interrelationships in the forest community leave us with myriad fascinating puzzles still to solve.

Where can I see autumn color in the United States?

You can find autumn

the 40 years of Israel wandering in the wilderness. Modern rabbinical interpretation allows families back inside their house in case of inclement weather," he said. Modern interpretation also allows planed boards, fiberglass, and canvas panels to be used in constructing the sukkah, but Robinson said he plans to keep St. Mark's sukkah more traditional.

"Other than the frame of planed, processed lumber, we used only natural materials to form and decorate our booth. And the roof covering must be kept sparse enough so you can see the stars through it. And no, I do not plan to live in it for seven days. I am a pastor, not a rabbi," Robinson said.

Autumn Glory Festival guests are invited to stop by and view the sukkah, which will be displayed throughout October.

BEFORE THE REAL PARADE, there is always a spontaneous parade of people, thousands of them, in downtown Oakland. There's something festive about milling around on traffic-less streets. Here's hoping the weather is stunning, with a bright blue sky to highlight the blazing autumn leaves. Sweatshirt weather is the best for AGF. Photo by John McEwen.

Shuttle Service To Be Available During AGF Events On Sat.

The Garrett Transit Service will provide shuttle service for Autumn Glory Festival goers on Saturday, Oct. 14, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Two buses will circulate throughout the day between Oakland's downtown parking lot, the craft/antique shows, and dinners.

The cost is $3 for all day or $1 per ride. Special trips will be quoted upon request.

For more information, persons may call 301-334-9431, ext. 102 or 111.

Amish Community To Host Breakfast

Amish residents of the Pleasant Valley community will host their annual Autumn Glory Breakfast Buffet on Saturday, Oct. 14, from 6 to 11 a.m. in the community center.

The menu will include pancakes, sausage, biscuits, sausage gravy, scrambled eggs, hash browns, fruit, and beverages.

The cost is $7 for adults, $4 for children 4 to 10 years of age, and free for children 3 and younger.

Proceeds from the event go to pay hospital bills and charitable causes.

Directions to the community center are as follows: from Oakland, take Rt. 219 south for 3½ miles and turn left onto Paul Friend Road, turn right onto Joni Miller Road for ¼ mile. The Pleasant Valley Community Center is on the right.

MARCHING ON THE STREETS OF THEIR HOMETOWN will be the members of the Southern Garrett Marching Band. The band is faring well this competition season, and is sure to step proudly for the home crowd. Southern will also host its annual Tournament of Bands field show competition during Autumn Glory, held at the high school's athletic field on Saturday evening and featuring a number of area bands. Northern High School will take part in the parade and competition as well. The hard-working musicians deserve a big hand when they march by! Photo by John McEwen.

color in parks and woodlands, in the cities, countryside, and mountains - anywhere you find deciduous broadleaved trees, the ones that drop their leaves in the autumn. Nature's autumn palette is painted on oaks, maples, beeches, sweetgums, yellow-poplars, dogwoods, hickories, and others. Your own neighborhood may be planted with special trees that were selected for their autumn color.

New England is rightly famous for the spectacular autumn colors painted on the trees of its mountains and countryside, but the Adirondack, Appalachian, Smoky, and Rocky Mountains are also clad with colorful displays. In the East, we can see the reds, oranges, golds, and bronzes of the mixed deciduous woodlands; in the West, we see the bright yellows of aspen stands and larches contrasting with the dark greens of the evergreen conifers.

Many of the Forest Service's 100 plus scenic byways were planned with autumn color in mind. In 31 States you can drive on over 3,000 miles of scenic byways, and almost everyone of them offers a beautiful, colorful drive sometime in the autumn.

When is the best time to see autumn color?

Unfortunately, autumn color is not very predictable, especially in the long term. Half the fun is trying to outguess Nature! But it generally starts in late September in New England and moves southward, reaching the Smoky Mountains by early November. It also appears about this time in the high-elevation mountains of the West. Remember that cooler high elevations will color up before the valleys. The Forest Service's Fall Color Hotline (1-800-354-4595) can provide you with details as the autumn color display progresses.

MURAL TO COMMEMORATE B&O NOW UNDER WAY – Nationally celebrated artist and illustrator Mark Stutzman is busy creating a mural in Oakland, the second wall-painting in town that celebrates the area's heritage. Stutzman may be found painting his creation during the days of the Autumn Glory Festival. It is located on the back of the George Littman building, along the alley that connects to Green Street, right next to the Front Page Stage. Stutzman's work commemorates Garrett County's important connection with the B&O Railroad, and features a portrait of John Garrett, the president of the railroad at the time of Oakland's founding, and the person after whom the county is named. Stutzman's mural is the second in a proposed series of commemorative murals around the town. Photo by John McEwen.

Southern Band To Host 29th WM Tourney

The Southern Garrett Marching Band/Band Boosters will host the 29th annual Western Maryland Tournament of Bands on Saturday, Oct. 14. The field show competition is a traditional event of the Autumn Glory Festival.

A total of 11 bands will perform on the Southern High School athletic field, with the show beginning at 6 p.m. Nine of the 11 groups will be competing for trophies and specialty awards for drum major, percussion, and auxiliary.

In TOB (Tournament of Bands) competitions, the bands compete against other groups of similar size. There are four divisions: Group I, those bands with up to 35 musicians; Group II, 36 to 55 musicians; Group III, 56 to 80 musicians; and Group IV, 81 or more.

The bands taking part in this year's tournament are as follows: Group I, Westmar and Northern Garrett; Group II, Fort Hill and Petersburg, W.Va.; Group III, North Hagerstown and Allegany; and Group IV, Severna Park, Williamsport, and Preston.

A special guest band will be the Frostburg State University Bobcat Marching Band, which will take the field after the competitors. Following the Bobcats, the host band, Southern Garrett, will perform.

Both Northern and Southern marching bands have fared well in competition this season, both performing entertaining and engaging programs.

Southern's show, titled "Flavors of the World," an original composition that musically describes cultures from around the world. The songs are titled "Cayenne Pepper," "Oregano and Paprika," "Ginger," and "Curry Powder."

The music is difficult and complex, and features several soloists as well as the percussion ensemble. This year's soloists are Andrew Dale, trumpet; Tasha Bernard, flute; and Steven Fike, mellophone. This year's field commander is Tiffany Bernard, assisted by Philip Adams. The drum line captain is Brian Georg, and the auxiliary co-captains are Stephany Glotfelty and Kayla Knox.

The band is directed by Richard Clever. The assistant band director is Heather Poe, and the support staff mem-

GARRETT COUNTY Yesterday and Today

by Leigh Clements

The Autumn Glory Festival in part celebrates the change of seasons. In the past more so than today, when Garrett County was primarily an agricultural community, autumn meant harvest time — a time of maturity, a time to bring in the crops, to reap the harvest of spring planting and summer growth — a time when Nature completes an abundant cycle with a final glorious outward display, before retiring for rest and renewal. In the Appalachian mountains of Garrett County, Autumn leaves turn color and from an outlook on Route 135, one can appreciate a view of the Backbone Mountain range with its vast rolling hillsides, steep valleys, and rising peaks covered by oak, pine, spruce, elm, and poplar, their bright colors woven together like a patchwork quilt of green, red, yellow, and orange hues.

The view reminds me of Tolkein's middle earth, as wispy clouds drift in the mountain highlands, and the waters of Deep Creek lake look from a distance like a jeweled necklace strung together in sections. There is magic and beauty in Garrett County partly because 72 percent of the county is still covered by forests.

The Potomac State Forest that runs alongside the saw-toothed ridges of the Backbone Mountain range contains 12,400 acres of trees, streams, and wildlife. The wildlife is there; a mother black bear and her family crossed our path as we drove through the countryside away from Kitzmiller. She lumbered out of the state forest, stopped on the road and watched patiently as her three cubs wandered aimlessly over the roadway, then scampered into the trees at the edge of a working farm.

It is through an autumn glory area that we now travel to visit Kitzmiller, a small town near the headwaters of the Potomac River fed by fast falling brooks and streams with names like — Schell, Laurel, Lostland Run, and Crabtree Creek. The terrain is rugged with crests ranging from 1,800 feet along the Potomac to 2,960 feet at Backbone. We ride along the highland county side with its spectacular vistas of lush pasture lands, forested hillsides, and natural roadside gardens where green vegetation filled with violet star-leafed aster and green-stalked goldenrod spread through the rock formations and the trees at the highways' edge.

The slow descent from the high mountain plateau into Kitzmiller allows us time to marvel at the forest-studded mountains that spread in all directions beneath a blue spacious sky filled with floating cloud formations. Kitzmiller is 1,600 hundred feet above sea level, and many of the homes are perched on hillsides away from the rivers' edge. The town was nearly destroyed on March 29, 1924 when the Potomac swept through the flat lands at the mountains' base. Pictures of that day remind me of New Orleans during Katrina — houses half under water. The waters are low now, the wide river basin filled with rocks of different shapes and sizes.

The river acts as the boundary between Maryland and West Virginia. Potomac means "river of swans," a name the Europeans adapted from the Algonquian Indians. Beginning as a small spring rising from the earth near the Fairfax Stone at the junction of Grant, Tucker, and Preston counties in West Virginia, the north branch of the Potomac flows east past Kitzmiller, the currents gentle now as it winds its way through the mountains and valleys of Appalachia, past battlefields, parks, pastures, and towns, descending one thousand feet through the Piedmont plateau and finding its voice once again as its swift waters crash through the gorge at Great Falls, cascading east and widening, then sweeping past the nation's capitol and into the coastal mouth of the Chesapeake Bay at Point Lookout, 383 miles from its start.

It is hard to comprehend a river that seems so placid in the afternoon sunlight, has nearly washed Kitzmiller away on more than one occasion. From the footpath on the grassy levy that borders the southern edge of the town, one can look up and down the valley by scanning the rivers' rocky bed. Across the waters, past the railroad tracks the mountains decked with fall colors quickly rise from the flats of Blaine, W.Va.

The bridge that crosses the river from Blaine into Maryland bears the Kitzmiller Shield. The shield is divided into four quadrants. The upper right section is adorned with a pick and shovel, work tools to help sustain life. The upper left quadrant is painted with a building, maybe education, maybe government, a symbol of the collective purpose of a community — to educate and govern the lives of its people. In the lower left, a picture of the river and the bridge a symbol of the relationship between Nature and man; and, in the lower right, the images of houses. It reminds me of the 4-H emblem and its motto — head, heart, hands, and health.

The streets are quiet, the homes tidy and well-ordered. It is Saturday afternoon, there's no rush of traffic, no large mall, only the slower rhythm of contentment that comes from people who live with a close friendship to the earth. The land itself inspires harmony. Over two hundred years ago, Kitzmiller was a virgin forest, inhabited by bands of peaceful Indians, moving from one area to another as the seasons changed.

In the late 18th and early 19th century as the competition for tobacco and farmland grew in the Chesapeake-Tidewater region, German immigrants moved west in search of good farmland. In 1797 Thomas Wilson II of Scottish descent, moved to the Kitzmiller area and later settled in Altamont. His son, Thomas Wilson III, settled on the land in 1801, and built a grist mill for grinding grain. The grist was brought to the mill from places as far away as Cumberland and Romney.Wilson married Susan Bowman, who gave birth to fifteen children, one of whom married Ebenezer Kitzmiller. Ebenezer and Emily were parents of Victoria and Susan Kitzmiller, who married John Rafter and Winfield Scott Pew respectively. In 1853, Ebenezer Kitzmiller constructed a woolen mill that later made the prestigious Poole shirt, blanket, and cloth that was worn by lumbermen from Canada to the gulf of Mexico.

The first post office was established near the old mill in 1877 and named Kitzmillerville and Rafter became the first postmaster. By 1880, the mail arrived in the village twice a FEW THINGS ARE AS STIRRING as the sound of a great band, and the opportunity to watch and listen to several accomplished groups will be available to all Autumn Glory Festival guests on Saturday, Oct. 14. The Northern Garrett Marching Band will take part in the Southern Garrett Marching Band's 29th annual Western Maryland Tournament of Bands field show competition on that date, beginning at 6 p.m. at the high school's athletic field. Northern, pictured above in last year's AGF parade, will perform its Nightmare Before Christmas show, complete with jack-o'-lanterns, sound effects, and great music. See story for details. week. This remained the pattern until the West Virginia Central and Pittsburgh railroad was built through Blaine in 1882.

Today, the post office sits across from the Community building, a plain two-story rectangular building with freshly painted dark red doors and trim and walls covered by beige stucco. The memorial on the front lawn honors Kitzmiller's World War I and II veterans and the reconstructed coal cart, a reminder of another passing era. Outside the post office the Kitzmiller community bulletin board is posted with local news, advertisements, and coming events. The town council meets the fourth Monday of every month, free firewood is available but "u-haul," knitting classes and calligraphy lessons are offered, Kitzmiller centennial coins can be purchased, and the Volunteer Fire Department is putting on a steak dinner in October. There is an issue about the post office and postal service.

It's fun to read the news and think of the community, and there is a sense of community, a quiet activism. In the past it showed itself through the efforts of people like Dr. Melvin Brown, who as a new science teacher at Kitzmiller High School in 1945, taught students about the role of plants in the environment. The University of Maryland's Center for Environmental Science reported how Brown's students used the arboretum they created to examine local plant species. They began with an eight-acre lot across from the school, in which they experimented. They planted and planned and organized and took notes over a seven-year period. According to the center, Brown's efforts with the students helped pioneer "habitat restoration methods." This means that the students worked with nature to help restore a plot of land, and passed on their enthusiasm and learning to the residents of Kitzmiller and surrounding communities.

An environmental movement started in Kitzmiller and today the Botanical Garden of Kitzmiller is still maintained. Walking through the shaded garden is a pleasure. Benches are placed along the winding foot trails. During the summer butterflies and bees thrive on the large flowering bushes. There are more birds and squirrels and rocks in this plant kingdom now than humans, but they don't mind sharing their living space. It reminds me of Chief Seattle's message: "The earth does not belong to man; man belongs to the earth. All things are connected like the blood that unites us all Man did not weave the web of life, he is merely a strand in it. Whatever he does to the web, he does to himself."

This concept was missed by some during the coal and lumber boom of the late 1800s and early 1900s when Kitzmiller grew into a thriving town of 1,900 residents. The trees were cut without proper planning and deforestation caused soil erosion, floods, and pollution. The waters flowing from the hillsides picked up drainage from the factories, mills, coal mines, and tanneries and dumped the waste products into the streams and rivers. The crystal clear waters of the Potomac River were polluted and floods hit the town hard.

After the boom years of logging and coal, people moved away to find work. A town website reports that in its hey-day, Kitzmiller had a bank, high school, two doctors, a dentist, a movie theater, three barber shops, a gas station, and numerous other shops and activities. No saloons were allowed within the town limits; that ordinance is still in effect today.

I discovered that Kitzmiller had addressed alcohol and drug use in the past. A 1913 Garrett County Journal ran an article about the Marion Home that opened in Kitzmilicr for the treatment and cure of alcoholism. The home was managed by J.E. Chappell, a former member of the General Assembly of Maryland, and the physician in charge was Dr. Hugh Strachen. The treatment was called the Marion Cure and, according to the article, it was the only known scientific treatment in existence that positively destroyed all appetite, desire, and craving for whiskey and all habit forming drugs ... it was considered safe, sure, and reliable.

As the logging and coal industries waned, people continued to leave the town in search of work. Prior to the depression, Kitzmiller listed 1,500 residents and by the late 50s the population declined even more and the high school was consolidated with Oakland High School. By 2000, the population had dropped to approximately 275. State agencies have helped clean up the Potomac, and the Interior Department's Office of Surface Mining recently recognized Maryland Department of Environmental, Bureau of Mines for reclamation and acid drainage treatment at Shallmar Coal Refuse in Garrett County, west of Kitzmiller. The waters have cleared and stories of trout fishing are on the rise.

Through it all, the residents insist that Kitzmiller remains a close-knit community. The high school, now an elementary school, is a focal point for families. Volunteers organize little league and other year-round activities for the children. Autumn Glory offers those families as well as former residents a chance to celebrate the season, to reflect on the past, to give thanks for the blessings of an abundant harvest, food on the table, festive music, and fmally a quiet home in Kitzmiller nestled in a valley among the Alleghany mountains far from the noise and discord of the big city, where on any sunny day a person is a walk away from the rivers' edge, and a still quiet appreciation of Nature's book of life.

The Northern Garrett High School "Husky" Marching Band's 2006 program is set to the music of the hit animated movie Nightmare Before Christmas. The musical selections are "The Nightmare Overture," "Christmas Eve Montage," "This is Halloween," "Oogie Boogie's Song," "Sally's Song," and "Jack's Obsession."

The band is under the direction of Duane Salisbury, assisted by Melissa Hance (who is also the percussion and pit instructor). The band staff members are Joshua Salisbury and Molly McConnell, brass and marching; Gino Mauricci, woodwinds; and Christie Holler and Lacie Dumire, auxiliary.

The field commander this season is Baylee Martin-Selders, assisted by Andrea Maust. Featured performers in the show include Brooks DuBose on alto sax, Adam Hannibal on trumpet, Hannah Hare and Elliot Glotfelty on trombone, and Andrea Maust and Lincoln Humberson on mallet percussion.

The show will begin at 6 p.m., with Westmar to step onto the field at 6:15. Each band is given an entire block of time of 14 minutes. In this span of time, announcements will be made, the band will enter, present its performance, and exit. According to TOB rules, the visual and music performance must last a minimum of 7 minutes and a maximum of 10. Performance timing begins with the first step or first note of music by any performer other than the field commander, following that individual's salute.

Northern Garrett will perform after Westmar, both bands competing in Group I. Group II will follow, with the schedule as follows (subject to change): Fort Hill, 7 p.m.; Petersburg, 7:15; Group III: North Hagerstown, 7:30; Allegany, 7:15; Intermission; Group IV, Severna Park, 8:45; Williamsport, 9; and Preston, 9:15. The FSU Bobcats will perform in exhibition at 9:30, followed by Southern at 9:45.

STILL KICKIN' CLOGGERS TO PERFORM DURING FEST – Another entertainment feature has been added to the line-up during Autumn Glory. The Still Kickin' Cloggers will dance on the stage to the right of the train station in Oakland from 10 to 11 a.m. on Saturday morning, Oct. 14. The local group, which has been dancing together since 2003, will perform to bluegrass, country, Celtic, and Irish music.

SHA Officials To Discuss Six-Year Plan Tomorrow

The annual "tour" meeting of the Maryland Department of Transportation and State Highway Administration will begin at 10 a.m. tomorrow, Friday, Oct. 13, in the Garrett County commissioners' meeting room at the courthouse. The event is open to the public.

DOT Secretary Robert L. Flanagan and other SHA officials will meet with the commissioners to discuss local and state projects as outlined in the DOT's six-year Consolidated Transportation Program (CTP) draft.

Local officials have also compiled a list of their own priorities/concerns that they will present at the meeting. Those include the Oakland by-pass, the U.S. 219 north project, a sidewalk project between Southern High School and Mtn. Lake Park, improvements to the Rt. 495 and New Germany Road intersection, and Rt. 40 improvements in Grantsville.

Citizen input expressed at the meeting will also be considered for the final CTP report.

"This statewide tour provides a great opportunity for the Department of Transportation to hear first hand the top priorities and transportation needs across the state of Maryland," said

OBVIOUSLY SURPRISED at the announcement last night at the Wisp that she was selected the 2006 Autumn Glory Festival Honorary Golden Ambassador was Judy Devlin, owner of the Book Mark'et in downtown Oakland. For over three decades Devlin has been involved in a variety of efforts that promote and support Garrett County, which were delineated by William Grant, the 2005 Honorary Golden Ambassador, who made the announcement and introduction. Devlin is pictured above with her husband Dick, a local contractor, as she is being congratulated at the kickoff reception. Photo by Jo Donaldson.

Commissioners Hear Roads Dept., General Services Update Reports

The Garrett County commissioners heard update reports this week from general superintendent Fred Polce, Roads Department, and director Gary Mullich, General Services.

"So far this year, we've paved almost 27 miles of county roads," Polce said, adding that will leave only 15 miles of dirt road left in the county.

The bridge crew has also been doing abutment work on the Fish Hatchery bridge.

"We're getting ready for winter," Polce added. Antiskid material is being stockpiled, and crews will start working five 8-hour shifts next week instead of the four 10-hour schedule they had during the summer.

Following his report, the commissioners held a public hearing on the closure of a portion of State Park Road. No public comments were received, and the commissioners unanimously approved the closure.

County attorney Mike Getty noted that the road had been realigned several years ago to avoid a difficult turn. That unused portion of the road, therefore, is no longer needed. The land will revert back to the adjacent property owners.

Mullich of General Services also reviewed the status of several capital projects, including the airport, exhibit hall, detention center, landfill, and public works complex.

Construction of Phase II of the airport expansion project continues, the director noted. Contractor NESL and its subcontractors are about 23 to 25 percent complete on the runway extension. They hope to finish up the taxiways before winter shutdown next month, he said.

Mullich noted that a contract had been awarded to

DON'T MISS OKTOBERFEST TONIGHT! Despite a weather forecast for this evening which includes quite chilly temperatures, plans for the 29th annual Oakland Volunteer Fire Department's Oktoberfest at the Oakland fire hall are complete. Pictured is Joe Fertitta, founder and president of the Maryland Accordion Club, who will be providing dinner music for the OVFD's Oktoberfest meal, the serving of which will begin late this afternoon. Fertitta has been playing the accordion for 56 years, and is also an instrument repairman. He says that one of the club's major goals is to get more children interested in playing the instrument by holding concerts and workshops in elementary and middle schools. Following Fertitta's playing will be the Firemen's Parade and the Oktoberfest, which will feature the 36-piece OVFD Oktoberfest Band. Admission is free.

Dove Center Continues To Aid Victims Of Domestic Violence

by Glenn Tolbert

We'll call her "Alice."

One night she was pinned to the floor with hands and fists pummeling her face and neck. It wasn't a burglar or a rapist who was doing this to her; it was her husband of 18 years. It was the same man who all that time ago had promised to love and protect her who was now trying to hurt her with all of his might. Sure, he had been drinking and he always got a little belligerent with some alcohol in him, but he had never gone this far.

When he finally let her go, Alice raced to the phone and called 911. It wasn't much later that she and the children witnessed him being led away in handcuffs.

""Now what?" Alice thought to herself. "Now what?" A calm, sophisticated lady, Alice went to the Garrett County Health Department the next day. She was referred to the Dove Center, where the staff helped her get through the maze of court procedures and assisted in restoring her sense of self-esteem.

"Meaghan" was also referred to the Dove Center, but her story is different. One day she had a severe panic attack. She couldn't catch her breath and her heart felt like it was about to pound right through the walls of her chest. She knew she had to do something. She'd been in this situation before, but never to such a serious degree.

Meaghan also knew what caused it. She had been sexually abused from age 5 until age 16 by a family friend. It wasn't something that left one's mind and spirit just because adulthood had been reached. Meaghan was also referred to the Dove Center.

It was in this refuge for battered spirits that the two women had to learn such basic things as self-worth and that they had the right to not be abused. It was here that trained, compassionate counselors and advocates provided guidance, support, and education.

"It is our ultimate goal to provide safety to families in danger and to foster long-term healing for those who come to us for help," said Heather Hanline, executive director of the Dove Center. "We will continue this steadfast mission, fervently and ceaselessly."

The Dove Center staff deals with some of the saddest cases in Garrett County. "Often times, individuals who are raised in abusive families have no self-esteem, and have difficulty breaking those patterns. They subsequently enter into abusive relationships as adults," Hanline said. "It

Whitewater Hall Of Fame Induction Dinner, Ceremony Slated Next Week

Attendance at this year's International Whitewater Hall of Fame (IWHOF) Induction Dinner and Ceremony on Friday, Oct. 20, at the Wisp Resort in McHenry will include international notables Gisela Grothaus-Steigerwald, an inductee into the Champion category, and Judith Steinbacher, daughter of Explorer inductee Herbert Rittlinger. Both are from Germany.

Also in attendance will be Claudia and Dirk Van Wijk, IWHOF sponsors and owners of the Madawaska Kanu Centre, and Joe and Sue Kowalski, IWHOF sponsors and owners of Wilderness Tours. Both couples live in Ontario, Canada.

Notable American attendees will include Advocate inductees Martin Litton and Tom Johnson of California, Champion inductee Scott Shipley of Colorado, Pioneer inductee Jim Snyder of West Virginia, and guest speaker Bob Woodward of Oregon.

The induction weekend events wrap up with the Whitewater Legends Brunch, hosted by the McLaughlin Whitewater Design Group of Denver, Colo.

"The brunch on Saturday, Oct. 21, will include a tour of the newest and most unique artificial whitewater course in the United States – the centerpiece of the Adventure Sports Center International (ASCI) mountain top facilities," noted an IWHOF spokesperson.

Attendance for this event will include many national and international legends drawn from the local and national whitewater community and will be covered by the national and international outdoor media.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE AWARENESS MONTH has been proclaimed nationwide for October. Garrett County's Dove Center continues to provide sanctuary for the victims of domestic abuse, having assisted 428 adults and 86 children in 2005. Pictured above in a poignant display of "victims" who lost their lives to domestic violence is Heather Hanline, director of the Dove Center. See story.

AUTUMN IN ALL ITS GLORY – The striking hues of a Garrett County autumn were captured in this photo by Deb Swiger of Oakland earlier this week as she traveled along Rock Lodge Road in the Bittinger area. The scene was chosen among about 200 others as one of the top ten in a photography contest hosted by WTAE (channel 4) in Pittsburgh. People may vote on the top ten photos at this web site: www.thepitts-burghchannel.com/photovote/index.html. The results of the voting will be announced tomorrow afternoon on the site. The picture is certainly fitting for this publication, of course, as the 39th annual Autumn Glory Festival is now under way, with the kick-off celebration held last night, and the weekend's traditional events and activities all on the schedule. Come dance a polka tonight at the Oakland fire hall, listen to some top fiddling and/or banjo playing tomorrow, and watch the parade Saturday, followed by the band show Saturday night. There are displays of arts and crafts, artisan demonstrations, and musical entertainment all weekend long. Happy Autumn Glory!

Juvenile Driver Cited In Two-Vehicle Mishap

A juvenile who was operating a 2003 Dodge Neon that was involved in a two-vehicle accident Wednesday night was cited with failure to drive right of center, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

The juvenile was operating the vehicle southbound on Bethlehem Road, crossed the centerline, and stuck a 1998 Chevy truck, which was operated by Lesa Harpole, 45, Oakland. The Neon continue into a driveway before coming to a complete stop in a culvert, police said.

Police said a small child was transported by Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment. Deer Park firefighters also responded to the 8 p.m. incident.

CONGRESSMAN RECOGNIZES LOCAL RESIDENT – Rep. Roscoe Bartlett presented a Congressional Certificate of Appreciation to Swanton resident Jim Kesselring of Garrett Container in Accident Friday at his Frederick district office. Kesselring has been recognized as the Prime Time Outstanding Older Worker for Maryland for 2006 by "Experience Works." Experience Works is a national, non-profit, community-based organization whose mission is to put the experience of older individuals to work. It helps seniors get the training they need to find good jobs in the community. Pictured, left to right, are Ellen Kesselring, Bartlett, and Jim Kesselring.

Car Rolls Over; Woman Cited For Negligence

A Pennsylvania woman, while traveling on Trap Run Road near White Rock Road in Friendsville, lost control of her 2001 Ford Explorer, which then rolled over, causing her to be tossed from the driver's seat, on Monday at approximately 6:10 p.m., according to the Maryland State Police.

Tfc. D.T. Wagoner, the investigating officer, said that Gayle L. Enterline-Meyers, 48, drove off the roadway and overreacted in trying to make the proper course correction, causing the vehicle to roll over.

Pennsylvania residents Richard Krajacic, 49, Daniel Davidson, 21, and William Clipper, 22, were passengers in the vehicle.

The driver was transported by the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital with injuries. Police charged Enterline-Meyers with driving while under the influence of alcohol and negligent driving.

Man Hits Brakes To Avoid Tractor; Car Flips Over

Thinking that a tractor was pulling into the roadway from a private driveway, an Accident man jammed on the brakes of his 1997 Jeep Cherokee and skidded off the roadway, causing the car to overturn and come to a stop upside down with the roof to the pavement in the southbound lane, Monday at approximately 1:15 p.m., according to the Maryland State Police.

Reportedly, Roland Nairn III, 49, was traveling north on Accident Bittinger Road when the accident occurred. Nairn was taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital by the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad.

The Accident Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene of the accident. The vehicle was removed by G&P towing, according to the police report.

Auction Set To Benefit Ryan's Glade Building

A community auction to benefit Ryan's Glade Community Building will be held Saturday, Oct. 21, at 10 a.m. in the community building.

Donations are needed, but no clothing, said a spokesperson. Funds from this auction will be used to purchase heating fuel for the building.

The community building may be rented for birthday parties, family reunions, wedding receptions, and funeral dinners. To rent the building, persons may call Paul Liller at 301-334-1581.

Monetary donations may also be made to the Ryan's Glade Community Building, c/o Paul Liller, treasurer, 3044 White Church Steyer Road, Oakland, MD 21550; or by calling 301-334-1581.

"We need the support of the community," said Liller. "Please contribute to our community building."

WINS SECOND PLACE IN NATIONAL EVENT – Jordan Skipper won second place in the Lawn Tractor category during the National 4-H Engineering, Science, and Leadership Event, held Sept. 25-28 near Purdue University, West Lafayette, Ind. Jordan is a member of the Red House 4-H Club. He advanced to the nationals after capturing the Senior Champion award in the Lawn and Garden Tractor Event during the Maryland State Fair in Timonium. At the national event, there were 12 states represented in nine different categories. In addition to Lawn Tractor, the other categories were Aerospace, Automotive, Bicycle, Computer, Electric/Energy, Small Engines, Tractor, and Welding. Jordan competed against individuals from Delaware, Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio, and Pennsylvania. His trip was sponsored in part by the Winner's Circle, Peters Fuel Corporation, Dr. Dona Alvarez, and Craig Durst of Manor Home Center. Jordan is a senior at Southern High School and is the son of Frank and Lisa Skipper. Jordan is pictured in the middle.

Tire Recycling Event Slated At GC Fairgrounds

Garrett County Solid Waste and Recycling Division, General Services Department, will conduct a Citizen Scrap Tire Drop-Off Day on Saturday, Oct. 21, from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.

During this one-day only event, Garrett County residents are encouraged to bring up to 10 passenger vehicle tires free of charge to the Garrett County Fairgrounds for recycling. No commercial, truck, or equipment tires will be accepted Approximately 5.6 million scrap tires are generated in Maryland every year, according to Kim Madigan, recycling coordinator for the Solid Waste and Recycling Division.

"Scrap tires, because of their size and shape and associated environmental hazards caused by improper management practices, present both difficult and costly disposal and recycling challenges for the entities responsible for overseeing their management," she said. "Maryland's response to the management of scrap tires is a nationally recognized success story."

Residents can help reduce scrap tire problems by purchasing retreaded tires, she added. Approximately 400 million gallons of oil are saved each year due to the use of retreaded tires.

For more information, persons may call the Tire Retreaded Information Bureau at 408- 372-1917.

"Properly maintained tires extend the wear, increasing the chance they can be retreaded," Madigan also noted. "Additional helpful hints include keeping tires inflated at recommended inflation levels – under inflation can waste up to 5 percent of a car's fuel. Also, repair punctures, maintain alignment, and rotate tires every 6,000 to 8,000 miles."

To avoid mosquitoes, prevent water accumulation in tires. "If you have a tire swing or tire dock bumpers, puncture holes in the tires so they won't hold water," Madigan said. "You can also purchase environmentally friendly repellents."

More information can be obtained on the Maryland Department of the Environment web site: mde.state.md.us.

To obtain information about tire recycling or any recycling program in Garrett County, persons may call Solid Waste and Recycling at 301-387-0322 or visit garrettcounty.org.

Let's Have a Fun Fest...

The 39th annual Autumn Glory Festival was kicked off in grand style last night at the Wisp, and while we may need to don our long underwear for the outdoor events of the festival, the forecast looks to at least be relatively dry for the next several days.

The festival is an extremely important event for Garrett County, for a number of reasons. It affords the opportunity to show off the beauty and wonderful life opportunities here on the Mountaintop, which is particularly important for first-time visitors to the county, some of whom may afterwards elect to purchase properties here.

The festival presents tremendous opportunity for local charities and non-profit service organizations to raise significant monies that are needed for the operation of those organizations.

The festival provides an opportunity for local artists, craftspersons, and businesses to sell their wares, with some artisans reporting that the orders they take during the festival provide income for them for several months each year.

The AGF has also evolved into a homecoming or a reunion of sorts, as family members, old friends, and former classmates converge on the county en masse, often from great distances.

Perhaps most importantly, the Autumn Glory Festival promotes and provides a wide variety of fun; a desperately needed, therapeutic escape from the many difficult and unpleasant situations that all of us must face in this life, at the personal level and on a world level. It is unwise to simply ignore or deny our problems, and it is important that we continue to care deeply about and work to address the needs of others. But in order to maintain our own sound emotional and mental health, we need a break every now and then.

So, let's have a blast from now through Sunday, and we can get back to reality on Monday.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

It filled my heart with joy when I read the article in last week's issue about Pastor Robinson of St. Mark's Lutheran Church and the sukkot observance. I think it is wonderful that he is enlightening members about our Christian history in Judaism. For as the Lord God states, "Those who bless Israel are blessed."

To the Editor:

Thank you for adding The Republican newspaper as one of our Partners for Safe Kids. This group of concerned citizens from offices, agencies, and businesses in Garrett County continues to plan and implement activities to increase community awareness of various dangers and the steps we can take to protect our kids.

Information obtained through the National Center for Missing & Exploited Children and the FBI is alarming. A survey of youth ages 10 to 17 who use the Internet, and their parents revealed:

- 1 in 5 was approached or solicited;
- only 25% of those approached or solicited told a parent;
- 1 in 4 had an unwanted exposure to inappropriate pictures;
- only 40% of those seeing pictures told a parent;
- 1 in 17 was threatened or harassed;
- only 10% of parents knew to whom to report Internet safety issues;
- 705 were lured away or abducted by a person they met on line.

A successful community forum was held in June at Garrett College concerning Internet safety. Two additional Internet Safety forums are planned. The first will be at Garrett College next Thursday, Oct. 19, beginning at 6 p.m. in Room 203 of the Continuing Education Building. The second is scheduled at the Grantsville Outreach Center for Tuesday, Oct. 24, beginning at 6 p.m.

Presenters will include Lesa Whittemore (concerned parent), Sgt. Rob Corley (Garrett County Sheriff's Office), Peter Packard (Department of Social Services), and others. Parents, grandparents, community leaders, and all who have contact with and influence over children are invited and encouraged to attend.

Thank you for your continued assistance in highlighting these important issues.

Sincerely,
Lisa Thayer Welch
State's Attorney

To the Editor:

On Christmas Eve this past year, my husband, SFC James D. Bartholomew was injured by an IED in Iraq. After surgery in Iraq, he was sent to Germany, and then finally to Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington, D.C. Almost immediately upon Jim's arrival at Walter Reed, Representative Roscoe Bartlett became involved with Jim's situation.

There were some difficulties with Jim's medical treatment at Walter Reed that we were unable to resolve with the medical staff. A friend of ours told Representative Bartlett, who immediately contacted Jim and asked if we wanted his assistance in the matter. We accepted his help, and the medical treatment issue was corrected at Walter Reed the next day.

Representative Bartlett continues to check on Jim's progress. As time has passed, he has assisted our family with many other issues that have arisen as a result of Jim's military service. It has become clear to us that Representative Bartlett genuinely cares for those who have served our country in a military capacity. He does not just talk about issues; he personally works to find solutions for veterans and their families.

On Feb. 2, 2006, Representative Bartlett had a United States flag flown over the United States Capitol in honor of Jim's service to our country. In September, Congressman Bartlett honored Jim and other soldiers from Operation Iraqi Freedom and World War II at a town hall meeting in Frederick. At that time he presented them with a framed copy of the oil painting "Lightning at Bourheim." He also arranged for the veterans and their families to meet with United States Veterans Affairs Secretary R. James Nicholson.

I expect an elected official to comprehend the important issues of the day and to work for the people he or she represents, which Representative Bartlett does. However, I have been overwhelmingly impressed by the personal assistance we have received from Representative Bartlett since this past Christmas Eve. It is above and beyond the call of duty.

I extend my most heartfelt thank you to Congressman Roscoe Bartlett for his service to our family, all veterans, and the residents of western Maryland.

Sincerely,
Michelle Bartholomew

To the Editor:

It is with deep gratitude and appreciation that I write to the sponsors, donors, and volunteers in Allegany, Garrett, and Mineral counties for their support of the American Red Cross Blood Services.

During the 2005/2006 program year, over 8,000 people attended local blood drives, resulting in 7,400 productive units. Each donation is processed into three products, or as we say, each donation can save three lives.

Your generosity last year enabled the American Red Cross to meet local hospital and patient needs. Unfortunately the need for blood is ongoing. The need for blood never takes a vacation or a day off. Locally, the American Red Cross is experiencing a 25 percent decline in donations.

I realize that overcrowding, long waits, and staff shortages may have contributed to the decline; however, we are committed to doing better. On behalf of the American Red Cross, I would like to extend my personal invitation to new, current, and lapsed donors to donate blood.

Local blood drive information is available online at www.redcrosslife.org, by calling the local office at 301-722-1760, or calling 1-800GIVELIFE. If your business, community group, or school would like to host a blood drive, please contact the American Red Cross at 1-800-542-5663, ext. 2642.

Remember every two seconds someone needs blood. Someone's waiting; please give.

Thank you,
Fran L. Sivi

To Discuss Plan

Flanagan.

Following the fall tour, a final CTP will be developed and submitted to the General Assembly in January 2007 for the approval of the legislators and the governor.

Senator McCulloh Brown of Garrett County responded to the challenge. He wrote and sponsored a forestry and state parks bill that was passed by the General Assembly in Annapolis and became law. After 100 years great strides have been made to preserve our forests and protect our wilderness areas. Over 72 percent of Garrett County is covered by forests. However, when local, state, and government safeguards are rolled back, there is always a danger of overdevelopment without proper planning.

Merry Paugh, who owns approximately 70 acres of land that borders Mt. Zion Road on Backbone Mountain, recently said, "I will probably have the most timber in the area after the 200 acres across the road and the 371 acres beyond that are clear cut."

The 200 acres of land that Paugh spoke about is now being denuded of its trees. The property has been owned by the same family for a couple of generations, according to Paugh. Present family members moved to Baltimore and sold their lumber rights to Coastal Lumber, and sold the mineral rights to G&S Coal. Because of recent governmental regulations, coal companies can now use coal that wasn't good enough for use 20 years ago, thus allowing them in this instance to strip mine the land and extract the coal under the surface.

What Coastal Lumber and G&S Coal may not have considered is how their activities would impact the people who live nearby. "I started having problems with my well when Coastal Lumber started cutting the trees," Paugh said. "When they start blasting, I'll lose my water altogether. I'll have to move. What they are doing to the land and the water will devalue my property."

The Vindex Energy Corporation, Morgantown, W.Va. has recently submitted an application for a surface mine operation on the 371-acre tract on the west side of Wolfden Run, approximately one mile south of the intersection of State Route 38 and State Route 135. The surface of the area and the mineral area to be mined is owned by Douglas Coal Company of Elkins, W.Va. The application includes plans to construct four ponds to control sediment and storm water on the mining area. The land will be stripped of its trees.

Paugh and her late husband sold some timber off their property; however, they had an intelligent plan. Paul Mateer, a local forester, helped them with the planning. For cutting, he selected old growth trees that were diseased. Clearing them from the forest allowed new saplings a better chance to grow. It worked; the forest on her land flourished. "There are lots of wild turkey, deer, and grey squirrels," she said. "The grey squirrels love the old oak and hickory trees near the house. I've got more grey squirrels now. They use to run across the road to the trees in the neighbor's yard, but now they come here because the trees are gone."

There is more awareness now of the problems that come from stripping the land of its trees. The destruction of the Amazon rain forest was a global wake-up call. Because of past abuses, people have discovered more solutions that bridge the needs of business with the needs of the environment.

My wife remembers her trip to Germany in the late '90s. One of her most cherished memories was of the old forests. The Germans, she said, are jealous of their trees. Like the Paughs, the Germans decided to harvest the trees in a way that stimulated the growth of the forest, thus allowing the business community and the environmentalists to build a cooperative partnership.

Yesterday, the residents of this area allowed the trees to be cut. Today, 100 years later, Garrett County stands poised once again at a crossroads. Serious choices have to be considered. All people who live here, all people who come here for pleasure, and all people who own property and work here have a stake in the outcome. For better or worse, it will be these people who ultimately determine the future of the county. What will that future look like?

GARRETT COUNTY Yesterday and Today

by Leigh Clements

Choices For The Future

Autumn's glory is here, there, and everywhere — seen in the morning fog that drifts among the mountain valleys, on the leafy branch of a crimson maple, on the sparkling waters of the Youghiogheny River floating through a mountain pass, in the fields of bright yellow goldenrod, on the back roads among the forests, in roadside streams and rock shelves, and in a blue October sky with clouds so white. Anywhere you travel in Garrett County, the beauty of the Nature is on display. It is no wonder that we celebrate this season. Good feelings awaken in the appreciation of the way Life shows itself through the natural world. An e.e. cummings verse touches the spirit of this realization:

i thank You God for most this amazing day: for the leaping greenly spirits of trees and a blue true dream of sky; and for everything which is natural which is infinite which is yes

(i who have died am alive again today, and this is the sun's birthday; this is the birth day of life and of love and wings: and of the gay great happening illimitably earth)

how should tasting touching hearing seeing breathing any — lifted from the no of all nothing — human merely being doubt unimaginable You?

(now the ears of my ears awake and now the eyes of my eyes are opened)

Offutt Johnson, a retired park naturalist, said, "This year marks a century of efforts to restore healthy forests in Maryland and Garrett County on both public and private land, and also to conserve the natural and historic lands of the existing state parks."

For 100 years, Marylanders have endeavored to help stop the holocaust of the trees, the destruction of wetlands, and the environmental disasters that were created in Garrett County and Appalachia in the five decades leading to the Great Depression.

In an article, Maryland State Forests and Parks, Robert Bailey and Ross Kimmel said, "By the end of the 19th century, Americans had despoiled much of our natural heritage." The personal, social, and environmental changes that people of Garrett County and Appalachia endured during this time are well documented. Ronald L. Lewis, professor of history at West Virginia University addresses this period of transition in his book Transforming the Appalachian Countryside, in which he traces the changes that transformed Appalachia a rural-agricultural society dependent on the virgin forests and fertile pasture lands, to a 20th century society denude of its forest and fully enmeshed in capitalism and the markets.

According to Bailey and Kimmel, early Americans, dating back to 1607, viewed the wilderness as a menace to be subdued and exploited for profit. These same attitudes persisted, and the venture capitalists of the late 19th and early 20th centuries, who saw big profits in lumber and coal, exploited this narrow view of the wilderness and manipulated the political system and the markets to get what they wanted — more timber, more coal, more profits. Garrett County and Appalachia became a mining colony of sorts — one in which the majority of the resources (lumber, coal, profits) flowed out, but little flowed in.

It doesn't take a genius to understand what happened. Follow the money. Look at the pictures of Garrett County after the assault on the environment had occurred in the late 1800s and early 1900s. I often wonder if in part people stopped coming to Garrett County during that period because the land, having been stripped of its virgin forests, looked like Dante's hell. After all, who would want to stay at a resort and look at nothing but a tree barren, wasted landscape.

In his book, Professor Lewis recounts the final story in "The Last Campfire" — an account of an old man who had left Appalachia for a farm in Kansas 25 years earlier, and had returned to view the wilderness of his youth one more time before he died. He and two buddies from his earlier days climbed to the top of a high hill for one last time to look out on the Cranberry Wilderness where as boys they had hunted and fished:

Where, in other days, the boys had seen blue waves of spruce and hemlock, stretching away mile upon mile, the men now beheld desolation — bare hills, ribbed with shale, from which fire and erosion had swept every vestige of soil; long mountain ranges without a tree, save here and there a gnarled trunk with its few yellowed leaves; a monotonous panorama of destruction, as far as the eye could run.

"Well fellers," said Zeke, "I knowed it was bad; but if I'd dreamed it was like this, I'd never a asked ye tu come up here. I'm sorry I seen it."

"Me, too, " said Doc. "I'd like jist to hev remembered it th' way it uset tu be."

One thing is clear, the local people, who were left behind once the venture capitalists pulled out, had to deal with the devastation to the land and the rivers. It was dedicated people from Garrett County who first stepped forward to initiate the conservation and forestry movement. According to Johnson, Maryland citizens and legislators confronted the problem of treeless landscapes in 1906, and became the third state to start progressive conservation efforts to restore forest land. Robert and John Garrett of Deer Park and Baltimore took a leading role. They offered to give approximately 2,000 acres near Swallow Falls to Maryland if the state legislature enacted a forestry and state parks program.

Center Continues

takes a lot of time, courage, and commitment to unlearn all those years of dysfunctional patterns. This makes it very difficult for victims to break the cycle. The Dove Center is here to provide support and encouragement through this process."

Last year the center provided assistance to 428 adults and 86 children. The funding for the center comes from a mix of federal, state, and local sources. The individuals served range from people who have cars, jobs, and places to live, to those who arrive with only the clothes on their backs, no job skills, no transportation, and no shelter.

"In cooperation with agency partners in the community, we do our best to help everyone, regardless of their circumstances," stated Han-line.

When their world began to fall apart as victims of abuse became more and more frightened of their spouses, they would remember a billboard they saw or a pamphlet about the center. Or often agencies or others, such as the police, would refer them to the center.

"Entering shelter is not the only way to get assistance from the Dove Center," Hanline said. "We provide a range of safety planning services, including assistance in obtaining protective orders, 911 cell phones, and formalizing a plan for leaving an abusive relationship safely. We also emphasize that escaping the abuse is just the beginning. It will take time and support to heal from the devastating psychological effects of the abuse. If you are a victim, you are not alone, and the Dove Center is here to help."

Meaghan is taking antidepressants now, temporarily she says, and she regularly sees a counselor. Alice walks with the certainty of a woman with self-esteem. Both say that their lives would not have turned for the better had it not been for the Dove Center.

"These stories are inspiring and are proof that we can make a difference," said Hanline. "Everyone knows someone who has been hurt by domestic or sexual violence. Therefore, everyone needs to take steps to end it. How? If you are concerned that someone is being abused, tell them, in a non-judgmental way, and support them in any way that they request. Keep Dove Center brochures and contact information in the restrooms of your business. If you work in an agency that serves victims, treat them with respect and dignity. Hold perpetrators of abuse accountable for their actions. Volunteer for your local program. There are many ways to be involved in ending these crimes."

October is Domestic Violence Awareness Month. Persons desiring to learn more about the Dove Center or to get services may contact the 24-hour helpline at 301-334-9000 or dial 1-800-656-HOPE.

The Dove Center will also be hosting information sessions this month, at the following times and places: Oct. 17, 9 to 11 a.m., Hoyes Church, Friendsville; Oct. 18, 3 to 5 p.m., Dove Center office, Hershberger building, Grantsville; Oct. 25, 10 a.m. to noon, Dove Center office, Long & Foster building, Garrett Highway, Oakland; and Oct. 26, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., Kitzmiller Senior Center.

The births of three local babies were announced this week, two boys and one girl.

A son, Brandon Edward, was born to Ronald and Brandy (Lewis) House, Grantsville, on Sept. 22, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The maternal grandparents are Randy and Sheila Lewis, Accident, and the paternal grandparents are Gorden and Linda House, Grantsville.

A daughter, Jasmine Nichole Reckart, was born to J. Brian Reckart and Dawn M. Powers, Oakland, on Sept. 29 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A son, Braden Christian, was born to Nathaniel Braden and Christina Susan (Keller) Mullenax, Kingwood, W.Va., on Oct. 3 at Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va. The maternal grandparents are Annette Keller, Accident, and George Keller, Grantsville. The paternal grandparents are Mike and Kathy Mullenax, Tunnelton, W.Va.

Hear Reports

TEDCO to design the airport terminal building. He said Airport Advisory Board members had concerns about the aesthetics of the façade and entryway design. They feel the terminal will not "look nice," that it will look like a "box" and not an office building.

The director also reported that construction of water and sewer lines to the airport began on Sept. 11. The work is scheduled to be completed this month. A grinder pump station for the system will be delivered in November and will be located on airport property.

Proposals for the airport T-hangar land lease were rejected last month. The county is evaluating the benefits of a county built/owned hangar building. Hangar rental fees also need to be determined and will be based on the cost of the project, the mortgage, utilities, and other issues.

Mullich noted that about five years ago the rent was $85 or $90 a month. Preliminary estimates, however, show that rent in the new facility will be as much as $250 a month. The current fee is $110.

The Purchasing Department advertised in August for architectural engineering services to design the proposed detention center. The state's share of the project is $4.8 million, Mullich noted. Lt. Cindy Smith of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office attended a Department of Budget hearing in Annapolis recently on the next phase of the project funding.

Cell 3 at the Garrett County Landfill is 99.9 percent completed, according to Mullich. The contractor and county need to sign off on a few items yet before the project is considered finished.

A meeting with Richard Keller of the Maryland Environmental Service (MES) was held recently at the landfill to discuss the proposed recycling processing center. Processing and marketing of recycled material were also reviewed. MES was asked to submit a cost proposal for the design of the recycling facility, Mullich noted. Excavation work for the center continues.

Clearing and grubbing of the proposed Public Works Center Complex site began last month, the director reported, and its stormwater management ponds have been approved.

Garrett County Community Action has contracted a separate architectural/engineering service to design its transportation facility at the complex. The agency plans to apply for a Community Development Block Grant for the project. A public hearing on that funding is scheduled for Oct. 31 at 10:30 a.m., county administrator Monty Pagenhardt said.

Born Feb. 1, 1916, he was the son of the late Randolph P. Owens Sr. and Antoinette (Beall) Owens. He was also preceded in death by his wife, Ethel Owens.

He was a retired bus driver, having worked for the Metro Transit System.

Surviving are two sons, Thomas R. Owens of Bowie, and Randy Owens of Upper Marlboro; six grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren.

At his request his body was cremated. There will be no visitation or services.

The Boal Funeral Home, Westernport, is in charge of arrangements.

ALVIN F. BRENNEMAN

Alvin Fay Brenneman, 77, Grantsville, died Tuesday, Oct. 10, 2006, at Goodwill Mennonite Home, Grantsville.

Born Aug. 30, 1929, in Accident, he was a son of the late Ernest and Amelia (Schrock) Brenneman. He was also preceded in death by three sisters, Alice Brenneman (infant), Leona Beitzel, and Rhonda Miller; and three brothers, Samuel, William H. (Bud), and Carl.

Mr. Brenneman was a member of Glade Mennonite Church and spent two years at Norristown, Pa., in 1-W Service. He was a heavy equipment operator for Tom Moran, Westernport, M.F. Fetterolf, Somerset, Pa., and others.

Surviving are his wife, Janet Arlene (Byler) Brenneman; three sons, Randy and wife Marci and Steve and wife Shannon, all of Accident, and Mike and wife Brenda, Grantsville; three brothers, Allen Brenneman, Accident, Ernest Brenneman Jr., Grantsville, and Elmer Brenneman, Eureka, Mont.; five sisters, Olive Puffinburg, Springs, Pa., Ruth Headings, West Liberty, Ohio, Miriam Brenneman, Accident, Arlene Zook, Harrington, Del., and Lois Brenneman, Traverse City, Mich.; and seven grandchildren, Megan, Dustin, Amanda, Ashley, Daniel, Jacob, and Caleb.

Friends will be received at Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville, today, Thursday, Oct. 12, from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

A service will be conducted in Glade Mennonite Church on Friday at 10 a.m., with Rev. Earl Yoder and Rev. Mayard Beitzel officiating.

Interment will be held in Glade Cemetery. Friends may call at the church one hour prior to the service.

Expressions of sympathy may be directed to Hospice of Garrett County.

CIVIC CLUB LADIES DOUBLE AS RED HATS – Six members of the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland doubled as red hat ladies to attend the recent Red Hatters' Conference in Ocean City. The women took part in a number of activities and events, including the Queens' Grand March, a dinner dance, a Texas Hold 'Em tournament, and a Honky Tonk Hoedown. Pictured seated from left are Jane Frawley, Anne Forrester ("queen"), and Patty Bobo. Standing in the same order are Edna Forsyth, Ann Rebele, and Mary Rhoads.

Condolences may be sent to the family at www.newmanfuneralhomes.com.

(Paid Obituary)

EUGENE D. BEACHY

SUMO LEGO ROBOTS EVENT TO BE HELD – The Southern Garrett FIRST (For Inspiration and Recognition of Science and Technology) Lego League teams are back together for the 2006 season, and the 2006 challenge is a nanotechnology theme. The students have been building a robot and attachments to perform nine different tasks on a 4'x8' playing field. They are also putting together a nanotechnology research project to present, and will have to give a technical presentation on their programming, robot, and attachments. Team #2065, which includes Elliot DiGioia, Levi Lantz, Nick McGettigan, Johnny Mousch, and Stephanie Shreve, will compete in the Pittsburgh, Pa., event on Dec. 2. Team #2066 includes Emily Huxford, Aaron Lantz, Leah Mowbray, Ben Rodeheaver, and Sam Thomas. They will compete in the West Virginia state FLL tournament in Wheeling, W.Va., on Dec. 9. The team members wish to extend an invitation to the public to attend GEARS (Garrett Engineering and Robotics Society), the first SuGO event set for Autumn Glory weekend. The area's FIRST Lego League (FLL) teams and the FIRST Robotics Competition team (Team 1629) will join together on Oct. 15 to host this competition. The event is for all ages, and all are encouraged to sign up and participate. The event starts at 1 p.m. in the Garrett College cafeteria. Teams may register at sugo.thegears.org. Pictured above, Levi Lantz competes in a Sumo Robot battle at a summer tech camp held at the Wisp. Phil Malone, looking on, introduced the students to this event. Since then, Malone has found sensors that allows the team to build their own Sumo Lego Robots.

Md. Native Plant Society To Meet At Frostburg Lab

The Western Mountains Chapter of Maryland Native Plant Society will hold its regular meeting at the Appalachian Laboratory in Frostburg on Tuesday, Oct. 17, at 7 p.m. The guest speaker will be Katia Engelhardt, assistant professor at the Appalachian Laboratory.

She received her Ph.D. in ecology from Utah State University in Logan in 2000. Dr. Engelhardt's research interests have been focused on the areas of community ecology, invasion ecology, wetland ecology, and restoration ecology.

She will give a PowerPoint presentation titled "Warm Season Grassland Restoration in the Mid-Atlantic Region: Principles & Practices."

"With native biodiversity declining and invasions increasing in many ecosystems, the need to effectively and efficiently restore degraded ecosystems has never been as important as it is today," Engelhardt said. "My research is often motivated and funded by this need. I am working predominantly with the National Park Service to identify the feasibility of restoring a tidal freshwater marsh near Alexandria, Va., and to explore grassland restoration principles and practices for national parks in the Chesapeake Bay region."

The public is welcome to attend. The chapter business meeting will follow the program.

Directions to the Appalachian Laboratory are as follows: Follow I-68, take exit 33 (Braddock Road and Midlothian Road exit). Follow Braddock Road approximately .2 mile to the entrance to the Appalachian Lab on the left side of the road (301 Braddock Road). There is plenty of parking in front of the building.

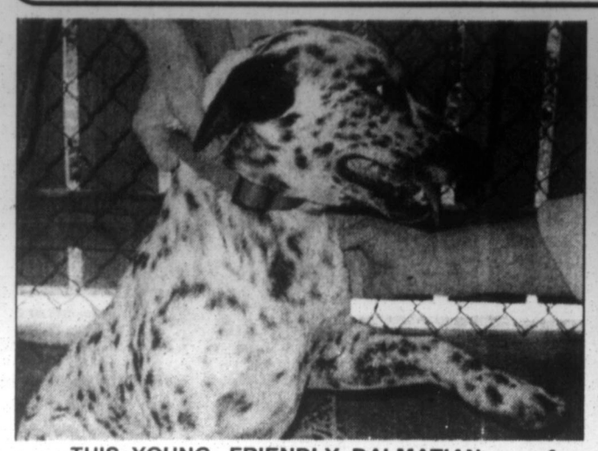
The Maryland Native Plant Society uses education, research, and community service to increase awareness and appreciation of native plants and their habitats leading to their conservation and restoration. Membership is open to all who are interested in Maryland's native plants and their habitats. Preserving Maryland's natural heritage, increasing knowledge about native plants, and helping to further its missions are the society's goals.

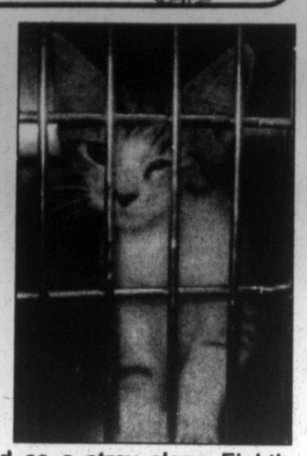
MNPS sponsors monthly meetings, workshops, field trips, and an annual fall conference. For more information, one may visit mdflora.org.

The Western Mountains Chapter has formed to expand the efforts of MNPS on the Allegheny Plateau and ridge and valley physiographic provinces of the central Appalachians. Residents of western Maryland, nearby Pennsylvania, and West Virginia, and anyone else interested in learning more about and conserving the native plants of this region are invited to join.

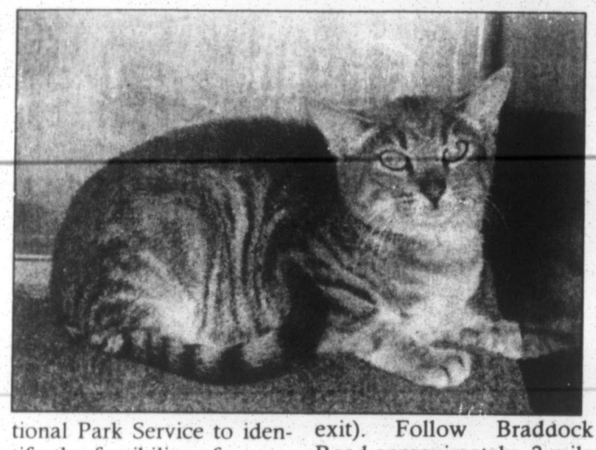
For more information, persons may contact Cheryl Lough at 301-616-7983 or cklough3@yahoo.com, or Liz McDowell at 301-895-3686 or info@elkridgenatureworks.com. One may also visit the chapter web site at mdflora.org/chapters.

Adorable Adoptables





THIS YOUNG, FRIENDLY DALMATIAN was found as a stray along Eighth Street in Oakland and is currently housed at the Garrett County Animal Shelter. He was not wearing a collar. Also looking for homes are a cute, fluffy female grey/white kitten and a young male grey tabby, who is not too happy about being in a cage. Last week's adoptable tabby was reclaimed by her owner, and the Siamese mix was adopted. "We are also happy that the big-eared dog was adopted, as well as another dog," said a Humane Society spokesperson. "It is great that people come to the shelter to adopt, since these animals are truly homeless and in need of a loving home. To view other homeless animals in our area, please go to www.Petfinder.com. You may select from dogs, cats, farm animals, and small animals that are looking for good homes. All of the animals listed are at a rescue or shelter, never from a breeder or pet store, so you are truly saving a life when you adopt an animal that is posted on that web site." For more information, persons may call the Garrett County Animal Shelter at 301-334-3553.



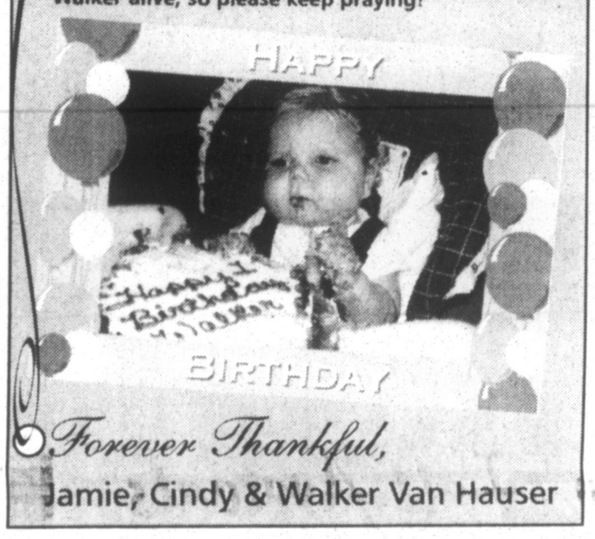
Correction Noted

On page 45 of the Splendor supplement published last week by The Republican newspaper, there was a picture of a clown identified as a Shriner. However, the clown was actually Dr. Stephen Powell of Regional Eye Associates. The error is regretted.

Thank You!

Well we did it, we made it through a year. We had a wonderful 1st birthday for Walker. We received special permission from the doctors to take Walker to the park. He enjoyed all of the events, but he loved the van ride getting there the most. He watched all the other vehicles pass and looked at them as if they were new toys. This week Walker accomplished another great task; he got to touch the grass with his bare feet. All that's left now is to feed his doggy a doggy treat.

We would like to thank everyone who participated in Walker's card shower. He had an outstanding response and received over 165 cards. Thank you all for the letters, gifts, pictures and donations. We realize just how lucky we are to be living in a great community. We couldn't have made it this far without a great support system. We cherish every day with Walker and look forward to the next. He is such a strong and determined little boy, thank God. All your prayers have kept our Walker alive; so please keep praying!



Forever Thankful,
Jamie, Cindy & Walker Van Hauser

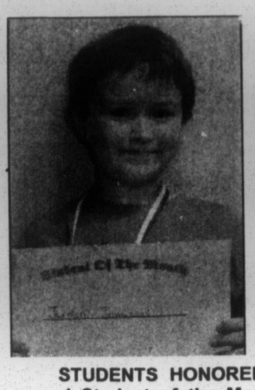
Car Overturns; Man Charged After Mishap

A West Virginia man's 2003 Volkswagon Passat overturned when it hit an embankment on Route 219 just south of Lake Shore Drive last Thursday at approximately 3:20 p.m., according to the Maryland State police.

David Carter Hardesty III, 26, Westover, lost control of his car, which then struck a light pole and hit an embankment before it overturned. Hardesty was taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital by Northern Garrett Rescue Squad, the police said.

Reportedly, the police discovered that Hardesty had been drinking alcohol before the accident occurred. He was given a blood test at the hospital and remained there for the treatment of his injuries.

Hardesty was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and negligent driving, according to the police.



STUDENTS HONORED – Jordan Jamison was named Student of the Month for September by the Partners After School @ Loch Lynn. He is pictured above left. He was chosen because he always comes to the center with his planner signed and does his homework without being asked to do so, said a spokesperson. He also participates in the program activities. He is a 4th grade student at Broad Ford Elementary School, and has participated in the program for three years. Jasmine Sites, above right, was selected as the Most Improved Student of the Month, because she has shown a tremendous improvement on making sure that her homework is done. Jasmine is a 5th grade student at Dennett Road Elementary. This is Jasmine's second year. The Loch Lynn After School Program is operated by Garrett County Community Action in cooperation with the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families.

2007, the whitewater course includes river-like features created by the patented McLaughlin Wave Shaper. The natural-looking course will be able to change while the water is flowing to create calm, beginner or training environments, as well as a venue for world-class slalom, freestyle, or "squirtboating."

The International Whitewater Hall of Fame and Museum, being constructed as part of ASCI's Adventure Sports Center, recognizes and honors individuals who have made significant accomplishments in and contributions to whitewater related activities. The history, development and major achievements made in these activities will be depicted through displays of related equipment, art, artifacts, mementos, and more. Interactive and virtual components will further enhance the museum experience.

ASCI is a non-profit organization with a mission to create an International Adventure Sports Center that is recognized as a focal point in the emerging and expanding adventure sports industry. The center, located in McHenry, works to promote, educate, and facilitate participation in a wide range of adventure-based recreational activities and competitions.

LOCAL DANCERS TO PERFORM DURING AUTUMN GLORY – The Country Plus Line Dancers will perform prior to the Autumn Glory Grand Feature Parade on Saturday, Oct. 14, from 11:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. on the boxcar stage at the Oakland train station, located along Liberty Street. The group performs at various venues throughout the year and dances to a variety of musical styles, including soft rock, oldies, and country. "The dancers range in age from young to those young at heart," said a group spokesperson. "Some members have been dancing together for over 10 years, while others have only recently begun to learn new dance steps." For more information about joining the group, persons may call 301-616-1232.

Southern Band Takes First At Allegany Show

The Southern Garrett Marching Band came in first place in Group I at the 10th Preview of Champions band competition, hosted by Allegany High School and held at the Greenway Avenue Stadium on Saturday.

Southern was also awarded the specialty trophies for best drum major, best percussion, and best color guard (auxiliary). The band scored a 78.8, its highest of the season.

The Northern Garrett Marching Band took second place in the competition, earning a score of 76. Great Mills High School took third, scoring 75.65. There were six bands in Group I.

"This show had the best sense of togetherness," said

Roger Skipper's First Novel To Be Out This Month; Signing Slated

Local author Roger Alan Skipper, Oakland, has succeeded in having his debut novel published. Set in Appalachia, the book, titled Tear Down the Mountain: An Appalachian Love Story, is being released this month by Soft Skull Press.

Skipper, who is a 1969 graduate of Southern High School, a graduate of Frostburg State University, and who recently earned a master of fine arts in creative writing, said the book is set in Union, W.Va., a fictional town.

"But it's really set in Garrett County," the writer said. "The conflict is about the tension of what the county was, and what it is becoming. The old ways of life here are disappearing, and that is what this is about."

Frostburg State University's Center for Creative Writing has announced that Skipper will serve as its first visiting writer for the fall semester. Skipper will give a reading on Thursday, Oct. 26, at 7:30 p.m. in the Cordts PE Center Leake Room.

The editors of Publishers Weekly said the book is a "promising debut."

"Skipper's earthy prose helps paint a vivid picture of rough-hewn Appalachia," they wrote.

The novel tells the story of Sid Lore and Janet Hollar, who drift together because in their tiny, secluded Appalachian community, both are misfits: Sid because he wasn't born there, Janet because she cannot clear the bar set for inclusion in her Pentecostal church, speaking in tongues.

They soon discover that Appalachian life is one of attenuation: family and friends die or move away, steady jobs become impossible to maintain as Sid develops work-related injuries, Janet feels increasingly trapped by the land she comes from. As Sid's life spirals into a series of odd jobs, bar brawls, and dogfights, Janet discovers new worth — and a hidden talent for destruction.

"This is the story of contemporary Appalachia, from within," the publishers wrote.

Skipper received a public-school vocational education, then served in the U.S. Navy during the Vietnam era. A career in the construction supply industry progressed from menial jobs to a top-level management position in a multi-store retail outlet. In 1999, at the age of 47 and shortly after paying his youngest son's final college tuition bill, Skipper resigned his position to pursue companion lifetime goals: his own college education and a career as a novelist.

The award of the prestigious Jack Kent Cooke Graduate Scholarship propelled him to a graduate degree in writing. Skipper lives near his birthplace in Garrett County, where he writes, hunts wild ginseng, plays the banjo, and builds musical instruments.

"Tear Down the Mountain is a welcome addition to fiction set in contemporary Appalachia. This book is terrific," wrote Chris Offutt, author of Kentucky Straight. "Roger Skipper knows the landscape, the people, their values, how they feel, and what they say to each other. These characters live real lives in hard circumstances in a land that's under assault. I loved it."

Erik Reece, author of Lost Mountain, said that it appears Skipper has spent a lifetime writing the book.

"The result is a deeply resonate novel that peels away the stereotypes about Appalachia so we can see the real struggles of people fighting for the land and the life that is quickly disappearing," Reece said. "Skipper writes in the richly textured language that is unmistakably the voice of Appalachia."

For more information, persons may e-mail Tom Pessini at tpessini@qcol.net.

Takes First

Southern band director Richard Clever. "Every section stayed in time and in balance."

Both local bands will take part in this weekend's Autumn Glory Festival, beginning this evening, Thursday, with the annual firemen's parade, and also on Saturday. Both bands will march in the Autumn Glory Grand Feature Parade Saturday afternoon.

Southern will host its 29th annual Western Maryland Tournament of Bands at the athletic field Saturday evening, with the first band to take the field at 6 p.m.

The bands taking part in this year's tournament are as follows: Group I, Westmar and Northern Garrett; Group II, Fort Hill and Petersburg, W.Va.; Group III, North Hagerstown and Allegany; and Group IV, Severna Park, Williamsport, and Preston.

A special guest band will be the Frostburg State University Bobcat Marching Band, which will take the field after the competitors. Following the Bobcats, the host band, Southern Garrett, will perform in exhibition.

First Novel

In addition to the reading at FSU, Skipper will host a book-signing at the Book Mark'et in Oakland on Saturday, Oct. 28, from 11:30 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Soft Skull Press is sending the author on a short reading/signing book tour in November. He will be reading in Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky, and West Virginia. Earlier this week, he read at the Baltimore Book Fair.

"Roger was one of the most gifted students I've ever taught, and I am not the least bit surprised to know that he has gone on to do so well," said Brad Barkley, author of Alison's Automotive Repair Manual and professor of creative writing at FSU. Tear Down the Mountain is a terrific novel, and we are all really proud of him."

Dr. Gerald Snelson, a professor of literature in the English department and former teacher of Skipper's, said the book, "though only about 200 pages long, is as big in scope as the hills to the west of us and as majestic as the sky above them. His book is about the passing of a generation, my generation, in a piece of American historical time, my time, now quickly disappearing."

Skipper lives with his wife Connie, who works for the Department of Natural Resources. The two have two grown sons, Jason, who is a missionary in Peru, and Dan, who works for the Beitzel Corporation.

Runnin' Rams Busy; Girls Capture Area Championship

The Runnin' Rams, Southern High School's cross country teams, have had a busy but successful week, vying in three events since last Thursday.

The Southern girls' team captured the Area championship last Thursday on their own course at Broadford Park, then finished third in the nine-team Interstate Classic hosted by Clear Spring High on Saturday, and took second place in a three-team meet hosted by Keyser on Monday.

Meanwhile, the Southern boys' squad finished fifth in the Area meet, placed fourth in the Interstate Classic, and won the tri-meet at Keyser on Monday.

The Southern girls, coached by Steve Cosner, finished the Area meet with 59 points, followed by Keyser with 64, Frankfort with 73, Fort Hill with 74, Westmar with 110, and Allegany with 126.

Sierra Wassell led the Rams, placing fourth with a time of 22:50. Melinda Smith and Jennifer Cosner placed 12th and 13th, respectively, with times of 23:44 and 23:51. Rachel Skipper was 21st, Kaitlyn Swift placed 24th, Hannah Davis finished 30th, and Katy Lucas was 35th.

Allegany's Lauren MacFawn was the individual champion, recording a time of 20:42. The runner-up was Rande Connaway of Hampshire (21:27), and Amanda Twigg of Fort Hill was third (22:14).

The Southern boys, who are coached by Jamie Beeman, recorded 112 points for their fifth-place team finish. Hampshire won with 46 points, followed by Allegany with 68, Beall with 78, and Keyser with 101. Fort Hill placed sixth with 147 points, Pendleton was seventh with 177, and Frankfort was eighth with 192.

Mike McConnell paced the Southern boys with his third-place individual finish in 18:10. Ben Warnick placed 25th, Tom Warnick was 27th, Joe Bever and Tim Preston placed 31st and 32nd, and Jordan Skipper and Andrew Skipper were 37th and 38th, respectively.

James Carney of Beall was the individual boys' champion, recording a time of 17:32. Allegany's Julian Gates was the runner-up, crossing the finish line just two seconds ahead of Southern's McConnell in 18:08. Gavin Caupp, also of Beall, placed fourth in 18:13.

Wassell and McConnell were both named to the All-Area team for their top-10 finishes.

In the Interstate Classic on Saturday, the Southern girls finished with 53 team points, placing third behind Williamsport with 35 and Smithsburg with 43. Clear Spring was fourth with 85 points, while Allegany, Beall, Brunswick, Northern, and Westmar all had incomplete scores.

Southern's Wassell was the fifth-place finisher, recording a time of 21:30. Jennifer Cosner finished 10th in 22:17, and Melinda Smith was 12th (22:20). Rachel Skipper placed 20th, Hannah Davis was 27th, Kaitlyn Swift was 29th, and Kelsie Umbel placed 33rd.

Wassell, Cosner, and Smith were all named to the All-Invitational team.

The Southern boys finished with 97 points for fourth place. Clear Spring won the team title with 65, followed by Beall with 78 and Smithsburg with 92. Trailing Southern were Brunswick with 111, Williamsport with 120, Allegany with 151, St. James with 164, and Northern and Westmar with incomplete scores.

The individual champion was Northern High's Ryan Bowser, who recorded a time of 16:23.

Mike McConnell led the SHS boys with a ninth place finish in 17:17, and was named to the All-Invitational team. Ben Warnick placed 16th in 17:55, followed by teammates Tom Warnick in 25th, Joe Bever in 28th, Jordan Skipper in 29th, Tim Preston in 30th, and Cody Beckman in 44th.

McConnell was the fastest runner of the day on Monday in the tri-meet hosted by Keyser, as he led the Rams to a team victory with a finishing time of 18:18.

The Rams finished with 26 points, Keyser was second with 34, and Paw Paw placed third with 78.

Southern's Ben Warnick finished third in 19:12, while Joe Bever and Tom Warnick placed sixth and seventh, respectively, and Jordan Skipper was ninth.

Despite the fact that Southern's Sierra Wassell was the individual champion in the girls' race, the Rams as a team were edged by Keyser, 26-32. Paw Paw had an incomplete score.

Wassell finished with a time of 22:43, while teammate Melinda Smith was third in 23:11.

Also finishing among the top 10 for the Rams was Jennifer Cosner in seventh place.

The Runnin' Rams will compete today in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League championships, and will travel to Tucker County on Monday.

Lander Again Named Player Of The Week

For the second time this season, Elizabethtown College senior Heather Lander, a graduate of Northern High School, has been named the Commonwealth Conference Player of the Week in women's tennis for the week ending October 8. The sixth singles and third doubles player for the Blue Jays also received the honor for the week ending September 17.

Lander broke the Elizabethtown College career singles win record last week, a mark which had stood since 1991, and she tied the Blue Jays' career record for most combined singles and doubles wins. She tied the old singles win record of 57 in a 6-1, 6-4 win against Commonwealth Conference rival Lebanon Valley College Monday, as Elizabethtown recorded its second undefeated record in regular-season conference play in three years.

Lander and doubles teammate Cathie Martinez also won 8-3 at third doubles against Lebanon Valley. She and Martinez played third doubles, winning 8-1, and sat out singles competition, as the Blue Jays shut out previously undefeated Penn State-Behrend 9-0 in the first of two matches Saturday.

Against Grove City College in Saturday's second match, Lander and Martinez won 8-6 at third doubles, and she earned her record 58th singles win in a 6-3, 6-4 victory at six. She boosted her combined career win total to 112 last week to tie the E'town record in that category as well.

The Elizabethtown women's team, currently 10-1 overall and 6-0 in the Commonwealth Conference, has clinched the top seed and home-court advantage in this weekend's conference team playoff tournament.

Rams' Netters Streak To 10th Straight Win

The undefeated Southern High School volleyball team ran its season streak to 10 straight wins as the Rams hammered out a 3-1 win over Fort Hill in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League match on Wednesday.

Southern won the first two games, 25-16 and 25-12, before Fort Hill avoided the sweep by winning the third game 25-23. The Rams clinched the victory by winning the fourth game 25-18.

Sara Stephens recorded 21 kills, 12 points, and 16 digs; Paula Renteria contributed 13 kills, nine points, and two blocks; Adrienne Yoder added 22 assists; Shayna Sweitzer pitched in 12 points and 13 assists; and Alex Barnard had 12 points and two aces.

The Fort Hill jayvees defeated the Rams in two straight games by scores of 25-18 and 25-19.

Southern (10-0) will play at Allegany on Monday.

NHS Netters Lose To Fort Hill in Three

The Northern Huskies girls' volleyball team dropped to 3-8 after losing to Fort Hill in three games, 25-6, 25-12, and 25-12, last Thursday in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League match.

Nicole had four service points and two kills, and Jackie Rodeheaver added three points and two kills for the Huskies.

Fort Hill won the jayvee match in two games by scores of 25-6 and 25-11.

Northern was scheduled to play Allegany on Wednesday, but the results have not been reported.

Lakers Win Two At Home, Lose On The Road

The Garrett College women's volleyball team found the win column with a 3-1 victory against visiting Potomac State and a 3-0 sweep of Anne Arundel, but lost to Howard 3-0 in recent Maryland Junior College Conference (JUCO) matches.

Mindy Sharp sparked Garrett with 14 kills. Taleah Workman, Julia Bosley, and Eugenna Carson contributed 10 each as the Lakers took games one, two, and four by scores of 30-22, 32-30, and 30-26, respectively. Potomac won game three, 30-23.

Jenna Wagner logged 24 digs, Gabrielle Vera 17, and Bosley 14 for the Lakers.

Garrett dropped to 3-13 after Howard swept the Lakers, 30-19, 30-11, and 30-23.

For Garrett, Jayme Miller finished with 12 digs, Sharp recorded eight kills and four blocks, Gabrielle Vera pitched in eight points, and Eugenna Carson added six blocks.

The Lakers rebounded on Wednesday with a 3-0 sweep of Anne Arundel by scores of 30-17, 30-20, and 30-27, improving their overall record to 4-14.

Mindy Sharp recorded 14 service points and nine kills, Jayme Miller contributed 14 service points and three aces, Julia Bosley added 12 digs and eight kills, while Gabriella Vera pitched in 15 digs and three aces.

The Lakers play this Friday and Saturday in a Maryland JUCO tournament match.

NHS Defense, Carr's Running Lead Huskies To 28-0 Victory Over BW

The Northern Huskies varsity football team, sparked by a relentless running attack and an aggressive, dominating defense that forced five turnovers and held Bishop Walsh to 28 net yards and only two first downs, cruised to a 28-0 homecoming victory last Friday in Accident.

On the first series of plays, the Spartans moved the ball within scoring range, but a 27-yard pass was nullified by a penalty call for an illegal formation. The drive ended when Northern intercepted a Zac Hare pass in the end zone.

Corey Carr, who gained 186 yards on 22 carries, scored the only Husky points in the first half on a 16-yard run with 9:49 left in the second quarter and converted the extra point on a two-yard run for an 8-0 lead.

The Huskies took control of the game in the second half by scoring two touchdowns within a 36-second span. Nick Graham's first interception led to Ben Diehl's three-yard touchdown run, and Graham's second interception set up Corey Carr's 15-yard touchdown run that gave the Huskies a 22-0 lead after a successful extra point conversion.

Blair Silbaugh, who ran for 84 yards on 21 carries, scored the final touchdown on a one-yard plunge with 6:56 remaining in the game.

Northern finished the game with 348 yards rushing on 66 carries, 13 yards passing, and 18 first downs. Both teams had touchdowns called back on penalties.

"I thought we started out slow offensively, but we got things going pretty well in the second half. The offensive line got a lot of confidence from their effort," Huskies coach Phil Carr said.

Defensively, Brock Glotfelty had two sacks and Dom DiRienzo and Nick Ferell had one each. Graham had two interceptions and Zack Fratz and Matt Mason one apiece. Corey Diehl recovered a fumble.

"Our defense played well. I thought we started to gel," Carr said.

TOMORROW

Northern (2-3) faces a tough Beall team this Friday. The Mountaineers are one of the top four area teams in the state. Last year, they rushed for 3,240 yards, scored 412 points, and had eight players named to the Times-News All-Area First Team last season. They enter the game with a 4-1 record, losing only to Allegany.

"They've been consistent over the years, and we've not beat them too many times. They put it to us last year," Coach Carr said. "This is a must win for us if we want to stay in the hunt for the playoffs."

Carr expects a tough physical game that will be won on the line of scrimmage. "We need to match their intensity up front offensively and defensively. They're going to run and we're going to run. It's no secret," he said.

Beall's offensive line averages 250 pounds. "They're big, strong, and fast, especially on the line," Carr said. "We're smaller than they are, and I'm hoping we can out quick them."

Like Northern, Beall runs a wishbone option offense. Sophomore quarterback Matt Farris (5-10, 170) is a good ball handler and has broken some long runs, according to Carr.

In the backfield with Farris is three-year starter, fullback Pat Winebrenner (5-10, 205), who gained over 200 yards against Moorefield. "Winebrenner is a tough, strong runner like Corey. If we're going to stop him, we're going to have to gang tackle," Carr said.

On the down side for the Huskies, sophomore halfback/linebacker Randy Wiley is out with a knee injury, and his status remains unknown. Tackle Steven Taylor had a year-ending injury earlier in the season.

This Friday Northern will play its last home game of the season. It will be senior night for football players, band members, and cheerleaders. The senior ceremonies will take place at 6:30 p.m.

NHS ROLLS TO HOMECOMING WIN – The Northern Husky varsity football team forced five turnovers and racked up 348 yards rushing to pound out a 28-0 homecoming victory over Bishop Walsh last Friday. Pictured above, the Husky offense sets for a play deep in the Spartans' territory. GC Volleyball Alumni Match Set For Friday

There will be a Garrett College alumni volleyball match played following a 5 p.m. match against Allegany College of Maryland this Friday at the McHenry campus, according to Ann Wellham, head coach of the Lakers.

Alumni interested in participating are asked to telephone Coach Wellham at 301-387-3052.

"This is a great opportunity to get former Lady Lakers back together and enjoy catching up with one another," Wellham said. "We are hoping to be able to have past Laker coaches Margaret Quinn, Sue Snyder, and Sue Newton available for the weekend as well. We are expecting a good turnout and are looking forward to seeing everyone."

The Lakers will also play at home this Saturday against Baltimore City Community College in a 2 p.m. match.

Time Change For Basketball Clinics

A time change has been announced for the youth basketball clinics that are being conducted by head coach Dennis Gibson of the Garrett College basketball program.

For Sundays, Oct. 15 and 22., grades 1-8 will work out from 2:30 to 4 p.m. All 1 p.m. workouts are canceled.

To obtain more information, persons may telephone Coach Gibson at 301-387-3051.

RUNNING WAS NEARLY IMPOSSIBLE for the Southern High School offense against the stingy Keyser defense last Friday evening, as the Rams were hammered by the Golden Tornados, 47-0. Above, Ram running back Justin Ratliff tries to find some daylight in the Keyser defensive line. Meanwhile, the Southern defensive unit did not fare very well either, although in the photo below the Keyser back is smothered by the Ram defenders. The initial hit was made by Southern's Caiden Shaffer. Identifiable in the photo are Justin Ratliff, far left (#19), Dan Shockey (#54), and in the background, Adam VanBogelen (#10). It was Southern's homecoming game, and crowned king and queen at halftime were Michael Edwards and Erica Glotfelty, pictured above right. Photos by John McEwen.

Speed, Defense Of Keyser Just Too Much For Rams

Southern High varsity football coach Steve Savage knew that his Rams had to keep Keyser's Jeremy Green from "getting to the perimeter" if they had any real hope of defeating the talented Golden Tornados last Friday evening.

But not only did Green get to the perimeter at will, but the Keyser defensive unit completely shut down Southern's ground game and the Rams were crushed 47-0. It was the fourth win in six games for the Golden Tornados.

The Rams were also plagued with turnovers, as they were forced to go to the air on offense. The Keyser defenders picked off four aerials, and the Rams also fumbled three times in the wet conditions, with one of those fumbles being lost.

Green led the Tornados' potent offensive effort with 117 yards and put the first points on the board, scoring on a 14-yard carry with 8:44 left in the first quarter. The conversion kick was no good.

Keyser's Brandon Roy made it 12-0 on the Tornados' next drive, scoring on an 18-yard run. Again the conversion kick failed, leaving Keyser with a 12-0 lead.

The second quarter featured more of the same, with Preston Hartman scoring on a three-yard carry in the first minute of the quarter, and Roy reaching paydirt again at the 4:54 mark on a two-yard run. Bryce Lyons ran successfully for the extra two points following Roy's touchdown, and Keyser held a commanding 26-0 lead at halftime.

The only score of the third period was a touchdown by Lyons on a 27-yard carry, and Scott Smith booted the conversion.

Hartman recorded his second six-pointer of the night with 10:19 to play in the game, this time on a one-yard dive, and Smith kicked the extra point to make it 40-0.

The Rams' ensuing drive ended abruptly and yielded seven more points for the Tornados, as Joey Amtower picked off Adam VanBogelen's pass and returned it 29 yards for a touchdown. Smith tacked on the conversion kick.

Other Keyser players getting an interception were Josh Smith, Lyons, and Matt Wilmer, while Green recovered a fumble.

Lyons recorded 87 yards rushing.

The Rams were held to just 11 yards on 16 carries, and gained 93 yards through the air on eight completions.

"Their speed was just too much for us," Coach Savage said, "even better than we had anticipated. We also didn't execute some of the basics on offense.

"But despite the lopsided score, overall our kids played very hard and never quit," he said.

Savage said that his team came out of the game with no significant injuries.

Next up for the Rams will be Petersburg at home this Friday evening, a team that has struggled so far this season and has just one win in six starts.

"They play a tough schedule, but they have been in every game, and we certainly can't afford to take them lightly," Savage said. "They have some very good athletes in key positions."

Among them are four-year starter Casey Vance, a 5-11, 210-pound senior fullback; senior tailback Jimmy Zimmerer (6-2, 200); and senior wingback Payden Ludwick (5-11, 198).

"Vance is one of the top players we will face this season," Savage said. "He runs extremely hard, and he's also their best defensive player at linebacker. He definitely has the capability of playing at the collegiate level.

"Zimmerer also runs very hard, and is another good defender at nose guard, where he is aggressive and very quick to the ball," he said, "and Ludwick is the fastest guy on the team; very explosive. So we will have our hands full defensively."

With the skills of these three players, the Vikings like to keep the ball on the ground as much as possible, running about 85% of the time, primarily out of the wing-T and power-I formations.

Led by the three aforementioned athletes, the Petersburg defense generally utilizes a 3-5 formation, but Savage is anticipating a 5-3 set against his team.

"They know that we prefer to run the ball as well, and so I think we will see a lot of the 5-3," he said. "We had to throw a lot against Keyser since we couldn't move the ball on the ground, but we hope to be able to grind it out better against Petersburg."

The Rams are now 2-3 for the season, but Savage remains pleased with his team.

"These kids 'come to work' every Monday, and they continue to work very hard," he said. "They haven't given in one inch, and most importantly, we're still having fun."

Friday's kickoff at the SHS athletic field is set for 7 p.m.

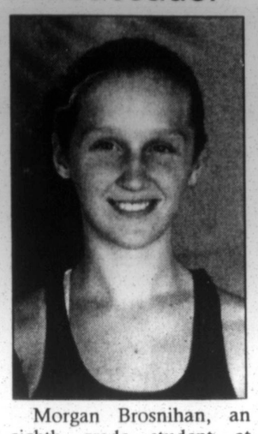
M. Brosnihan Named Sports Ambassador



Morgan Brosnihan, an eighth grade student at Northern Middle School, was recently nominated and accepted into the People to People Sports Ambassador program to play basketball for team USA at the Youth Friendship Games in Haarlem, Holland, in July 2007.

In 1956, President Eisenhower called a special White House conference of American leaders, who joined him in creating the People to People initiative. As a result, the People to People mission developed around personal exchanges and first-hand experiences with other cultures. Since 1963, People to People Ambassador Programs have taken thousands of young Americans across international borders.

"Sports teach you how to win and lose, sacrifice, practice, and prepare," said Jeff Geldien, director of sports for People to People Ambassador programs. "Being a Sports Ambassador with People to People reinforces all those life lessons and enhances them by letting the athlete learn them firsthand in a brand new part of the world."

Although coaches and team leaders supervise athletes, they journey across the world without their parents or schoolmates. A Sports Ambassador will learn from new coaches and teammates and befriend athletes of other nations.

Brosnihan said she has set some goals to improve her game and help pay for her tuition by pledging to shoot 50,000 shots by next June.

Prior to the Friendship Games, Brosnihan will attend a training camp to meet her teammates and work on the fundamentals of offense and defense strategies. The training camp is designed by Denver Nuggets assistant coach Jarrin Akana and will work to improve athletes' footwork ball handling, shooting, and defensive agility skills, as well as teach them more about the mental side of basketball.

The 2005 Youth Friendship Games Olympic-style village welcomed more than 7,000 athletes from 29 different countries. Along with athletic competition, Sports Ambassadors participate in some site-seeing opportunities, like a visit to the Anne Frank House and Museum, a bicycle ride through the ancient fishing village of Volendam, and a chance to see how products like Gouda cheese and wooden shoes are made.

"I am looking forward to the thrill of international competition, the excitement of discovering another culture, and the rewards of representing our country," said Brosnihan.

Brosnihan was a member of the 2003 world championship team with the Garrett County Junior Sportaerobic Team. The sportaerobic team traveled that same year to Argentina for an international competition.

She is the daughter of Brenda and Pete Brosnihan, McHenry.

WINNING TEAM — The Cornerstone Assembly of God II softball team of Boynton, Pa., recently competed in the Western Pennsylvania Assembly of God Tournament in Pittsburgh. Cornerstone is a member of the Garrett County Christian Men's Softball League. The local team won the "C" flight for the second year in a row by defeating United Methodist of South Hills, 13-10, in the title game. Pictured from left, front, are Buzzie Swauger, manager; Pastor Jamie Smith; and Rick Durst. In the second row are Ron Sines, Brent Thomas, Spanky Johnson, and Tony Bittinger. In the back row are Davy Short, Tommy Simmons, Justin Short, Dave Kennell, Keith Bender, and Daniel Short.

Laker Golfers Miss Medalist Awards In PCC

Two Garrett Laker golfers, sophomores Michael Bergstrom and Travis Friend, competing in the final tournament match of the season against the top 58 golfers in the Pennsylvania Collegiate Conference, fell short of qualifying for top eight medalist awards.

Bergstrom, who shot an overall 180, posted an 80 each day and finished the tournament in ninth place, just short of missing an award.

Despite a hand injury, Friend blazed through the course on day one, shooting a 75 and tying him for third place. However, the second day he shot an 85, which gave him a 162 total, leaving him out of contention for a medalist award.

Westmar won the overall team competition. The match was played at Penn National Golf Course near Chambersburg, Pa., last weekend.

"I am proud of Michael and Travis. Travis battled with an injured hand, and he didn't putt so well the second day. Michael stayed consistent throughout the tournament," coach Dennis Gibson said. "This was a good opening season for us in the Western Pennsylvania Collegiate Conference. I think we'll go into the spring season with a lot of experience," Gibson said.

Northern Girls Still Unbeaten; Defeat Allegany And Westmar

Still undefeated is the Northern High School girls' varsity soccer team, as the Huskies recorded a hard-earned, 2-1 win over Allegany last Thursday at Greenway Avenue Stadium, and then handed host Westmar a 2-0 defeat last night.

In the match with Allegany, Northern got on the board first in the 25th minute when striker Adria Graham received a ball at the centerline, eluded the last defender with a well-timed sprint to create a one-on-keeper situation, and then beat the Allegany keeper off the dribble for an open-goal shot from about 10 yards out. It would be the only goal of the first half.

Allegany tied the score at the 25:46 mark of the second half, when Detonia DeGross scored off a direct-free-kick assist from Jaclyn Boor.

But less than two minutes later, Husky forward Brittany Stein scored what would be the game-winner from about 15 yards out off a feed from Graham.

The Campers, who fell to 5-4 overall and 2-4 in league play, led in shots by a 17-8 margin and in corner kicks, 7-3. Northern keeper Justine Harvey was credited with eight saves, while Allegany's Chantae Dicken finished with three.

Coach John Milbourne said he was pleased with his team's ability to "respond to adversity."

"Even though we had fewer shots, our girls are finding ways of getting good quality shots on frame," he said. "That's been the difference the last few times we've taken the field. We know that every game's a battle in the WMIL."

Northern's junior varsity also extended its undefeated streak with a 2-1 victory over the Allegany jayvees in the first match. Kara Savage had two goals in the first half, assisted by Susan Thatcher and Nikki Diehl, respectively.

The Huskies scored a goal in the first half and one in the second half last night at Westmar, while keeper Justine Harvey and the Northern defense kept the Wildcats scoreless throughout.

Adria Graham scored the first-half goal off an assist by Brittany Stein, giving the Huskies a 1-0 lead at the 27:55 mark.

The score remained unchanged until midway through the second half when Northern's Sarah Voelkel connected for a goal off a feed from Erin Brenneman.

The Huskies trailed in shots on goal by a 14-12 margin and in corner kicks, 4-3. Harvey was credited with seven saves for Northern, and Abby Rawlings had four for the Wildcats. It was Harvey's third shutout of the season.

The Northern junior varsity tasted defeat for the first time in seven matches this season, being shut out 3-0 in the preliminary clash. Tara Goff, Annie Dawson, and Nicole Nightengale each scored a goal for the Wildcats, and Nightengale also had an assist.

The Varsity Huskies are now 7-0-1 (6-0-1 WMIL), while the Northern jayvees are 6-1.

The Huskies will host Southern next Tuesday, with kickoff times being 5:30 (junior varsity) and 7 p.m. (varsity). They will travel to Beall next Thursday.

NHS Booters Tie Alco, Fall To Beall In WMIL Matches

Meeting a pair of tough Western Maryland Interscholastic League opponents this past week on the soccer pitch was the Northern High School boys' varsity, which battled visiting Allegany to a 2-2 tie last Thursday evening, and then fell 4-2 to host Beall Tuesday night.

The results left the Huskies with an overall record of 6-4-1 and a WMIL mark of 4-2-1.

In last Thursday's match, the Campers of Allegany took a 1-0 lead just 3½ minutes into the match when Chris Alderson scored a goal off an assist by Caleb Browning.

The Huskies knotted the score at 1-1 about six minutes later when Elijah Lais scored off a feed by Zac Cupler with 30:23 to play in the half.

The score was still 1-1 at intermission, but Northern wasted little time in the second half taking the lead, as Lais got his second goal of the night, this time off an assist by Zack Lipscomb at the 37:47 mark.

The Huskies enjoyed the advantage until there was 18:59 left on the clock, which is when Alco's Eric Smith knotted the score once again, scoring off an assist buy Tate Brakvatne.

Two 10-minute overtime periods yielded no more scoring.

The Huskies finished with a 22-16 advantage in shots on goal, and also led in corner kicks, 5-2. Northern keeper Zach Trautwein recorded 14 saves, while Allegany's Brett Ritchey was credited with 17 saves.

The Northern junior varsity team recorded a 2-0 win in the first match, with Frankie Moravetz providing a goal and an assist, and Tyler Kamp scoring the other NHS goal.

In Tuesday's contest with the Beall Mountaineers, who remain undefeated in WMIL play, the Huskies spotted their hosts a 3-1 lead by intermission and were unable to recover.

Beall's Daniel Cunningham put the first goal of the match on the board, scoring at the 27:41 mark of the first half off a feed by David Hobel.

Northern's Mike Resh tied the score at 1-1 with a goal off an assist by Lais with 19:35 to play in the half.

But then Hobel, who would finish with a hat trick for the night, put his team on top for good with a goal at the 11:43 mark off an assist by Shawn Cutter.

Hobel scored again with 9:37 left in the half off an assist by Josh Bittner to give the Mountaineers a 3-1 advantage.

Hobel would complete his hat trick with a goal at the 18:43 mark of the second half, this time off a feed by Jared Lopez.

The Huskies did not quit, and Zack Lipscomb scored unassisted with 12:20 left in the match, but that would be as close as Northern would get.

The Huskies trailed in shots on goal by a 12-6 margin and in corner kicks, 5-1. Trautwein had five saves in goal for Northern, and Josh Weimer turned away four of the Huskies' attempts.

The win upped the Mountaineers' WMIL mark to 7-0 and their overall record to 8-1-1.

The Northern junior varsity was edged in the first match, 3-2.

The Huskies will try to get back into the win column this evening when they travel to Oakland to play county rival Southern. The jayvee match will kick off at 5:30, and the varsity tilt will get under way at 7 p.m.

Northern will travel to Westmar next Thursday.

Southern Girls Whip Spartans Before Falling To Mountaineers

Four different players for the Southern High School girls' varsity soccer team each scored a goal in a 4-1 victory over host Bishop Walsh last Thursday.

The Rams then dropped a 2-0 Western Maryland Interscholastic League match last night to visiting Beall.

The split left the Rams with an overall record of 4-6, and in five WMIL matches, they are still looking for their first victory.

In last Thursday's clash with Bishop Walsh, Southern's Brittney Scheffel put the first goal on the board just two minutes into the match, putting the ball into the net off an assist by Julie Swerbinsky.

The Spartans responded with their own goal just over two minutes later when Lydia Hughes curved the ball into the goal past Ram keeper Jessica Petrella on a corner kick to make it 1-1.

A goal by Kayla Petrella at the 30:00 mark of the first half off a feed by Lauren Shue would give the Rams the lead for good.

The rest of the first half was all scoreless defense, leaving the Rams with their 2-1 edge at intermission, and most of the second half would also be scoreless. But the Rams put the match away with a pair of goals in the final 2:50 to play.

Kerry Conroy made it 3-1 with a goal at the 2:50 mark, scored off a feed by Kayla Petrella.

Then with just five seconds left Shue recorded an unassisted goal.

The Rams finished with a commanding 15-5 lead in shots, and each team had three corner kicks. Jessica Petrella stopped four of the Spartans' shots, and Sharon Saku turned away 10 of the Rams attempts.

It was the seventh loss in 13 matches for BW.

The Southern junior varsity was also victorious in the preliminary match, getting one goal each from Marlena Kelly and Erin King for a 2-1 win.

Despite the 2-0 loss last night to Beall, the Rams played well against the Mountaineers, who are ranked #2 in the area with an 8-2-1 overall record and a 6-1-1 mark in the WMIL.

Statistically the two teams were virtually even, with each recording 10 shots on goal and Beall holding a 4-3 edge in corner kicks.

Second Half

S – Kerry Conroy, assisted by Kayla Petrella, 2:50

S – Lauren Shue, unassisted, :05

Kierstin Stevenson put the visitors up 1-0 about 10 minutes into the match, scoring off a feed from Corrie Feree.

The score remained 1-0 until early in the second half when Beall's Shonna Ferree scored unassisted. The remaining 38:15 of the contest was all defense.

Jessica Petrella had eight saves for the Rams, while Jenna Delaney turned away all 10 of the Rams' shots to record the shutout.

The junior varsity Rams earned a 2-1 victory in the first match, with Marlena Kelly and Clare Buckle each scoring a goal for Southern. Erin King had an assist. Mandy Lehman scored off a direct kick for the Beall jayvees.

The Rams will be back in action next Tuesday when they travel to Northern for 5:30 (jayvee) and 7 p.m. (varsity) matches. Then they will host Fort Hill next Thursday.

Southern Boys Defeated When Wildcats Rally For Two Goals

The boys' varsity soccer team of Southern High School fell to 4-8 overall last night when the Rams were handed a 2-1 defeat by visiting Westmar in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League match. It was the fifth loss in six WMIL matches for the Rams.

Southern took a 1-0 lead about seven minutes into the contest when James Mullenax scored an unassisted goal.

The score was unchanged until about seven minutes into the second half when Brian Legge scored for the Wildcats off an assist by Jamie Pollock to knot the score.

Pollock would then score the game-winner, unassisted, just over two minutes later.

The Rams out-shot the Wildcats, but Westmar keeper Justin Baker recorded eight saves to preserve the win. Southern's Drew Proudfoot had three saves.

It was the first victory of the season for Westmar (1-8, 1-5 WMIL).

The Rams will face a tough challenge this evening when they host Northern. The jayvee match will kick off at 5:30, and the varsity match will begin at 7 p.m.

Southern will travel to Beall next Wednesday.

Vikings Defeat Washington MS; Win In Playoffs

The Northern Garrett Vikings wrapped up their JCP Soccer League regular season last Thursday with a 2-0 defeat of Washington Middle School West.

After a scoreless first half, Viking Zach Beal finally put a goal on the board, scoring off a short pass in the box from Cem Brandt in the 17th minute.

Jaymes Kelly made it 2-0, scoring what would be the final goal of the contest off a feed by Brody Fike with less than a minute to play in the match.

Cody Brenneman had a dozen saves for the Vikings, while Ryan Diehl was credited with two saves for WMS West, which held a 5-1 lead in corner kicks.

The win gave the Vikings a final regular-season record of 9-2-3.

In the first round of West Division playoffs, the #3-seeded Vikings topped their fellow Garrett Countians, the sixth-seeded Northern Garrett Lakers, 2-0.

Once again there was no scoring in the first half, as both keepers made several good saves.

Then less than two minutes into the second half, Brody Fike scored off an assist by Alex Daniels to break the scoreless tie.

Jaymes Kelly followed with a goal about seven minutes later off a feed by Fike, getting the ball just past Laker keeper Austin Doerr.

Brenneman recorded four saves in the victory, while Doerr turned away a dozen shots for the Lakers. The Vikings had a 2-1 edge in corner kicks.

The Vikings will face #2 seed Washington Middle School East in a second-round match this Saturday in Cumberland.

Please don't feed the deer!

SHS Jayvees Defeat Knights

After over three quarters of scoreless football, the Southern High junior varsity ultimately emerged with an 8-2 victory over the visiting Preston High jayvees Monday evening.

Ryan Sweitzer capped the only scoring drive of the evening with a four-yard touchdown run, and then passed successfully to Arthur Pippen for the two-point conversion.

The Knights averted a shutout when Sweitzer took a knee in the Ram end zone with just six seconds left in the game.

Travis Skeweris led the Rams' ground attack with 120 yards rushing, and also snared an interception on defense.

Other defensive highlights for the Rams included a goal-line stand, and recording their first defensive shutout of the season.

It was Southern's first win in six starts.

The Rams are slated to play the Fort Hill jayvees next Wednesday in Cumberland.

HUNTER BAGS 11-POINT BUCK – Donnie Horner Jr., using a bow and arrow, bagged an 11-point buck, his first of the season. The buck weighed 175 pounds, had a 20 1/4 inch spread, and was approximately 3 1/2 years old. Horner and his wife Tracy (pictured above), daughter of Ken and Nancy Savage of Oakland, were hunting on the Savages' 10-acre property when they took the deer. "At the time they got the deer there were five other bucks in the field," said Ken Savage. "It's the biggest buck ever taken by anyone in the family."

WALLEYE CHALLENGE WINNERS — Despite cold conditions on Deep Creek Lake, 32 two-man teams participated in the recent Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company Walleye Challenge at Deep Creek Lake State Park. Pictured above are Melvin Bankhead of Bruceton Mills, W.Va., and William Pinskey of Mt. Pleasant, Pa., who took home a check for $960 for placing first with total weight of 16 pounds, 8.4 ounces. They also received trophy plaques and the opportunity to compete in the Cabela's National Team Championship next year. Pictured below are lunker winners Mark Collins of Swanton and Jonathan Booska of Oakland, who recorded a lunker weight of 4 pounds, 10.8 ounces. The top 10 finishing teams received cash prizes. Placing second were Ryan Reiger and Bob Stone, while Joe Daveler and Bob Fisher finished third. The next tournament by the Deep Creek VFC will be held April 21 of next year. Assisting the fire company with the tournament were Deep Creek Marina, several other businesses, and personnel from the Department of Natural Resources.

Garden Club To Learn About CES BirdWatch Prog.

The Mountain Laurel Garden Club will meet Tuesday, Oct. 17, at 10:30 a.m. at the Pleasant Valley Community Center, located south of Oakland along Joni Miller Road.

Charter member Polly Hanst will also be honored during the meeting for her contributions to the club in its early years. The public is invited.

After a short business meeting, the event will feature guest speaker Sherry Frick's presentation "Crellin Elementary School FeederWatch Program." A luncheon will follow.

Frick will explain how the club's Bird and Butterfly Committee facilitated two Cornell University Lab of Ornithology programs called Classroom BirdWatch and Classroom FeederWatch at Crellin Elementary School during the 2005-2006 school year.

Her presentation will include slides of birds that the fourth graders learned to identify, games and tools used to teach the identifications, and a recycled bird feeder project. Following the meeting, club members will travel to Crellin Elementary to observe the school's reclamation project.

FRICK TO PRESENT PROGRAM – Sherry Frick will discuss Crellin Elementary School's FeederWatch Program at the next meeting of the Mountain Laurel Garden Club. The event will be held Tuesday, Oct. 17, at 10:30 a.m. at the Pleasant Valley Community Center. The presentation will include the students' recyclable bird feeder project (pictured with Frick is a feeder made from a plastic milk jug) and slides of birds that they learned to identify. See story.

"Sherry was greatly influenced by her mother, garden club member Kathy Tucker, as well as her grandmother, in establishing her love of gardening and nature," said a Mtn. Laurel spokesperson.

Frick lives in Crellin with her husband and three children. She has a bachelor's degree in biology and masters of education. Frick was awarded a Fulbright grant in 1994 to go to Zimbabwe, where she conducted research on the population density and the behavior of hyrax, a fairly small, thickset, herbivorous mammal that lives in Africa and the Middle East.

Frick is currently employed as a substitute teacher, and is working toward teacher certification. Her special interests include the identification and use of edible and medicinal plants, bird watching, kayaking, and her family.

Club members will be contacted for lunch reservations. Nonmembers interested in attending the meeting, making lunch reservations, or receiving further information about the Mtn. Laurel Garden Club may call Ginni Neff at 301-387-7387 or Jackie Johnson at 301-334-4420.

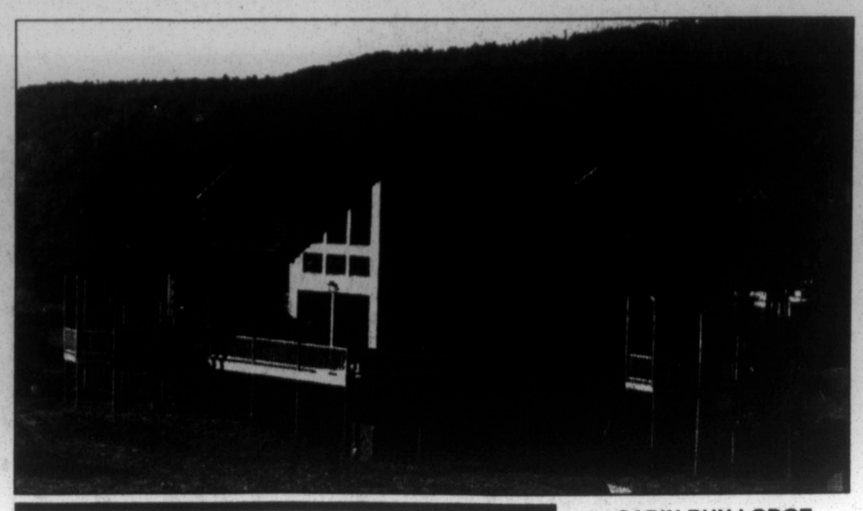
The club is a member of the Federated Garden Clubs of Maryland Inc. and the National Garden Clubs Inc. Affiliated clubs provide education, resources, and national networking opportunities for members, as well as promote gardening, floral design, and civic and environmental responsibility.

Seats Available For Pa. Opry Christmas Trip

The Garrett County Area Agency on Aging has seats available to see the annual "Country Christmas and Gospel Special" at the Pennsylvania Opry on Thursday, Nov. 30. The price per person is $104, which includes motor coach transportation from Oakland or Grantsville, show admission, and a family-style meal at the Antrim House Restaurant.

Also included is a visit to the Tiny World Miniature Village, where there are over 300 miniature buildings in a fully landscaped setting with running water, interactive trains and trolleys, and 4,000 "little people."

To reserve a seat, persons may contact Leona Lavin, senior center operations director, at 301-334-9431 or 888-877-8403, ext. 133. The reservation deadline is Oct. 13.



CABIN RUN LODGE

Let's Get Down To Business!

This is a feature of The Republican to better acquaint our readers with various area business establishments.

CABIN RUN LODGE

Many may be wondering, "What is that new large log cabin on Rt. 219 in McHenry?" Although it may resemble a residential home, it is actually a full service business center and special events venue called Cabin Run Lodge.

Partners John Hennessey and the Shreve brothers from Cabin Run have recently completed this 5,500 sq. ft. multi-purpose facility. Not only is this building being showcased as a Katahdin Cedar Log home sales model, but it is being made available for companies and individuals to access the latest AV equipment and advanced business services for retreats, workshops and special events, said a spokesperson.

The staff at Cabin Run Lodge includes Judy Day, lodge director; Paula Thomas, log home and marketing specialist; and Brenda Taylor, business services manager. Joining the team to assist with events are Maggie Lemak and Beverly Budd of Talk Of The Town event planners and Don and Brenda Champion of Catering by the Champions.

Cabin Run Lodge will be announcing a Sunday Sports Club for locals and visitors. Bradley Nesline will be the officiating host. Members can watch selected sporting events on several large screen TVs while enjoying snacks and BYOB beer and wine. Along with weekly games, annual events can also be viewed (Super Bowl, World Series, etc). Opening day for the Sunday Sports Club occurs on Sunday, Oct. 29.

"To introduce this magnificent venue to everyone, Cabin Run Lodge is holding an open house from 1 until 4 p.m. on Autumn Glory Sunday," said a spokesperson. Local storytellers will be on-site to share historical perspectives of the area; historical memorabilia and archeological artifacts will be displayed; and sweets and treats will be available.

For further information about renting the facility for business purposes or special occasions, the Sunday Sports Club, and/or the Open House on Sunday Oct. 15, persons may call 301-387-3263.

"Stop by for a visit and welcome your new neighbor," said a spokesperson. "You'll be glad you did."

Public Input Is Needed For GC Strategic Session

The public is encouraged to attend a session to update the strategic plan of Garrett College on Thursday, Oct. 19, at 6 p.m. in Room 224 of the Continuing Education Building at the college.

"Assistance from the community is necessary for this session," said a spokesperson. "All are invited to attend."

For more information, persons may call 301-387-3056.

happy HOMECOMING

Atlanta

It appears to be pure coincidence that the track known as Lowe's Motor Speedway has been dominated for the past three years by a driver with the Lowe's logo on the side of his car.

When Lowe's paid $35 million for naming rights to the old Charlotte Motor Speedway in 1999, Jimmie Johnson was driving the No. 92 Chevrolet sponsored by Alltel.

But soon after Johnson joined Hendrick Motorsports and started driving the No. 48 Lowe's-sponsored Chevy, he seized control of the speedway, which is located just around the corner from his team's shop.

His first Cup start at Lowe's, which also was his Cup debut, gave no indication of the domination to come. He started 15th, crashed on Lap 192 and finished 39th. In the nine races since, he has won five times and has a second- and third-place finish.

He also has two Cup poles and two victories in the all-star race held there each May.

So it's understandable that he's looking forward to this weekend's Bank of America 500, the fifth of 10 races in the Chase for the Nextel Cup. After crashing on the last lap at Talladega Superspeedway on Sunday, he's eighth in the standings, 156 points behind leader Jeff Burton.

"My expectations are high. I'm looking forward to the race [at Lowe's]," Johnson said. "We're going to run the Busch car and the Cup car, so I'll get a lot of extra time on the track with the Busch car that weekend."

Jimmie Johnson celebrates his victory in last season's Coca-Cola 600 at Lowe's Motor Speedway. The Hendrick Motorsports driver has won five times at the North Carolina track, including last year's UAW-GM Quality 500 (top photo).

Like other drivers on the circuit, Johnson is wondering how the track surface will mesh with the tire compound selected by Goodyear. The Bank of America 500 is just the second race run since a complete repaving of the 1.5-mile oval.

It appears that the tire supplier will come with somewhat softer tires than the tires run in the Coca-Cola 600 in May.

"I'm real curious, and I'm sure everyone is, as to how the track is going to be," Johnson said. "We've had some time and some other things have gone on at the track. Is the track going to be as tough to get a hold of when the sun's out or not? I think those are questions we're going to have answered here shortly."

Johnson is taking the car that won the all-star race in May, the same car he dominated with at Kansas Speedway before a late fuel stop and pit road speeding penalty put him out of contention.

Matt Kenseth, who got the first of his 14 career Cup victories at Lowe's, said he believes softer tires will mean better racing for fans and drivers.

"I think the tire [in May] was a little too hard to put on a good race, so I think they softened up the left-side tire a little bit," he said. "If they did that, I think the racing will be much better. I don't think there's anything wrong with the track as far as racing there, it's just the tire was so hard to get [traction]."

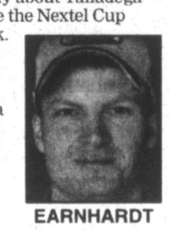
Kenseth said he thinks the tire company became conservative after blown tires were an issue in earlier races.

"It was just so incredibly hard because they were paranoid of having tire issues," he said.

Scenes from the track

A look at some of the bizarre happenings at Talladega

For many in NASCAR, there's always been something spooky about Talladega Superspeedway, where the Nextel Cup circuit raced last week.



EARNHARDT

It has been said the track was built on an old Indian burial ground. That may be a contributing factor in some of the bizarre events that have occurred there, like Sunday's race, which ended with a crash on the backstretch that took out race leader Dale Earnhardt Jr. and Jimmie Johnson. Ironically, Johnson's teammate Brian Vickers caused the crash, and he ended up winning the race for his first Nextel Cup victory.

Perhaps the strangest event happened in August of 1973, when the late Bobby Isaac, running up front and in contention for victory, suddenly radioed car owner Bud Moore and asked for a relief driver. Earlier in that race, Larry Smith had been killed in a Turn 1 crash that appeared so minor that his crew was getting the car ready to return to the race when they were told the driver was dead.

Isaac later explained that something just told him to quit. "I didn't know anything else to do but abide by it," he told reporters at the time. Isaac later returned to racing, but not at Talladega.

Dale Earnhardt Jr., speaking on a recent NASCAR teleconference, said Isaac's experience made him believe there's something's spooky about Talladega.

"I believe it," he said. "If Bobby Isaac comes in ... and tells you he heard voices, you better believe it."

But eerie or not, the track has been good to Earnhardt. He leads all active drivers with five victories there.

"Maybe the spirits like me," he said.

And maybe they were trying to tell him something on Sunday..

NUMERICALLY SPEAKING

NASCAR

13 Nextel Cup victories at Lowe's Motor Speedway by Rick Hendrick (left), tops among car owners.

6 Cup victories by Darrell Waltrip and Bobby Allison at Lowe's, tops among all drivers.

2 Fewest lead changes in a Cup race at Lowe's (May 1961).

1 Fewest cars finishing on the lead lap in Cup races at Lowe's (14 times, the most recent in May 1987).

Rick Minter's OBSERVATIONS

Some key storylines as the Cup Series heads to Charlotte:

It's a business

In NASCAR, as in other entities, the realities of the business world have a way of impacting even the longest-standing relationships. Two decades-long partnerships in the NASCAR garage are coming to an end. Mark Martin is leaving car owner Jack Roush and the No. 6 Ford, ending a pairing that began in 1988. And after 21 years, GM Goodwrench is stepping aside as primary sponsor of Richard Childress' flagship car in favor of Shell Oil and its Pennzoil brand.

MARTIN

GM Goodwrench, which sponsors the No. 29 Chevy now driven by Kevin Harvick (and previously the No. 3 driven by the late Dale Earnhardt) will become an associate sponsor.

In Martin's case, MB2 Motorsports offered him just what he was seeking — a part-time Nextel Cup ride with a full-time team. He'll drive 22 races, with rookie Regan Smith running the rest.

It was a deal Roush was unable to match, especially since he's already under orders from NASCAR to cut his five-car Cup operation to four, the maximum limit set last year by NASCAR officials.

Martin's former teammate, Jeff Burton, said Martin's decision to leave Roush shouldn't be seen as an indication of problems or bad feelings at Roush. It's just business, he said.

"From my perspective, it just seems like the business structure didn't match what Mark wanted to do. I wouldn't read any more into it than that," Burton said. "Mark's idea of what he wanted and Roush's idea just didn't mesh.

"That's the way I looked at it when I first heard it, and that's the way I look at it now."

Another loss for Ford

Martin's move to the No. 01 Chevrolet at MB2 Motorsports is from a full-time to a part-time ride, but it's also another high-profile loss for the Ford camp. Through the years, the list of drivers Ford has lost includes Jeff Gordon, Jeff Burton, Kurt Busch, Ryan Newman, Kasey Kahne, Elliott Sadler and Bill Elliott. Dale Jarrett is leaving Ford at season's end to drive a Toyota.

Dan Davis, director of Ford Racing Technology, said he had planned to support Martin in the Craftsman Truck Series next season and was disappointed he chose to drive for another manufacturer. He said it's not Ford's fault that drivers are leaving.

"I know people are going to ask about Ford losing another marquee driver to a competitor, and all I can say is that every situation is different," Davis told reporters at Talladega. "We feel we support our teams as well as any other manufacturer and that our business model has worked as far as winning championships and being competitive.

"We don't like it when drivers leave, especially when they're the quality of Mark, but the climate of NASCAR is changing and we've, unfortunately, felt the brunt of it this season."

Looking good on paper

Nextel Cup points leader Jeff Burton is a believer in statistics, but he says he's not reading too much into the fact that for the past two seasons, the points leader after the first three races in the Chase for the Nextel Cup won the championship.

Kurt Busch did it in 2004, while Tony Stewart did it last year.

"I'm not trying to make light of statistics, but I do understand that Mark Martin and all the guys in the Chase aren't going to say, 'He's leading now, so we'll give it to him,'" Burton said.

Burton said the bad luck he had at Talladega — a flat tire while running fifth with 10 laps to go — wasn't totally unexpected.

"Everybody has had a little bad luck in the Chase," he said. "We had some [Sunday]."

He said he's not planning on letting his late-race misfortune at Talladega affect his approach to the six remaining races.

"We will keep going forward and keep a good attitude as it should be and see what happens," he said.

Tough love

When it was all said and done at Talladega Superspeedway on Sunday, there were a lot of people who felt sorry for surprise winner Brian Vickers. His first Nextel Cup victory was bittersweet. He won the race after last-lap contact between him and Hendrick Motorsports teammate Jimmie Johnson caused Johnson and Dale Earnhardt Jr. to crash.

Vickers was booed by the partisan Earnhardt crowd and even conceded at the opening of his post-race interview that his victory wasn't the happy moment he'd always hoped for.

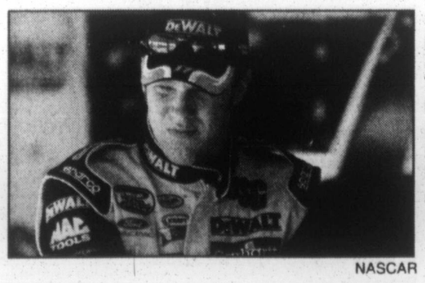
"I'll go ahead and answer the question," he said. "Yes, it is with mixed emotions. ... The last thing I wanted to do was get into Jimmie and wreck one or both of those guys, but what's done is done and we just need to enjoy the victory."

That was hard to do, especially for crew chief Lance McGrew, who had to wait for NASCAR to make the win official, listen to the boos of the crowd and then be ignored by the TV reporters.

"No media in the pit area, no congratulations, good job, nothing," McGrew said. "It is definitely bittersweet. It's a shame that controversy overshadows things when you have a good day."

Catching up with ...

Matt Kenseth



NASCAR

A fourth-place finish last week at Talladega lifted Matt Kenseth to second in the Nextel Cup standings.

Matt Kenseth, driver of the No. 17 Ford for Roush Racing, moved to second in the Nextel Cup standings, six points behind leader Jeff Burton, thanks to a fourth-place finish in the UAW-Ford 500 at Talladega Superspeedway. At Talladega, he met with members of the media, including Rick Minter of Cox News Service, to discuss the exodus from Roush and other things:

On his reaction to Mark Martin's decision to leave Roush Racing for MB2 Motorsports: "Mark is the reason that I'm at Roush Racing. Who knows if I'd even have a chance to go Cup racing without Mark? Who knows if I ever would have got that chance? I'm sad to see him leave Roush. I understand kind of why he's doing it and I kind of understand Roush not being able to get it together. I hate to see him go, yet I'm glad he's doing what he wants to do next year. I know he's been wanting to do a partial schedule. I know he struggled with the retirement and non-retirement issue the last couple of years and what he really wanted to do."

On the performance this year of rookie Denny Hamlin and his ability to avoid making mistakes that Kenseth and other drivers may have made early in their careers: "I made silly mistakes all of the time. ... Our rookie year, our stuff was really competitive, and then at the end of the year, we weren't quite as competitive. It is real impressive, not just as a rookie, but as a rookie on a team that is somewhat of a new team and hasn't had a lot of success. Taking [Hamlin] and that team, and those guys working so good together and getting the stuff running good and being competitive and winning some races and being in the Chase and being a serious threat for a championship is certainly impressive for the driver and the whole deal."

On whether there's a hole in the competition because last year's champion, Tony Stewart, is not a part of the Chase for the Nextel Cup: "I don't think it leaves a hole in the Chase. I think, if anything, it puts a feather in some of the guys' caps that made it in and were able to beat the champion out to make the Chase. It's kind of like Tony said, it's so competitive and if you get off a little bit or you have a couple of bad races or have some things break, it's easy to get knocked out of it. It's just that competitive."

On his improved performance in restrictor-plate races: "I think a lot of times you learn and maybe get a little bit better at plate racing, but it's a lot easier to learn and get better at plate racing when your car is fast. ... It's made it easier for me to learn because the cars are better, but yet I feel like we've had a car capable of winning a couple of times this year and I didn't get it done. I didn't pick the right lane or I didn't do the right things at the end of the race to get myself in position to win."

On a game plan for his career: "I don't have a game plan of how long I want to race or when I want to quit or anything like that. I love what I'm doing, and I can't imagine doing anything else. I'm 34 years old, and I feel like I've got a lot of racing left in me."

MONOPOLY GAME PURCHASES WILL BENEFIT PETS – The Garrett County Humane Society will hold a fundraiser during the Autumn Glory Festival on Friday, Oct. 14, and Sat., Oct 15, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Specialized Monopoly games, wooden cat/dog ornaments, and various other items will be for sale at the Mountain Fresh pavilion in the Oakland town parking lot. Eight versions of Monopoly will be available: Cat-opoly, Dog-opoly, Farm-opoly, Horse-opoly, Choc-opoly, Rodeo-opoly, Dino-opoly, and Safari-opoly. They are $24 each. The money collected will be used to help neglected and homeless animals and fund the Humane Society's spay/neuter assistance program. "Each year we give out over 200 discount certificates to local pet owners so they can have their pets spayed/neutered," explained Lisa Baker, Humane Society president. "The HS works very hard to help get animals adopted from our county animal shelter and helps the local rescue group to transport animals from the shelter to no-kill facilities out of town." For further information, persons may call Baker at 301-387-4425. Pictured are Laurel and Sarah Baker.

Man Sentenced To Six-Month Term For Drugs

In recent District Court news, Judge Burnett ordered Jacob Eugene Lynch, 24, Oakland, to serve 15 days of a 6-month jail sentence and to undergo two years of supervised probation after pleading guilty to possession of marijuana.

Members of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force executed a search and seizure warrant in June at 6736 Garrett Highway and discovered drug paraphernalia, marijuana, and crack cocaine. Lynch was one of four people at the house who were arrested and charged.

He was not prosecuted for two counts of possession of drug paraphernalia and for possession of a controlled dangerous substance not marijuana.

In other court news, Timothy Lee Kelly Jr., 22, Oakland, was sentenced to 25 days in jail and fined $400 ($200 deferred) by Judge Ralph Burnett after he pleaded guilty to the charges of failure to obey a lawful order and driving a motor vehicle on a suspended out-of-state license, according to court records.

After the defendant was stopped for a traffic violation on June 21, he fled from the police officer on the scene, and was later picked up by another sheriff's deputy, court records showed.

Kelly was not prosecuted for resisting arrest, theft of items less than $500 in value, reckless driving, and the attempt by a driver to elude a uniformed police officer by fleeing on foot.

Jo Lynn Mitchum, 33, Oakland, pleaded no contest to possession of marijuana, and was ordered to serve two-days in jail, to undergo six months of unsupervised probation, and to pay a $200 fine.

Robert Donald Lightbown Jr., 36, Friendsville, pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and was handed a probation before judgment and one day of unsupervised probation.

Lightbown was not prosecuted for possession of paraphernalia.

Harold Lee Scott Jr., 21, Richmond, Va., received stet rulings on charges of possession of marijuana and possession of paraphernalia, and was ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

Phillip Robert Reams, 25, Oakland, was handed a stet ruling by Judge Edward Malloy Jr. for a second-degree assault charge arising from a domestic incident last April.

Reams was ordered to have no violent contact with the victim.

The following recent cases were not prosecuted by the state's attorney:

Debra J. Wolf, 38, Mtn. Lake Park, was not prosecuted for two counts of writing bad checks.

Patrick Wade Friend, 21, Oakland, was not prosecuted for malicious destruction of property of less than $500.

Terri Lynn Tasker, 19, Oakland, was not prosecuted for the theft of property less than $500 in value.

Dwight Howard Clary, 28, Oakland, was not prosecuted for theft of property of more than $500 in value.

Jason Allen Perry, 24, Accident, was not prosecuted for writing a bad check for less than $100.

John Martin McEwan, 24, McHenry, was not prosecuted for second-degree assault arising from a domestic incident in August.

Jonathan Michael Stem, 19, Oakland, was not prosecuted for possession of marijuana and possession of paraphernalia.

Terry Allen McKenzie, 47, Frostburg, was not prosecuted for an alleged second-degree assault, a third degree sex offense, and contributing to the condition of a child.

Maria Lynn Swick, 33, Maysville, W.Va., was not prosecuted for writing a bad check for less than $100.

DUI AND DWI

Jeremy Gray Coley Jr., 23, Md., pleaded guilty to driving while impaired by alcohol (DWI), and was issued a probation before judgment (PBJ), 12 months of unsupervised probation, and a fine of $192.50. Coley was not prosecuted for driving under the influence (DUI) and DUI per se.

Jerold Vaugh Tebo, 37, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI, and was given a PBJ, 12 months of unsupervised probation, and a fine of $192.50.

Bernard Clark Booth, 38, Md., pleaded not guilty to DWI, and was found guilty and handed a PBJ, one year of supervised probation, a $300 fine, and 40 hours of community service.

Booth was not prosecuted for DUI and DUI per se.

Walter Irving Geary Jr., 57, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI of drugs or alcohol or alcohol and drugs, and was given one year of supervised probation, a $500 fine, and 40 hours of community service. Judge Burnett suspended a 60-day jail sentence.

Geary was not prosecuted for DUI, DUI per se, and DWI.

Sitcom's final show gets a 'Grace' period

By Jay Bobbin

Debra Messing and Eric McCormack

Q: I've been a faithful viewer of "Will & Grace." I was out of town for the series finale, so I set my VCR. Unfortunately, an electrical storm caused a power outage, making me miss it. Will it ever be aired again? –Shirley Wynkoop, Cartersville, Ga.

A: Eventually, we're sure, on Lifetime and/or in syndication. We have no firm fix on any specific dates for that, but in the meantime, you could pick up that finale on DVD; Lionsgate Home Entertainment released Debra Messing and Eric McCormack's swan song as a team very shortly after NBC originally aired it.

Q: I always thought Hedy Lamarr was the most beautiful woman who ever walked. When did she die, of what, and did she have any children? –Virginia Lane, Cudahy, Wis.

A: The star of such screen classics as "Boom Town" and "Samson and Delilah" died of natural causes Jan. 19, 2000, at age 86. She adopted a son during one of her six marriages (to screenwriter Gene Markey) and had a son and a daughter from another (to actor John Loder).

Q: I used to watch a prairie-themed show, back in the mid-to-late '60s, that was sort of like "Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman." The thing I remember is that it had a pair of teenage twin boys. Am I imagining things? –Edie Chavez, Tonawanda, N.Y.

A: Not if the show you're thinking of was "The Monroes," which aired on ABC during the 1966-67 season. It was a Western about a family of orphans trying to make their way in Wyoming, and the twin brothers were played by Keith and Kevin Schultz. Michael Anderson Jr., Barbara Hershey and Tammy Locke made up the rest of the clan. Another cast regular was Ben Johnson, several years before he won an Oscar for "The Last Picture Show."

Q: My friend and I were watching the movie "Imitation of Life," and the version she had recorded was not the same as the one I had seen previously. When I tried to explain, she said there was only one version. Was it made more than once, and if so, who were the stars of the versions? –Monique Williams, Chicago

A: Yes, the story taken from Fannie Hurst's novel was filmed twice. The first time was in 1934, with Claudette Colbert in the leading role and Warren William, Louise Beavers and Fredi Washington in support. Producer Ross Hunter's lavish 1959 remake – which is one of the October offerings on Turner Classic Movies – starred Lana Turner, John Gavin, Juanita Moore, gospel-music great Mahalia Jackson, and Sandra Dee and Troy Donahue (who also appeared together the same year in "A Summer Place").

THE REPUBLICAN

TRIVIA

Jane Seymour ("Wedding Crashers") was born Joyce Penelope Wilhelmina Frankenberg and is an ambassador for Childhelp USA.

TRIVIA

Joe Rogan ("Fear Factor") was the 1986 world tae kwon do champion, which likely helped him handle hecklers as a stand-up comic.

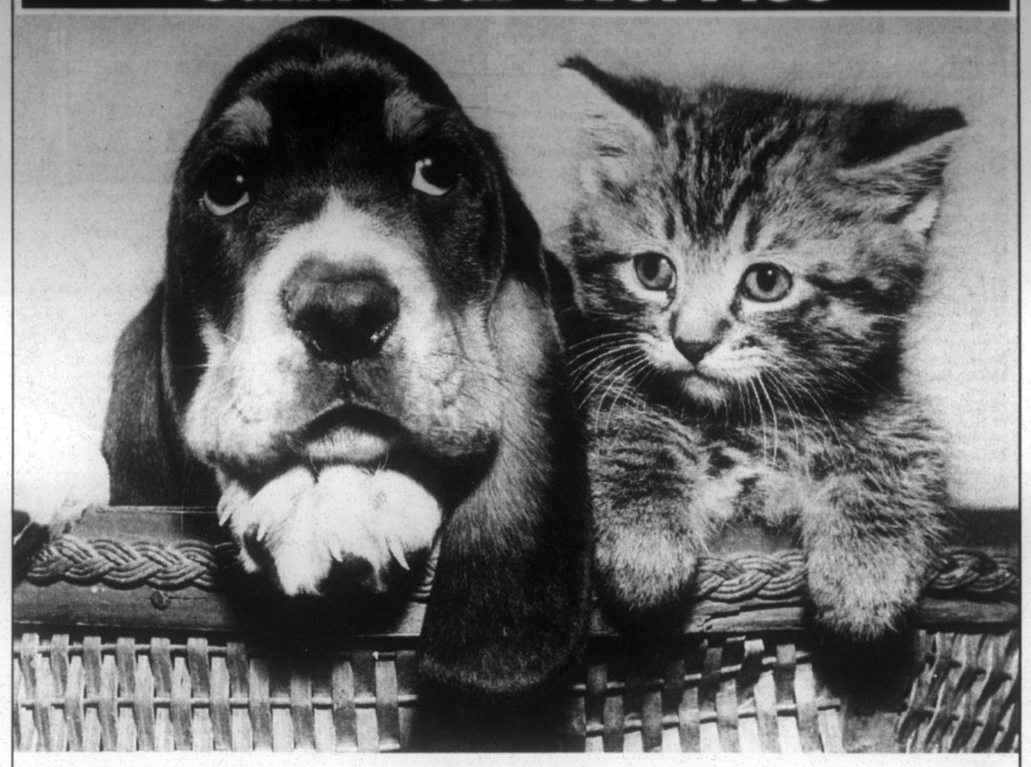
Calm Your Worries



Have you ever been so worried about something that you can't stop thinking about it? Do you worry about how you got into a situation, or how you'll get out of it? A worrisome thought can stick in your mind until you feel overwhelmed. What can you do to feel better and calm your worries?

In his letter to the Philippians, Paul says "Do not worry about anything, but in everything by prayer…let your request be made known." (Philippians 4:6-7) The worrying isn't getting us anywhere; taking action with prayer allows us to share our burden with God. We don't have to bear it alone!

Visit your church this week, tell God of your needs and thank Him for being there to listen. His peace will calm your worries.

Be Merciful, O Lord, For We Have Sinned

The Bible tells us that we all have sinned and have come short of the glory of God. And, although we should try to refrain from sinning, it is somewhat consoling to know that none of us are perfect. If we are repentant for our sins and have asked God for His forgiveness we shouldn't be too harsh on ourselves nor dwell on our past transgressions. Sin is a rejection of God's love; however, our Heavenly Father has given us a means to rid ourselves of sin providing that we try to refrain from sinning in the future. In the Bible, Psalm 51 is a prayer of repentance that asks the Lord to be merciful to us as sinners; and in order for us to be repentant, we have to admit to ourselves that we have sinned. We often try to justify our bad behavior in order to avoid some corrective action or punishment; however, we should keep in mind that justifying our inappropriate actions does not necessarily nullify them.

Most all of the great people in the Bible committed some wrongdoing, and still, God was able to use them. Perhaps God will use us for His good, even though we have sinned.

To the Lord, our God belong mercy and forgiveness, though we have rebelled against Him.

-- New K.J.V. Daniel 9:9

Red Clover: Source of Plant Estrogen

Red clover belongs to the family of plants called legumes, which are found widely throughout Europe and North America. It has been used in the treatment of lung diseases, skin conditions, and women's health disorders. The flower portion of the plant is used for medicinal purposes. Red clover contains substances called isoflavones. these are also known as phytoestrogens (plant estrogens). Phytoestrogens mimic the effects of estrogen in the body and may be responsible for red clover's effects on menopausal symptoms.

Red clover can be prepared as tablets, capsules, extracts, and teas. While side effects due to Red clover are rare, rash, muscle pain, headache, nausea, and vaginal spotting have been reported. Red clover also contains a substance called Coumarin, which interferes with the blood clotting process; therefore, red clover should not be used by people who take warfarin or other blood thinning medi-cations. Red clover may interfere with the effectiveness of prescription estrogen medications. Red clover should not be used by women with a history of breast, ovarian, uterine cancers, or endometriosis.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It was George Eliot, one of the best-known novelists of the Victorian era, who made the following sage observation: "Blessed is the man who, having nothing to say, abstains from giving us wordy evidence of the fact."

• Wal-Mart is the largest retailer and the second-largest corporation in the world, but in many places it's about more than just buying and selling goods. In some countries you can go to the local Wal-Mart store to meet singles — really! If you're looking for love, all you have to do is tie a red ribbon to your cart to let other customers know that you're on the market. "Attention Wal-Mart shoppers," indeed!

• Statistically speaking, you're safer when you're traveling by air than when you're traveling by foot.

• Another record we didn't know existed: the most earthworms eaten in 30 seconds. The title is held by a man with the unlikely name "Snake Manu," who consumed 200 of the worms in half a minute.

• When she was born, the woman known to history as Nancy Reagan was given the name "Anne Davis."

• In 1535, English statesman Sir Thomas More was put to death for the crime of treason because, as a staunch Catholic, he refused to recognize King Henry VIII as the head of the Church of England. After telling the executioners that he didn't blame them, he was beheaded, and his head was mounted on the London Bridge. In 1935 the Catholic Church — unsurprisingly — sainted Sir Thomas More. It seems odd, though, that in 2000 he was declared the patron saint of politicians.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Oct. 21, 1797, the USS Constitution, a 44-gun U.S. Navy frigate built to fight Barbary pirates off the coast of Tripoli, is launched in Boston Harbor. During the War of 1812, the Constitution won its enduring nickname "Old Ironsides" when shots seemed to merely bounce off the ship's sides.

• On Oct. 17, 1906, Wilhelm Voigt, a 57-year-old German shoemaker, impersonates an army officer and leads an entire squad of soldiers to help him steal 4,000 marks. Voigt, who had a long criminal record, humiliated the German army by exploiting its soldiers' blind obedience to authority and getting them to assist in his audacious robbery.

• On Oct. 20, 1930, Sherlock Holmes debuts on the radio starring William Gillette as Holmes. In 1939, Basil Rathbone took on the part, supported by Nigel Bruce as his faithful sidekick, Watson. The program ran, with different actors and some interruptions, until 1956.

• On Oct. 22, 1942, child star Annette Funicello is born in Utica, N.Y. Funicello became a featured Mouseketeer on Disney's Mickey Mouse Club and later starred in several Disney features, including "The Shaggy Dog" (1959).

• On Oct. 18, 1961, the movie version of the Broadway musical "West Side Story" opens at New York's Rivoli Theater. The musical retold the story of Romeo and Juliet, but set the action in contemporary New York.

• On Oct. 16, 1973, Henry Kissinger and North Vietnamese diplomat Le Duc Tho are awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for negotiating the Paris peace accords. Kissinger accepted, but Tho declined the award until such time as "peace is truly established."

Dog Thinks Back Yard Is Giant Litter Box

Q. Help! My backyard lawn has brown spots all over it from where my chocolate Lab "Jake" does his business. How can I get him to just go in a certain area? I'm tired of having to go around every Saturday and pick up his little "gifts." And how can I get rid of the brown spots? — A Reader in Jacksonville, Fla.

A. Getting a pet — especially dogs — to do their business in a particular spot, without supervision, is difficult but not impossible. You will need to supervise when and where Jake eliminates, and you will need to stop him from identifying the back yard as a giant "go spot."

You have two options: Put Jake on a leash morning and evening and take him for a nice walk, so he eliminates away from the house (carry pickup bags with you); or, select a spot in the yard and train him to go there.

When it's time for him to go out back, don't just open the door. Put him on his leash and take him to the selected corner (ideally, a spot with dirt or sand) for about five to 10 minutes. Encourage him (nicely) to "go." If he doesn't eliminate, take the leash off and let him play. If he does, give him a treat and lots of praise. Repeat these techniques daily; Jake has to change his elimination routine.

The brown spots in the grass are caused by Jake's urine, which has a high nitrogen content. Spots that have been there a long time may need to be reseeded. The only certain way to reduce brown spots is to reduce the excess nitrogen by watering the area after Jake goes inside — at least until he gets accustomed to using the selected spot.

Collecting

Q. I have a large collection of old sheet music and would like to sell it. How do I go about it. — Arlene, Westfield, N.Y.

A. All of you with piles of sheet music, listen up. I get this question at least a dozen times each month. Jim Wiemers is a collector and can help you establish values if you provide him with photocopies of covers and postage for mail return. He has collected for more than 25 years and hosts an annual sheet music show each June in Collinsville, Ill. Q. I have a collection of cigarette lighters from the 1920s and '30s. Where can I get a fair price for them? — Jean, Attleboro, Mass.

A. Something is only worth what someone is willing to plunk down in cold, hard cash. The value of collectibles is determined by several factors including rarity, condition and demand. To get the absolute most for your lighters, I suggest you market them — one by one — on eBay.

Eating Right with Nutrient-Dense Foods

We are still learning about what it means to eat right. Good nutrition can be defined differently from person to person. Overall everyone should try to get most of their nutrients from foods, but to only eat the amount that the body needs. It is important to make every food choice a good one, one that will give us the most energy, vitamins, and minerals, and the most satisfaction from hunger possible, without overloading us.

As we age, our bodies stop growing and our ability to build new tissue decreases. We do not need as many calories to be healthy, but we still need as much or more of the same nutrients-protein, carbohydrates, fats, vitamins, and minerals to maintain daily functions. That's why we need nutrient-dense foods; these foods are good for keeping us healthy because they have a large amount of nutrition in relationship to their calorie counts.

Most nutrient-dense foods can be found by shopping the edges of the supermarket in the breads and cereals, produce, dairy, meat, poultry, and fish sections. Rather than indulging in the convenient food selections, if you eat one food from each of these sections of the supermarket at every meal, you will be on your way to eating well.

Calories in Should Equal Calories Out

Beyond choosing the right foods, we also need to eat the right amounts of food. A calorie is a measure of the energy the food supplies. If you eat calories and do not use the energy from the calories in your activities, your body stores the energy as fat for later use. This was a great way to help us when our food supply was limited and our physical demands were great. Now that we have food readily available and we do not get as much physical activity, we do not need to store energy. Instead we need to eat just the right amount of calories to supply enough energy for our activities, without excess calories that can turn into fat.

It is a simple matter of balance. If the calories that you take in through your food go out through your activities, you will maintain your current weight. If you consistently eat more calories than you use up, you will gain weight. To lose weight, you need to regularly eat fewer calories than your activities require.

You can estimate whether or not you are eating the right amount of calories by looking in the mirror or stepping on a scale. For a better guide, visit www.mypyramid.gov. If you enter your age, sex, and activity level, the computer program will not only suggest how many calories you need, but will also tell you how many servings of each kind of food you should eat daily. This program also describes proper portion sizes.

FORESTRY AND PARKS AUTUMN GLORY FLOAT – A Forestry and State Parks Centennial Unit is appearing for the first time in the Autumn Glory Parade to celebrate the 100th anniversary of forestry and state parks in Maryland. This year marks a century of efforts to restore healthy forests in Maryland and Garrett County on both public and private land, and also to conserve the natural and historic lands of the existing state parks. Pictured above are Yough Glades Elementary School students selected to ride on the Forestry and Parks Centennial Autumn Glory float. From left are D.J. Forestry, Parks Unit In Parade To Honor 100 Years Of Restoration

by Offutt Johnson

A Forestry and State Parks Centennial Unit is appearing for the first time in the Autumn Glory Parade to celebrate the 100th anniversary of forestry and state parks in Maryland.

This year marks a century of efforts to restore healthy forests in Maryland and Garrett County on both public and private land, and also to conserve the natural and historic lands of the existing state parks.

One hundred years ago Maryland's forests and much of the forests east of the Mississippi had been harvested more than once. What trees remained were small — mostly of seedling or sapling size. Vast tracts of cutover landscapes met the eye, and forest fires frequently burned where remaining woodlands struggled to survive.

An Autumn Glory celebration in 1906 would not have been possible, for most of the countryside lacked the extensive tree cover that is there today.

In 1906 Maryland citizens and legislators confronted the problem of treeless landscapes and became the third state to start progressive conservation efforts to restore forest land. The Garrett County Historical Society points out that these early conservation programs got their start through dedicated efforts of people from Garrett County.

To help tell this success story, a Forestry and State Parks Centennial Unit is appearing for the first time in the Autumn Glory Parade, and it is provided through cooperative efforts of the following government and private organizations: the Garrett County Historical Society, Deep Creek Lake State Park, Potomac-Garrett State Forest, Green Ridge State Forest, Paul Durham's Heritage Resources LLC, Exhibit and Natural Resources Planning Co., Mountaineer Log & Siding Company, the Darrell Martin Farm, Southern High School Drama Department, Yough Glades Elementary School, Boy Scout Troop 1 of Oakland, and Jane Avery and Our Town Theatre.

The banner carriers from Boy Scout Troop One in Oakland represent the thousands of boy scouts who in the last 100 years have provided service projects to enhance and improve Maryland's Forestry and State Park programs. The Boy Scouts began work in the 1900s building foot bridges, planting trees, and developing camp sites on the state forest reserves. Numerous "Eagle Scout" projects have more recently provided needed interpretive signs and facilities such as orienteering courses and beautification projects.

In the 1920s and 1930s there was one full-time forest warden for each of the seven state forests and five state parks. These 12 men called "Resident Wardens" are represented in the parade by one of their most famous members, Abraham Lincoln Sines from the Garrett State Forest near Swallow Falls.

Known as "Link," Warden Sines began the practice of visiting all the one-room schools, teaching youngsters to respect the forest and to prevent forest fires. It was a public relations effort for which he would later receive national recognition for starting. Link is portrayed by Francis Zumbrun, manager of Green Ridge St. Forest. He will wear a 1930s reproduction uniform and will ride in a 1930 Model "A" Ford Town Sedan driven by Cliff DeWitt.

Forestry, Parks

people played a major roll in starting Maryland Forestry and State Parks. Robert and John Garrett of Deer Park and Baltimore offered to give approximately 2,000 acres near Swallow Falls to Maryland if the state legislature enacted a forestry and state parks program.

Senator McCulloh Brown of Garrett County wrote and sponsored a forestry and state parks bill that was passed by the General Assembly in Annapolis and became law.

Fred Besley of Virginia was appointed the first state forester. He created initiatives to plant trees and reduce forest fires statewide, and accepted the Garrett State Forest land gift.

Maryland was the third state in the U.S. to start a forestry and state parks program as a result of the special interest created by Senator Brown and the Garrett brothers. The beginning of the state forestry and state parks initiative in Maryland will be represented in the parade, and the display will be carried on a 1934 Ford Stake Body Truck from Mountaineer Log and Siding Company, driven by Thomas Myers Jr. Senator Brown will be portrayed by Maryland Park Service historian Robb Bailey.

Robert Garrett will be portrayed by retired forester Paul Shogren, and Fred Besley will be portrayed by retired park naturalist Offutt Johnson.

Swallow Falls State Park, one of the few unique "old-growth" forests spared by the lumber industry, has been described as one of the most beautiful places in the state. Its scenery attracts visitors from all walks of life and from all over the world.

In 1918, Thomas Edison, Henry Ford, Harvey Firestone, and their friend John Burroughs, the renowned naturalist, pitched tents at Swallow Falls to enjoy its scenic beauty and explore the surrounding countryside. The aim of their camping vacation was partly to search for scientific innovations that might prove useful for their various inventions and partly for the sheer enjoyment of the outdoor living and recreational value of the camping experience.

The four famous campers will be represented in the parade and the group will be riding in a Model "A" Ford Woody Station Wagon on "on their way to Swallow Falls State Park."

Gene Elliott, the driver, will be dressed as Henry Ford. Thomas Edison will be portrayed by Junior Ferguson, Harvey Firestone will be portrayed by the Rev. Gale Hixon, and John Burroughs will be portrayed by Paul Durham, the retired manager of Deep Creek Lake State Park.

During the "Great Depression," from 1933 to 1942, a massive federal conservation emergency works program provided boys on welfare the option of enrolling in Civilian Conservation Corps camps (CCC). There were 4,000 CCC camps in the U.S., 30 of which were in Maryland.

The CCC camps provided meaningful work, "three" square meals, $1 a day pay, medical services, and a high school education. It was the only chance for opportunity at a time when the future looked dismal for most young men.

The CCCs built most of the state and national parks. These projects included building lakes, cabins, pavilions, trails, campgrounds, and roads. They also fought forest fires, planted millions of trees, and restored historic places such as Fort Frederick and the Washington Monument near Boonsboro.

The lakes, cabins, and roads at Herrington Manor and New Germany were all built by the "CCC Boys." The CCC Boys are represented in the Autumn Glory Parade by Southern High School students who are taking drama classes, and from the Maryland Conservation Corps. These students are portraying CCC Boys from Camp S-51, Company 304 CCC, Potomac State Forest — also known as "Camp Potomac."

The 1930 Model "A" Coupe is provided by Eliza Goliday and driven by her son Daniel Goliday, who is portraying Carlton Lohr, the celebrated 1930's resident forest warden from Potomac State Forest Reserve. Eliza Goliday will be a passenger in this antique car, and she will be portraying Mrs. Ruth Lohr, Carlton Lohr's wife.

The hay wagon, provided by the Darrell Martin Farm near Loch Lynn, will be decorated by Pam and John Denning of Frostburg and will be pulled by a state forest truck driven by John Denning, manager, Potomac-Garrett State Forest. This hay wagon float will be covered with natural greenery and fall leaves to depict a forest setting that provides some of the outdoor recreation opportunities that are enjoyed in the state forests and state parks located in Garrett County. The youth and adults portraying the campers, hikers and canoers are from Yough Glades Elementary School and have been coordinated by the principal Keith Harvey and guidance counselor Tim Watson.

The children that will be a part of this mobile state park are Kelsey Beckman, Mickey Beeman, Tiffany Keller, Hali Parsons, and D.J. Savage. The moms who will be along for the ride are Nora Parsons and Vicky Savage.

The bottom of the hay wagon float will be covered with banners that list most of the state forest and state park areas in Garrett County: Big Run State Park, Casselman Bridge State Park, Deep Creek Lake State Park, Deep Creek Lake Natural Resources Management Area, Potomac State Forest, Herrington Manor State Park, New Germany State Park, Garrett State Forest, Youghiogheny River Natural Environmental Area, Swallow Falls State Park, and Savage River State Forest.

Some of the costumes that will be used in the Forestry and State Parks Centennial Unit will be provided by Our Town Theatre, and Jane Avery will co-

Sewer Rehabilitation Project Update (Phase I) – Line testing continues on the newly installed sewer lines and manholes, and is expected to be completed within the next week. The contractor has completed the majority of the reclamation and clean-up on the project. Final clean-up, including paving, re-establishment of lawns, and replacement of trees and shrubs will be completed in spring 2007.

Sewer Mapping Project – The town has nearly completed the sewer mapping project, which is fully funded by a Community Development Block Grant. Thrasher Engineering Inc. has performed all of the fieldwork and mapping in order to create a computer-based GIS (Geographical Information System) of the town's sewer system, including main sewer lines, laterals, manholes, pumping stations, etc. Once operational, the system will allow the town staff to quickly identify line locations, plan for expansion of the sewer system, schedule maintenance tasks, and identify recurring problems. The system also allows maps of other utility systems (water, gas, electricity, and cable) to be imported as separate overlays. It is expected that the system will help contain maintenance and construction costs.

Crystal Spring Loop Trail Project – Subject to weather conditions, excavation of the trail route and installation of the stone base is expected to be completed by the end of next week. This trail project has an estimated completion date of mid-November.

Note – Motorized vehicles, including but not limited to ATVs and motorcycles, are not allowed to be operated on trails or grassy areas in any town park, recreational area, or on other town-owned property.

Leaf Pick-Up – For the next several weeks leaf pick-up will be provided once or twice per week on an as-needed basis, with regular pick-up to begin in late October or early November. Residents are reminded to abide by the following requirements:

Leaves are to be placed for pick-up beside town roads (not alleys), in the ditch-line, and not more than 10 feet from the paved road.

Bags or containers used to collect leaves should be emptied by the roadside. The leaf truck is designed to allow one operator to collect loose leaves. Collection of bagged leaves defeats the purpose and increases the cost of collection to residents.

Leaf piles should contain only leaves and very small twigs. Limbs and branches should be segregated in a separate pile for brush collection on the last Friday of each month. Large pieces of wood and other foreign objects may damage the vacuum hose and/or the impeller blade, and create a hazard of injury to the operator.

Halloween – Trick-or-Treat will be held Tuesday, Oct. 31, from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. Town residents wishing to participate in this event should turn on their porch lights. Drivers are asked to be especially careful during this time because of the increase in pedestrian traffic in town.

Looking Back...

April 10, 1885 – The rental price for rooms in the association cottages was fixed at 50 cents per day for each room, or $20 for 2 weeks during the assembly. Rooms to be furnished with chairs, 1 stand, 1 bedstead, mattress, and 2 tick pillows.

LOCH LYNN HEIGHTS

•A special council meeting will be held on Oct. 16 at 5:30 p.m. to introduce Ordinance #2006-06 authorizing the issuance and sale of the town's general obligation installment bond.

•Tick-or-treat will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 31, from 5:30 until 6:30 p.m. If residents wish to participate they should turn on their porch lights.

•The Planning Commission meeting will be held on Monday, Oct. 16, at 6 p.m. at the town hall.

•Leaf pick-up will begin about the third week in October and continue as weather permits. Mtn. Lake Park will again use its leaf truck to collect the leaves. Leaves need to be raked to the edge of the street. Residents should do not put twigs or branches in with the leaves because this will ruin the equipment.

The next regularly scheduled council meeting will be Nov. 7.

ACCIDENT

The mayor and town council met on Thursday, Oct. 5, at the town hall.

•Clay Riley from Thrasher Engineering was present to discuss the sewer rehab project.

•The mayor and council members signed a proclamation declaring October 2006 as National Code Compliance Month.

•Dan Hauger, Garrett County Code Enforcement Officer, was present to discuss Accident's open and closed cases.

•Trick-or-treating will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 31, from 6 to 7 p.m. Residents who wish to participate are asked to turn on their porch lights.

•The Accident Community Planning Group is planning a Fall Festival to be held at the fire hall after trick-or-treating from 7 to 9 p.m. There will be a charge of $1 at the door. There will be games, door prizes, crafts, a cake walk, refreshments, and DJ Jonny Rock. Pictures will be taken for $1.

•The next Accident Revitalization Committee meeting will be Oct. 18 at 6 p.m. at the town hall.

The next town meeting will be on Thursday, Nov. 2, at 7:30 p.m. at the town hall.

Class To Help Mtg. Facilitators Being Offered

A course for those responsible for facilitating meetings will be held on Oct. 26 from 6 to 9:00 p.m. at Garrett College. This seminar will be helpful for those conducting meetings in private industry, agencies and organizations, or civic clubs.

The 3-hour workshop, "Running Effective Meetings," will be led by small-business consultant Beverley Williams.

During the training, students will discuss the importance of developing agendas and handling non-stop talkers, as well as techniques for succeeding at everything from time management to assigning tasks. Students will also learn the difference between open-ended and closed-ended questions, and how to use each to deal with disruptions in meetings.

This course is an offering of the Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division of Garrett College and will be held at the McHenry campus. To register, persons should call 301-387-3069.

ordinate the arrangements.

The last participant in the parade unit, who needs no introduction, is Smokey Bear. Smokey has been and will forever be the most successful advocate for forest fire prevention. He will be riding in the back of the Forest Service truck that will pull the float.

"While the past 100 years have produced a magnificent and valuable legacy, we cannot let our guard down on the future maintenance and protection of these special conservation lands," said a spokesperson for the centennial unit. The float will carry a banner "Today's children will carry forward Maryland's valuable forestry and state park legacy into the next century."

Faith Evangelical To Hold Annual Missions Event

The annual Missions Conference of Faith Evangelical Free Church, located along Maryland Highway in Mtn. Lake Park, is scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 15, and Friday through Sunday, Oct. 20 to 22. All services are open to the public.

Missions Youth Day will be held Sunday, Oct. 15, with services by and for youth at 10:45 a.m. and 7 p.m. Dr. Daniel Buckingham will preach at the morning service, and Dr. Ken Buczynski will preach in the evening.

Worship music for both services will be provided by Eastgate.

During the evening Doug Stephens will provide an update of recent experiences he has had in Hawaii and Europe with Youth With A Mission (YWAM).

The keynote speaker for the Oct. 20-22 services is Tom Telford, who will preach nightly at 7 p.m. and Sunday morning at 10:45 a.m.

"Mr. Telford is self-educated in missions and has invested his adult life in helping churches maximize their potential for world evangelization," noted a Faith Evangelical spokesperson.

He was missions chairman for 10 years at Berachah Church in Cheltenham, Pa., and missions director for five more years at Chelten Baptist Church in Dresher, Pa. Telford is currently the vice president of Mobilization for United World Mission. Prior to that he served 15 years with ACMC (Advancing Churches in Missions Commitment) as the northeast regional director and supervisor of regional ministries.

"Tom has inspired, challenged, and trained hundreds of churches in strengthening their commitment and approach to missions and is a sought-after missions speaker and consultant for churches throughout the eastern United States," said the spokesperson.

Telford has lectured on world missions and the local church at Seminary of the East, Philadelphia College of the Bible, Westminster Seminary, and Columbia International University. He is a regular lecturer of the course "Perspectives on the World Christian Movement."

He has co-authored a book with Lois Shaw titled Missions in the 21st Century and is also the author of Today's All-Star Missions Churches.

Prior to his work as missions consultant, Telford was a major league baseball umpire. He and his wife Nancy have two grown children and five grandchildren. They reside in Myrtle Beach, S.C.

Also on the Missions Conference speakers list are Loren Faul, Paul Haney, and Ed and Charlotte Lochstampfor.

Faul and his wife Sue have served as missionaries in the Dominican Republic with CrossWorld since 1984. His chief responsibilities are developing church leadership, advising churches, and developing music worship for churches. He is currently serving one year as missionary in residence at LeTourneau University in Texas.

Haney and his wife Virginia worked under SIM (Serving in Mission) in Nigeria beginning in 1953. Now semi-retired, the Haneys serve as prison chaplains in Florida.

Beginning in 1956, the Lochstampfors worked as missionaries in Africa in Burkina Faso and Guinea, also under SIM. They are now serving SIM in missionary recruitment at Columbia International University in South Carolina.

Nursery care will be provided during each Missions Conference service. Children's missions classes will be held each night (Oct. 20-22) for ages 4 through fifth grade.

For further information on the conference, persons may call the Faith Evangelical Free Church office at 301-334-4172.

Home Improvement Contractor Course To Be Offered

A two-session course to help prepare those interested in becoming Maryland Home Improvement contractors will be held later this month.

The course, "Prep for the Maryland Home Improvement Contractor's Exam," is scheduled for Oct. 21 and 28 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Garrett College.

Students will cover the various aspects of the exam, including: Maryland Home Improvement laws, the Door to Door Sales Act, safety regulations, payroll taxes, statutory lines of real property, principles of business, financial aspects, and estimating principles.

The cost of the class is $124 for Garrett County residents. A textbook, NASCLA, Business & Project Management for Contractors — MD, is required. For more information, or to register, persons should call 301-387-3069.

Back-to-School Asthma

Asthma is a common chronic condition which affects more than six million children under the age of 18. As students return for another school year, the American Lung Association recommends that parents take steps to ensure that asthma is managed properly while their children are at school. This may be accomplished by talking to the teacher and school administrators about the child's asthma, ensuring that medical supervision is available, and making sure that adequate medication is available while the child is at school. Parents can also monitor their child's asthma by watching for coughing at night and increased difficulty participating in physical activity, which could be signs of uncontrolled asthma.

Providing a fast-acting inhaler to be readily available at school for use during an asthma attack is essential in preventing a medical emergency from occurring. With the back-to-school months also comes the cold and virus season. Children returning to school are more likely to encounter asthma triggers such as viruses and seasonal allergies. Taking steps to ensure that asthma is well-controlled and having a plan of action in the event of an asthma attack are important issues for families and schools to act on as the new school year gets under way. Consult with a physician if your child's asthma is not well controlled.

NOTICE TO GARRETT COUNTY TAXPAYERS!

According to the laws governing my office (Section 14-808/Tax Property), the Tax Collector must advertise and sell properties for delinquent County, State, Town and/or taxes due other taxing agencies.

Garrett County tax bills become delinquent 15 months after billing. Therefore, 2005-06 (red) tax bills and prior years were delinquent October 1, 2006. The 2006-07 (orange) bills WILL NOT BE delinquent until October 1 of 2007. Personal Property taxes for 2003-04 and prior years are also delinquent and become a lien on real estate.

Final delinquent notices will be mailed on or about February 1, 2007, allowing 30 days for payment. After this time, all delinquent accounts will be given to the Attorney for preparation for tax sale. To avoid additional costs, please pay delinquent accounts before March 2, 2007.

Property taxes may be paid at the Tax Office with Discover Card only. Also, we accept payments by credit card online. To pay by credit card, call 1-800-2PAY-TAX or visit www.officialpayments.com. (Use Jurisdiction Code 3014.) There is a nominal fee charged for this service. Cards that can be used are: VISA, MASTERCARD, DISCOVER, and AMERICAN EXPRESS.

If you should have questions or if we can be of assistance to you, please do not hesitate to call anytime between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

CELEBRATING THE CONSTITUTION – Students at Friendsville Elementary School celebrated the 216th anniversary of the signing of the United States Constitution last month. Two students, Tristen DeValk and Tiffany Glover, were chosen to be special assistants at the program. Tristen (at left) wore a three-cornered hat representative of George Washington, president of the constitutional convention. Tiffany wore a hat decorated like the flag of the United States, representing "Uncle Sam." Federal law mandates that each public school celebrate this historic event in some way. Patriotic songs during the program included "God Bless the USA," "Yankee Doodle," and "God Bless America."

FHS CLASS OF 1951 HOLDS REUNION – The Friendsville High School class of 1951 recently celebrated its 55th anniversary at Curt's Family Restaurant near Markleysburg, Pa. "We were considered a unique class because we were the first class from the Friendsville area that would graduate after completing 12 full grades of school," noted Renelda Thomas. "Prior to this year, there were only 11 grades of school required to graduate. We were a small town/rural area and most of the students attended the 12 full years together as close friends and classmates." She added that many of the classmates stay in touch with one another and plan to meet again next May. Written in among a collage of snapshots taken over the years and an 8-inch by 10-inch given to each attending reunion by Thomas, the motto was rewritten and now jokingly reads, "Not at the Top, and We're Just Too Tired to Climb Any Higher." Pictured, left to right, in the front row are Beulah Lindsey, Gene Frazee, Doris DeWitt, Leota Stover, Jean Coffman, and Flora Humbert. In the middle row are Betty Lytle, Thelma Humberson, Mary Frantz, Thomas, and Macie Henning. In the back row are Carl Lohr, Glenn DeWitt, and Walter Fearer. Their classmate Richard Thomas died two weeks before the reunion.

The Friendsville United Methodist Church is sponsoring a J. Nicholson concert on Saturday, Oct. 28, at 7 p.m. at the church. Tickets are $6 each and may be purchased by contacting Pastor Sarah or Sherry Fike. Tickets may also be purchased at the door.

Harvest Dinner

The Friendsville United Methodist Church will be hosting its annual Harvest Dinner on Saturday, Oct. 21, from 4 to 7 p.m. The menu consists of turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes, homemade gravy, green beans, cranberry salad, roll, drink, and dessert. The cost is $6 for adults and $3 for ages under 12. Carry-outs are available.

Buckwheat/Pancake Supper

The Sand Spring Church of God will hold its annual buckwheat supper on Saturday, Oct. 28, beginning at 5 p.m. The menu will consist of buckwheat cakes, pancakes, sausage, sausage gravy, biscuits, home fries, and drink. Donations will be accepted.

Revival Services

The Sand Spring Church of God will host revival services Sunday, Oct. 29, through Wednesday, Oct 1, at 7 p.m. each evening. Pastor Tom McGraw will be the guest speaker. Special music will be provided nightly. Alison Sines will provide music Tuesday evening, Daymond Schmuck on Tuesday evening, and Lisa Umbel on Wednesday evening. The public is welcome to attend.

Laurel Run Church of God

A rummage and bake sale will be held at the Laurel Run Church of God this Saturday, Oct. 14, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Revival Scheduled

First Christian Church will host revival services this Friday and Saturday, Oct. 13 and 14, at 7 p.m. each evening, and again on Sunday, Oct. 15, at 11 a.m. Roy Worsham from Somerset, Pa., will be the guest speaker each evening. The public is invited to attend.

Dinner Scheduled

There will be a spaghetti dinner served this Friday, Oct. 13, beginning at 4 p.m. prior to the Northern-Beall football game in the Northern High School cafeteria. The menu will consist of "all-you-can-eat" spaghetti with meat sauce, tossed salad, bread, dessert, and drink. The cost is $6 for adults and $3 for those under 12. Proceeds will benefit the NHS boys' basketball program.

NHS Sports

The Northern High School girls' varsity and junior varsity volleyball teams will host Bishop Walsh next Tuesday, Oct. 17, at 6 and 7:30 p.m. They will compete at Salisbury on Wednesday, Oct. 18, at 6 and 7:30 p.m.

The boys' varsity soccer team will compete at Westmar on Thursday, Oct 19, at 7 p.m.

The girls' soccer teams will host Southern on Tuesday, Oct. 17, at 6 and 7:30 p.m. The Huskies will compete at Beall on Thursday, Oct. 19, at 6 and 7:30 p.m.

The JV football team will host Berkeley Springs on Monday, Oct. 16, at 7 p.m.

The varsity football team will host Beall this Friday, Oct. 13, at 7 p.m. The Huskies will compete at Hancock on Thursday, Oct. 19, at 7 p.m.

Town News

The town employees will begin picking up leaves from area residents. Because of equipment problems, residents are asked to bag the leaves and place the bags curbside for pick-up.

The next Mayor and Town Council meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 17, at 7 p.m. Residents are invited to attend.

Fall clean-up is scheduled for the weekend of October 27-29. Regular trash removal is scheduled for ~~October 26, with large items~~ to be picked up on Saturday, Oct. 28. Any resident who wishes to participate but does not pay for weekly curbside pick-up may do so by calling Town Hall at 301-746-5919. There will be a small fee charged.

Fall Festival Set By Friendsville Elementary PTO

Friendsville Elementary School's Parent Teacher Organization (PTO) will sponsor a fall festival on Friday, Nov. 3, from 5 to 8 p.m.

The evening will include food, games for children, a cake walk for all ages, bingo, photos with a scarecrow, and an auction.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

BUCKWHEAT-PANCAKE DINNER

The Bittinger 4-H Club will sponsor its fall "all-you-can-eat" buckwheat, pancake, and sausage dinner on Friday, Oct. 20, from 4:30 to 7 p.m. at the Bittinger fire hall. The cost of the dinner is $6 for adults, $3 for those age 6 to 12, and free for those 5 and under. Once again we urge you all to come and support the 4-H club in this project and enjoy a delicious meal. Tell everyone about it.

I had to go to Grantsville Monday, and the weather was somewhat dismal, with a little rain. It was misty, but the view was fabulous. It is strange how vivid the color is in the mist. I got a couple of good shots that will some day inspire me to paint a masterpiece. The old abandoned silo on the property of Doug Stanton looks like a piece of old castle which emerged from the mist and a cluster of multi-colored trees.

No matter what the weather happens to be, nothing can beat Brenneman's Grove, as it is so beautiful. However, the day was painfully beautiful, as I tried to capture the beauty by taking pictures of it with no one to share them.

I guess I would rather feel this kind of pain than what we are in for by the end of this week. I heard from two people that we are in for a too-early winterish blast. Once real winter sets in I will have a good reason to stay in, as I am scared to drive on winter roads. But again, what if I have to go out for necessities? I tried my best to do my Christmas shopping before the snow is flying. If it is true about Thursday and Friday, the deadline is already here.

Almost as scary as the roads is the journey down my usually slick wooden ramp to my car, where the wind blast is so hard that I sometimes am afraid it will knock me down. I remember some of the blizzard conditions I endured in the past, when it was windy and the temperature was 20 below zero, and I went out on my cross-country skis.

I had an old Bob Dylan song on my tape player and I realized the beauty in the fog is like old happy memories somewhat dimmed by time and old tears shed.

My very favorite tree is a big maple on Randall Harman's farm on Accident-Bittinger Road and Negro Mountain. Its jagged shape is interesting even when it's wreathed in fog as it was today. I need a good snapshot of it because I want to use it in a painting.

I believe it is the most lovely fall I have ever seen. The view along Frank Brenneman Road is unbelievable. I shot a whole roll of film on that one road. The wild grape vines, especially in Bittinger, with their deep purple concord grapes are breathtaking.

Bittinger lost a major citizen last Wednesday afternoon in Don Sealing. He was a dependable supporter of the Fair and whatever projects and activities he was involved in, which were numerous. He died exactly where he loved to be – at the Fairgrounds doing one of the many tasks that he felt were necessary. You could see him wherever there was a need. He was involved with the 4-H program and was the main boss at the Bittinger 4-H Club buckwheat dinners. He will be sorely missed in the county, especially at the buckwheat dinner coming up October 20. Many of the Fair Board directors and honorary directors went as a group on Saturday night to the funeral home to honor Don and grieve with his family.

My brother Barry Glotfelty introduced me to a new find of edible fungi (Chicken of the Woods). It does not look like a chicken, but its texture and flume does remind you of eating chicken. In fact, his vegetarian girlfriend didn't like it because it tasted too much like chicken for her taste. But his family here in Bittinger just loved it. He found about four huge ones on some oak trees around his home in Frederick. I have never seen them around here.

A new hit book is a carrier of essential knowledge. Can people really forget D-Day or not know what it is? I was surprised that the average people on the streets of Manhattan do not know about it. Do you know what major historical events happened in June, October, November, and December? If you don't have a clue, you can choose from JFK assassination, D-Day, Pearl Harbor, or the end of WWI. Do you know what city is the home of the Space Needle? How about the three ships that crossed the Atlantic with Columbus? Etc. Enough of these questions, but I believe every American adults should know what D-Day is.

Bill Southerly's father passed away last week. He was a resident of Piedmont, W.Va., and burial services were held this week.

It is time to think about snow tires or, in my case, it is time to worry about them. It is also time for me to pick my late crop of spinach unless I want to brush snow off of it. I realize that my pepper plants will not bear fruit.

One good thing for me right now is that I do not have a real big garden. This time of year used to be stressful, worrying about whether or not we were in for a frost each night. I used to have to drag out every spare blanket, etc., from my house to cover my tomato and pepper plants or whatever was still bearing. Then you had to deal with a bunch of damp, dirty blankets.

People used to ask my West Coast aunts about their Garrett County autumn snapshots, "Is that a real picture? Where are those colored trees against that blue sky?" It is that kind of October here today.

What is in my mind right here in Bittinger is the too-fast pace our trees are shedding their colored leaves before they even reach their peak colors. The colors along Rock Lodge Road and around the lake are sensational, but even more brilliant between Mosser Road and Accident-Bittinger Road. You really need to go on some back roads to see the best. Amish Road is truly lovely in the fall, and more adventurous folks should go down Frank Brenneman Road. The scenery I see makes me cry because it is so beautiful.

If those doom-sayers are correct, our harvest moon will not be able to perform its traditional role. It gets its name because it sheds enough light to allow farmers to continue the harvesting of their crops well into the night. I can't imagine how bad my ancestors felt living here in the winter and facing a long winter. They didn't have electricity to light the long dark nights, or oil furnaces to keep them warm. Although the idea of open horse-drawn sleighs might seem romantic, I think it must have been a pretty cold way to travel.

The harvest moon is the closest full moon to the fall equinox or first full day. Right now we have 12 hours of light and the same amount of darkness. At 7 p.m. almost all the light is faded, with just a bit of left-over sunset. At 7 a.m. the sunrise wins the battle with the night. At 8 a.m. it is now full light. You can see colors outside, but at the same time in the evening the colors fade into black. Unfortunately, it won't be too long before the night

Real Estate Facts by...

LIKE CATS AND DOGS!

When you're ready to sell your home, your agent will inform you how to successfully price, present and market your property; but some "family members" may be left out of the loop, completely unaware of the process and feeling the attendant anxiety. No, it's not your kids, but your pets.

Unfortunately, there is no way to communicate to your pets what to expect during a showing, and sometimes their barking or jumping or hissing or scratching can be a real turn-off to otherwise enthusiastic and qualified buyers.

We know that our animal companions are creatures of habit, and strangers visiting your home can be very stressful. How do you successfully show your home and protect your pets at the same time?

The ideal solution, especially early in the listing when you can expect multiple showings, is to board your pet (there's even daycare!), or have a trusted friend or family member baby-sit your pet at their home. This can involve effort and cost, but it's ultimately safer and less stressful for your pet, while insuring your home is shown under the best circumstances. If this is just not possible, consider a large comfortable crate in a room with a television or radio. Better yet, try to be out of your house while it is being shown and you can take your best friend with you.

Finally, keep pets, bedding, furniture and carpeting clean. Take a few steps and plan to make buyers and pets more comfortable during showings.

If you'd like to buy or sell a home, but feel "out of touch" with what's happening in real estate, give me a call today!

Cumberland JWCC Slated To Host Fall Fashion Show

The Junior Women's Civic Club of Cumberland and the Holiday Inn of Cumberland will present a fall fashion show to benefit the new Western Maryland Health System Hospital on Sunday, Oct. 22, starting at 2 p.m. at the Holiday Inn.

The fashion show will feature the design collection from Doncaster & E'Lana. The jewelry worn by the models will be Silpada Designs, fine sterling silver. The models will be escorted by Dr. Jack Harvey.

Linda Spassil and Mary Ann Daley, independent representatives for Silpada Designs, will assist with the attire. Judith Evans of Swanton is the wardrobe consultant for the designer clothing. Spassil will moderate with event with Evans. Linda Conner, a Mary Kay consultant, will assist with makeup, and Tracey Conner of Absolutely U will serve as stylist.

Refreshments will be served, and there will be door prizes.

For more information or to purchase tickets, persons may contact members of the JWCC. Tickets, which are limited, may also be purchased at many businesses in Allegany County. In Garrett County, tickets may be purchased at The Book Mark'et, Oakland, and Kathy's Furniture, Deep Creek Lake.

LOCAL WOMAN TO CONSULT FOR SHOW – Judith Evans of Swanton will be the wardrobe consultant for the designer clothing at the upcoming Junior Women's Civic Club of Cumberland and Holiday Inn style show. The event will take place on Sunday, Oct. 22, beginning at 2 p.m., at the Holiday Inn in Cumberland, and proceeds benefit the new Western Maryland Health System Hospital. Evans, above right, is pictured with Margaret Gaughan, one of the models for the event. Tickets are available at two Garrett County businesses. See story.

has the upper hand, but when we get a full moon over snow cover the night is pretty bright.

It is amazing how fog lies across in the Bittinger area. It is trapped between Negro and Meadow mountains. We do not live on a mountaintop, but on a tableland between the two mountains. It is no way a valley either. I believe that our farm is over 2,000 feet above sea level. In fact, I think it is at about 2,850 feet.

It is a unique ecological system in Maryland. We have more fresh wetlands than any other place. The two mountains act like a funnel in winter, fanning the snow and winter across the tableland. Only the high point on a mountaintop gets winter weather comparable to the Bittinger Glade region. Our area is fairly flat, having some of the finest farm country in Garrett County.

Another of the farms in our area has fallen into the development craze. The changes I have seen in my lifetime in my home area are nothing compared to what my grandparents experienced. They saw the transition from horse-power farming to gas-powered tractors, and from outhouses to indoor plumbing. The coming of the telephone to the area was a wonderful addition, and then from the old-fashioned radio to television.

Now I know that fall is really here. I saw my first flock of geese, and now the black birds are gathering in my pine trees. It looks to me like their numbers are close to a thousand. Actually, it is probably only a couple hundred.

This coming weekend our new pastor at Emmanuel Lutheran Parish will be ordained at his former church in Wheeling, W.Va., on Saturday at 10:30 a.m. His first service as our pastor will be Sunday morning.

I do try to please the people who want social news from Bittinger, but I have some readers, including Jane Sealing, who drop a line to me to tell me how much she enjoys "My Other Times and Places." Thanks, Jane.

Another bit of news is that the bridge on Legeer Road is now open.

I am sad to see summer gone for many reasons. Besides the cold weather keeping me inside too much, it is too expensive to keep warm.

I also hate to see baseball replaced by football. But soon my favorite sport of basketball will be starting and I can watch just about any of the games. Of course, my Terps will be the big team for me. However, I did enjoy watching the Detroit Tigers in post-season baseball, as Jim Leyland, former manager of the Pirates, is their current manager. He is a colorful figure, no matter what team for which he is at the helm.

I was the luckiest little girl and young woman during my first half of my life. Perhaps the bad features I recently experienced only make my life more average. Very few people experienced the hardship I have suffered since 1990, but few have experienced the wonderful times in the first half of my life.

I do plan to take a picture of my three beautiful daughters on the homemade swing under my big maple tree. The background will be multi-colored woods in the distance. I have stopped waiting for a wintry snow for our Christmas card picture.

I once took an informal field trip with some other faculty members of GCC on a rafting trip at Ohiopyle. It was at this time of year. The colored trees along the river were reflected in the water, causing the water to look like molten gold.

Dr. Jack and Judy Perkins spent a week with Judy's mother, Ethel Buckel, and returned to their home in Fayetteville, Ark., last weekend.

Elaine Jacobs, Barton, and Betty Sacra, Winchester, Va., spent Saturday and Sunday with Ruth DiPaolo. I was also a guest for dinner with them Saturday evening. Barry Glotfelty also visited his mother on Sunday and visited his family and Courtney Englar in the Cove.

Read. Then Recycle.

Zoomobile To Visit Branches Of Ruth Enlow

The Maryland Zoo in Baltimore is coming to four locations of the Ruth Enlow Library on Oct. 25 and 26, with two Zoomobiles to accommodate the scheduling.

The Zoomobile brings the zoo to children via interactive programs with props, activities, and live Animal Ambassadors.

On Wednesday, Oct. 25, the program will be held at Kitzmiller from 3:30 until 4:30 p.m.; Grantsville from 4 until 5 p.m., and Accident from 6 until 7 p.m. It will visit Oakland on Thursday, Oct. 26, from 4 until 5 p.m.

The Zoomobile is a free educational outreach program of the Maryland Zoo in Baltimore and is funded by Columbia Gas of Maryland. The program is open to the public.

For questions or additional information, persons may call any branch or the main library. The library's web site, www.relib.net, also lists the services and upcoming programs.

WELCMOE NEW TEACHERS

Welcome to new teachers at NHS, Debi Beachy, Duane Salisbury, and Jackie Hawkins.

NHS Students Are Designated AP Scholars

Seven students at Northern High School have earned the designation of AP Scholar by the College Board in recognition of their exceptional achievement on the college-level Advanced Placement Program® (AP®) exams.

The College Board's Advanced Placement Program offers students the opportunity to take challenging college-level courses while still in high school, and to receive college credit, advanced placement, or both for successful performance on the AP exams. About 18 percent of the more than 1.3 million high school students in 16,000 secondary schools worldwide who took AP exams performed at a sufficiently high level to merit the recognition of AP Scholar.

Students took AP exams in May after completing challenging college-level courses at their high schools. The College Board recognizes several levels of achievement based on students' performance on AP exams.

At Northern High School one student, Timothy W. Glotfelty, qualified for the AP Scholar with Distinction Award by earning an average grade of at least 3.5 on all AP exams taken, and grades of 3 or higher on five or more of these exams.

Amy M. Hall qualified for the AP Scholar with Honor Award by earning an average grade of at least 3.25 on all AP exams taken, and grades of 3 or higher on four or more of these exams.

Five students qualified for the AP Scholar Award by completing three or more AP exams with grades of 3 or higher. They are Lacie J. Bittinger, Andrew J. Minnick, Brian J. Schlosnagle, Angela M. Umbel, and Erik J. Wood.

Most of the nation's colleges and universities award credit, advanced placement, or both based on successful performance on the AP exams. More than 1,400 institutions award a full year's credit (sophomore standing) to students presenting a sufficient number of qualifying grades.

The College Board is a not-for-profit membership organization whose mission is to connect students to college success and opportunity. Founded in 1900, the association is composed of more than 5,000 schools, colleges, universities, and other educational organizations.

Four-Session Class For Supervisors Offered By GC

A four-session course designed for up-and-coming supervisors will be offered in October at Garrett College. "Stepping Up to Supervisor: A Crash Course" will be held four evenings, Oct. 17, 19, 24, and 26, from 6 to 9:15 p.m. at the McHenry campus.

The course will be taught by Mike Pellet, owner of Medi-Flag and adjunct instructor at the college. Participants will receive a copy of the text Stepping Up to Supervisor by Marion Haynes.

The following topics will be discussed: establishing authority, communicating for understanding, asserting oneself, dealing with conflict, dealing with stress, planning projects and activities, managing one's time, providing feedback, training, evaluating and reviewing performance, discipline, terminations, and more.

To register or learn more, persons should call 301-387-3069.

50th YEAR REUNION HELD BY SHS CLASS OF 1956 – The members of Southern High School's class of 1956 recently held their 50th year reunion. A total of 59 classmates attended the reunion, with four teachers. A "very impressive" memorial service was held for 28 classmates who are deceased. A donation will be given in memory of Charlie Grubb to the Girls' Little League Softball organization for his commitment to Garrett County youth for 21 years. The meal was served by the Deer Park Fire Department Women's Auxiliary. The 55th year reunion will be held in 2011. In the front, from the left, are Francis (Skip) Sowers, Jimmy Harvey, Burton Rexrode, John Ruft, Bill Moore, Cecil Roth, Toby Colaw, George Cullers, Charlie Kitzmiller, Sam Moore, and Monte Wilson. In the second row are Beverly (Winters) Sowers, Bernadine (Smith) Tasker, Janice (Glotfelty) Steyer, Phyllis (Dumire) Gardner, Rita (Holler) Sweitzer, Ada (Jackson) Green, Vonda (Pike) Bittinger, teachers Mr. Nagy, Mr. Schoonover, and Mr. Long, and Arveta (Bell) Savage, Clara (Sisler) Friend, Carolyn (Johnson) Wilson, Frances (Stine) Davis, Shirley (Ritchie) Evans, Doris (Broadwater) Harmon, and Eleanor (O'Brien) Robinson. In the third row are Lillian (Warnick) Wertz, Bonnie (Steiding) Sunny, Louise (Kitzmiller) Klier, Mary Jane (Browning) Byrd, Barbara (Moon) Bentsen, Ruby (Skotniski) Courey, Norma (Roderick) Dankulich, Mary Ann (Nally) Daly, Bill Sanders, Dale Evans, Erwin Wagner, Richard Bernard, Ronnie Bowers, Dan Garrett, Doug Smith, Ralph Livengood, Joanne (McCrobie) Harsh, Marguerite (Shillingburg) Fink, and Elaine (Gnegy) Roth. Fundraiser Dinner Slated For Wilton Mkwayi Program

A fundraising dinner will be held Tuesday, Oct. 24, for the Wilton Mkwayi International Fellows Program. The dinner will begin at 6 p.m. at Good Timber Bed and Breakfast.

Wilton Mkwayi was one of the founding members of the Coalition for Effective Local Democracy's board of directors. One of the top dozen leaders of the anti-apartheid movement in South Africa, he spent 25 years in prison with Nelson Mandela.

He committed his life to helping others and was regarded as a hero. He died in 2004.

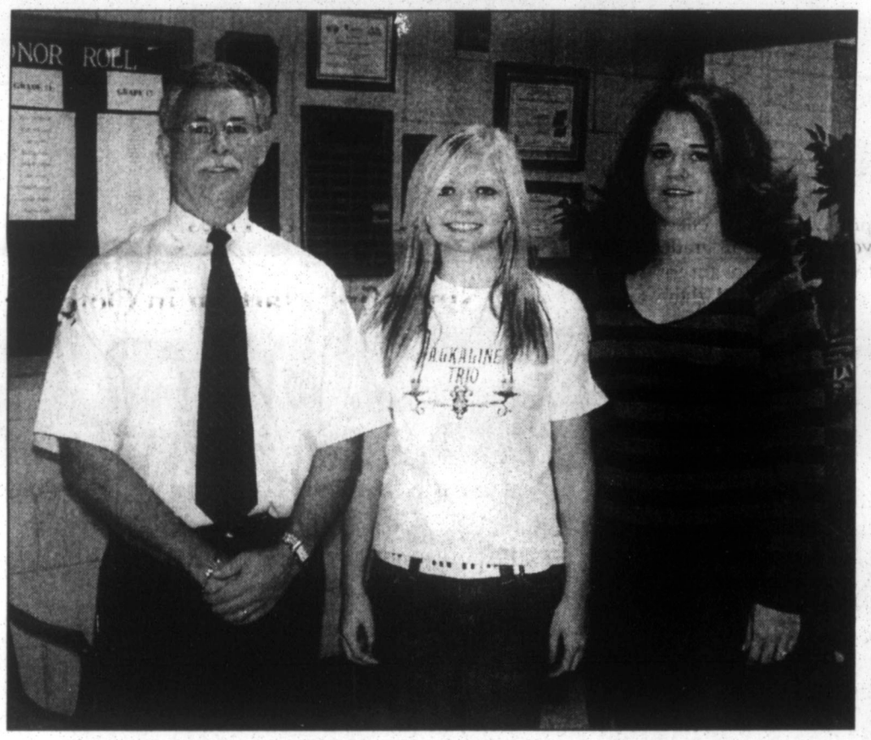
The board of directors of the coalition, with approval of Wilton's family, created the scholarship as a way to recognize his commitment to education. The coalition works with local leadership in South Africa to secure partial scholarship funding for students.

Two Wilton Mkwayi Scholarships have brought students from rural South Africa to Garrett College. The Coalition for Effective Local Democracy supporting these students has headquarters in Garrett County.

The dinner is free to interested people, but donations are welcome. The Coalition is a 501(c)(3) tax exempt organization. The goal is to raise $10,000 to continue current programs.

The students from rural South Africa benefit from the educational opportunities they have at Garrett College and their exposure to American culture, said Vianne Bell. The college has additional students bringing different experiences with them, and the community benefits from the cultural diversity, she added.

Persons interested in more information or in attending the dinner should contact Vianne and Michael Bell at 301-387-7990 by Friday, Oct. 20.



RAM HONORED IN OCTOBER – The October Perkins Random Acts of Maturity Student of the Month for Southern Garrett High School was Lacy Paugh. She was nominated by Brooks Elliott for her assistance within the special education department. "Lacy has been instrumental volunteering time to ensure that the special education population at Southern Garrett High School has the opportunity to be successful," said Tom Woods, principal. "Congratulations to Lacy on an act of maturity and devotion of time to help others." From the left are Woods, Paugh, and Elliott.

CANCER AWARENESS MONTH PROCLAIMED – The Garrett County commissioners last Tuesday signed a proclamation declaring October as Breast Cancer Awareness Month. "This time is set aside to emphasize the importance of breast cancer screening in the fight against breast cancer," said a GC Health Department spokesperson. "The American Cancer Society recommends yearly clinical breast exams and mammograms starting at age 40. Women in their 20s and 30s should have clinical breast exams about every three years. In addition, self-breast exams are an option. Women should report any breast change promptly to their medical provider. Also, women at increased risk should talk with their doctors about starting screening early, having additional tests or more frequent exams." An annual screening is a way to detect cancer at its earliest stages when it is most curable. A recent survey showed that up to 38 percent of deaths from breast cancer in women are preventable through yearly screening followed by treatment. In most cases, the earlier breast cancer is detected and treated, the better the survival rate. The Health Department has a cancer screening program that may pay for women to see their medical provider for their annual cancer screening tests and their mammogram. "Please call 301-334-7770 or 301-895-3111 today to see if you qualify," said the spokesperson. Several Health Department staff and breast cancer survivors wore pink for the proclamation signing to emphasis the importance of breast cancer awareness. Pictured, left to right, in the front are Commissioner Ernie Gregg; Madonna Poole, Behavioral Health clinical supervisor and breast cancer survivor; Sadie Liller, outreach worker; Commissioner Dave Beard; Geraldine Simpson, survivor; and Commissioner Fred Holliday. In the back are Rodney Glotfelty, health officer; Donna Orris, survivor; Nancy Murphy, survivor; Sharon Rounds, Breast and Cervical Cancer Screening Program coordinator; Judy Sines, RN; and Robyn Bowman, GCHD.

Customer Service Course Being Given By Garrett

A course for those who interact with customers, both internal and external, on a regular basis will be offered in October by Garrett College. "Customer Service with a Smile" is a two-session course designed to provide students with tips and techniques to provided excellent service.

Topics to be covered include: the impact of customer satisfaction and loyalty, determining one's current level of service, skills for dealing with difficult people, getting to the heart of the problem, the 8-step process for handling angry customers, building customer rapport, and the elements of effective phone skills.

Beverley Williams, small-business consultant, will serve as the instructor for this course. This class will be offered Oct. 23 and 25 from 6 to 9:15 p.m. at the McHenry campus of Garrett College. To register or learn more, persons should call 301-387-3069.

Letters About Literature Contest Set For Students

The Maryland Center for the Book, a program of the Maryland Humanities Council, is now accepting entries for the 2007 Letters About Literature contest, a national reading and writing program that encourages young people in grades 4-12 to write to an author who has transformed their view of the world or themselves. This annual, national contest is one of the signature programs of the Center for the Book in the Library of Congress.

The contest, which focuses on reader response and reflective writing, has three competition levels: Level 1 for students in grades 4-6; Level 2 for students in grades 7 and 8; and Level 3 for students in grades 9-12. More than 48,000 readers nationwide in grades 4 through 12 participated last year.

Student awards are presented on both the national and state level. Six national finalists and their parents travel, courtesy of Target Stores (the sponsor of the national contest), to Washington, D.C., where they read their letters during the National Book Festival. State winners receive recognition and cash prizes at a statewide award ceremony in the spring.

All entries must be received by Dec. 8. Contest guidelines are available on the MHC web site, www.mdhc.org/programs/md-centerforbook/index.htm or by calling Jean Wortman at 410-685-4187.

Teachers interested in incorporating Letters About Literature into their classroom curriculum may download a free copy in Adobe of the LAL teacher's guide, which includes lesson plans, blackline masters, and assessment checklists, at the Library of Congress, www.loc.gov/letters.

The Letters About Literature contest in Maryland is promoted and implemented by the Maryland Center for the Book, with satellite offices at Howard County Library and Talbot County Free Library. The Center is one of 50 state affiliates of the Library of Congress Center for the Book.

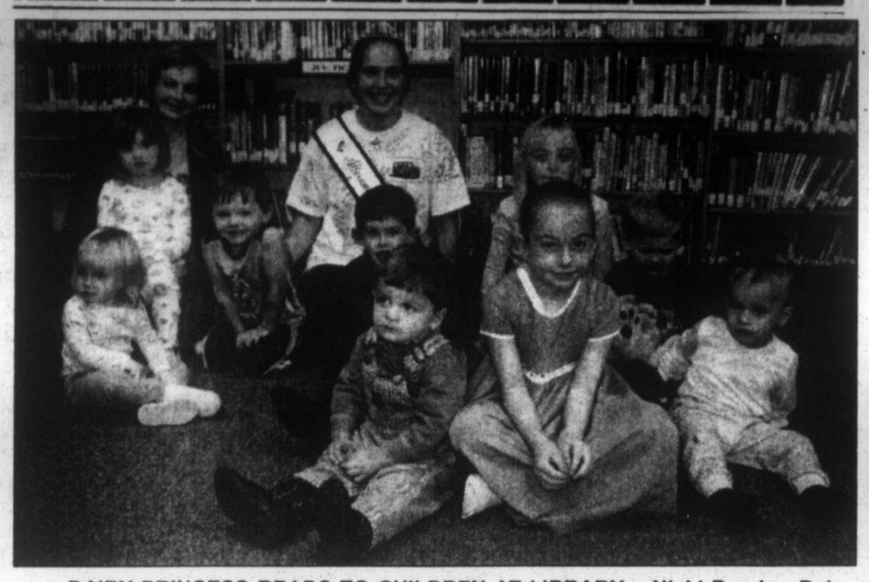
Farming On The Mountaintop



DAIRY PRINCESS READS TO CHILDREN AT LIBRARY – Nicki Bender, Dairy Princess for Allegany and Garrett counties, recently read two stories during Accident Library's Bedtime Storytime. Click, Clack, Moo: Cows that Type by Dorene Cronin tells the tale of cows who learn to type and leave messages for the farmer. "Has anyone ever milked a cow?" Bender asked the children. "And how much water do you think a cow drinks in a day?" A whole bathtub full, the children learned, was the answer to produce all the milk.

FSA REMINDS MILK PRODUCERS OF MILC-X REQUIREMENTS

Eric M. McCartney, executive director of USDA's Farm Service Agency in Preston County, reminds dairy producers participating in the Milk Income Loss Contract Extended (MILC-X) Program to select a the month they wish production payments to begin.

"If producers start month for fiscal year 2006 was never modified, then the production start month will remain in effect for this fiscal year and no action by the producer is necessary," said McCartney. "Also, if producers have already designated a production start month for FY2007 and they do not wish to change it, no action is necessary."

Changes to the MILC-X start month must be submitted to the Preston County FSA Office on or before the 14th of the month originally selected as the start month or as the newly selected start month. If the 14th of the month falls on a weekend, as is the case this month, the dairy operation production start month selection must be made on the last working day proceeding the weekend. The start month designation cannot be changed if the new month being selected has already begun or already passed.

The Deficit Reduction Act of 2005 (the Act) amended the MILC Program established by the Farm Security and Rural Investment Act of 2002 (the 2002 Farm Bill), which authorized the original MILC program through September 30, 2005. From October 1, 2005, through August 31, 2007, a dairy operation's monthly payment will equal the milk quantity sold in that month multiplied by 34 percent of the difference between $16.94 per hundredweight and that month's domestic Class I milk price. The 2002 Farm Bill originally set the payment rate factor at 45 percent.

USDA's Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) will make payments on an operation-by-operation basis, up to a maximum of 2.4 million pounds of milk produced and marketed by the dairy operation per fiscal year.

Eligible dairy producers are those who commercially produce milk in the United States. To receive program approval, producers must enter into a contract with CCC to provide monthly marketing data.

Dairy producers can obtain further information and apply for MILC-X at the Preston County FSA Office, located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza.

VOTE
LARRY GNEGY
FOR SHERIFF OF GARRETT COUNTY

I urge you to cast your vote in November for Larry Gnegy for Sheriff of Garrett County. Why?

Larry began his law enforcement career at a young age in the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, working up through the ranks to his present position of Captain.

His opponent spent his career as a MD State Policeman. He retired from that position and is receiving a full pension, in addition to his present salary in the Sheriff's Office, all paid by the taxpayers.

At present there is not a good working relationship between the MD State Police and the Sheriff's Office. Larry will work to re-establish that relationship in order to accomplish thorough and intelligent law enforcement in Garrett County.

REMEMBER....LARRY WILL BE A WRITE-IN CANDIDATE IN NOVEMBER.

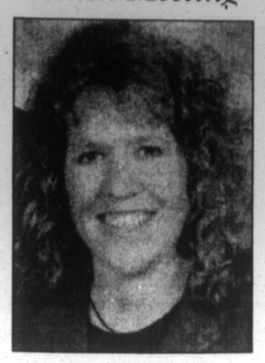
Dietician Ritchie To Speak At UM Women Meeting



Amy Ritchie of the Garrett County Health Department will be the featured speaker at a meeting to be held in the Fellowship Hall of St. Paul's United Methodist Church on Wednesday, Oct. 18, at 7 p.m.

Ritchie's talk is titled "Breaking Down the Food Labels."

The meeting is being sponsored by the St. Paul's United Methodist Women and is hosted by the Abbie-Nell Circle. Members of the Bethel United Methodist Church have been invited to be a part of the evening's fellowship.

Ritchie is a registered dietitian with the Garrett County Health Department. She is responsible for promoting nutrition and physical activity for Garrett County and nearby West Virginia residents. In the past she as worked as a clinical dietitian at Cumberland Memorial Hospital and as a consulting dietitian in area nursing homes.

Ritchie graduated from Penn State University with a bachelor of science degree in nutrition. She served her dietetic internship at Indiana University/Purdue University of Indianapolis Medical Center. She earned a master's degree from Frostburg State University in human performance.

Ritchie resides in Swanton with her husband Dave and two sons, D.J. and Lucas.

As a part of the evening, UMW officers for 2007 will be elected, and the end-of-the-year giving will be set. Refreshments will be served following the brief business session.

The church is located at the corner of Fourth and Oak streets in Oakland. Interested persons are invited to attend. Rev. Dr. T. Patrick Kerr serves as pastor of the church.

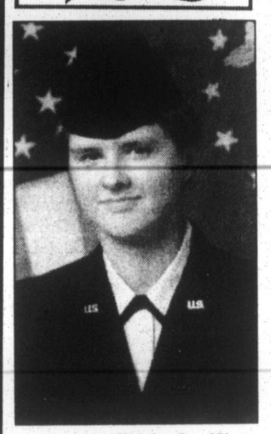
ARMED SERVICES REVIEW



Airman Kayla L. Kipp, 18, of Friendsville graduated from Air Force Basic Military Training on Aug. 18 in Lackland, Texas.

Kipp graduated as an element leader, and is now an airman leader with distinguished graduate status in Port Huereme, Calif., where she is currently in technical training for special vehicles maintenance.

Kipp has earned four ribbons, including a national defense service medal, small arms marksmanship, war on terrorism, and BMT ribbons.

She is a 2006 graduate of Northern High School, where she participated in softball, basketball, and soccer. She received numerous awards and pins.

Kipp participated in the new ROTC program as command sergeant major, which helped her prepare for military discipline and training.

She is expected to return to Garrett County in December, and will be based in Dover, Del., to further her training.

Preservation, Conservation To Be Mtg. Topics

The Allegheny Highlands Conservancy and the Garrett-Preston Rural Development Coalition are sponsoring a public presentation by Joe Tassone, director of comprehensive planning for the Maryland Department of Planning, on Monday, Oct. 30, at 7 p.m. in Room 224 of the Continuing Education building at Garrett College.

These are two local organizations dedicated to working with local landowners to protect and conserve farms, forests, and other rural and natural resources.

Tassone will discuss the patterns of growth predicted to occur in Garrett County over the next few decades and the various strategies that the county might employ to manage and focus that growth. He'll share what has worked well and what hasn't in other Maryland counties that face similar growth.

His presentation is especially timely given that Garrett County is currently in the process of updating its comprehensive plan, said a spokesperson. "The information Mr. Tassone will share will be of value to county citizens who desire to provide informed input into the planning process and wish to become more knowledgeable about the county's options for managing future growth," said the spokesperson.

All interested individuals are encouraged to attend.

State Park Programs

DEEP CREEK LAKE

The following activities have been scheduled for this week at Deep Creek Lake State Park. Further information can be obtained by calling the Discovery Center at 301-387-7067.

Saturday, Oct. 14

• 10:30 a.m. – Happy Herps! Learn about the insects that hop or crawl across the roads during a warm rainy night. Learn the difference between a poisonous snake and the rest. (45 min.)

• 2:30 p.m. — Reading Naturalist. Join the naturalist for a reading of We Are Bears, and then see and touch a bear skin and make a craft. Cost: $2 per child. (30 min.)

Sunday, Oct. 15

• 10:30 a.m. — Indian Turnip/Firetower Hike. See wildflowers, forested wetland, and possibly wildlife on this hike. Wear proper footwear, as the trail is rocky and steep in places. (Approx. 1 hr., 45 min.)

• 3 p.m. — We Got Worms. Meet in the Discovery Center to watch the naturalist feed some worms to toads, fish, and snakes, then head to the aviary and watch as park personnel care for and feed the red-tailed hawks and owl. (30 min.)

YODER REUNION TO INCLUDE AUCTION — A wide variety of items will be featured at a public auction of Yoder arts and crafts on Friday, Oct. 20, at 1:30 p.m. at Spruce Forest Artisan Village at Penn Alps. The auction is special feature of the national Yoder reunion, and all net proceeds will benefit the House of Yoder. Pictured above is one of the items, a signed wood carving of an Indian by Mayard "Ken" Miller of Salisbury, Pa., who died in 2001. Among the 37 items currently on the sale list are a glider made by Bennie Yoder, a painted saw blade by Raymond Bender, a hand-blown glass vase by Dwight Yoder, a print of the Christian Yoder House by Edna Bender, a feather carved by Gary Yoder, a handcrafted crock by Lynn Lais, and two crazy patch quilts by Malinda Yoder. For more information, persons may contact Kenneth Yoder at 301-895-5687.

TERRA ALTA NEWS

CHRISTIAN WOMEN'S SOCIETY

The First Church Christian Women's Society (FCCWS) of the Terra Alta First United Methodist Church will host a "baby shower" on Sunday, Oct. 15, following the morning worship service. The event has a two-fold purpose. The shower will honor Virginia Coffendaffer and Charlotte Freeland on their special birthdays. The gifts they receive for the baby shower will be given to Kathy Ross, head of the Preston County Crisis Pregnancy Center. Suggested gifts are layettes, diapers, toiletries, and clothing for new babies. All will go to the center.

The invitation has also been extended to the men of the church. The FCCWS will serve a light lunch of sandwiches and a choice of six different soups.

Three weeks ago Ross distributed baby bottles to the congregation, requesting that members fill the bottles with change, bills, or a check and return them at the Oct. 15th worship service or baby shower.

TERRA ALTA WELLNESS

The annual Healthy Families Night Out will be held on Saturday, Oct. 14, at 6 p.m. It will be at the Terra Alta Community Building. JC and the Boys will play. There will be refreshments and prizes.

For more information persons may call 789-2205.

The monthly meeting of Terra Alta Wellness will be held on Thursday, Oct. 19. at 6 p.m. at the Weilness Center.

Diabetes will be the topic on Wednesday, Oct. 25, at 6 p.m. Bethany Browning, a

The morning class will be from 10 a.m. until noon and the evening class will be from 6 to 8 p.m. There will be a $10 fee for supplies. There will be refreshments, recipes, candy-making supplies, and door prizes.

Participants will be learning how to make various candies. VISTA member Delisa Riley will be the instructor.

Persons may call the Literacy Volunteers, a United Way agency, at 296-3400 to reserve a place in the class. Space is limited to 15.

AURORA/EGLON

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A celebration of the 80th birthdays of Dale and Wilda (Adams) Harsh will be held this Saturday, Oct. 14, at the Aurora United Methodist Church memorial building. There will be a dinner for the families and an open house for friends and other relatives from 3 to 5 p.m. They invite all to stop by and greet them on this occasion.

110TH ANNIVERSARY

The Aurora United Methodist Church invites the public to share in a celebration of the church's 110th anniversary of being established in Aurora. The congregation will meet following church this Sunday, Oct. 15, for a covered-dish dinner at 12:30 p.m., to which all are also invited. A history of the church will be presented, along with some shared moments extracted from the "Next Door to Heaven" script used at the 100th year observance. The program is set to begin at 2 p.m

DEATHS NOTED

Bill Elmas Baker, 58, died October 6, 2006, at the Haleyville, Alabama, home of his daughter, Tanya Price. He was born January 3, 1947, in Garrett County. His wife, Betty Martin Baker, preceded hirn in death.

He is survived by a son Charles by a previous marriage, and by daughters Tanya and Lisa, and sons Kenny and Shawn, all in Alabama. His body was cremated and his remains will be placed at a site chosen by him and his wife.,

Helen Marie Winters, 80, died Tuesday, Oct. 3, 2006, at her Columbus, Ohio, home. She died as a result of cancer.

Born March 11, 1926, she was a daughter of the late Paul and Lucy Bland Wilt of Amboy.

She was a member of Reformation Lutheran Church, and had been employed by J.C. Penney and Huntington National Bank, from which she was retired. After retirement, she and her husband worked for the Columbus Clippers Organization.

She is survived by her husband, Harold L. Winters, Columbus, to whom she'd been married 59 years. Also surviving are four daughters, Ronna (and Jim) Teets of Lancaster, Ohio, Paula (and Dermis) Flanagan of Blacklick, Ohio, Susan (and Mike) Davala, and Lori (and Mark) Maiberger, all Columbus; one son, Michael (and Mary) Winters of Concord, N.C.; seven grandchildren and one great-grand-daughter; two sisters, Hazel (and Lewis) Durst and Lois (and Robert) Strawser, all Amboy; a brother-in-law, Claude (and Jean) Winters, Eglon; and also nieces and nephews.

Services were held at Reformation Lutheran Church, with interment following in Glen Rest Cemetery. The family requests that donations be made to the American Cancer Society, Mount Carmel Hospice (793 West State Street, Columbus, OH 43222-9988) or to the Reformation Lutheran Church at 1355 S. Hamilton Rd., Columbus, OH 43227.

PERSONAL MENTION

Rev. Debbie Strawser of Eglon attended classes at Frostburg Thursday to Sunday of last week.

Dale Harsh continues his recuperation from his recent stroke and is receiving therapy at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

It is reported that Fern Jamison is also doing well and still in recovery.

Relatives here who attended the services for Helen Wilt Winters October and 7 in Columbus, Ohi were her sisters and the spouses, Lewis and Haz

Sam and Patricia Masters of Organ Cave were weekend visitors with their daughter and family, Jill, Terry, Andrew, Jacob, and Isabelle Hauser, in Cash Valley.

Wanda Evans of Cortland Acres Nursing Home and formerly of Horse Shoe Run is a patient at Garrett County Memorial Hospital as result of a stroke.

Richard Norwish of Eglon visited in Virginia Sunday with his mother, Peggy Norwish, and sister Louise.

BIBLE TRANSLATORS — Boris and Beth Ramirez will be the speakers at a complimentary banquet at the Salisbury (Pa.) fire hall on Nov. 2 at 7 p.m. The public is invited to attend the event. The couple will share accounts of how lives are being changed through the work of Bible translation, a spokesperson said. Boris Ramirez joined Wycliff Associates in 1984 as a translator serving in Cristobal Verapaz, Guatemala. Through volunteer programs in local communities and overseas, Wycliffe Associates provides hands-on opportunities for those interested in accelerating the translation of the Bible for indigenous peoples. Programs of the organization include short-term missions, a banquet ministry, construction ministry, prayer watch, hospitality roster, and a "linen closet." Persons may call 1-800-475-1062 for complimentary tickets to the event in Salisbury.

TERRA ALTA

MOOSE LODGE

Members of the Moose Lodge will serve hot wings on Oct. 13 from 6 to 9 p.m. Take-out dinners will be available.

VFW LODGE

The VFW lodge will host its annual Halloween party for children on Oct. 31 at 7 p.m.

CHURCH BAZAAR

The Corinth United Methodist Church Bazaar will be held on Oct. 13 and 14 from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. both days. The proceeds from the event will go toward the church's building fund.

Some of the items to be sold are handmade crafts and gifts, decorations for the holidays, and a Christmas tree covered with ornaments. There will be a bake sale as well as soup and sandwiches.

To get to the church, persons should take Rt. 39 west of Oakland to the Maryland/W.Va. state line. The church is on the right, about a half mile from the line.

LIBRARY NEWS

Mary McLaughlin has donated numerous romance novels to the Terra Alta library, and Milton Crum has donated several VCR tapes, including Christmas programs, comedian Bill Crosby, and Charles Dickens's A Christmas Carol and Oliver, among others.

The October edition of the West Virginia Pubcaster is on the pamphlet self for viewing. This has several listings for special shows that are not in the TV guide. These are put out monthly, with highlights for juveniles and adults.

Donating reading materials have been Linda Testerman, LaDonna Ringer, and Penny Kelly.

Ann Harris has donated children and adult videos for circulation.

Teen Week is Oct. 16 through 20. All teens are welcome and invited to attend. Persons should register at the library.

The annual book sale will be held Nov. 6-17.

Ben Dobeck has donated several of his family's children's books to the library, including sports books, cartoon books, junior fiction, and early easy readers.

The West Virginia Asthma Coalition has provided the library with Take Action, a CD-Rom addressing asthma and diabetes in West Virginia schools. This can be used for service personnel training in health services for asthma and diabetes. This meets the law requirements of House Bill 2548, Diabetes care plan act.

The Annenburg Foundation Trust at Sunnylands has provided the library with a 32-minute DVD titled A Conversation On The Constitution; Judicial Independence, featuring Justices Anthony Kennedy, Sandra Day O'Conner, and Stephen Breyer in discussion with high school students from California and Pennsylvania about the U.S. Constitution and the role of judges.

Revs. Joan and Allen Granossky have donated several books and pamphlets for the religious section, as well as hymnals, stories, and American literature.

Barbara Beerbower was the guest speaker on Thursday evening titled "Keeping a Spiritual Journal."

QUAINT QUILTERS

The Preston County Literacy Volunteers Quaint Quilters, a member of the United Way family, will be participating in the 14th annual Alderson-Broaddus College Homecoming Craft Show on Saturday, Oct. 14. The show will run from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. in the Hamer Center on the A-B campus.

The Quaint Quilters will have a variety of quilts, handbags, and fresh canned jams and jellies for sale during the show. Stuffed reindeers may be adopted for a small adoption fee, and the Santa letter project order forms will be available.

The show will be open to the community as well as the alumni returning to the A-B campus for Homecoming Weekend.

For more information, interested persons may contact Annette Fetty in the A B Advancement Office at 457-6322.

PAUL V. SHORT

Paul V. "Buck" Short, 62, Terra Alta, W.Va., passed away Saturday, Oct. 7, 2006, at Heartland of Preston County, Kingwood, W.Va.

Born Feb. 29, 1944, in Rowlesburg, W.Va., he was a son of Bessie Short Goff of Salt Lick Community and the late Vernon (Buster) Short.

Buck joined the Rowlesburg Fire Department when he was 16. He was an EMT and drove for the Terra Alta Volunteer Ambulance Squad and served as president. He was president of the Terra Alta Volunteer Fire Department. He often drove a truck to fire department festivities in West Virginia, Maryland, and Pennsylvania, and enjoyed helping with the 4th of July Carnival. He belonged to the Preston County Ambulance Association and was a Terra Alta town councilman. He was a deacon in his church. He was employed as a jail officer and 911 dispatcher for the Preston County Sheriff's Department. He was the former owner of Home Monumental Works.

He loved bowling and was an avid stamp and sports card collector. He was president of the residents' council at Heartland, and enjoyed welcoming new residents and hosting two ice cream parties that he won for the residents.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by one daughter, Jennifer Short, Terra Alta, W.Va.; one brother, John R. Short, Terra Alta; one sister, Pam Helms, Fairbanks, Alaska; three nephews, David Clutter and Joshua and Justin Helms; one niece, Cathy Clutter; a former spouse, Shirley Short; five stepsisters; one stepbrother; and several cousins.

Friends were received at the Terra Alta Volunteer Fire Department hall, Terra Alta, where a service was held on Tuesday, Oct. 10, with the Rev. Barry Adkins officiating.

Interment was in the Terra Alta Cemetery.

Memorial donations may be made to the Terra Alta Fire Department, Attn: Gary Powell, Clear Mtn. Bank, P.O. Box 65, Terra Alta, WV 26764.

(Paid Obituary)

RONALD W. BECKMAN SR.

Ronald W. Beckman Sr., 64, Oakland, died Thursday, Sept. 28, 2006, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Born Dec. 4, 1941, he was a son of the late Joseph E. and Flossie M. (Sweitzer) Beckman. He was also preceded in death by one brother, James Beckman.

He worked for Sisler Lumber Company, where he was employed for more than 30 years.

He is survived by his wife, Elaine Beckman, Oakland; three daughters, Rhonda Harsh, Pasadena, Vicki Callis, Hephzibah, Ga., and Amanda Beckman, Oakland; two sons, Ronald Beckman Jr., Rawlings, and Randy Beckman, Conway, Ark.; one sister, Carolyn Rishell, Oakland; one brother, Steve Beckman, Oakland; and seven grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland, where a service was held today, Thursday, Oct. 5, with the Rev. David Moon officiating.

Interment was in the Garrett County Memorial Gardens, Oakland.

(The above obituary was reprinted because of an error in last week's paper. The error is regretted.)

JESSE W. SOUTHERLY

Jesse W. Southerly "Jake," 75, Piedmont, W.Va., died on Saturday, Oct. 7, 2006, at Potomac Valley Hospital.

Born Feb. 26, 1931, in Moorefield, W.Va., he was a son of the late Marion Southerly and Elizabeth (North) Southerly. He was also preceded in death by his first wife, Donna J. (Haines) Southerly; one brother, James Southerly; and one sister, Connie Paul.

He was Methodist by faith. He served in the Air Force from 1948 to 1952, and was a life member of Victory Post 155 American Legion in Westernport. He retired from Westvaco Corp. in 1993, where he was a machine tender.

He is survived by his wife, Joan (Clark) Southerly; one son, William Southerly, Bittinger; and two grandsons.

Friends were received at the Fredlock Funeral Home, Piedmont, where a service was held on Wednesday, Oct. 11, with the Rev. Bart Thompson officiating.

Interment was in Potomac Memorial Gardens in Keyser, W.Va., with Farrady Post 24 American Legion of Frostburg providing military honors.

The family requests that memorials be directed to the American Heart Association, P.O. Box 5216, Glen Allen, VA 23058; or to the Tri-Towns Rescue Squad, 59 Main St., Westernport, MD 21562.

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust dated September 24, 1998 and recorded in Liber 751, Folio 586 among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, with an original principal balance of $76,300.00 and an original interest rate of 11.500% default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., at the Court House Door, Oakland, on

OCTOBER 24, 2006 AT 2:20 PM

ALL THAT fee-simple LOT OF GROUND, together with the buildings and improvements thereon situated in Garrett Co., MD and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property, which is improved by a dwelling, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $10,000 in the form of cash or readily available funds acceptable to the Trustees required at the time of sale. Balance of the purchase price, together with interest on the unpaid purchase money at the current rate contained in the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received by the Trustees, payable in cash within ten days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER. Adjustment of current year real property taxes will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incident to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. All transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be paid by the Purchaser. Purchaser is responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property, and assumes risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale. If ratification or settlement is delayed for any reason there shall be no abatement of interest. The sale is subject to post-sale audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of the deposit without interest. If Purchaser fails to settle within ten days of ratification, he agrees to pay attorneys' fees in the amount of $750.00, plus costs, if the Trustees have moved to resell the property. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of the sale. If Purchaser defaults under these terms, deposit shall be forfeited. The Trustees may then resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulted purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds resulting from said resale even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulted purchaser. If Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or marketable title, or if the sale is not ratified by the Circuit Court for any reason, the Purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit without interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to the Seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents.

SUBSTITUTED TRUSTEE'S SALE OF
VALUABLE IMPROVED FEE SIMPLE PROPERTY
2878 Oakland Sang Run Road, Oakland, Maryland 21550

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a Deed of Trust dated March 3, 1999, from Sheila C. Kitzmiller to Scott B. Hansen and Philip M. Webb, as Trustees, and SunTrust Bank, successor to Crestar Bank, as Beneficiary, recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber 766, folio 667, which was given to secure a loan on the real property described therein, and default having occurred under the terms and conditions thereof, the undersigned Trustee will sell at public auction at the front door of the Courthouse for the Circuit Court for Garrett County, 203 South Fourth Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, on Monday, October 23, 2006, at 11:30 am., the following:

All that parcel of land situate in Election District No. 14, Garrett County, Maryland, which is described as follows:

Beginning at a stake standing, North 57° 30' West, 642.95 feet; thence North 38° 30' East, 1230.00 feet from the beginning corner of the Everett B. Weimer 107.2 acre tract described in Liber No. 214, folio 275, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland; and running thence from said beginning corner, South 38° 30' West, 200.00 feet to a stake; thence North 76° 00' West, 998.23 feet to a stake in the east margin of the county road; thence with said road, North 16° 45' East, 175.35 feet to a stake; thence leaving said road, South 76° 00' East, 1074.00 feet to the beginning, containing 4.31 acres, more or less.

TOGETHER with the buildings and improvements thereon and the rights, roads, ways, waters, privileges and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in anywise appertaining.

From sources deemed reliable, but not guaranteed, it is believed that the property is improved by a dwelling.

Terms of Sale

The property will be sold in "as is" condition, subject to any and all covenants, conditions, restrictions, easements, rights of way and limitations of record, and with no warranties. The property will be sold subject to any building or housing violations, easements, agreements, restrictions, terms, rights of way, covenants, conditions, rights of redemption, and other encumbrances, if any, affecting the subject property, whether or not of record.

A deposit of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000.00) will be required of the purchaser in the form of certified or cashier's check on the day of sale. The Beneficiary of the Deed of Trust, if a bidder, shall not be required to make a deposit. Interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum shall be paid on the unpaid purchase price from the date of sale to the date of settlement if the property is purchased by someone other than the Beneficiary. The balance of the purchase price shall be paid in cash within twenty (20) days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, time being of the essence. If compliance with the terms of sale does not take place within twenty (20) days after final ratification, the deposit shall be forfeited and the property resold at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser. Taxes, water rent, and all other public charges and assessments payable on an annual or periodic basis, including sanitary and metropolitan district charges and special paving taxes, and condominium fees, if any, will be adjusted as of the date of sale and thereafter shall be paid by the purchaser. The costs of all recordation and transfer taxes, any agricultural use or transfer tax, and any and all other costs incident to the recording of the deed to the purchaser shall be borne by the purchaser.

The Trustee reserves the right to reject any and all bids in his sole and absolute discretion and to extend the settlement date. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss to the property immediately after sale and shall be solely responsible for obtaining possession of the property.

Conveyance of the property shall be by substitute trustee's deed, without covenant or warranty, express or implied, unless otherwise required by statute, court rule or the Deed of Trust. If for any reason the Trustee is unable to convey title, the purchaser's sole remedy at law and equity shall be limited to the refund of the deposit to the purchaser. Upon refund of the deposit, the sale shall be null and void and have no further force and effect, and the purchaser shall have no claim against the Trustee, Beneficiary, or Auctioneers.

The information contained herein was obtained from sources deemed to be reliable, but is offered for information purposes only. The Trustee, Beneficiary and Auctioneers make no representations or warranties with respect to the accuracy of this information, and the purchaser waives and releases the Trustee, Beneficiary and Auctioneers from any and all claims the purchaser or purchaser's successors or assigns may now have or may have in the future relating to the condition of the property, including, but not limited to, the environmental condition thereof. This advertisement, as amended or supplemented by any oral announcements during the conduct of the sale, constitutes the entire terms upon which the property shall be offered for sale.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR STRIP MINE PERMIT

Notice is hereby given that MORAN COAL COMPANY, INC. / PO Drawer E, Westernport, Maryland 21562, has submitted an application to the Maryland Bureau of Mines for a surface coal mine operations permit. The operation is to be located near Westernport, Maryland. The proposed operation occupies a 72-acre tract on the north side of Savage River, 1.0 mile northwest of Bloomington, Election District 4, Garrett County; 610,500N / 213,500E. Access to the site is from Westernport Road, 0.4 mile northwest of the Allegany/Garrett county line.

Surface of the area to be mined is owned by Moran Coal Company, Inc., P.O. Drawer E, Westernport, Maryland 21562, and Luke Paper Company, 300 Pratt Street Luke, Maryland 21540. The mineral is owned by Moran Coal Company, Inc., PO Drawer E, Westernport, Maryland 21562.

The permit area is located within the US Geologic Westernport, MD 7.5 minute quadrangles, the boundaries being as shown on the attached sketch.

The application includes plans to construct one (1) pond to control sediment and stormwater on the mining area. In addition to a surface coal mining permit the construction of the pond will require a separate small pond approval from the Bureau of Mines.

A copy of the application, which includes the pond plans for the small pond approval, is available for public review at the Maryland Department of the Environment (Bureau of Mines) Office, 160 South Water Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532, during normal office hours. Questions concerning any aspect of the application may be directed to: Robert L. Dugan, Jr. DUGAN ASSOCIATES, 301-689-1568, or the Maryland Bureau of Mines, Permit Section, 301-689-6405. A public hearing will not be held on this activity unless requested. Written comments, requests for a public hearing, and requests to be included on the interested persons list regarding this application, will be received until December 02, 2006, by the Director, Maryland Bureau of Mines, 160 South Water Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532. Attention: OPA-06-76.

Future notices about this application will be provided by mail to those persons who submit comments, request a public hearing, or request to be included on the list of interested persons.

SUBSTITUTED TRUSTEES' SALE OF VALUABLE FEE SIMPLE DWELLING PROPERTY KNOWN AS NO. 106 MITCHELL DRIVE OAKLAND, MARYLAND 21550

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Michael P. Zambernardi and Elizabeth T. Zambernardi to B. George Ballman, Trustee(s), dated March 2, 2005 and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County in Liber No. 1103, folio 251, and Declaration of Substitution of Trustees dated September 21, 2006 and recorded among the aforementioned Land Records substituting Thomas P. Dore, Mark S. Devan, Jennifer Matthews Herring, J. Patrick Gill and Kristen K. Haskins as Substituted Trustees under the Deed of Trust aforesaid, Mercantile Mortgage Corporation being the current holder of the Note(s) secured thereby, and default having occurred under the terms thereof, the undersigned Substituted Trustees will offer for sale at public auction, at the Courthouse door, Alder Street entrance, Oakland, Maryland on Tuesday, October 31, 2006 at 2:30 PM.

All that lot of ground and the improvements thereon situate in Garrett County, State of Maryland, and described as follows:

BEING all that property described in a Deed of Trust dated March 2, 2005 and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County in Liber No. 1103, folio 251.

The improvements thereon being known as No. 106 Mitchell Drive.

The improvements thereon consist of a dwelling.

The property will be sold in "As Is" condition, subject to any existing building violations, etc. and also subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting same, if any. Neither the trustees nor their respective agents, successors or assigns make any representation or warranties, either expressed or implied with respect to the property including without limitation, description, use, recorded or unrecorded leases or other occupancy agreements, if any, operating and management agreements, physical conditions or to the environmental conditions of the subject property. The Substituted Trustees shall be required to convey insurable title.

A Statement of Mortgage Debt has been filed in the foreclosure case in the approximate amount of $142,000.00.

TERMS OF THE SALE: Cash or certified check deposit in the amount of $21,500.00 will be required of the purchaser (other than the above-named Holder) at the time and place of sale, balance in cash, immediately within twenty (20) days of the final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court of Garrett County, time being of the essence, and to bear interest at the rate of 8% per annum from date of sale to date of settlement. In the event the above-named Holder purchases the property at the sale as the high bidder thereat, no deposit will be required and the requirement of interest on the balance of the purchase price shall be waived. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of the interest. If the purchaser defaults, in addition to all other remedies including but not limited to attorney fees, the Substituted Trustees may declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of both sales, attorney fees and all other charges due and incidental and consequential damages. Taxes, water rent and ground rent, if any, to be adjusted to date of sale. All other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges to be adjusted for the current year to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps and transfer taxes shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall have the responsibility of obtaining possession of the property. In the event the Substituted Trustees do not convey title for any reason, purchaser's sole remedy is return of deposit. The Substituted Trustees shall have the right to terminate this contract in the event the Holder has entered into any agreement with or accepted funds from or on the behalf of the mortgagor. Upon termination of the contract, Purchaser's sole remedy shall be return of the deposit. Purchaser agrees to pay a deed preparation and document review fee of $350.00 to the Substituted Trustees.

OAKLAND, MD 21550

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust dated April 21, 2005, and recorded in Liber 1124, Folio 257 among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, with an original principal balance of $109,600.00 and an original interest rate of 6.000% default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., at the Court House Door, Oakland, on

OCTOBER 24, 2006, AT 2:10 PM

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND, together with the buildings and improvements thereon situated in Garrett Co., MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property, which is improved by a dwelling, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $12,000 in the form of cash or readily available funds acceptable to the Trustees required at the time of sale. Balance of the purchase price, together with interest on the unpaid purchase money at the current rate contained in the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received by the Trustees, payable in cash within ten days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER. Adjustment of current year real property taxes will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incident to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. All transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be paid by the Purchaser. Purchaser is responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property, and assumes risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale. If ratification or settlement is delayed for any reason there shall be no abatement of interest. The sale is subject to post-sale audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of the deposit without interest. If Purchaser fails to settle within ten days of ratification, he agrees to pay attorneys' fees in the amount of $750.00, plus costs, if the Trustees have moved to resell the property. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of the sale. If Purchaser defaults under these terms, deposit shall be forfeited. The Trustees may then resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulted purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds resulting from said resale even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulted purchaser. If Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or marketable title, or if the sale is not ratified by the Circuit Court for any reason, the Purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit without interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to the Seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents.

TOWN OF FRIENDSVILLE
ORDINANCE NO. 2006-02
AMENDMENT TO THE ZONING ORDINANCE
AN ORDINANCE OF THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF FRIENDSVILLE AMENDING THE ZONING ORDINANCE REGARDING MINIMUM LOT SIZE REQUIREMENTS AND PERMITTED USES FOR THE SUBURBAN RESIDENTIAL, TOWN RESIDENTIAL AND TOWN CENTER ZONING DISTRICTS.

EXPLANATION: CAPITALS INDICATE MATTER ADDED TO EXISTING LAW. [Brackets] indicate matter deleted from existing law.

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Town Council of Friendsville is authorized by Article 23A of the Maryland Annotated Code and by the Friendsville Town Charter to enact ordinances to protect the health, safety and welfare of residents of and visitors to the Town of Friendsville; and

WHEREAS, on March 15, 2005, the Mayor and Town Council of Friendsville adopted a zoning ordinance, which included brief synopses of the desired land use and lot size requirements for the Suburban Residential, Town Residential and Town Center Zoning Districts: and

WHEREAS, the Friendsville Zoning Ordinance has been found to contain scrivener's errors within the above-referenced synopses relating to the desired land use and lot size requirements within each zoning district, said lot size requirements being correctly stated for these zoning districts within each respective zoning district's subsection entitled "Lot, Yard and Height Requirements: and

WHEREAS, the Friendsville Mayor and Town Council find it prudent to amend the zoning ordinance to correct the current introductory paragraph regarding the desired land use and lot size requirements within each zoning district to agree with the stated Lot. Yard and Height Requirements;

NOW THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY ORDAINED AND RESOLVED, that the referenced sections of the Friendsville Zoning Ordinance are hereby amended, as set forth below.

WHEREAS the introductory paragraph of Article 4. Section 407 "SR" Suburban Residential District of the March 15, 2005, Zoning Ordinance states:

"This district would accommodate single-family detached homes and duplex homes in a suburban setting. Minimum lot size of [20,000 square feet for single-family homes and 12,500 square feet per unit for duplex homes are recommended.] 10,000.00 SQUARE FEET FOR SINGLE-FAMILY HOMES. This planning area will help ensure that open space is incorporated into future development by accommodating only lower single-family residential development. It will also provide land for larger homes and allow flexibility in placement of homes on lots. The suburban Residential areas attempt to balance the desire to avoid inappropriate high-density development and the desire for more efficient use of the land, compatible with current residential preferences."

WHEREAS, the introductory paragraph to Article 4, Section 408 "TR" Town Residential District of the March 15, 2005, Zoning Ordinance states:

"This district would provide land for single-family detached homes on minimum 10,000 square foot lots, twin home units on minimum [9,000] 15,000 square foot lots and apartments at a minimum of 4,000 square feet per unit. The Town Residential area will provide area for strictly residential development, yet one that is convenient to Friendsville's Town Center."

WHEREAS, the introductory paragraph of Article 4, Section 409 "TC" Town Center District of the March 15, 2005, Zoning Ordinance states:

"This District provides area where single-family detached homes and twin home units would each be on minimum [5,000] 7,500 square foot lots, apartments will be permitted at a density of at least [3,600] 3,000 square feet per unit. Retail, service, office and other appropriate non-residential uses will also be directed to the Town Center for the purpose of perpetuating this area as Friendsville's "business district."

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, this ordinance shall be dully advertised in accordance with the policy for the Adoption of Ordinances by the Mayor and Town Council of Friendsville. A public hearing on this amendment to the Zoning Ordinance shall be held on November 6, 2006, at the Town Hall, located at 313 Chestnut Street, Friendsville, Maryland 21531.

INTRODUCED this 2nd day of October 2006.

SECOND READING AND ADOPTION this 17th day of October 2006.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, this ordinance shall be effective as of the 6th day of November 2006.

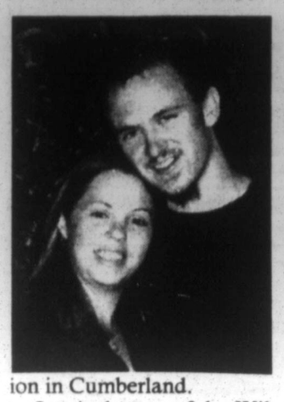
Miss Holler To Wed Mr. Pickrel



Amanda Marie Holler and Lee William Pickrel announce their engagement.

Amanda is the daughter of Terry and Alice (Sis) Holler of Boynton, Pa. She is a 2004 graduate of Salisbury Elk-Lick High School, and is employed by Healthcare 1st Federal Credit Union in Cumberland.

Lee is the son of the William and Trudy Pickrel of McHenry. He attended Mountain View School in Springs, Pa., and is employed by R & K Tile in Oakland.

The couple are planning a June 2007 wedding.

Marriage Permits Recently Issued

Three couples recently applied for their marriage licenses, according to David Martin, clerk of the Garrett County Circuit Court.

Aaron Thomas Lawson, 36, and Brenda Ann Horne, 36, both of Oakland.

Patrick Kevin Hamlin, 47, and Ellen Marie Quinn, 44, both of Shrewsburg, Pa.

Bryon David Umbel, 23, Friendsville, and Brandy Lynn Glisan, 19, Markleysburg, Pa.

Social

Ms. Holliday Weds Mr. Savage At St. Paul's United Methodist

Helen D. Holliday and Ronald E. Savage were united in marriage on Sept. 26, 2006. Officiated by pastors Phil Dukes and Dr. T. Patrick Kerr, the double-ring ceremony took place at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland.

The bride is the daughter of the late Ruth and Armour Faucett. The groom is the son of Dorothy Savage of Dennett Road Manor and the late Erman Savage.

Serving as matron of honor was Dorothy Lowdermilk, and serving as best man was Ervin Lowdermilk, both of Friendsville.

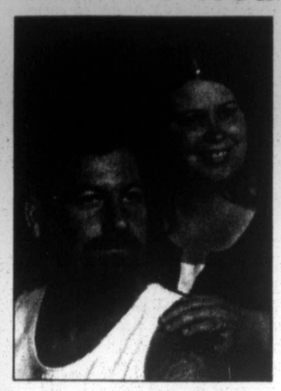
Lyrics for the wedding song were written and sung by Pastor Dukes, who was accompanied by Mrs. Bobbi Dukes.

Also in attendance were Wayne and Jeannette McWilliams and Linda Thomas, friends of the bride and groom.

Immediately following the ceremony, everyone proceeded to Dennett Road Manor, where the wedding vows were repeated for the groom's mother.

A wedding dinner was held at Cornish Manor. The wedding cake was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Lowdermilk.

Ms. Wilt. Mr. Sisler To Wed



David Monroe Sisler Sr. and Bobbie Jean Wilt of Oakland recently announced their engagement and forthcoming marriage.

The prospective groom is the son of David and Sandra Sisler of Oakland. The bride-elect is the daughter of Robert and Ellen Moats of Grantsville.

A marriage is planned for August 2007. Invitations will be sent at a later date.

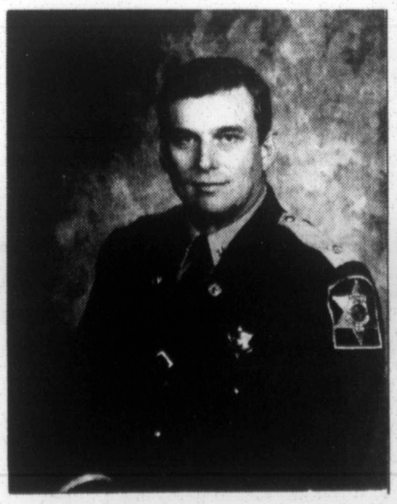
With Wisdom and Integrity

I will continue to lead the Sheriff's Office on the right path...

To Protect and Serve You, the citizens of Garrett County.



With increasing concerns of drug trafficking, I will continue to dedicate myself to the success of controlling these concerns through a close relationship with Maryland State Police. The Garrett County Narcotics Task Force and Garrett Bureau of Investigation are examples of cooperation and leadership to accomplish a task. Through the cooperation of other law enforcement agencies, and the quality of the deputies at the Sheriff's Office, I feel the future of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office is on the right path.

IT WAS A ROYAL DAY for the royal court of the 39th annual Autumn Glory Festival, held last week throughout Garrett County. The court, pictured above and consisting of Queen Hannah Gnegy, King Brock Glotfelty, Princess Jessica Harvey, and Prince Cody Brack, was kept busy from the moment of Wednesday's kick-off celebration through the events on Sunday. Hannah is the daughter of Steve and Brenda Gnegy, Oakland, and Brock is the son of Randy and Renatta Glotfelty, Grantsville. The prince is the son of Gary and Tawney Brack, Oakland, and the princess is the daughter of Jim and Janet Harvey, Accident. This year's Honorary Golden Ambassador was Judy Devlin, who also took part in numerous Autumn Glory events. Photo by John McEwen.

Garrett County's Recycling Rate Drops 4 Percent

The Maryland Department of the Environment has completed its review of Garrett County's Maryland Recycling Act tonnage report for calendar year 2005. The county's recycling rate was 45.96 percent, with a waste diversion rate of 46.96 percent, announced recycling coordinator Kim Madigan, Garrett County Solid Waste and Recycling Division.

Those figures are down from the previous year when the county realized a recycling rate of 50.4 percent.

"In 2003, the recycling rate was 18.9 percent," Madigan said. "Since then, the recycling rate has great-ly improved. This increase is largely due to exceptional reporting by businesses and outstanding efforts by Garrett County residents.

The Maryland Recycling Act requires that Garrett County divert at least 15 percent of its waste to recycling programs. All counties in Maryland report their recycling tonnages to MDE for review and approval.

In the 2000 session of the Maryland General Assembly, the Senate passed a joint resolution creating a voluntary statewide waste diversion goal of 40 percent. This goal consists of a 35 percent recycling rate and up to percent credit for source 5 reduction. Taking the source reduction credits into account, Maryland achieved a 42.61 percent statewide diversion rate in 2005, according to Madigan.

"Garrett County Solid Waste and Recycling and the board of county commissioners would like to congratulate the residents and businesses for the improvement in their recycling efforts," she said. "We all need to keep up the good work. Although the county has reached a 45.96 percent recycling rate, we will continue to encourage residents and businesses to not only recycle every day, but also reduce waste at the source."

Source reduction involves the design, manufacture, purchase, or use of LITTLE HIGH-STEPPER – This little tyke did her part to make the 39th annual Autumn Glory Festival a great success. She was one of hundreds of AGF Grand Feature Parade participants, strutting her stuff down Second Street in Oakland and entertaining the thousands who lined the road to watch. The parade was nearly two hours long and featured several bands, numerous floats, and lots of clowns. The day was brisk and beautiful, with bright blue skies. Another Autumn Glory to remember. DOT Holds Annual "Tour" Mtg.; Residents Oppose Oakland Bypass

Garrett County will receive $78 million over the next six years for local transportation needs. Of that funding, $42 million will come from highway user revenues, Maryland Department of Transportation Secretary Robert Flanagan announced Friday morning to a standing-room-only crowd at the Garrett County Courthouse. Many of those in attendance voiced their opposition to the Oakland bypass.

As part of their annual statewide fall "tour," Flanagan and other State Highway Administration officials reviewed state and local projects outlined in the DOT's fiscal year 2007-2012 Consolidated Transportation Program (CTP) draft. The total state budget for this period is $13 billion, Flanagan noted.

"The level of support increased when Senator Hafer and Delegate Edwards voted to increase funding for transportation," Flanagan told the audience. "That not only increased the money we had to work with that made these projects possible, but also increased the money going to you and other local governments through highway user revenues."

SHA district engineer Bobby Fisher reviewed projects currently under way or slated for FY 2007. Those include:

•Garrett Highway resurfacing work from Bumble Bee Road to Accident.

•Bridge and resurfacing work on I-68 from the Rt. 42 bridge in Friendsville to the Old Morgantown Road bridge.

•A sidewalk for the safety of Southern High School students from Oakland Drive to Deer Park Avenue in Mtn. Lake Park.

•A streetscape project along Rt. 219 in Oakland.

MLP Apartment Gutted By Blaze; Cause Accidental

A Mountain Lake Park apartment was gutted by fire last Friday, with the cause of the blaze determined by fire investigators to be food left on a hot stove.

Units and personnel from the Oakland, Deep Creek, Gorman, Terra Alta, and Aurora volunteer fire departments were summoned to 815 Deer Park Avenue at 12:55 p.m. after a neighbor saw smoke coming from apartment #3 in the two-story brick six-unit building and telephoned for assistance. No one was in the apartment at the time.

The apartment building is owned by Jim Kosienski of Majestic Rentals. Rosezina Bray was the tenant.

According to a report filed by Deputy Fire Marshal J. Mowbray, the area of origin was the kitchen. While the nearly three dozen firefighters who responded to the scene were able to get the fire under control in

Housing Projections Will Help Garrett County Plan For Development Needs

As many as 124,000 new housing units could be built in Garrett County in the next 25 years, based on growth capacity projections being conducted by state and local planning commissions. In the Deep Creek Lake watershed alone, the total capacity may be 20,298, Director John Nelson, Garrett County Department of Planning and Land Development, reported to the county commissioners on Tuesday.

Nelson stressed that these figures were only preliminary and that his department is still trying to find out why the number of available lots are not matching up with tax records and census data.

"These numbers will be modified and tweaked," he said about the growth projections.

The analysis is based on such factors as the county's building history, subdivision controls, and availability of land (minus sensitive areas, wetlands, parks, etc.). Growth projections will be used for a variety of planning purposes, including establishing additional land development policies for the county's new comprehensive plan, Nelson said.

The projections will also help the county estimate how new development will affect the need for new roads, schools, public utilities, and other items.

"We're trying to make projections of where that

Grantsville Man Sentenced To 15 Years In DOC

A 47-year-old Grantsville man was sentenced in Garrett County Circuit Court recently for three crimes to which he pleaded guilty in August. Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced Gerald Eugene Lewis to a total of 15 years in the Division of Corrections for the crimes.

Lewis was sentenced to 12 years for first-degree assault, to two years for second-degree assault, and to one year for driving under the influence of alcohol.

He was indicted by the March term of the grand jury for the charges, which resulted from an incident that occurred in February at his residence. Margo Fitchett, with whom Lewis was

Mtn. Laurel Medical Center Now Open On Memorial Drive

The Mountain Laurel Medical Center, located in the lower level of the Regional Eye Center on Memorial Drive in Oakland, officially opened last week with a ribbon cutting and an open house.

Jill Utterback, chief executive officer, welcomed approximately 50 guests and introduced the MLMC staff. "I'm sure that many people are wondering, 'What's the big deal? It's just a medical office.' Sure, we are a family practice medical office, but we are much more," she said. "Our ultimate goal is to improve the health status of underserved populations, and in Garrett County, that primarily means the uninsured."

MLMC offers a discount program based on family size and income. This is made possible through a federal grant intended to reduce health care costs for people with no health insurance or limited incomes.

"We are here to provide health care to every individual, whether they have insurance or not," Utterback said.

In addition, MLMC offers case management services that link patients to other health, human services, and financial programs in the community such as medication assistance, transportation, and other services that may help improve the health of the patient and their family, she added.

Construction was completed on the lower level of the Regional Eye Center at the end of September. "We are very fortunate to occupy such an attractive and well-designed space, and we are grateful to Dr. Stephen Powell and Regional Eye Associates for leasing it to us," said Utterback. MLMC is sharing the lower level with Independent Dialysis Foundation.

"Our experience in working with Dr. John Sadler and the staff of IDF has been excellent," she said. "We are happy to have them as neighbors and are pleased that dialysis services are now available in Garrett County." MLMC's new medical office consists of a reception and waiting area, six examination rooms, and three offices.

Utterback estimates that MLMC will begin seeing patients sometime during the week of October 23.

"We need another week so that we can get settled and work out some technical issues in our new location. We want to make sure that our staff and facility are ready to provide our patients with first class service."

When the medical center opens, office hours will be from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. "MLMC will have standard daytime hours for the first few months, but we plan to extend hours into the evening starting in January," said Utterback.

Although she was unable to attend, Elizabeth Duke, administrator of the federal Health Resources and Services Administration, sent a message of congratulations. It read, "All of us at the Health Resources and Services Administration applaud the important work

OTT TO HOST ANOTHER GHOSTWALK SHOW – Ghostwalk VI – School Days will be performed at Our Town Theatre in Oakland on Oct. 26, 27, and 28. Written by Jane Avery (who said she gained much of her information from researcher Alice Eary), this year's monologues pertain to the educational past of Garrett County spanning the years of the mid-1800s to the late 1940s. Judy Bertsch portrays Prudence, Lynne Elmlinger is Elly, Richard Hill depicts Conrad, Lois White is Annie, and Matt Eary portrays John. A traditional harvest dinner, served at 6:30 p.m., is being offered along with the show for $20 per person, or one can see just the show, which begins at 8 p.m., for $5. Reservations for dinner are mandatory and may be made by calling the theatre at 301-334-5640, option 1. Dinner is sold out for Friday, Avery said, although there are a few dinner reservations left for Thursday and several left for Saturday. This production is funded in part by the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council. Pictured in front is Elmlinger. In the back, from left, are Hill, White, Bertsch, and Eary.

MEDICAL CENTER NOW OPEN – The grand opening and open house for the Mountain Laurel Medical Center, which is located in the lower level of the Regional Eye Center on Memorial Drive in Oakland, was held recently. The center offers a discount program based on family size and income that is made possible through a federal grant intended to reduce health care costs for people with no health insurance or limited incomes, said a spokesperson. Pictured above, from the left, are Ronald Greger, MD, medical director; Gayle Kennedy, RN, nurse supervisor; Commissioner Fred Holliday; Jill Utterback, chief executive officer; Mayor Asa McCain; and Terry Harvey, CRNP, nurse practitioner. Police Charge Three Persons At Octoberfest

The Oakland Police charged Craig Andrew Mason, 20, Oakland, Jordan Bradly Hershman, 19, Oakland, and Amanda Elizabeth King, 20, Swanton, with underage drinking last Thursday night, according to the Oakland Police Department.

The incident occurred in the area of the Octoberfest celebration.

Board Members Sought For Mtn. Laurel Med. Ctr.

Mountain Laurel Medical Center is seeking interested individuals to serve on its board of directors.

MLMC is funded in part by a grant from the federal Health Resources and Services Administration. The grant is intended to improve access to health care for uninsured and low income individuals in Garrett County and the surrounding area. MLMC's mission is to provide quality, safe, accessible primary health care, wellness promotion, and education to all individuals in Garrett County and surrounding areas, regardless of the patient's ability to pay, said a spokesperson.

The MLMC board of directors will be comprised of 15 members, eight of whom must be registered patients who receive their primary health care at MLMC. Directors serve a three-year term and can be reappointed for up to three consecutive terms. Board members are not required to have expertise in the health care field. Applications are encouraged from individuals with varying skills and interests.

"We would like for our board to include representatives from throughout Garrett County and the surrounding area," said Jill Utterback, chief executive officer of MLMC. "Our board members should each possess an individual perspective on health care but a willingness to work together to develop the most appropriate facilities and services for our community."

If selected to serve on the board, directors can expect a time commitment of five to seven hours per month, which includes preparation for and attendance at committee and full board meetings. The board establishes policy, approves programs, and provides fiscal oversight for MLMC.

MLMC participates with other community health centers in Maryland to advocate for improved access to the medically underserved. MLMC is an associate member of the Mid-Atlantic Association of Community Health Centers (MACHC) and the Maryland Rural Health Association (MRHA). Board members work closely with other organizations in the health care community, as well as other private and public agencies.

Application to the Board of Directors can be made by sending a letter of interest to Jill Utterback, chief executive officer, Mountain Laurel Medical Center, P.O. Box 656, Oakland, MD 21550; or via e-mail at jill@mtnlaurel.org.

Additional information may be obtained by calling 301-533-3300.

OFFICIALS RECOGNIZE JANET PAUGH – Local and state officials presented numerous citations to Janet Paugh last Tuesday for her 50 years of hard work and dedication in the Garrett County office of the Maryland Department of Assessment and Taxation. Paugh, who resides in the Deep Creek Lake area, is the office manager. In addition to the awards presentation, a buffet lunch was held in her honor at St. Peter's Catholic Church parish hall. Paugh said she does not plan to retire anytime soon. Pictured above, left to right, are Director John Sullivan, Maryland Department of Assessment and Taxation, representing Gov. Robert Ehrlich; Garrett County commissioners Dave Beard and Fred Holliday; Paugh; Del. George Edwards; Joe Keating, Paugh's current supervisor; Commissioner Ernie Gregg; Jerry Moyer and Jim Margroff, Paugh's past supervisors; and Bill Stansbury, Maryland supervisor of assessments. Below, Edwards presents Paugh with one of her many citations.

Oakland Man Cited After Car Hits Building

An Oakland man was cited after he apparently fell asleep at the wheel and struck Lenora's Fabric Shop on Garrett Highway early Monday morning, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Ernest Wotring was reportedly driving northbound on Garrett Highway near Wes White Road when his pickup crossed the highway, struck a drainage ditch, and hit the building at a low speed, police said. No one was in the building at the time of the accident.

Two Ohio Men Arrested After Traffic Stop

Two Ohio men were arrested and charged with possession of marijuana after being stopped by the Maryland State Police for a traffic violation Friday at approximately 1:35 p.m., according to a police report.

Sonny Lee Bottomley, Columbus, and his passenger, Eric M. Tipple, Stoutsville, were traveling eastbound on I-68 in a Pontiac Bonneville when they were pulled over for an alleged traffic violation. Tfc. S.T. Huber of the MSP detected the odor of marijuana, searched the car and the defendants, and found marijuana, according to the police.

After the arrest, the defendants were taken before the District Court commissioner for a review of the charges, the police report showed.

Oakland Police Arrest Man For Traffic Violations

The Oakland Police stopped and arrested Timothy Hart Winkler, 22, in Oakland for multiple traffic violations on Monday at 6:30 p.m., after receiving information that the vehicle he was driving did not have valid registration plates, according to the Oakland police report.

Further investigation showed that Winkler did not have a driver's license or insurance, and the displayed registration plate was not registered properly.

Winkler was arrested and charged with making false statements to a peace officer, driving without a license, driving an uninsured vehicle, displaying a registration plate issued to another, and unauthorized display and use of a registration plate, according to the Oakland Police.

Winkler was taken to Garrett County Detention Center and held on bond. The investigation is ongoing, according to the police.

Annual Halloween Parade Set At Grantsville Plaza

The annual Halloween parade will be held at the Grantsville Plaza on Tuesday, Oct. 31, beginning at 6 p.m. Costume judging will take place in front of Foodland in the parking lot, and anyone age 16 or younger is invited to dress up and attend.

Prizes will be awarded for the cutest and most original costumes in each age group: 0 to 5 years, 6 to 8 years, 9 to 12 years, and 13 to 16 years.

The parade is sponsored by First Peoples Community Federal Credit Union and other merchants in the plaza. Participants will include Foodland, Gaumer Shumaker Insurance Agency, NAPA, Hardesty's True Value, Dollar General, The Republican newspaper, Goodwill, Rite Aid, NuView Video, Subway, and Burger King.

Participants should bring trick-or-treat bags, a spokesperson said.

McHenry Man Charged With Drunk Driving

A McHenry man was charged with drunk driving early Saturday morning in Grantsville by a sheriff's deputy who was working a special grant that was designed to patrol and enforce laws in the town of Grantsville, according to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

The officer observed a truck operated by Justin Robert Heslop, 25, strike a curb at the intersection of Main Street and Dorsey Hotel Road in Grantsville. Then the truck continued east on Rt. 204 where it ran off the roadway twice and failed to stay in the correct lane of traffic, the deputy said.

Heslop was charged with driving under the influence and negligent driving. He was released after posting $5,000 bond.

Annual Hopefest Slated To Benefit House Of Hope

The annual Autumn Hopefest benefiting the House of Hope has been scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 4, from 7 until 11 p.m. Once again this event, billed as "an evening of fun, food and frolic," will be held in the Sitzmark Room at Will O' the Wisp.

The evening will feature a full dinner buffet from the Four Seasons Restaurant at Will O' the Wisp plus dancing to the music of DJ Jonny Rock. Price of admission also includes beer, wine, and soft drinks throughout the evening. A cash bar will also be available.

"We are very excited to be hosting the Hopefest once again this year," said Martin Heise, food and beverage director of Will O' the Wisp and House of Hope board member. "We plan to serve an eclectic mix of favorite regional and seasonal foods."

Coordinators have arranged a variety of events for the evening, including door prizes and local guest bartenders. The popular silent and "Chinese" auctions will also be repeated this year.

"The business community has been so generous over the years," said Patty Wells, House of Hope board member. "We have raised over $10,000 at past events just from our auctions alone."

Representatives for the House of Hope will be approaching local businesses to support this cause with donations for the auctions. They are also looking for guest bartenders for the evening. Bartenders work for "tips" which are donated to the House of Hope. The team earning the most tips wins the honor of "top bartender" along with various prizes.

"The Hopefest has become a very popular event," said Carol Smith, fundraising committee member. "We appreciate the support of our local community. In fact, our last event was a sell-out, so be sure to get your tickets early."

The House of Hope, located in Oakland but serving all of Garrett County, is an ecumenical and non-denominational organization relying solely on donations. Neither soliciting nor accepting government funding, the House of Hope provides flexible, individualized, and immediate aid to those in crisis.

The event is being sponsored in part by Mettiki Coal Corporation and Will O' the Wisp.

Admission to the event requires a $40 donation per person. Because of limited seating, tickets will be sold by advance purchase only and are available at Animal Crackers Pet Grooming in Accident, or Brenda's Pizzeria and Trader's Coffee House at Deep Creek Lake.

AREA YOUTH JOIN FORCES FOR RED RIBBON WEEK – The Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Youth Planning Group is joining forces with area youth to offer an event in conjunction with Red Ribbon Week, a week that recognizes the importance of a drug-free community. On Monday, Oct. 23, at 6:30 p.m. at the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad, members of law enforcement as well as a squad member and a young adult working his way back from substance use problems will participate in a panel presentation geared for parents. "It's tough being a parent and keeping up with the latest information to keep our kids safe from drugs. The panel presenters that our group selected will give an inside look at what risks are in our community and how to deal with them," said Kendra Todd, member of the Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Planning Group. Refreshments will be served, and the event is free. Pictured above, kneeling from the left, are Landon Todd and Brian Burns. Standing are Jason Sines, Gail Dever, Kendra Todd, Brenda Burns, and Brittany Burns. Youth from the group are beginning plans to organize an Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park SADD club (Students Against Destructive Decisions). For more information about the event or the SADD club, persons may contact Gail Dever, Kendra Todd, or Linda Lewis at 301-334-7730.

MSP Seeking Information About Burglary

Maryland State Police, McHenry Barrack, are seeking information regarding a burglary in the Deep Creek Lake area during the first week of October.

Police are searching for a 1999 Pontiac Grand Am, four-door vehicle that is missing an interior panel just inside the rear right door. The panel is about 20 inches long and six inches wide, police said.

Persons with information about this vehicle are encouraged to call Tfc. DeLauter of the McHenry Barrack at 301-387-1101. All calls will remain anonymous.

Road Closed Following Single-Vehicle Mishap

Cranesville Road was closed for a short time yesterday when a 1992 Jeep Cherokee struck a telephone pole, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

The vehicle, operated by Roger H. Jarrell Jr., 38, Oakland, was disabled in the 6:19 p.m. incident. Southern Garrett Rescue Squad responded to the scene and transported the passenger, Loretta Jarrell, 37, Oakland, to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Verizon was contacted to respond to the scene to install a new telephone pole, police said, which temporally closed the southbound lane of Cranesville Road.

Roger Jarrell was issued a citation for failing to reduce speed on a curve.

Man Injured In Vehicle Mishap During Parade

A 60-year-old Virginia man was injured when two miniaturized motor vehicles operated by the Shriner's precision driving team in the Autumn Glory Parade crashed into each other near the intersection of North Third and Omar streets at 2 p.m. on Saturday, according to the Oakland Police Department.

When Delbert Lee Pennington, 65, Woodbridge, Va., failed to make the designated turn, his vehicle hit and completely removed the front end of the Shriner's vehicle, operated by Lowell Preston Strader, 60, Alexandria, Va., the police said.

The Oakland Police and the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad responded to the accident, and Strader was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. No charges were filed.

Halloween Teen Coffee House Slated Oct. 27

A Halloween Teen Coffee House will be held at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in the "Upper Room" on Friday, Oct. 27, from 8 to 11 p.m. It is being hosted by the Episcopal Church in Garrett County and St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland. The churches have hosted three such coffee houses for high school age teenagers, but this one is open to high school as well as middle school students.

DJ Jonny Rock will play music and offer karaoke. There will be "stupid Halloween games" and refreshments, according to an event spokesperson. Guests are strongly encouraged to wear costumes, although they are not required. There will be no religious activities.

The Upper Room is located in the upstairs of the church's parish hall. The church is located at the corner of Second and Liberty streets in Oakland. There will be a $3 cover charge for each guest. The event will be chaperoned.

Teenagers will be decorating the Upper Room earlier on the day of the event. Volunteers are welcome to help.

For more information, persons may call St. Matthew's at 301-334-2510 or St. Mark's at 301-334-2668.

Day Of Caring, Sharing To Be Held Oct. 28

The United Way of Garrett County is moving forward with its plan to celebrate volunteerism through the third annual Garrett County Day of Caring and Sharing. Volunteers from around the county will meet at 9 a.m. on Saturday Oct. 28, at the McHenry Fairgrounds' Mosser Road entrance. The event will correspond to the National Make a Difference Day and will begin with a continental breakfast served to volunteers where work assignments will be given out, said a spokesperson.

The event has two purposes: to celebrate the volunteer spirit and to assist United Way affiliate agencies by completing projects that require volunteer labor, said the spokesperson. This year the group has selected a single work site in the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry. Other United Way affiliate agencies like Big Brothers Big Sisters and Boy and Girl Scouts will be providing some of the volunteer labor. There is no registration fee for the event. All volunteers will receive a commemorative T-shirt, light breakfast, and a box lunch.

"The United Way of Garrett County has worked hard to make the Day of Caring and Sharing an annual event that brings recognition and service to local charitable, non-profit agencies and organizations," said the spokesperson.

Volunteers are asked to register for the event by calling Debbie Bishop, chair of Day of Caring and Sharing, at 301-387-0452; or the United Way of Garrett County at 1-877-597-2700.

Columbia Gas of Maryland is the regional sponsor for the Days of Caring and Sharing in Garrett and Allegany counties. Lunch is being provided by the Wisp at Deep Creek Mountain Resorts.

GC Officials Will Not Hold Public Mtg. On Tuesday

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will not conduct a public meeting next Tuesday, Oct. 24.

The board, however, will meet in administrative session with county department heads to discuss and review a number of matters.

The commissioners' next scheduled public meeting is Tuesday, Oct. 31.

Ironic and Stupid...

School officials and some parents in Attleboro, Massachusetts, have evidently completely lost their minds. Because of a fear that their elementary school children might get hurt, and further, hold the school liable, the game of "tag" and other so-called "chase" games have been banned during recess. TAG has been BANNED. No one there can be "it" EVER again.

"Recess is a time when accidents can happen" was the incredibly profound statement issued by the principal of Willett Elementary School, who approved the ban.

This school system is not the first to do so, though, as tag during recess was recently banned at elementary schools in Cheyenne, Wyo., and Spokane, Wash. Another school in South Carolina outlawed tag and all unsupervised "contact" sports, including that "deadly" game of dodge ball. (Who would have ever imagined that tag would be placed in the same category as football?)

The fact of the matter is, just getting out of bed in the morning can be "a time when accidents can happen." So can walking down the steps, riding the bus, and eating lunch (you know... choking).

What will be next? Climbing trees? Riding bicycles? Any activity that requires running? We aren't sure whether this is an extreme case of "over-protection syndrome" on the part of parents, or a school system's absolute terror about the possibility of being sued; probably a combination of the two. In the latter of the two cases, thanks again must go to our gutless Congress that has refused to do anything to stem the tide of litigation.

But what is so amazingly ironic – and absolutely stupid – about all of this is that practically every week we hear about how obese and unfit American children are these days. There is evidence of early stages of heart disease being detected in children who are still in middle school; not to mention the dramatic rise in diabetes and all kinds of other illnesses that are generally a direct result of little or no physical activity and horrible diets. And we're stopping our kids from playing tag (exercising) because we are worried about their safety!?! These "adults" are willing to trade a possible bump, bruise, scratch, or, yes, an occasional broken bone in exchange for a wide variety of horrible illnesses and an early death. Brilliant.

(Lord... give us strength...)

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Autumn Glory this year was as glorious as ever with one exception–no bagpipes, no appearance of the signature musical organization of Garrett County. A Chamber of Commerce that could let that happen is without adequate appreciation of the history of Garrett County and what is unique about Garrett County.

Joseph H. Smith, M.D.

To the Editor:

As a first time Autumn Glory parade attendee, I was very impressed by the sense of community being shown throughout all the activities. However, I was very surprised during the parade when the Garrett County Democratic Club's float came by and the Maryland flag was being flown upside down.

As a retired elementary school teacher, I taught Maryland history for many years. One thing I always taught my students was the history behind the colors and symbols on the flag and also how to correctly fly the Maryland flag. I assume it was an honest mistake, but I hope that in the future, "Black and gold, up the pole" will be remembered when flying the Maryland flag.

Thank you,

To the Editor:

In past election seasons, it has been the case that some people tear down the lawn signs of candidates they don't like.

As leaders in the campaigns of 2006, we deplore this practice. It is a childish prank, and not at all in keeping with what an election is supposed to be in America.

Our Republican headquarters, on Third Street next to the 7-Eleven on the northern edge of downtown Oakland, displays large signs promoting Steele for U.S. Senate, Bartlett for Congress, Ehrlich for governor, Rolle for attorney general, and others. Directly outside our store-front windows, across the street, are equally large signs for the opposition. We don't mind that at all – this is the way an American election is supposed to be conducted.

On behalf of Republican candidates in Garrett County, we pledge not to tear down any opposition signs, and we strongly urge every Republican enthusiast to observe the same rule.

Of course we want to win, but in America, a still greater value worth upholding is to have fair and open elections.

Leave the other guy's signs alone.

To the Editor:

Some 41,000 American woman and 500 American men will die this year from breast cancer. There will be 213,000 new cases for women and 1,720 cases for men in the United States. You will know some of these people. You will miss seeing them at church, at work, or at home. That is the bad news.

The good news is that nearly all breast cancers can be treated successfully if detected early. According to the American Cancer Society, the most effective ways of detecting breast cancer at an early curable stage is to have an annual mammogram starting at age 40 and to have a clinical breast exam by a medical professional each year.

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month. It's that time of year when you need to schedule your mammogram and help the women you love schedule one also. It's only once a year and it just takes a little time.

If you're not insured or you think you can't afford this test, there are programs in Garrett County that will financially help you get a mammogram. Contact the Garrett County Health Department, the American Cancer Society, or Cindy's Fund for more information about free cancer screening programs that will help save your life.

Remember to schedule your mammogram today, so you will enjoy many more tomorrows!

To the Editor:

On Sunday, October 15, at approximately 1:50 p.m., my wife and I were leaving the Youghiogheny Mountain Resort after staying with our son for the Autumn Glory Festival. We had just turned onto Cranesville Road headed south and traveled approximately 1.4 miles when my wife noticed a truck had crossed over into our lane, headed north, and was headed straight for us. I quickly swerved over in a ditch, at which time the other truck still hit us broadside and skidded across the other side of the street.

We immediately stopped, of course, wanting to make sure we were both okay. When I looked back, I saw that he had continued to fly north on Cranesville Road, wanting to avoid any contact with us. We turned around at this point and drove about 8 or 9 miles north to see if we were able to note any green truck that would have just pulled into a property. Obviously, he wanted to get as far away from the scene as possible.

What we are asking is that anyone who has knowledge of a darker greenish Toyota-type truck or Ranger with obvious damage to the driver side, mirror missing, with a large amount of scraping from our truck (which is silver), to please get in contact with this newspaper and give them any information. This person hit and ran without even knowing if anyone was hurt in our vehicle. I hope that someone will recognize this truck and get in touch so he can be held accountable. Thank you.

To the Editor:

Last November my daughter, an adult male passenger, and her 13-year-old son stopped along a Garrett County road to let a sick cat out of their vehicle. As soon as the cat was out another vehicle pulled in front of my daughter's car, blocking her in.

A man and his wife exited this vehicle. The woman rushed to my daughter's car screaming at my daughter and her passengers for putting a cat out. The man, dressed in a police jacket and cap, came to the car with a gun. He forced the adult male passenger out of the car at gun point and proceeded to search him. When he was through with his search, he demanded my daughter's driver's license and registration card. He and his wife, along with the sick cat, got back into their car and drove away.

My daughter phoned the police. Later she found out that the man who stopped her, threatened her and her passengers with a gun, and then drove off with her license and registration was not even a police officer! He is merely a retired policeman.

This man was charged with first degree assault, which carries a mandated sentence of 3-8 years; three being the minimum he could serve. Weren't we surprised then on Monday, Oct. 2, when we attended this man's hearing in Garrett County Circuit Court and his sentence was only two years suspended and two years probation. I believe the deputies in our county did their job and our state's attorney did her job. The problem lies with our judge not doing his job.

Judge Sherbin, how would you feel if this had been one of your children or grandchildren threatened with a gun? Would the sentence have been different? I believe it would have.

Judge Sherbin, if this is your idea of justice being served, then it's time for you to step down. Until then, so much for justice in Garrett County.

To the Editor:

Letters were written to you recently concerning the poor people in Garrett County. My wife and I are disabled, live from month-to-month, check-to-check, and fall into the category of this fine group of people. I agree that more changes need to be made for people like us.

One thing we can do is vote in November. When I go to the poll, I'm certainly going to remember the person(s) who had a dinner or picnic, and charged a fee for votes to attend. They forgot about the poor people who vote. Then there are the local thrift shops. It's bad enough that we can't afford to shop at some of the little hometown stores. Now, thrift shops are raising their prices. Why? The people who work there are more than likely volunteers and the merchandise is donated.

One problem concerns poor people across the nation. Wal-Mart is closing its lay-away departments after Christmas. If my wife and I can't afford a large, expensive item, we use that department, and pay for the item over time. Wal-Mart is telling customers to apply for a credit card. Poor people are usually denied. It's like purchasing a brand new automobile or home. President Bush's "American Dream," with each family owning a home, is just a dream to the poor. It's not reality. Henry Ford's dream of each family owning a brand new car is just a dream. Thus, we have an old automobile, and reside in an apartment, because we're somewhat fortunate. Some people in the area can't even afford an old automobile, and I know a few who are homeless.

It's nice that there are resources in the area to offer nce to people lik everyone qual example, because my wife and I are married, and not "shacking up," and because we have no children or aren't in a certain age group, we can't get help.

My wife and I don't work, but I feel that in order for more higher paying jobs to enter the area, we have to accept growth, allow things like the bypass to be constructed, and so on.

Letter to the Editor:

The American Association of Medical Assistants has designated Medical Assistants Recognition Week, October 16-20. Medical assistants will be recognized across the country during this special week. Medical assisting is the seventh fastest growing occupation through the year 2010, according to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. Michael Farr, a career counselor and author of Best Jobs for the 21st Century, puts medical assisting at # 1 fastest growing job in the U.S. Today, there is a great need for certified medical assistants. Yet, little is known about the education, certification and skills of the certified medical assistant (CMA).

Medical assistants are multi-skilled allied health professionals who perform a wide range of administrative and clinical roles with skill and professionalism. They possess a broad scope of knowledge and skills, making them an ideal and valued asset to any ambulatory care setting. They serve as a critical link between the patient and the physician. The CMA credential is awarded by the American Association of Medical Assistants (AAMA) to graduates of accredited programs who have successfully completed the national certification exam. The AAMA is the only medical assisting organization recognized by the American Medical Association. It is mandatory for CMAs to recertify every five years by exam or continuing education.

This standard of competence has increased the demand for multi-skilled and versatile CMAs who are capable of performing administrative and clinical procedures. Many physicians are recognizing the importance of hiring medical assistants who have been formally educated and certified. Physicians today want knowledgeable and dependable medical assistants so that they can focus their attention on patient care.

With their unique versatility, medical assistants, as members of the health care delivery team, are proving to be the allied health professional of choice for this decade and beyond. Please join me in recognizing this special week. For more information, please contact me at www.aama.chesapeake.org.

•A retrofit sidewalk project along Rt. 39 in Oakland.

•Curb gutter installations and repairs along Rt. 495 in Grantsville.

•Rehabilitation of the interior and exterior of the Kitzmiller Company Store. The facility will become a visitors center and museum for the Coal Heritage Scenic Byway.

SHA deputy administer Doug Simmons also noted that the U.S. Rt. 219 North alignment study was moving forward. That project involves the reconstruction/relocation of Rt. 219 at Chestnut Ridge Road from I-68 to the Pennsylvania state line. The 2.54 miles represents Maryland's portion of a larger study of Rt. 219 from the Meyersdale bypass in Pennsylvania to I-68 in Maryland.

Simmons said a public hearing would be held on the final alignment design next spring.

Director John Nelson, Garrett County Department of Planning and Land Development, also presented a list of potential projects and concerns that local officials would like the DOT to consider. Topping the list again this year is the Rt. 219 Oakland bypass, a $41.6 million project.

"Garrett County is pleased with the progress and allocation of funding for the U.S. Rt. 219 Oakland bypass," the commissioners noted on the list. "We appreciate SHA's cooperation in refining the design of this project and look forward to working with the SHA on the final design and construction of this project."

Simmons said 30 percent of the engineering plans for the project were completed. The construction job will be advertised in the summer of 2009, with work tentatively scheduled to begin in 2010. He noted that since the DOT's meeting with local officials and residents last year, modifications to the plans were made. Those include a redesigned connection at the north end of town, a pedestrian bridge on High Street, and a reduced speed limit (40 mph).

"I can pledge that SHA is and will continue to be committed to working with you to address specific concerns," Flanagan said.

When municipalities were given the opportunity to address their concerns, Mtn. Lake Park mayor Leo Martin said, "The town is opposed to the Oakland bypass because of safety issues and also the location. And we would hope that you would seriously take a look at some of the issues there."

Oakland mayor Asa McCain, however, expressed his support for the bypass, as well as the recent changes to the plans.

Dr. Dona Alvarez, spokesperson for Garrett County Citizens for Smart Growth, noted that her group had more than 1,000 signatures on a petition opposing the project. The group attended last year's DOT meeting in Garrett County, and Alvarez and numerous other members again stressed their concerns about the bypass on Tuesday.

"We believe the current design and location of the Oakland bypass is inappropriate for the towns of Oakland and Mtn. Lake Park," she said. Safety and the loss of a rural lifestyle were just two of the many reasons her group is opposed to the project. Alvarez noted that the bypass would destroy two century-old farms and be located near a nursing home, two schools, and many private residences.

She also indicated that the bypass would "encourage" even more speeding traffic and be an "invitation" for the Rt. 219 Corridor project to eventually cut through existing rural and residential communities throughout the county.

She added that development of the Southern Garrett County Industrial Park would further increase dangerous tractor trailer traffic through Oakland, Mtn. Lake Park, McHenry, Deep Creek Lake, and Accident.

Between 50 and 100 semis are expected to travel Rt. 219 a day to deliver/pick up merchandise at the park when Hobby House Press builds its new facility there. For insurance purposes, Alvarez said, the trucking company will not use Rt. 495 and Rt. 135 because of the 90 degree turn at Swanton.

"Please help us protect our land and our people!" Alvarez asked.

Paul Shogren of Oakland said he was mainly against the bypass because of the cost. "I see no figures showing $42 million worth of benefits," he said. "I think the cost should be less than the benefits. If someone could show me $42 million in benefits, I'd like to change my mind."

Flanagan said he has heard the debate about the project before. He stressed that the DOT's general policy concerning projects is determined by elected officials, who speak for the community.

"I am troubled that this continues to be the top priority of officials, given the public outcry of the citizens. That bothers me a lot!" Oakland resident Fred Gregg said about the bypass.

He suggested that the DOT upgrade existing Rt. 495 to use that as a "bypass," which would cost less and eliminate the need for most of the other safety projects on the county's list.

Police Investigate Theft Of Trailer From Silver Tree

The Maryland State Police are investigating the theft of a utility trailer that was stolen from the Silver Tree Marina, McHenry, sometime between Wednesday, Sept. 11, and Wednesday, Sept. 25.

The black landscape-style trailer has a mesh metal drop gate and a diamond plated aluminum tool box near the tongue. Imprinted in the metal on the tongue of the trailer are the initials "LAU."

A Maryland registration plate — tag number 848186G — was attached to the trailer during the theft.

Any person with information regarding this theft is asked to contact Tfc. A. Blocher at the MSP McHenry Barrack at 301-895-1101 or 301-387-1101.

Correction Noted

Hannah Gnegy, this year's Autumn Glory queen, is the daughter of Steve and Brenda Gnegy of Oakland. It was incorrectly printed in last week's paper that she was the daughter of Steve and Brenda Glotfelty.

The error is regretted.

Oakland Slates Trial Cardboard Recycling Prog.

A six-month pilot program for cardboard recycling in Oakland will begin next month, thanks to an Environmental Protection Agency grant. The curbside cardboard collection program will start Friday, Nov. 3. There is no cost to participate.

Oakland, in cooperation with Sunrise Sanitation, will collect cardboard for six months from residents and businesses currently participating in the town's curbside recycling program or curbside trash disposal program.

A change, however, will occur in the way recyclables are collected. Collections will now be done every Friday. Recyclables need to be at the curb by 7 a.m. Cardboard collection for businesses will also be conducted every Friday.

Cardboard must be tied with string or twine in bundles no larger than 12 inches by 24 inches by 60 inches in size. Residents are asked not to use wire to tie the bundles.

Other restrictions include: no trash, no packing materials, no waxed cardboard or rotted cardboard. Otherwise, all cardboard will be accepted. Staples and tape on the cardboard will be acceptable.

Participation in this program will determine the future of curbside collection of cardboard materials in Oakland. The data collected from this project will also dictate whether curbside collections are needed every week.

For additional information on Oakland's free curbside cardboard recycling program, persons may call town hall at 301-334-2691 or Sunrise Sanitation at 301-334-6212.

For information on recycling in Garrett County, one may contact the Garrett County Solid Waste and Recycling Division at 301-387-0322 or garrettcounty.org.

A UNIQUE AGF PARADE – Students in Lynne Elmlinger's class from Broad Ford Elementary School spent last Wednesday at Our Town Theatre to prepare and put on a special parade. The parade was especially for Jane Avery, who always misses the Autumn Glory Grand Feature Parade on Saturday because of her role as chief cook and bottle washer for the annual food sale at Our Town Theatre. The children designed cars, floats, costumes, and band uniforms to finalize their parade, which then took place on the streets of Oakland. The participating children were (not in order) Abby Wildesen, A.J. Langsford, Alexis Spiker, Bobby Walters, Cevana Miller, Devin Landers, Grant Owens, J.J. Hinebaugh, Katelyn Tasker, Katie O'Brien, Katie Shreve, Mark Kisamore, Matt Shahan, Michael Blamble, Morgan Winegardner, Ryan Roszell, Stephanie Glotfelty, and Trenton Rinker. NBC Channel 25 was on hand at the Oakland train station to film the mini-parade, although the segment was later bumped for a late-breaking hazmat spill story, Elmlinger reported. "It was fun to be filmed anyway," said the teacher, who took this photograph.

Dr. K. White To Give Keynote Speech At Conf.

Internationally known speaker Dr. Kathy Brittain White will deliver the keynote speech during the Our Story Conference – Rural Sourcing, at noon on Friday, Nov. 3, at Garrett College.

Dr. White's topic will be "Rural Sourcing, Inc.: Bringing High Tech Jobs to Rural America." Rural Sourcing Inc. offers low-cost, high quality information technology services at 30 to 50 percent cost saving while supporting regional economic development, she said.

She is president of Rural Sourcing Inc., which she founded in 2003. She was the 2005 Innovator Award winner given by the Southern Growth Policy Board for economic development and workforce development. She also established the Horizon Institute of Technology Foundation in 2003 to support economic and workforce development in the Delta region.

Prior to founding the company, White was executive vice president and chief information officer at Cardinal Health Inc., a $65 billion healthcare company. She held executive information technology positions with Baxter Healthcare and Allied-Signal, now Honeywell. From 1981 until 1991, White was an associate professor of information technology in the Bryan School of Business, University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

White currently serves on the board of directors of Mattel Inc. and Novell Inc., and is a technology advisor to Southern Capitol Ventures. She was named in Forbes Top 25 American Businesswomen in 2001; Top 100 CIO, 2001, Information Week; and Top 10 CIO in the United States, 1997 Information Week.

She was selected as the 2006 Distinguished Speaker at the University of Otago School of Business in New Zealand. White holds a bachelor's and an MBA from Arkansas State University and a doctorate in business from University of Memphis.

"This is an area that should interest all business leaders and owners in a rural area like Garrett County," said Charlie Ross, president and CEO of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce. "At this conference we want to update our business and education communities on current and predicted economic conditions, as well as ways to adapt and continue to grow."

Conference registrations were sent to members in the October monthly mailer. They also will be available at the chamber or online at www.garrettchamber.com. More details will be provided in the near future.

The conference fee will include all presentations, panel discussions, lunch, and refreshments during the day, as well as an opportunity to win door prizes.

For more information, persons may contact Karen Reckner at 301-387-4386, ext 12.

about 10 minutes, nearly all of the contents of the unit were destroyed. Mowbray estimated damages/loss to be $70,000 to the apartment and $20,000 in contents.

Most of the fire damage was confined to the kitchen area, but smoke and water damage was extensive throughout the unit.

Mowbray reported that the apartment had smoke alarms, but they were nonfunctional.

Also responding to the scene was the Southern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

The report said that Ms. Bray and the other occupants of the apartment who were displaced by the fire were receiving assistance from the American Red Cross.

materials or products to reduce the amount of waste generated. It includes reuse, waste elimination, package reduction, and substitution. Examples would include using rags instead of paper towels, packing lunches in reusable containers, and donating usable items to those in need.

"Our office is seeking those companies who have not reported their tonnages in the past, or may have questions about (possible) recycled material," Madigan said. "Often, materials are overlooked and not considered a recyclable item. If in question, please contact the office at 301-387-0322 or e-mail kmadigan@garrettcounty.org."

As a reminder to residents and businesses, recycling is offered in Garrett County free of charge. A sticker is not required to recycle at any of the seven convenient refuse disposal and recycling sites. Materials that may be recycled are newspaper, telephone books with covers removed, glass bottles and jars (clear, green, and brown), aluminum cans, cardboard, #1 and #2 plastic jugs and bottles, office paper, used motor oil, and antifreeze.

For a list of recycling locations, one may visit online at garrettcounty.org/GeneralServices/Solid-Waste/Hours.aspx.

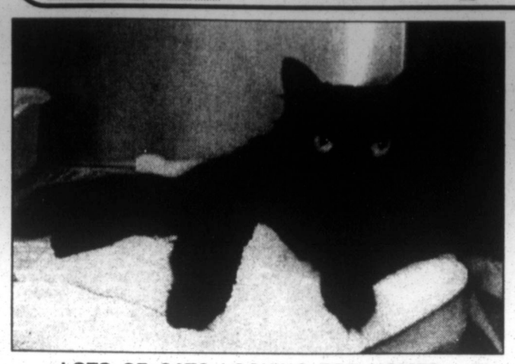
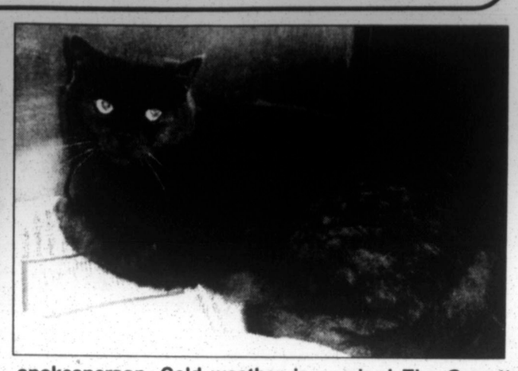
Adorable Adoptables





LOTS OF CATS LOOKING FOR HOMES – The Garrett County Animal Shelter still has many cats up for adoption or waiting for their owners to claim them. Those include a friendly, long-haired black cat, a big gray male with a lot of personality, and a stray brown tabby. Also looking for a home is the brown Lab female pictured below that was brought in as a stray. "She's a very friendly and happy girl," said a shelter spokesperson. Cold weather is coming! The Garrett County Humane Society reminds owners with outside dogs to make sure they have warm, insulated dog houses filled with lots of blankets and/or straw. Dogs also need lots of fresh water during the cold winter. For more information, persons may call the Garrett County Animal Shelter at 301-334-3553.

GCMH Set To Celebrate Lung Health, Respiratory Care Week

Respiratory Care Week, which is set for Oct. 22 through 28, will be celebrated by Garrett County Memorial Hospital employees as well as other respiratory therapists across the county.

"Respiratory Care Week is the time of year when we honor and celebrate the contributions of respiratory therapy to our lung health," said a spokesperson.

During this week respiratory therapists across the country will organize and be involved in activities to demonstrate pride in their profession and in the individual accomplishments of respiratory therapists throughout the world. "RC Week is also an excellent opportunity to educate others, recruit new students into the profession, and to promote lung health awareness in the community," added the spokesperson.

Respiratory Care Week, developed by the American Association for Respiratory Care (AARC), points out the many ways in which respiratory care professionals work to ensure the lung health of all Americans through clinical, diagnostic and therapeutic interventions, advocacy, public education, and research.

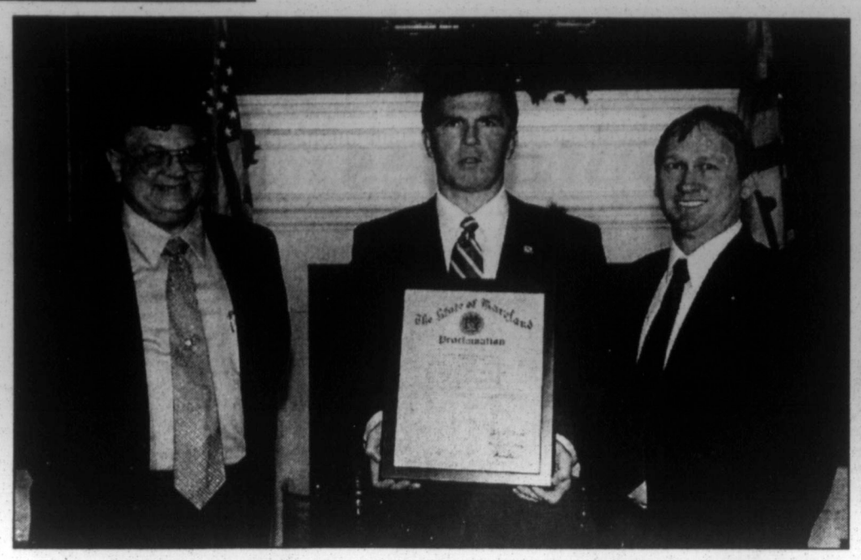
Garrett County Memorial Hospital acknowledges the year-round efforts of respiratory therapists, and in cooperation with the Cardio-Pulmonary Department, will show its pride by having a display set up for patients and visitors to stop by. The display will have information on GCMH respiratory care practitioners (RCPs) and services, plus lung health, as well as fun activities designed to test a person's lung-health knowledge.

The Cardio-Pulmonary Department is offering in-service education breakfasts for the medical staff next week featuring guest speakers who will talk about new pharmacology and medical ventilator graphics interpretation.

"We encourage visitors to stop by the display that will be set up throughout the week," said Eric Tribbey, RRT, AE-C, and director of cardio-pulmonary services at GCMH. "The role of RCPs continues to expand, and the need for services provided by these professionals is definitely on the rise. We continue to work closely with the Respiratory Therapy Program at Allegany College as a clinical affiliate while we maintain our presence on the GCMH healthcare team with continuous coverage in all patient areas of our hospital.

"The GCMH management team continues to provide excellent support of our departments with new equipment, remodeled procedure rooms and superior upper-management oversight by our clinical services vice president, Denise Liston."

For more information on Respiratory Care Week activities or services offered at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, persons may call 301-533-4000.



CELEBRATING LUNG HEALTH, RESPIRATORY CARE WEEK – This year Respiratory Care Week will be held Oct. 22 through 28, and respiratory therapists across the country will organize and be involved in activities to demonstrate pride in their profession. Pictured above are Howard McDonald, RRT, treasurer of the board of directors for the MD/DC Society for Respiratory Care (on the left) and Garrett County Memorial Hospital respiratory therapist Tom Striplin, RRT, accepting a Respiratory Care Week proclamation from Gov. Robert Ehrlich. See story.

Yough River Group To Meet Tuesday

The Youghiogheny River Watershed Association will hold its regular meeting Tuesday, Oct. 24, at 7 p.m. in the Natural Resources and Wildlife Program building at Garrett College. This building is located behind the dormitory.

The various projects that the association is involved in will be reviewed. Additionally, future projects benefiting water quality in the Youghiogheny River drainage area will be discussed.

The association is a group of local individuals who are interested in clean water for all aspects of life.

For further information, persons may call Edgar Harman at 301-334-4018.

PLEASANT VIEW RECEIVES DONATION – The Pleasant View Baptist Church recently received a donation of $1,000 from Tracy Harding, owner of Express Communications in Friendsville. "Pleasant View would like to extend a word of thanks to Tracy for his commitment to the local community and especially for his recent gift to this non-profit organization. Tracy, thanks for being a blessing," said Mark Weeks, associate pastor. Pictured above is Harding, on the left, presenting Weeks with the check.

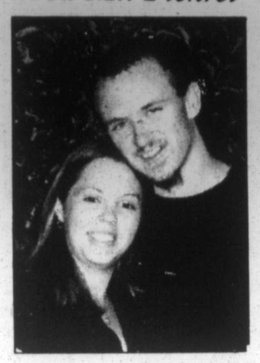
Miss Holler To Wed Mr. Pickrel



Amanda Marie Holler and Lee William Pickrel announce their engagement.

Amanda is the daughter of Terry and Alice (Sis) Holler of Boynton, Pa. She is a 2004 graduate of Salisbury Elk-Lick High School, and is employed by Healthcare 1st Federal Credit Union in Cumberland.

Lee is the son of the William and Trudy Pickrel of McHenry. He attended Mountain View School in Springs, Pa., and is employed by R & K Tile in Oakland.

The couple are planning a June 2007 wedding.

Editor's note: The above item is being published for the third time, which we hope will be the proverbial "charm." Two weeks ago, we used the wrong photograph, and last week we did not place the story under the photo correctly. To Miss Holler and Mr. Pickrel, we extend our apologies, and sincerely thank them for their patience and for not calling us and ranting about our inadvertent errors.

Study Says Tough High School Courses Aid College Performance

by L. Reed Walton
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – Success in college depends a great deal on Maryland students taking challenging courses in high school, a new higher education study reveals.

College-bound high school students graduating without four years of English and at least three years of mathematics needed much more help in reading and writing and especially in math at the college level, the Maryland Higher Education Commission study said.

"A very large percentage of Maryland's college-bound students- – it exceeds one third – enter a Maryland college or university without that kind of rigorous preparatory program," said the study's main author, Dr. Michael J. Keller, the director of policy analysis and research at the Higher Education Commission.

The study divides students into "core" and "non-core" groups, or those who take the high school courses that the University System of Maryland deems appropriate for college preparation--four years of English, at least three of mathematics and social science, and two years of natural sciences and foreign language – and those who do not.

"Core" students have shown consistently higher grade point averages after the first year of college math and college English than "non-core" students since the study began to separate the two groups in 2002.

Keller emphasizes in his introduction that rates of students needing remedial math classes in college have been steadily rising for every graduating class and every demographic group over the past six years.

The question, he said, isn't why students who take tougher courses score higher, but how to get the message across to schools, teachers and parents that taking the right courses is essential to being prepared for college.

Maryland education officials have a number of different viewpoints on just how that can be achieved.

GALLERY DISPLAYING EXHIBIT OF ALPINE LAKE ARTISTS' WORK – A special exhibit at the Gallery of the Garrett County Arts Council in Oakland is currently featuring the work of 13 artists from the Alpine Lake area of Preston County, W.Va. See story. The work shown above is a quilted wall hanging titled "A Season in Time" by Shirley Melmed. The photo below is of an oil painting, "Winter Solitude," by Nina Sheets.

Gallery Exhibit Features Alpine Lake Artists' Work

A special exhibit at the Gallery of the Garrett County Arts Council in Oakland is currently featuring the work of 13 artists from the Alpine Lake area of Preston County, W.Va.

The arts council will host a public reception for the participating artists on Thursday, Oct. 26, from 7 to 9 p.m.

The exhibit includes pieces in fabric, watercolors, oils, acrylics, felt, mixed media, and colored pencils. Participating artists are Evelyn Archer, Judith Becker, Natalie Clarkson, Judith Hay, Nancy Hoffman, Shirley Melmed, Ann Nelson, Jessie Price, Dick Rumble, Marilyn Sedlack, Nina Sheets, Bill Teets, and Phyllis Teets.

The Alpine Lake artists meet informally each week to exchange ideas and techniques. The Gallery exhibit showcases the work of the group's membership, according to Steve Schlosnagle, executive director of the Garrett County Arts Council.

The Alpine Lake art exhibit will be on display through Nov. 11. Gallery hours are Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Additional information about the Alpine Lake artists and the Oct. 26 reception is available by calling the Garrett County Arts Council at 301-334-6580.

dence in a Chevy pickup. The truck was found abandoned along Chestnut Ridge Road. After a brief search was conducted by the MSP, Garrett County sheriff's deputies, and Oakland City Police, Lewis was located at a nearby vacant residence. After being taken into custody, Lewis struck a deputy attempting to restrain him in the back seat of a police car, noted the states attorney.

In other Circuit Court news, Raymond Edward Griffin, Jr., 59, Oakland, was sentenced to two years in the Division of Corrections for first-degree assault. The sentence was then suspended, and Griffith was placed on supervised probation.

He was charged by sheriff's deputies last November with first-degree assault and related charges for pointing a gun at three persons in a car that had stopped along Cranesville Road when a kitten in the car began to vomit. Seeing the cat being tossed from the car, Griffin and his wife, who were traveling behind the car, stopped, and Mrs. Griffin went to the cat while Raymond Griffin held the car occupants at gun point to obtain identifying information, according to his first conversations with police.

Griffin later claimed his actions were because he feared for the safety of his wife when the male occupant of the vehicle approached her, noted the state's attorney.

Griffin had pleaded guilty to the charge in August, and a pre-sentence investigation report was ordered by the judge before sentencing.

In an unrelated case, David Ray DeBerry, 19, Oakland, pleaded guilty to possession of cocaine. He was sentenced to one year in the Garrett County Jail, with 10 months suspended. DeBerry will be on probation upon his release.

He was charged in February by officers with the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force. The truck in which he was a passenger was stopped for traffic violations, and a certified drug-detection dog alerted to the presence of a controlled dangerous substance. A quantity of cocaine was found concealed within DeBerry's body and in his shoe, said the state's attorney.

In other court news, Beth Ann Hammonds, 42, Charleston, W.Va., pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana. Sherbin sentenced her to six months in the Garrett County Jail. All but 70 days of the sentence was suspended, and Hammonds was placed on supervised probation, with conditions that include completing inpatient drug treatment.

She was charged in March by Maryland State Police, who stopped the vehicle in which she was a passenger for a registration violation. After the driver was arrested for driving on a suspended license, the officer searched the car and located various quantities of marijuana, a trace of methamphetamine, and various items that are considered paraphernalia for the production of methamphetamine, according to the state's attorney.

The additional drug charges were not prosecuted by the state after an evaluation of the evidence suggested difficulty in producing evidence to establish all of the charges.

Charges against the driver, Darrin Tabor, remain pending.

In other court news, Ronald Eugene Tasker, 25, Mtn. Lake Park, pleaded guilty to theft. A related burglary charge was not prosecuted. Sherbin sentenced him to six months in the Garrett County Jail. Five months of the sentence was suspended, and Tasker will be on probation when he is released from jail. Payment of restitution is a condition of probation.

Tasker was arrested and charged by officers with the Garrett Bureau of Investigation in February after they reviewed a video from a local bank that showed Tasker cashing in coins from a container matching the description of one stolen from the home of a relative of his in the McHenry area.

In an unrelated case, charges of burglary and theft filed in Circuit Court against Tonya Rae Simmons, 23, Somerset, Pa., were dismissed by the state.

"We do not have legally sufficient evidence at this time to corroborate the allegations of co-defendants that Ms. Simmons was involved," explained State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch. "The charges can be re-filed if such evidence is developed."

Simmons was charged after co-defendants involved in burglaries in the Accident and Grantsville areas implicated her in one of the crimes.

In an unrelated case, a jury found Charles Alfred Dean, Oakland, not guilty of second-degree assault. Dean was arrested and charged by Garrett County sheriff's deputies in June 2005 after he allegedly assaulted a woman at her Crellin area residence.

ENTERTAINING STORIES TOLD BY MANY – Eight adult storytellers received awards at the Autumn Glory Tall Tale Festival and Book Sale last week. At the top left is Chris Potts, the first place winner, who teaches writing and women's studies at Towson University. Potts said she refashioned an old Japanese tale, "The Boy Who Drew Cats," into a story about her own cat-loving-picture-drawing little sister, a spooky house in the woods, and the day her art saved their lives. At the top right is Betty Rouse, who won for best accent. This event is an annual part of the Autumn Glory festivities, and proceeds benefit the AAUW Scholarship Fund for Garrett College. The winners, pictured below, were Betty Rouse, Best Accented Voice; Jerry Knutson, Most Inventive Story; Jeanne Walton, Best Intro; Katie Ross, Best Country Humor; Howard Payne, third place for Best Yarn Story; and Chris Potts, first place for Best Story and Best Telling. Not pictured were Paul Shogren, Best Local History; and Chuck Nolan, second place for Best Telling. Photos courtesy of Gail Herman.

growth will occur," Nelson said. "This means making projections so we can take measures to make improvements to the infrastructure."

The planning commissions are looking at both moderate growth and rapid growth projections through 2030.

Chief Jim Torrington, Permits and Inspections Division, also reported on recent building permit activity in the county.

"We are in somewhat of a decline by the number of permits," he said. "However, the value of square footage remains very high."

As of the end of September, he said, there were 551 permits issued for new construction. Last year for this same time period there were 557 issued, compared to 625 in '04, 595 in '03, and 615 in '02.

Torrington noted that single-family home permits are down in the Deep Creek Lake area. Of the total number of single-family home permits issued so far this year, 40.7 percent were for the lake area, compared to 43 percent last year, 47.4 percent in '04, 57.1 percent in '03, and 60.6 percent in '02.

He noted, however, that growth was occurring in other areas of the county.

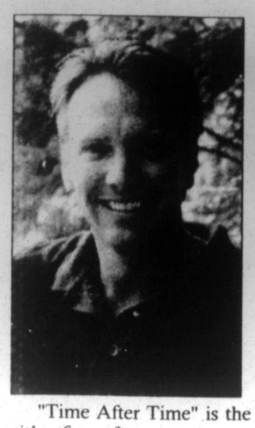
Mark, Muriel Franc To Give Concert



"Time After Time" is the title of an afternoon concert to be given by Muriel Robinson Franc and Mark T. Franc on Sunday, Oct. 29, at 3 p.m. The event will be held at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, located at 318 Oak Street.

The casual, informal presentation will be the seventh such concert by the Francs.

"It is with joy that we return to share piano and vocal music of different eras," Mrs. Franc said.

She is the daughter of the late Felix and Lucille Robinson, who are remembered locally for their musical abilities. She is the minister of music at St. Paul's, having moved to Oakland in 1998. Prior to that time, she spent most of her adult life in the Pittsburgh, Pa., area, rearing her family. She was a professional musician in the city, teaching, directing, and performing as a soprano soloist with the Pittsburgh Symphony on occasion.

Mark Franc resides in Pittsburgh, and through the years he has performed in musical theatre in Wheeling, W.Va., Washington, D.C., and in Pittsburgh. He has just completed a CD titled On the Wings of Song. It will be available at the time of the concert.

DEEMED THE PEOPLE'S FAVORITE – Joan Cheney of McHenry is pictured with her quilt "Radiant Star." She won the People's Choice Award in the Heritage Quilters' fourth annual Autumn Glory Quilt Show, held Oct. 14 and 15. Cheney is holding her prize, a Longaberger basket and bathroom accessories donated by Linda Reagan. The Heritage Quilters meet the second Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m. in the Continuing Education building of Garrett College.

Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

What did you want to be when you grew up?

If you are of a certain age, you might've said you wanted to be an astronaut or a nurse or a doctor.

A good percentage of us, though, wanted desperately to be a cowboy. We wanted to ride with Matt Dillon. We longed to shoot like the Rifleman. We wanted to be Little Joe. We wanted heroism, cowpoke style.

But sometimes, the hero in those old oaters wasn't so heroic. In the new novel Smonk by Tom Franklin, you'll meet the newest, rottenest gunslinger the South has ever known.

Although he has a way with the ladies, nobody knows what makes Eugene Oregon Smonk so appealing. Smonk is short, just five and a quarter feet tall. His shoulders are wide and his arms are hairy as a bear's. He has one eye, bandy legs, bad teeth, stringy red hair, a scruffy beard, a bad cough, rheumatism, ague, and syphilis.

And yet, within minutes of his arrival in almost any town, women dance away from their husbands for the pleasure of E.O. Smonk's company. Some women follow Smonk when he leaves, and that makes their husbands rather testy.

Which could be why the tiny town of Old Texas, Alabama, has set up an ambush in the courtroom where E.O. Smonk was to be tried. All the men were waiting with guns for Smonk. All the women, dressed in men's clothes, were watching. They'd never seen a real ambush before.

At the same time, 15-year-old prostitute Evavangeline was running for her life. Back in Louisiana, Evavangeline was caught "in congress" with a man, but because she had shorn her hair, everyone thought she was a boy. Now the Christian deputies are after her, led by Captain Phail Walton, a Mama's boy who denies himself earthly pleasures, but who lusts after Evavangeline.

When Smonk escapes from the courthouse, things really heat up in Old Texas. Will McKissick, son of the town's bailiff, is missing and presumed murdered. Many prominent townspeople are dead. The senior McKissick forms a posse of two and rides out to find his son and get revenge, but he learns that Smonk hasn't fled far. What is it about Old Texas that keeps people from leaving?

Are you looking for Western that features a white-hatted, good-hearted hero and his sweet cowgirl friend?

Keep looking, because Smonk isn't it.

Smonk is nasty, funny, violent, bawdy, and I loved every word of it. I knew from the start that E.O. Smonk wasn't going to be like any other Western hero; in fact, he's hardly a hero at all, but author Tom Franklin makes him likeable in a strangely repulsive way. Add in a bit of the supernatural (circa the 1870s) and a few plot twists that are very much on the strange side and you have a novel that emphasizes the "eek" in "unique."

If you're looking for something unusual but un-put-down-able, look for Smonk. Be aware that, filled with "four-letter words" and gritty situations, this is not your Grandpa's western.

Bluegrass Music Workshops To Be Hosted By AAC

The Allegany Arts Council, in cooperation with Dr. Ken Roberts and WFWM Public Radio, will present musician workshops on bluegrass vocals, flat-picking guitar, and bluegrass bass on Saturday, Oct. 28, as part of the "Roots Music Series" of workshops and concerts. They will take place at Frostburg State University.

The workshops will be followed by a performance by the Kenny and Amanda Smith Band at 8 p.m. in the Palace Theatre on Main Street in Frostburg.

The instructors will consist of members of the Kenny and Amanda Smith Band, winners of the International Bluegrass Music Association's Emerging Artist of the Year award in 2003.

Amanda Smith will conduct a vocal workshop from 1 to 2:30 p.m. Kenny Smith, a two-time International Bluegrass Music Association (IBMA) Guitarist of the Year winner, will hold a guitar workshop from 2:30 to 4 p.m. Bassist Zachary McLamb will hold a bluegrass bass workshop from 2:30 to 4 p.m.

The workshops will be held in Rooms 328 and 358 of the Compton Science Center on the campus of Frostburg State University. The registration fee is $25 per workshop.

The Roots Music Series was established to encourage and sustain "traditional" music in the community. The Roots Music Series showcases a variety of musical traditions — such as bluegrass, folk, country, blues, and gospel — to educate, instruct and nurture local musicians, and to increase awareness and interest in these important art forms among area residents, a spokesperson said.

Tickets for the concert will be available in advance from the Book Centre in Cumberland and Main St. Books in Frostburg, as well as from the Allegany Arts Council. Tickets will also be available at the door starting at 7:30 p.m., if they have not been sold out.

Persons who wish to register for a workshop should contact Emily Thomas at ethomas@allconet.org. For more information, persons may visit the Allegany Arts Council web site at www.alleganyartscouncil.org or call 301-777-2787.

COLLEGE BRASS CHOIR TO PLAY AT PLEASANT VIEW – The Brass Choir from Cedarville University in Ohio will present a concert at Pleasant View Baptist Church tonight, Thursday, Oct. 19, at 7 p.m. The event is free and open to the public. The Brass Choir is made up of 25 musicians who play a variety of sacred, light classical, and pop selections. The church is located 2 miles south of Oakland along Rt. 219. For more information, persons may call 301-334-8515.

JUST OUT!

"Skipper knows his characters and the worlds they inhabit or pass through, and he brings both protagonists and environment to life in powerful language that ultimately becomes a sort of hard-edged poetry."

--William Gay, author of Provinces of Night

"A deeply resonant novel that peels away the stereotypes about Appalachia so we can see the real struggles of people fighting for the land and the life that is quickly disappearing. Skipper writes in the richly textured language that is unmistakably the voice of Appalachia."

--Erik Reece, author of Lost Mountain

"This book is terrific. Roger Skipper knows the landscape, the people, their values, how they feel, and what they say to each other. These characters live real lives in hard circumstances in a land that's under assault. I loved it."

--Chris Offutt, author of Kentucky Straight

"There may be some aspect of life in the mountains of Appalachia that Roger Alan Skipper doesn't understand inside out, but if so, I have no idea what it might be. Tear Down the Mountain is a funny, tough-minded, and heart-felt celebration of one of the last unspoiled rural strongholds of America, as well as a moving and original love story."

--Howard Frank Mosher, author of Disappearances

"It troubles me again that we won't even talk about it!" Gregg said. Members of the Garrett County Citizens for Smart Growth applauded. No state or official responded.

Those other projects/concerns that the county would like the DOT to consider include the following:

•Continue to evaluate the existing Rt. 219 Corridor and emphasize planning for improvements to it throughout the county, including the Accident bypass.

•Improve the intersections at Rt. 495 and New Germany Road; Rt. 495 and Spring Lick Road; Rt. 219 and Kings Run Road; Rt. 219 and Mayhew Inn Road; and Rt. 219 and Sang Run Road.

•Install in-road signage or flashing lights at the pedestrian crosswalk across Rt. 219 at Uno's and Traders's Landing at Deep Creek Lake.

•Improve the truck-climbing lane, signage for steep grade, mandatory truck pull-off, and water run-off improvements along Rt. 42 in Friendsville.

A final CTP will be developed and submitted in January for the approval of the Maryland General Assembly and the governor.

Rams Rally To Whip Vikings; Score 34 Points In Third Period

In what is without doubt a school recording-setting football-scoring performance for one quarter of play, the Southern High Rams put 34 points on the board in the third quarter Friday night to erase an 18-6 deficit to visiting Petersburg and go on to record a resounding 47-30 victory over the Vikings.

The win evened the Rams' record at 3-3.

Twenty-seven of the Rams' third-quarter points were scored in a span of just five minutes on the game clock, and 14 were scored within a 23-second spurt.

The Rams put the first points of the game on the board when Eric Pike plunged into the end zone on a one-yard run. The opportunity had been set up by a 69-yard gallop by Pike the play before. The run for the two-point conversion was no good, leaving the Rams with a 6-0 lead at the 6:17 mark of the first quarter.

The Vikings knotted the score at 6-6 when Braxton Runion hit Kyle Porter with a 33-yard touchdown pass with just two seconds left in the first period. The two-point conversion attempt failed.

The second stanza belonged to the Vikings, as a Ram fumble was picked up and returned 65 yards for a touchdown by Matthew Porter. The conversion attempt again failed, giving Petersburg a 12-6 advantage with 7:25 left in the period.

The Vikings moved out to their lead of 18-6 when Runion tossed his second touchdown pass of the evening, this one a nine-yard completion to Casey Vance. The conversion run was again stopped by the Ram defense.

Caiden Shaffer wasted no time after intermission in setting the stage for the Rams' huge third quarter scoring spree, as he returned the opening kickoff 85 yards to the end zone. The run for the extra points failed, and the Rams trailed 18-12 at the 11:46 mark.

The Rams would take the lead for good on their next possession, as Justin Ratliff broke loose and raced 67 yards to the end zone with 9:38 remaining in the quarter. Mike Edwards' successful conversion kick put Southern up 19-18.

It was just 2½ minutes later that Southern would reach pay dirt again, with Pike scoring on a 35-yard carry, and Edwards hitting the PAT to make it 26-18 at the 7:05 mark.

The Vikings then fumbled the ball on the first play of their ensuing possession, and it was scooped up by Ratliff, who returned it 37 yards for a touchdown with 6:42 left in the quarter. Edwards again connected for the point-after to give the Rams a 33-18 advantage.

The Rams' next drive, still in the third quarter, was capped by a four-yard touchdown run by Ratliff. Edwards' PAT kick gave Southern a commanding 40-18 lead with 1:27 remaining in the period.

The Vikings did not quit, however, and rallied for a touchdown in the first minute of the fourth quarter, as Tyler Porter hauled in a 20-yard scoring aerial from Jimmy Zimmerer at the 11:53 mark. The conversion run was no good.

The Rams would eventually respond with another touchdown, their final for the game, when Ratliff capped a drive with an eight-yard TD carry. Edwards kicked his fifth consecutive PAT of the night to conclude the Rams' scoring.

Petersburg would tack on one more six-pointer, with Vance scoring on a five-yard run with 2:53 left in the game. The conversion run was stopped short of the goal line by the Ram defense.

The Ram offensive unit finished with an astounding 390 yards of rushing, with Ratliff leading the way with 208 yards and four touchdowns on 23 carries. Pike carried the ball 12 times for 141 yards and two touchdowns.

Ram quarterback Adam VanBogelen put the ball in the air just twice, completing one of them for eight yards.

The Southern defense, paced by T.J. Sisler with 10 tackles, including two sacks, held the Vikings to just 84 yards on the ground, and allowed 142 yards through the air.

Southern's Josh Armstrong halted one Viking drive with an interception.

Pacing Petersburg's defense were Vance and Zimmerer.

It was the sixth loss in seven starts for the Vikings.

The Rams will try to get above the .500 mark this Friday when they travel to Frankfort. While the Falcons have a tradition of strength and talent in their football program, the 2006 team has been struggling, winning only two of seven games so far.

Standouts on the Falcon offensive unit are senior wingback Brandon House (5-10, 170), the only returning starter in the backfield; senior halfback Eric Peer (5-11, 170); and senior fullback Jared Duncan (6-2, 225).

Anchoring the offensive line at tackle positions are senior Cody Popluhar (6-2, 280) and sophomore Bo Vollmerhausen (6-4, 260).

The Falcon defense is led by Duncan, a second-team All-Area selection last year at linebacker; House at another linebacker spot; Popluhar and junior Brian Jewell (5-9, 245) at the tackle positions; and senior Derek Wolford (6-0, 170) at safety.

SHS Jayvees Fall 34-20 To FH Freshmen

The Southern High junior varsity football team was handed a 34-20 defeat last night by the undefeated Fort Hill freshman team at Greenway Avenue Stadium in Cumberland.

The Sentinels (7-0) put a pair of touchdowns on the board in the first quarter, the first via a two-yard carry by Todd Dicken, and the second on a seven-yard pass from Dicken to Sam Walker. Both conversion attempts failed.

The Rams cut the lead in half early in the second quarter when Brutus Scheffel scored on a seven-yard run. The conversion pass fell incomplete, leaving the score at 12-6.

Fort Hill's Devin Lee scored on a 20-yard run later in the same period, and Kwam Kassim's run for the two-point conversion gave the Sentinels a 20-6 halftime advantage.

Dakota Welsh scored next for Fort Hill on a 10-yard run in the third stanza. Later in the period, Lee tossed a 14-yard scoring strike to Walker, and Lee ran for the conversion to give the Sentinels a commanding 30-6 lead at the end of the period.

The Rams rallied for two touchdowns in the fourth quarter, with Travis Skeweris scoring the first on a four-yard run, and Ryan Sweitzer passing to Scheffel for the extra two points.

Scheffel then tacked on a final six-pointer late in the game on a five-yard carry.

The Rams are slated to play at Frankfort on Monday.

Ball Control, Defense, Turnovers Lead Beall To 27-12 Victory Over Northern

The Northern High School varsity football team could not survive Beall's big-play defense and ball-control offense as the Mountaineers pounded out a 27-12 victory over the Huskies Friday night at Accident.

Beall (5-1) scored early in the first quarter after a 55-yard run set up Steve Whetstone's 4-yard touchdown plunge. Dan Snyder's kick was good, giving Beall a 7-0 lead. Beall's defense then came up with the first of its three key turnovers by recovering Corey Carr's controversial punt fumble. The Mountaineers took advantage of the opportunity, and scored their second touchdown of the quarter on a 20-yard run by quarterback Matt Farris, who rushed for 118 yards.

However, the second quarter belonged to the Huskies. Northern caught the Mountaineers off-guard when Carr gathered in Garrett Gulledge's perfectly executed screen-pass, and then, following his blockers, weaved his way into the end zone for a touchdown. Carr's extra point was blocked, making the score 13-6.

Then with 3:25 remaining in the half, Blair Silbaugh raced around the left end for a 14-yard touchdown, to give the Huskies their second score of the quarter. The kick failed, and the Huskies went into the locker room trailing 13-12.

The second half was again about turnovers and ball-control. The Mountaineers kept the Huskies off balance when Chad Harris (13 rushes, 116 yards), returned an interception 45 yards to the Northern 28, which led to fullback Pat Winebrenner's two-yard scoring run and two-point conversion, giving Beall a 21-12 lead.

The Huskies came right back as Brock Glotfelty took a Gulledge pass and raced 40 yards to Beall's 10-yard line, but was stripped of the ball from behind.

It was then that Beall turned to its running game and, using up the clock, drove 90 yards and scored on a Farris five-yard run.

"Just as we're getting back into it at 21-12, Beall gets the fumble and goes 90 yards the other way," Northern head coach Phil Carr said. "Beall took over in the fourth and did what they're good at. They control the ball and they don't give it back to you."

The Huskies made crucial mistakes and were not able to take advantage of the opportunities they had, Carr said.

TONIGHT

Northern will play Hancock tonight at Hancock. "We haven't played them for the last six years, and we're telling our kids that they will need to stay focused because we will be playing in a hostile environment," Carr said.

According to Carr, Hancock is a big team with a front line that averages 250 pounds per man. "They run a Wing-T offense from a tight formation, and run right at you," Carr said.

The Wing-T, made famous by University of Delaware Coach Harold "Tubby" Raymond, is a misdirection offense characterized by a wingback in the slot just behind the tight end, and a split end on the weak side. All three running backs are positioned for counters, fakes, and other misdirection plays. The system allows the quarterback the chance to run or throw.

According to some experts, the Wing-T is also good for passing. With the tight end and flanker located where they are, there is a potential for quick crossing patterns and out passes, and the strong side can be overloaded against zone defenses by sending the fullback into the flat underneath the flanker's route.

According to Carr, Hancock (0-6) relies on its running game and primarily passes in long yardage situations. Hancock's fullback, Josh Rubenthall (6-2, 240), is their go-to guy, said Carr.

On defense, Hancock uses a 5-3 defense, but may morph into a 4-4 if the offense spreads out. Carr said Hancock's special teams do a nice job. "We've given up some big plays on kick returns, and we're working on doing better in this area," said Carr.

Husky Jayvees Improve to 5-2 After 22-8 Win

Josh Duckworth ran for one touchdown and passed for another in leading the Northern Huskies junior varsity football team to a 22-8 victory over Berkeley Springs Monday night.

Ryan Evans opened the scoring for the Huskies in the first quarter with a four-yard touchdown run. Kyle Gillum kicked the extra point, giving the Huskies a 7-0 lead. Nathan Payne increased Northern's lead to 9-0, when he sacked the Spartan's quarterback in the end zone for a safety at the beginning of the second period.

In the second quarter Duckworth scored on a six-yard run and passed to Gillum for an eight-yard score to increase the Husky lead to 22-0.

A dominant Husky defense lapsed with seconds remaining in the fourth quarter, as Berkeley Springs scored on a 65-yard run.

Defensively for the Huskies, Adam Moranduzzo had two sacks and forced a fumble, while Mike Ragula added an interception.

The Huskies (5-2) will play at Bishop Walsh Monday, Oct. 30.

Steelers Defeat Idamay, 36-16, In Youth Football

The Division I Northern Steelers (7-1) racked up 355 yards rushing on their way to defeating the Idamay Black Diamonds by a score of 36-16 in recent Cumberland Area Youth Football League action.

Jacob Bosley passed for one touchdown and ran for one, while Alex Baker (18 carries, 117 yards) scored two touchdowns in leading the Steelers to a 7-1 overall record.

Idamay scored first on a 65-yard run by Ken Nestor. Nestor kicked the extra point, giving Idamay an early 8-0 lead. The Steelers came back and scored on a 23-yard pass from Bosley to Alex Ruff, but failed to make the extra point, leaving Idamay in the lead 8-6.

However, the Steelers jumped into a 12-8 lead on Jason Opel's second quarter 11-yard run, and scored again when Garrett Rayner tackled the Black Diamond quarterback in the end zone for a safety, giving the Steelers a 14-8 halftime edge.

The Steelers increased their lead to 22-8 on Baker's 30-yard run and Bosley's extra point. However, Idamay again scored on Reuben Bland's 24-yard pass to Brad Hamrick, making the score 22-16.

From that point on it was all Steelers. Baker scored on a two-yard run, and Bosley ran for a touchdown from 14 yards out. Bosley made one of the two extra points, giving the Steelers the 36-16 victory.

The offensive line — consisting of Josh Bittinger, Guy Vignoli, Daniel Uphold, Michael Burns, and Mark Miller — was praised for its excellent play.

The Steelers will play in the Yough River Rivalry game with the Oakland Rams this Saturday night. The Division II Steelers will play at 6 p.m., and the Division I Steelers at 8 p.m. The game will be held at Southern Athletic Field.

Renegades Lose, Maddawgs Win

The LaVale Lions scored in every quarter and rolled to a 32-6 win over the Oakland Renegades in recent Pee Wee Football League action.

The Lions scored twice in the first quarter on a 26-yard run by Colton Sivic, and on a 15-yard run by Trenton Swann.

Dylan Schockey scored in the second quarter on a 22-yard run, Dalton Golliday ran for a 3-yard touchdown in the third period, and Liam Rhodes completed the scoring for the Lions on a 21-yard run in the last quarter.

Oakland scored its only touchdown in the third quarter on a 19-yard run by Austin Reckart.

The Northern Maddawgs A and B Team, using an aggressive offensive and defensive scheme, surprised the previously unbeaten Keyser Mini-Tornados for a 34-19 victory.

For the Maddawgs, Trevon Jones and Robert Hill both scored two touchdowns, and Tyler Yutzy scored one.

Lakers To Open Season Nov. 8; Tickets On Sale

Season tickets for the Garrett College men's basketball home season are now on sale, according to Coach Dennis Gibson.

The Lakers, who have already played two scrimmages, are slated to open their 2006-07 campaign at CCAC-South on November 8. An earlier home opener against Potomac State College was on the original schedule, but the Catamounts have canceled their appearance on the Lakers court.

Fans are invited to telephone 301-387-3051 to reserve season tickets, which are $15 each. For $20, buyers will also receive a Nike T-shirt. Tickets can be picked up at the gym door.

Pre-season information on the Laker squad will be published over the next two weeks. The 2006-07 schedule is as follows:

GOLF BALLS DONATED TO SHS – Heilig's Plumbing & Electrical and Primevest have once again donated new golf balls to the Southern Rams golf team. They have done so for the past five years. The Rams recently ended their season with a record of 28-3. From the left are Rob Heilig of Heilig's; seniors Joe Albert, Seth Fike, and Ryan Martin; and Rob Sharps of Primevest Financial at First United.

Muzzleloader Deer Season Opens Today

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) recently announced that Maryland's muzzleloader deer season, one component of DNR's deer management project, opens on a staggered basis beginning today, Oct. 19.

Muzzleloader deer hunting, combined with archery and firearm deer hunting, manages white-tailed deer and sika deer populations, provides outdoor recreation for 74,000 Maryland citizens, and contributes over $150 million to the state's economy.

To access information on bag limits, season dates, new deer registration procedures, and other deer hunting information people may contact Michael Walsh at 410-260-8010.

IT WAS A CLOSE MATCH between the Southern girls and the heavily favored Northern girls Tuesday night at the Cove, as the score was just 1-0 in favor of the Huskies until there was less than 10 minutes to play in the match. However, freshman sensation Adria Graham went to work in the final minutes and scored a pair of goals for the undefeated Huskies to give them a 3-0 victory. In the photo above, Southern's Kerry Conroy (#15) attempts to clear the ball away from the front of the Rams' net. Pictured from left are Brianna Watson (#18) and Julie Swerbinsky (#22) of Southern, Brittany Stein (#3) of Northern, Southern's Kayla Petrella (#20), and Graham (#5), a freshman who has scored 13 goals so far this season for the Huskies. Northern Girls Blank Falcons, Rams; Graham Nets Four Goals Extending their undefeated record on the soccer pitch this past week were the members of the Northern High School girls' varsity soccer team, which posted a big 2-0 victory over a talented Frankfort team Saturday on the Falcons' field, and a 3-0 victory over visiting Southern Tuesday night. The pair of wins stretched the Huskies' overall record to 9-0-1, and their Western Maryland Interscholastic League mark to 7-0-1.

In the Frankfort match, the Huskies got on the board in the 22nd minute when Adria Graham bent a ball from the left side and scored directly off a corner kick. The half ended with the Huskies up 1-0.

Graham also accounted for the only other goal of the match, scoring at the 22:21 mark of the second half, this time off a throw-in assist by Kelsey Jones.

The Falcons finished with a 13-12 edge in shots, while the Huskies had an 8-3 advantage in corner kicks. Northern keeper Justine Harvey logged her fourth shut-out, getting five saves, while Frankfort's Rachel Alkire was credited with three.

NHS coach John Milbourne praised his team's determination in defeating what he called "a good defensive team."

"Frankfort came into the match with an 11-2 record," he said. "We beat a quality team that knows how to win. Our girls seem to have the knack to come up big when we need it. Defensively, we were very solid, and Adria gave us the attacking spark by taking advantage of good opportunities."

Northern opened the scoring against Southern on Tuesday in the 10th minute of the match when Sarah Voelkel received a through-ball from Erin Brenneman and hammered home a shot from about 10 yards out on the right side.

The score remained 1-0 until there was less than 10 minutes to play in the match, when Graham scored two goals in a three-minute span. Her first was off an assist by Amber Kling at point-blank range, and her second was unassisted from about 25 yards out.

Graham, who is only a freshman, has now scored 13 goals in 10 matches for the Huskies.

Northern led in shots on goal, 14-5, and in corner kicks, 4-2. Southern keeper Jessica Petrella had three saves, while Justine Harvey logged her third straight shut-out in goal for the Huskies, also recording three saves.

"We played really well out of the back and connected on passes through the midfield," Coach Milbourne said. He noted that his two seniors, Bethani Gillum and Erin Brenneman, "demonstrated great leadership" on the field.

"They have been highly effective team captains and do a great job of motivating the players around them with their game intensity," he said.

The Southern junior varsity won the preliminary match, 1-0, handing the Northern jayvees their second straight loss. Marlina Kelly scored the only goal of the contest, unassisted, in the first half. Each team finished with four shots on goal, and Southern had a 2-1 edge in corner kicks.

The Huskies will travel to Beall this evening, play at Bishop Walsh this Saturday at 2:30 and 4 p.m., and complete their regular season play at home against Fort Hill next Tuesday with 6 and 7:30 p.m. starts.

The Rams are slated to host Fort Hill this evening (5:30, jayvees; 7 p.m. varsity), entertain Westmar this Saturday in noon and 1:30 matches, and conclude their regular season at Allegany next Wednesday.

Northern Boys Shut Out Rams With Three First-Half Goals

There was no scoring in the second half of action between the Northern High School boys' varsity soccer team and host Southern last Thursday evening, but the Huskies recorded three goals in the first half and kept the Rams out of the net to earn a 3-0 victory.

Elijah Lais put the Huskies up 1-0 with a goal off a feed by Daniel Warnick at the 28:19 mark.

Lais doubled Northern's total about 13 minutes later when he was fouled in the penalty area and was successful on the ensuing penalty kick.

The final goal of the half, and ultimately of the match, was recorded by Tylor Kamp off a pass from Zac Beitzel about two minutes before intermission.

The Huskies finished with a 12-7 lead in shots and a lopsided 7-1 advantage in corner kicks. Zach Trautwein earned the shut-out in goal for the Huskies, recording five saves, while keepers Drew Proudfoot and Mike Edwards combined for eight saves for the Rams.

The Northern junior varsity squad was also victorious in the preliminary match, with Dan Boylan's goal being the only score of the 1-0 contest.

The varsity win upped the Huskies' overall record to 7-4-1, while the Rams dropped to 4-9. Southern also fell to Beall last night at Frostburg State University (see other story).

The Huskies will travel to Lonaconing this evening to face Westmar and will play at Greenway Avenue Stadium in Cumberland against Fort Hill next Tuesday.

Southern will play at Westmar next Tuesday.

Ram Booters Nearly Pull Off Upset Of Beall, But Edged 2-1

Playing one of their best matches of the season last night were the members of the Southern High School boys' varsity soccer team, as the Rams gave host Beall, the #1 ranked squad in the area, all it could handle.

After falling to county rival Northern last Thursday evening, 3-0 (see other story), the Rams were also topped by the powerful Mountaineers last night, but not without being seriously threatened.

The Rams took a 1-0 lead when Ethan Chorpenning scored an unassisted goal, but the host team managed to tie the score later in the half, and then win the match, 2-1, with a second-half goal.

Chase Bonnette knotted the score at 1-1 late in the first half with a goal off an assist by David Hobel.

Finally recording what would be the winning goal was Tyler Mazer off a feed by Nick Logue.

The once-beaten Mountaineers (10-1-1, 9-0 WMIL) dominated in shots, 17-2, and finished with a 5-2 lead in corner kicks. Mike Edwards was credited with seven saves in goal for the Rams, while Beall's Josh Bennett turned away one shot.

The loss dropped the Rams to 5-9 overall and 2-7 in league play.

The Southern junior varsity was blanked in the first match, 4-0. Scoring a pair of goals for the Beall jayvees were Ricky Weimer. Cody Hovatter and Brandon Rodgers each scored one goal.

The Rams will conclude their regular season next Tuesday when they travel to Westmar.

Vikings Fall To Braddock MS In Division Final

The Northern Garrett Vikings saw their JCP Soccer League season come to an end yesterday, as the local squad was defeated by host and top-seeded Braddock Middle School in the West Division title match, 4-2, at Allegany College in Cumberland.

The Vikings earned a spot in the title match by defeating Washington Middle School East on Saturday in overtime, 4-3.

In that contest, the Vikings rallied from a 2-0 deficit by scoring three straight goals, then won the match in overtime.

Zach Steckman put Washington MS up 1-0 with a goal off a feed by Philip Giugliano in the sixth minute of the first half, and Hunter Tipton followed with an unassisted goal two minutes later to make it 2-0.

The three-goal stretch by the Vikings was initiated by Jaymes Kelly, who scored off an assist by Zach Beal with about 10 minutes to play in the half. Alex Daniels knotted the score at 2-2 with an unassisted goal just a minute later.

It was in the 13th minute of the second half that the Vikings took their first lead, as Beal scored off an assist by Daniels.

A goal scored about two minutes later by Michael Moyer off a feed by Hunter Tipton for WMS tied the score once again at 3-3, and ultimately sent the game into overtime.

Beal scored the winning goal with just one second left in the first overtime period, with Daniels getting another assist.

Cody Brenneman had a dozen saves in goal for the Vikings, while James Johnson turned away seven shots for WMS East. The Vikings trailed in corner kicks, 3-1.

In yesterday's clash with Braddock MS, the Vikings took a 1-0 lead when Daniels scored an unassisted goal off a direct free kick in the seventh minute of the first half.

Madi Nightengale, scoring off an assist by Matt Levitas, tied the score at 1-1, and an unassisted goal by Sam Hofacker in the 24th minute of the first half gave Braddock the lead for good.

Zack Cessna then put Braddock up 3-1 with an unassisted goal in the first minute of the second half before the Vikings cut it to 3-2 with a goal by Beal off an assist by Daniels.

Jaron Lutton added an insurance goal for Braddock with about nine minutes to play in the match.

Brenneman recorded nine saves for the Vikings, while teammate Zach Willmon had three. Chloe Edwards and Jaron Lutton turned away seven and four goals, respectively, for Braddock.

The Vikings, coached by Dean Daniels, finished with an 11-3-3 record.

Southern Girls Run Their Way To WMIL Team Championship

Placing three among the top 10 individual finishers, and five among the top 13, the Southern High School girls' cross country team defeated four other squads to capture the Western Maryland Interscholastic League team championship, held last Thursday at Parris Glendening Park in Frostburg.

Meanwhile, the Southern boys' team finished fourth among six teams, while the Northern boys had an incomplete score.

Sierra Wassell led the SHS girls, placing third with a time of 23:03, while teammates Melinda Smith and Jennifer Cosner finished fifth and sixth with respective times of 23:53 and 24:13. The three were named to the All-WMIL team for finishing among the top 10.

Just missing the top 10 was Runnin' Ram Rachel Skipper, who placed 11th in 25:42, while Hannah Davis was close behind in 13th (26:01).

Other finishers for Southern were: Kaitlyn Swift, 19th; Katy Lucas, 25th; Samantha Griffin, 26th; Kelsie Umbel, 29th; Erikah Lennox, 31st; and Brittany Boyce, 39th.

The Southern girls finished with 36 team points, and were followed by Fort Hill with 46, Beall with 64, Allegany with 74, and Westmar with an incomplete score.

The fastest female runner in the event was Allegany's Lauryn MacFawn, who finished in 21:16. Amanda Twigg of Fort Hill was second with a time of 21:19.

The WMIL individual champion in the boys' race was Ryan Bowser of Northern, who crossed the finish line in 17:05, 21 seconds faster than runner-up J.T. Carney of Beall. Carney's teammate Gavin Caupp was third (18:13).

Bowser was the only member of the Northern team who competed.

LOCAL COAL COMPANY RECOGNIZED FOR DONATION – Terra Alta (W.Va.) Youth Football League president Jay Sowers recently presented Dwight Kreiser, Mettiki Coal general manager of operations, with a plaque in appreciation of the company's "generous and outstanding support." Mettiki Coal had purchased a baby beef during the Garrett County Fair and donated it to the league. The beef was raised by Dale Marple of Red House. The TA Football League consists of 90 children, football players and cheerleaders, who are currently in first through sixth grades. There are two teams: the first through third graders make up the Black Eagles, while the fourth through sixth graders are the Dolphins. Each team has its own cheerleading squad, and both teams play throughout Preston County, W.Va. The county league is made up of teams from Terra Alta, Tunnelton, Kingwood, Bruceton Mills, and Masontown. "It is such a great honor for an organization like Mettiki Coal to support our league this football season," Sowers said. "On behalf of everyone involved in the Terra Alta Youth Football League Organization, again we thank you." Pictured, left to right, in the front are Eagles cheerleaders Alexis Schoolcraft and Rylee Roy. In the back are Kathy Kreiser, Scotty Meaige, Dwight Kreiser, Sowers, TA Football League vice president Steve Bolyard, secretary Helena Slaubaugh, and treasurer April Ringer.

Leading the Southern squad was Ben Warnick, who placed 12th with a time of 19:51. Tim Preston, Joe Bever, Andrew Sauder, and Jimmy Sharpless finished 14th, 16th, 19th, and 20th, respectively.

Other SHS finishers were Jordan Skipper, 25th; Cody Beckman, 30th; and Max Liller, 43rd.

Beall won the team title with 34 points, followed by Allegany with 39, Fort Hill with 67, Southern with 72, and Northern and Westmar both with incomplete scores.

The Rams and Huskies competed again Monday against Tucker and East Hardy at Canaan Valley State Park.

Once again the Southern girls were victorious as a team, finishing with 25 points, while Tucker placed second with 30 points, and East Hardy and Northern both had incomplete scores.

Southern's Sierra Wassell, Melinda Smith, and Jennifer Cosner swept the top three individual places, in that order, with Wassell finishing in 23:13, Smith at 24:21, and Cosner in 24:38.

Hannah Davis and Kaitlyn Smith finished 11th and 12th, followed by Lindsey Thayer, 14th; Katy Lucas, 15th; Kelsie Umbel, 17th; Erikah Lenox, 19th; Rachel Skipper, 20th; Sarai Ketner, 21st; and Brittany Boyce, 25th.

Running for Northern was Shaun Adams, who placed eighth with a time of 25:25.

Tucker won the boys' team title with 32 points. Northern finished second with 42, Southern was third with 52, and East Hardy had an incomplete score.

Northern's Ryan Bowser was once again the boys' individual champion, recording a time of 17:54. Justin Beitzel placed sixth in 20:07, followed by Elijah Lais in seventh (20:13); Wil Herpel, 10th; Michael Clise, 22nd; and Zac Beitzel, 23rd.

The Rams were paced by Mike McConnell, who placed third with a time of 19:45. Ben Warnick was the eighth-place finisher in 20:27.

Tom Warnick was 13th, followed by Jordan Skipper, 15th; Joe Bever, 16th; Jimmy Sharpless, 17th; Tim Preston, 18th; Andrew Sauder, 21st; and Max Liller, 24th.

Frostburg State To Host "Baseball Forever" Event

Frostburg State University will host "Baseball Forever: Mirror of American Life," a 3½-day conference on the history of baseball. The event will kick off Wednesday, Nov. 8, with a keynote address by Frank Deford, senior editor for Sports Illustrated and weekly sports commentator for National Public Radio.

Over the following three days, 20 sessions will describe and evaluate the evolution of baseball from its creation in the 1840s to the present day. Speakers will include an unusual mix of distinguished historians, sports journalists, radio announcers, commentators, baseball professionals, and informed baseball enthusiasts, according to a spokesperson for the conference.

The conference will conclude Saturday afternoon, Nov. 11, with a description of significant changes in major league baseball over the past half-century. The primary speaker for the conference wrap-up will be Clyde King, who began his 62 years in the majors as a pitcher for the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1944, then subsequently became a pitching coach for the Cincinnati Reds, manager for the San Francisco Giants, and general manager for the New York Yankees.

Frank Deford's talk will begin at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 8, in the Lane University Center. His keynote address will focus on John McGraw and Christy Mathewson, who figure prominently in Deford's recent book, The Old Ball Game.

The first full day of sessions will begin with a talk by former FSU baseball coach Bob Wells about the earliest days of baseball, titled "The Creation," at 8:30 a.m. on Thursday, Nov. 9, also in the Lane University Center. Presentations on each of the three days begin at 8:30 a.m. and end at 5:30 p.m.

The conference sessions are free and open to the public, and there will be an opportunity following each session for audience questions.

In keeping with the conference theme, "Baseball Forever: Mirror of American Life," an original drama on baseball will premiere Friday evening, Nov. 10, in the Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre, with an encore the following evening. Titled "The Lone Star League," it describes the dynamics of a contemporary minor league team in Texas. Cumberland playwright Jim Ralston wrote this drama specifically for the conference, and noted director David Press is staging it. Tickets will be available at the conference table in the Lane University Center.

Other special features will include a display of baseball art from Allegany County public school art students; memorabilia of the game, including some items from the Babe Ruth Museum in Baltimore; and a wide variety of books on baseball offered for sale in the Lane University Center.

The conference organizer and acknowledged lover of the game, Dr. John Wiseman, a professor of history at FSU, says he wants to "tap into the fascination Americans have had with the National Pastime across history."

"There are a lot of people out there who still love the game. They like to talk about it and hear other people talk about it," Wiseman said.

As a historian, he recognizes the transitions in the sport. "Changes in the game grew out of changes in American society," he said.

This conference was made possible by the president's and provost's offices at FSU, Spalding Company, and numerous personal contributions. It was also made possible by a grant from the Maryland Humanities Council.

For more details, including a list of session presenters and topics, consult the Web site at www.frostburg.edu/baseballforever or contact Wiseman at jwiseman@frostburg.edu. Advance registration is requested by e-mailing baseballregister@frostburg.edu with name, address, and phone number; the number of people in party; and what days one is planning to attend.

Husky Netters Drop One Match, Then Win Two

The Northern Huskies girls' volleyball team went one step back and two steps forward in losing to Allegany in a recent Western Maryland Interscholastic League match, but sweeping Bishop Walsh and upending Salisbury 3-1.

It took the Allegany Campers five games to squeeze out a match win over the Northern Huskies girls' volleyball team.

Allegany, with its back to the wall, had to come back from a 2-1 deficit for the victory. After winning the first game by a score of 25-18, Allegany lost the next two 25-2 and 30-28. Northern dropped the fourth and fifth games, 25-13 and 15-13, respectively,

Jackie Rodeheaver led Northern with 20 assists, 10 kills, five points, and three assists. Danielle Brenneman recorded 10 points and three aces, and Nicole Espada added nine points and three kills.

The Northern jayvees lost to the Campers in two games, 25-13 and 25-15.

In Tuesday's action, the Huskies squeezed out two close games against Bishop Walsh, 26-24 and 25-23, before winning the match with a solid 25-17 victory.

Emily Sisler had 23 serves and seven aces. Jackie Rodeheaver had 14 serves, 19 hits with seven kills, and 14 assists, and Jessica Harvey had seven serves, 13 hits, and six kills.

Bishop Walsh won the jayvee match, 25-23 and 25-15.

In Wednesday night action, Emily Sisler recorded 26 service points with eight aces in leading the Huskies past Salisbury 3-1.

Salisbury won the first game 25-16, but Northern (5-9) came back, winning three straight games by scores of 25-13, 25-12, and 25-16.

Lindsay Wolf pitched in 14 points and eight assists, while Jackie Rodeheaver added seven points, two aces, nine assists, and eight kills.

The Salisbury jayvees defeated the Huskies in two games, 25-18 and 25-16.

Northern will play Southern this Wednesday.

RAMS' STREAK AT 12 – Elizabeth Ray (#10) and Sarah Stephens (#25) led Southern to its 12th straight victory by sweeping Frankfort, 25-11, 25-19, and 25-13. Pictured above, Shayna Sweitzer (#12) prepares to set up a teammate for the spike. From left are Danielle Daniels (#21), Stephens, Adrienne Yoder (#13), and Paula Renteria (#20). Rams' Netters Streak To 12-0, Sweep Allegany And Frankfort

The Southern girls' varsity volleyball team continued its winning streak by sweeping Allegany and Frankfort, enroute to a perfect 12-0 record in recent Western Maryland Interscholastic League matches.

Southern notched its 11th win as Paula Renteria scored 23 points, seven kills, and four digs in leading the Rams past the Campers in three straight games by scores of 25-8, 25-7, and 25-21.

Sarah Stephens added 10 points, two aces, 11 kills, and six digs. Adrienne Yoder contributed 16 assists, and Elizabeth Ray, eight points.

The Allegany jayvee team defeated the Rams in two games, 25-18 and 25-19.

In Wednesday night action, the Rams, led by Elizabeth Ray's team-high 14 service points and three aces, improved to 12-0 as they swept visiting Frankfort by scores of 25-11, 25-

Lakers Eliminated From Tournament, Then Lose At Home

After being eliminated from the Tracey Leather Tournament in Hagerstown on Sunday, the Garrett College women's volleyball team dropped a heated contest to Catonsville in Maryland JUCO League action Wednesday night at home.

The Lakers lost all but one game in Hagerstown on Saturday, and were eliminated on Sunday after losing 30-26 and 30-21.

Garrett lost its first two games on Saturday to Genessee Community College by scores of 30-17 and 30-19. Julia Bosley recorded five digs and three kills, and Gabrielle Vera contributed eight digs.

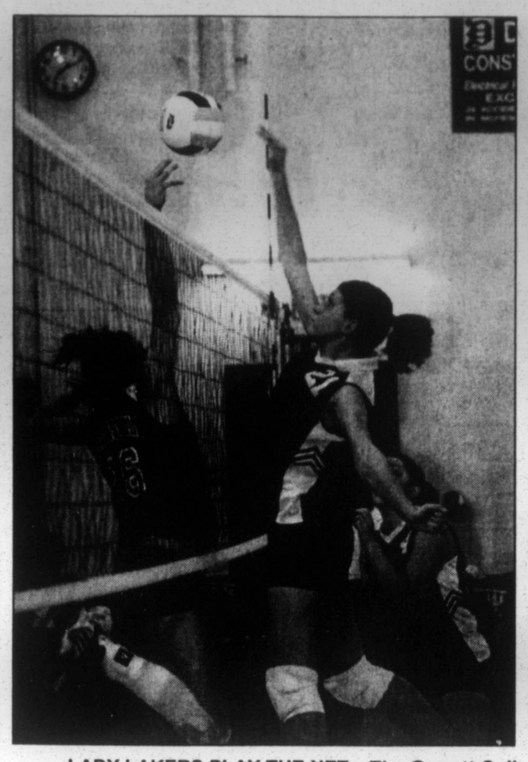
The Lakers then dropped two games to the College of Southern Maryland, 30-14 and 30-21. Danielle Glotfelty had 11 assists, Bosley pitched in five digs and two aces, and Mindy Sharp had five kills. Eugenna Carson and Vera recorded four kills.

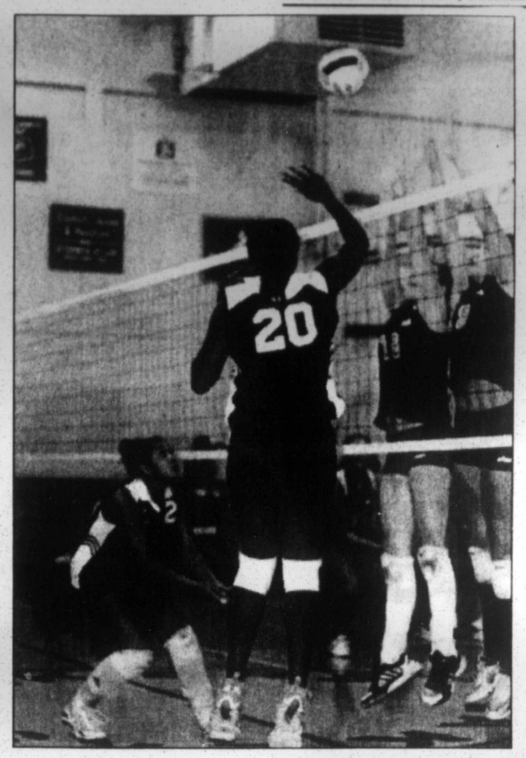
Howard handed Garrett its next two losses by scores of 30-22 and 30-17. Glotfelty led the Lakers with nine assists, Bosley added six digs, three kills, and an ace, and Jenna Wagner pitched in eight digs and an ace. Carson finished with a block and three kills.

Garrett won its first game against Allegany, 30-14, but then lost the next two 30-17 and 15-7. Glotfelty finished with 15 assists, Bosley added six digs, four kills, and an ace. Carson contributed four kills and three blocks, while Sharp added seven kills.

In Wednesday night action, the Lakers lost to Catonsville 3-1. Catonsville won the first game 30-27, and the Lakers responded by winning the second game 30-27. However, Catonsville finished the match victory by defeating the Lakers in the last two games, 30-25 and 30-26.

Garrett will host Allegany College this Friday at 7 p.m.





LADY LAKERS PLAY THE NET – The Garrett College women's volleyball team pushed Catonsville to the edge in a losing effort. The Lady Lakers lost the first game 30-27, but won the second 30-27. The Lakers dropped the final two games by scores of 30-25 and 30-26. Above left, Mindy Sharp (#21) goes up to tap the ball over the head of a Catonsville player, while Julia Bosley (#4) prepares to react. Local Girl Tells Of Her Love For Her Special Brother; Helps Shed Light On Realities Of Down Syndrome

October is Down Syndrome Awareness Month, and to help explain the condition, Morgan Sanders, a fifth grader from Oakland, spoke at the recent March for Dimes walk about her little brother Kameron, who has Down.

Down syndrome, named after Dr. J. Langdon Down who reported the first case in 1866, is a chromosomal condition, related to chromosome 21, that occurs in one in every 800 to 1,000 live births. National Down Syndrome Awareness Month is celebrated every October, with the aim to educate and make aware to the community the risks, symptoms, and treatments for Down syndrome (also known as Trisomy 21). According to the National Down Syndrome Society, in America there are approximately 350,000 people with Down syndrome.

Morgan, 10, and Kameron, 6, are the children of Tim and Kim Sanders, who also have a son Kody, 13. The family resides in west Oakland.

Morgan is in the fifth grade at Dennett Road Elementary School. She is a cheerleader for the Oakland Rams Youth League, a member of Brenda's Body Shop, and a piano and horseback riding student. Her story about Kameron follows:

AN ANGEL

Hi, my name is Morgan Sanders, and I have a little brother named Kameron. What is different about my brother is that he has Down syndrome. Now, not very many people are aware of what Down syndrome is, but I can tell you.

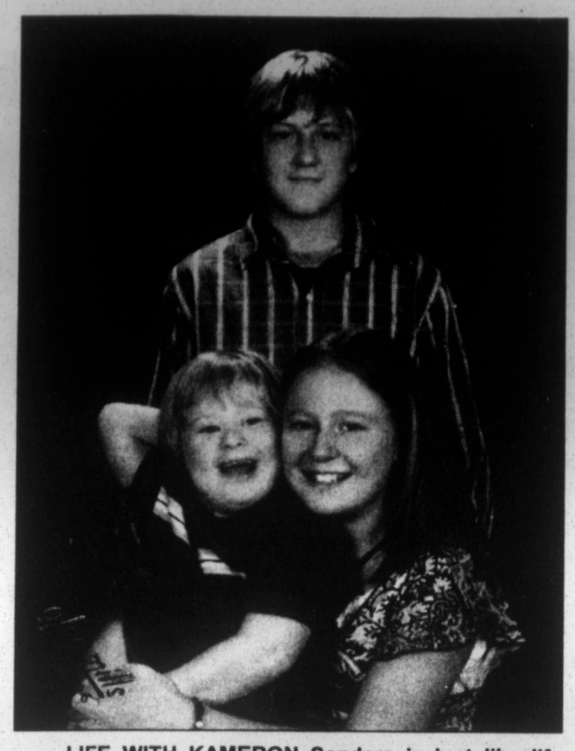
Your body is made up of cells. Those cells are so small that you need a microscope to see them. In those cells are even smaller things called chromosomes. Most people have 46, 23 from their mom and 23 from their dad. Kids with Down syndrome have 47. The number of Kameron's chromosomes was decided from inside my mom's body, before we knew she was even going to have a baby. There is no cure for Down syndrome but even if there was, I do not think our family would change anything. Just because he has Down syndrome does not stop anything. He still gets into trouble, and has his likes and dislikes. The only thing that they have that you don't is Down syndrome.

Kameron has a regular life just like you and me. In the morning, my mom wakes him up and he watches Barney until he has to get ready for school. After he dresses, brushes his hair and teeth, my mom or my dad goes outside and waits for the bus with him. Kameron rides a special bus. Then he goes to school.

At school, he has friends just like everyone else. He also has an aide who stays with him so she can help him learn. She also keeps him from leaving the school. At school, he has fun and learns, too. After school, he rides home on the bus. He then watches Barney until my brother Kody or I come home. Then I go and get him a drink and popcorn. Of course, my mom is also there with Kameron. Later Kameron will still be watching TV. He loves TV. Later we will eat dinner, then he will go to his room and play. He will go to bed at 9.

Some days he will make you just about pull your hair out. See, Kameron also has sensory integration disorder, and he cannot talk. Kameron interacts with sign language. Sign language is like talking with your hands. If he wants to do something and you say no, he will fight back. Some of the things he likes to do are swim, watch TV, swing, ride in our Jeep with the top down, and look at books.

He is curious about the world, just like every other kid. He gives really good hugs, but my favorite are his kisses. He really is an angel.



LIFE WITH KAMERON Sanders is just like life with any other little brother, according to Kameron's big sister Morgan. October is Down Syndrome Awareness Month, and Morgan wanted to let people know exactly what Down syndrome is, as well as tell how important Kameron is to her family, and how much fun she has being his sister. Morgan is pictured holding Kameron, and older brother Kody is standing. They are the children of Tim and Kim Sanders, Oakland.

Red Cross Hosting Salute To Veterans At Oakland Church

The Western Maryland Potomac Chapter of the American Red Cross will hold its annual Veterans' Day Salute on Sunday, Nov. 12, at St. Peter the Apostle Catholic Church in Oakland. Paul Mullan of WKHJ radio will again host this program.

The public is invited to attend this celebration of those who have served and those presently serving in the United States armed forces.

Local church choirs and other area performers are scheduled. The gospel choir of Frostburg State University, known as the Unified Voices Under God's Dominion will return for its third year.

"Funds collected from a free-will offering taken at the program will help to support many needs in western Maryland," said a Veterans' Day Red Cross Committee spokesperson.

Poorer Children Imperiled By Budget Shortfall

by Emily Haile
Capital News Service

Facing a huge budget shortfall, Maryland may be forced to reduce health coverage for thousands of low-income children unless Congress acts quickly to close the funding gap, a recent policy study says.

As it stands now, the Maryland Children's Health Insurance Program faces at least a $64.6 million shortfall and will operate on little more than half of the federal funding it needs for 2007, according to the Maryland Budget & Tax Policy Institute.

At least 16 other states face a collective $900 million to $950 million funding shortfall in the State Children's Health Insurance Program, a 10-year federal-state partnership grant, according to the analysis released late last month.

"Our feeling from the federal government is we're going to get the money," said Alonzo Robinson, the program's supervisor at the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

But depending on the outcome of the Nov. 7 election, health care advocates aren't so sure that the lame-duck Congress will pass the legislation before adjourning for the year.

"If they don't authorize this money, Maryland is in trouble," said Leigh Cobb, a health policy consultant for Advocates for Children & Youth.

Last year, the federal government stepped in to address funding gaps and Maryland has typically received additional money from a pool of unused funds from other states.

Those redistributions have been funding the program to a great extent over the years, but as other states have gotten their programs up and running, the pot is shrinking, said Henry Fitzer, a deputy budget director with the health department.

If the bill is not passed this year, the Maryland General Assembly would bear the burden of coming up with additional funding and the program may have to resort to capping or freezing enrollment or raising monthly premiums.

"Services could be cut," Robinson said.

In a Sept. 19 letter to President Bush, 12 governors, including Maryland Gov. Robert Ehrlich, asked Congress to "address the short-term funding shortfall, or states will be forced to drop children from their programs or move SCHIP-eligible children into already stretched-thin Medicaid programs."

Maryland's program is an expansion of Medicaid. Should the funding fall through, the state would recover what it could from Medicaid, which matches only 50 percent of health care costs, as opposed to the health program's 65 percent. There would still be a shortfall that the state would have to make up, said Fitzer.

More than 6 million low-income children and pregnant women were enrolled nationally in 2005. More than 103,000 Marylanders were enrolled in the program this year, according to the Department of Legislative Services.

To complicate matters, the program is up for re-authorization next year. Given its funding woes, there is already much discussion about how future grants should be allocated and whether redistribution among states is an effective means of funding.

Congress cannot just simply "write a check for $900 million when there's billions that states are sitting on and not spending," said Becky Shipp, a Republican aide to the Senate Finance Committee, where the funding proposal is stalled.

Senate aides on both sides of the aisle agreed that the fate of the bill could depend on the Nov. 7 elections.

Sen. Barbara Mikulski, D-Md., is hopeful the bills will advance. She will pay close attention as the program is reauthorized next year, wrote spokeswoman Melissa Schwartz, in an e-mail. "She will continue to work closely with members of the Finance Committee to make sure the Senate is addressing this issue."

Similarly, Rep. Chris Van Hollen, D-Kensington, said it's an urgent issue. "We're just going to push very hard," to have it be a priority in November, he said.

But for low-income residents, the threat of diminished services is no legislative exercise.

"If you add premiums for low-income people they drop off the rolls," said Cobb. "Those are not good options."

Tough Courses

middle school in math," said Dr. Anne Osborn Emery, a member of the higher education commission. "A large part of these kids not getting to Algebra II [in high school] is that they can't do math in the middle schools."

Emery, chair of the commission's Education Policy Committee, believes that making higher math such as Algebra II and Trigonometry requirements for graduation might cut down on the growing numbers of students who need help with college math.

Keller believes the growing numbers of students in remedial courses in college has more to do with lack of information about what it takes to succeed in college than it does with number or quality of classes in high school.

"Some students can be in their junior or senior year and think, 'Yeah, I really do want to go to college,'" said Bill Reinhard, a spokesman for the Maryland State Department of Education. Reinhard said some of the basic classes students like that would take in college would not be remedial because they had not had a chance to take them in high school.

Victor Bernson, Jr., also a member of the Education Policy Committee, just believes there is far too much finger-pointing going on between K-12 school leadership and higher education leadership, and not nearly enough dialogue.

"Let's not just put this report in everybody's mailbox," said Bernson, who was recently appointed to the K-16 Leadership Council, a group of delegates from the State Department of Education, the Higher Education Commission and the University System of Maryland. "Let's make this an action item that everyone...will get a presentation on, and then begin the dialogue."

Free Self-Defense Seminar To Be Held At LL Church

The Garrett County Business and Professional Women and the family health program at Loch Lynn Church of God will host a free self-defense seminar with All-Star Karate and Kick Boxing owner Master Mike Bolding. The seminar will be held today, Thursday, Oct. 19, at 6 p.m. at the church, which is located on First Ave. in Loch Lynn.

Bolding holds a fourth-degree black bet and is a former U.S. welterweight kickboxing champion. He owns a school in Hagerstown and one in Martinsburg, W.Va.

Persons with questions may call Carol Clark at 301-334-3267 or Norma Bolding at 301-334-4757.

Breakfast, Training Event For GCMH Chaplains Slated

The Garrett County Memorial Hospital (GCMH) Chaplaincy Service will hold a breakfast/training session Monday, Oct. 30, at Will O' the Wisp, beginning at 9 a.m. The event is being held in cooperation with the hospital's Department of Emergency Medicine.

Dr. Mark Domenick, an emergency room physician, will conduct the training workshop. The class will focus specifically on the medical protocols associated with the most common conditions for which patients seek assistance from the GCMH emergency room staff.

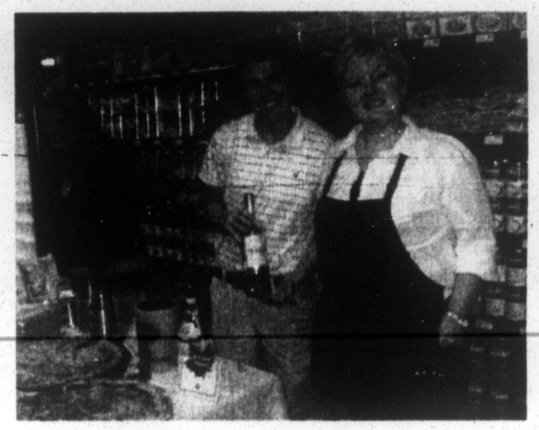
Chaplains and pastors who wish to attend the combined breakfast and training session will need to register. For more information, persons may call Kathy Greaser, GCMH director of development, at 301-533-4178 no later than Thursday, Oct. 26.

Arrowhead Market celebrated its new look with a Grand Opening Celebration held last Tuesday, October 10, from 6 to 8 p.m. Local businesses, vendors and loyal customers were invited to join in.

Arrowhead Market set up six stations within the store, each displaying specialties of the store. The offerings at each station were either delectable delights made fresh in Arrowhead's kitchen or samplings from several vendors that help stock the shelves at Arrowhead Market.

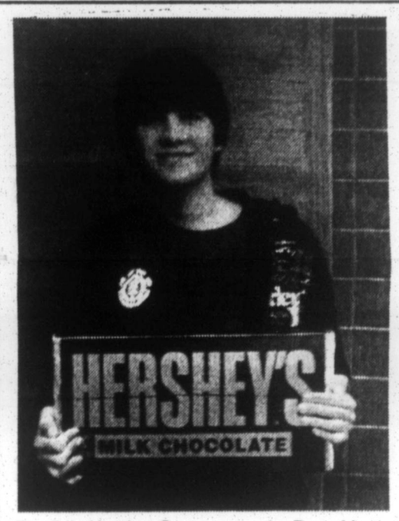
A station was set up specifically for unveiling a new line of gourmet fresh-made soup that will be available at the deli along with our new toasted subs.

Finishing off the tour was a station for enjoying a delightful taste of sorbet with a glass of champagne and pastry samples paired with gourmet fresh roasted coffee.



Monica from Romeo & Sons, Uniontown, PA, and Gretchen Baker & Sandy Few, Managers at Arrowhead Market, hand out samples of wine, assorted cheeses and other Italian foods at the Grand Opening Celebration.

Drawing for the 10-speed mountain bike was overseen by Bill Ingram. The bike was won by Sarah Anderson of Mountain Lake Park.



The 5 lb. Hershey Bar was won by Ryan Martin of Oakland, MD. Congratulations, Ryan!

During the festivities, Arrowhead Market took time to give back to the community. Drawings were held to give away a 10-speed mountain bike, which was won by Sarah Anderson of Mountain Lake Park; and a 5 lb Hershey Bar, which was won by Ryan Martin of Oakland.

Ed Wilburn cuts the $500.00 ribbon for the grand opening of the redesigned Arrowhead Market, while Jason Burgess, Store Manager, and Bill Ingram assist. The ribbon, with 100 $5 bills, was then donated to the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company.

Highlighting the evening was a unique ribbon cutting ceremony. The ribbon, which was made up of 100 $5 bills, was cut by Ed Wilburn to announce the opening of the redesigned store. The very expensive ribbon was then donated to the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company.

Thank you to all of our patrons who were so patient during our remodeling process. We hope you feel the same as we do...that it was well worth it! We hope everyone who joined us had a wonderful time. We certainly did!

Arrowhead features daily hot lunch and dinner specials from $5.25 to $6.95, along with a full deli selection, beer, wine, spirits, groceries, business center and gasoline.
Our kitchen staff will prepare party platters for all occasions.

Six Young Writers Attend National Book Festival In Washington, D.C.

by Thomas S. Pessini

On what looked to be a long, dreary day, six students of the Northern High School Creative Writer's Club bused through the rain and fog to Washington, D.C., to attend the 2006 National Book Festival.

The Book Festival is organized and sponsored by the Library of Congress, and hosted by First Lady Laura Bush. The tour is chartered by the Ruth Enlow Library of Garrett County and organized by Georgie Dawson, administrative assistant. The aspiring young authors and their chaperone Thomas S. Pessini, listened to authors Kathy Reich, Donald Hall, and Michael Connelly as they read and discussed the construction of their books.

The festival included mystery/thriller authors, history and children authors, fiction/fantasy, poetry and Western genres — and the opportunity for patrons to purchase books of the authors who gave presentations.

A distinct difference was noted in the delivery of novelists and poets — novelists discussed the creativity and knowledge surrounding their works, while poets actually read their poetry.

"The authors were great, and now I have more on my list of books to read," said Angela Nuñez. Emily Rosser said, "I felt the event was interesting and entertaining, and it left me enthused about writing. I enjoyed hearing successful authors talk about their research and constructing their stories."

Rosser won second place in a state short story competition for tenth graders in the Young Author's Contest.

Katelynn Lacey, another group member, said, "One of the Western authors mentioned that in some cases you get so attached to your characters in your stories that you start to think about them as real people. Some things that writers said inspired me to think of how I can make my writing better." Katelynn won first place in state competition for ninth grade poetry in the Young Authors Contest.

HIGH SCHOOL WRITER'S CLUB ATTENDS D.C. FESTIVAL – Six students of the Northern High School Creative Writer's Club bused through the rain and fog to attend the 2006 National Book Festival in Washington, D.C. The Book Festival, organized and sponsored by the Library of Congress, was hosted by First Lady Laura Bush. The trip was sponsored by Charlie Ross and Jo Donaldson of the Chamber of Commerce, and Dr. Lynn Bell of the Garrett Country Board of Education, and chartered by the Ruth Enlow Library of Garrett County. Pictured above, left to right, in front of the Smithsonian Institution building, the Castle, are Shawna Stallman, Katelynn Lacey, Cheyanne Whittaker, Kelli Wilhelm, Emily K. Rosser, and Angela Nuñez.

"I always wanted to go to Washington, and this trip made my dream come true. We saw the White House, the World War II Memorial, got to listen to many writers and poets, and the sun finally came out about noon," said Cheyanne Whittaker. "I'd like to thank the people who had made our trip possible."

Shawna Stallman said, "The most enlightening point for me was when we accidentally went to the wrong tent and listened to two authors speaking about their western novels and writing. My most favorite place we walked to was the Wall. The place just had a great silence and beauty. I was amazed at how big the Washington Monument is."

According to Pessini, the trip was sponsored by Charlie Ross and Jo Donaldson of the Chamber of Commerce, and Dr. Lynn Bell of the Garrett Country Board of Education.

"The National Book Festival trip would not have been possible if not for our sponsors," Pessini said. "Shawn Nicklin, one of our government teachers, spearheaded the trip through correspondence with Mrs. Dawson and the Chamber of Commerce."

Pessini further credits the Garrett Chamber of Commerce for providing writing books and magazines that inspire creativity in the students of the writer's club.

"When there is community support," Pessini said, "then our students can excel."

The newly created creative writer's program at Northern was conceived by Pessini, a teaching assistant. Nicklin sponsors the NHS Young Authors Program, which is hosted by the Maryland State Board of Education.

Club members will attend an event at Frostburg State University in April.

Preston Sharps Obtains Series 7 Registration

D. Preston Sharps, PrimeVest investment executive, has obtained his Series 7 Registration, according to William B. Grant, chief executive officer at First United Bank & Trust.

Sharps, who currently serves customers in Garrett and Allegany counties, can now assist customers with municipal, treasury, and corporate bonds, individual stocks, mutual funds, and variable annuities.

"First United is committed to making a full complement of financial services available. Preston's achievement certainly supports this commitment," said Grant.

Sharps began his career at First United Bank & Trust in May of 2004 as a customer service officer in the Customer Service Center. He has also served as a customer service officer in the Oakland community office. Sharps will be located in the Oakland office. His direct phone number is 301-533-2315.

A graduate of Southern Garrett High School, Sharps is pursuing a bachelor's degree in finance from the University of Maryland. He also holds a Series 6, a Series 63 securities, and his life insurance license.

Pancake Supper Slated At Deep Creek Fire Hall

A buckwheat and pancake supper will be held Friday, Oct. 27, from 5 until 8 p.m. at the Deep Creek fire hall in McHenry. All proceeds will benefit local youth traveling to Bolivia for missionary work.

The menu will be cakes, sausage, home fries, apple sauce, and drink. Cost is $6 for adults, $3 for children ages 3 to 10, and children under age 2 eat for free.

Radio Operators Test Emergency Communications

The Garrett County Amateur Radio Emergency Service participated in a statewide simulated emergency test Saturday.

"Our contribution was to determine how much communications could be reestablished after the loss of the major communications towers in Garrett County," explained a service spokesperson.

All amateur stations involved in this type of test can operate on emergency generator power. From an amateur station in Red House, communications were established with another amateur station at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company, Garrett County Airport, Accident Volunteer Fire Department, and Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department.

"We failed to establish communications between Red House and Grantsville," noted the spokesperson.

All Garrett County amateur radio operators are invited to check into the weekly ARES nets and participate in future tests.

"We are just beginning to map out the point-to-point communications circuits possible in Garrett County," said the spokesperson.

The ARES will meet weekly on the radio at 8 p.m. on Sundays on 146.805 mHz, and will join the Cumberland service net at 8 p.m. on Mondays on 146.880 mHz.

The next Oakland meeting of the GCARES group will be on Monday, Nov. 13, 7 p.m., at the American Red Cross office, located along Third Street in Oakland next to Pizza Hut.

Chase contender Denny Hamlin looks to regroup at Martinsville

By RICK MINTER
Cox News Service

Atlanta

Denny Hamlin, victimized by a first-lap crash in the Bank of America 500 at Lowe's Motor Speedway, will head back to one of his home tracks to try to regroup and rejoin the battle for the Nextel Cup championship.

Hamlin, who was knocked into the wall then hit again by oncoming traffic at Lowe's, took his battered No. 11 to the garage for repairs. He returned to the track and moved from 41st to 28th at the finish, which means that he only lost one position in the standings. He's now sixth, 137 points behind leader Jeff Burton.

"We will just take our lumps and go on," Hamlin told reporters at Lowe's. "It is bad that we are having these problems in the Chase, [but] we are fortunate that we did make the Chase."

Based on past performances at Martinsville, the 25-year-old native of Chesterfield, Va., will be a lot happier after Sunday's Subway 500.

"That's one of the races we've had our eye on," he said last week during an appearance at Atlanta Motor Speedway.

And he said he believed he'd have better odds of dodging wrecks at Martinsville than he'd had in the past two races.

"You've got a little bit better chance of staying in one piece at Martinsville," he said. "You can help what happens a little bit more there, however, it is still a short track and you can get caught up in something."

Throughout his career, Hamlin has shown great skill in dodging disaster at Martinsville.

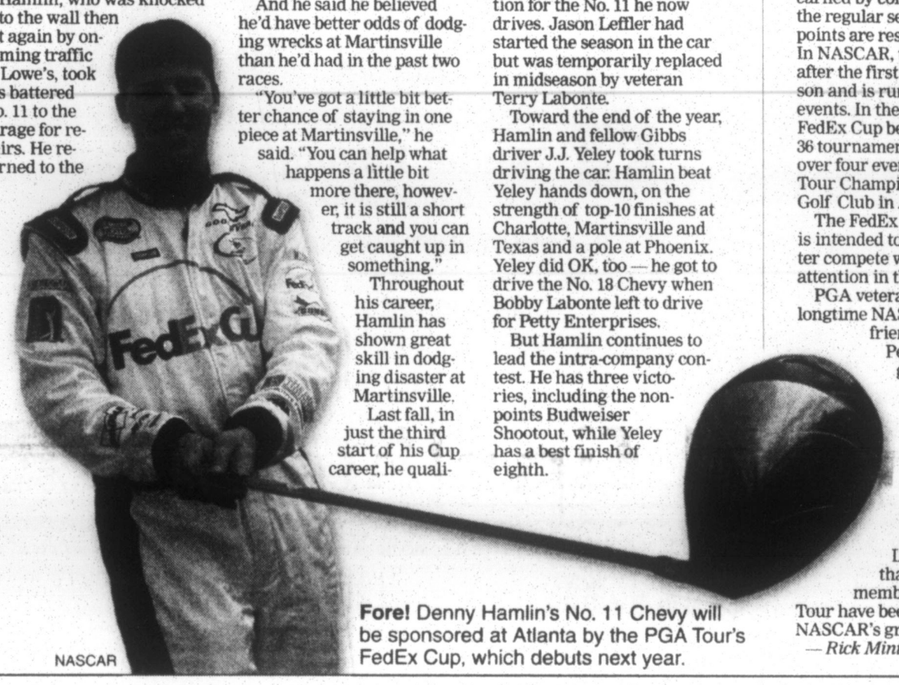
Last fall, in just the third start of his Cup career, he qualified fifth for the Subway 500, set the pace in practice and finished eighth in the race. The performances weren't a complete surprise because Hamlin had started second and finished third in a big Late Model race at Martinsville the year before.

But this time last year, no one expected him to return a year later as a Chase contender. At that point, there was a good chance he wouldn't even be racing in Nextel Cup this year.

In the fall of 2005, he was a rookie driving in the Busch Series for Joe Gibbs Racing — just a year removed from the Late Model circuit in Virginia and the Carolinas — and in the middle of an audition for the No. 11 he now drives. Jason Leffler had started the season in the car but was temporarily replaced in midseason by veteran Terry Labonte.

Toward the end of the year, Hamlin and fellow Gibbs driver J.J. Yeley took turns driving the car. Hamlin beat Yeley hands down, on the strength of top-10 finishes at Charlotte, Martinsville and Texas and a pole at Phoenix. Yeley did OK, too — he got to drive the No. 18 Chevy when Bobby Labonte left to drive for Petty Enterprises.

But Hamlin continues to lead the intra-company contest. He has three victories, including the non-points Budweiser Shootout, while Yeley has a best finish of eighth.



NASCAR

Fore! Denny Hamlin's No. 11 Chevy will be sponsored at Atlanta by the PGA Tour's FedEx Cup, which debuts next year.

Big swing!

Given the similarities in NASCAR's Chase for the Nextel Cup and the PGA Tour's FedEx Cup playoff format, which debuts next year, it's not surprising that the golfing crowd chose a NASCAR vehicle to promote its new way of determining a season champion.

Denny Hamlin's No. 11 Chevrolet, normally sponsored by FedEx, will carry a FedEx Tour logo — and a paint scheme that makes the car resemble the dimples of a golf ball — in the Bass Pro Shops 500 at Atlanta Motor Speedway on Oct. 29.

In both the Chase and the battle for the FedEx Cup, points are earned by competitors during the regular season, then the points are reset for the playoffs. In NASCAR, the Chase begins after the first 26 races of the season and is run over the final 10 events. In the PGA Tour, the FedEx Cup begins after the first 36 tournaments, and is played over four events ending with the Tour Championship at East Lake Golf Club in Atlanta.

The FedEx Cup, like the Chase, is intended to help the sport better compete with football for fan attention in the fall.

PGA veteran Davis Love III, a longtime NASCAR fan and friend of driver Kyle Petty, said he believes golf fans will learn to like the new format, just as he has come to appreciate NASCAR's Chase.

"We'll have our playoffs, we'll have our Chase for the Cup, and it'll be an exciting finish," Love said, adding that he and other members of the PGA Tour have been closely following NASCAR's growth.

— Rick Minter, Cox News Service

Rick Minter's OBSERVATIONS

Storylines as the Cup Series heads to Martinsville:

Tough at the top

After five of the 10 races in the Chase for the Nextel Cup, a clear leader finally has emerged.

With a third-place finish in the Bank of America 500 at Lowe's Motor Speedway, Jeff Burton expanded his points lead from six to 45 over second-place Matt Kenseth. Burton has been one of the fastest — and the most consistent — of the 10 drivers running for the title. If not for a late-race flat tire with 10 laps to go at Talladega, he'd have a comfortable lead.

To get his third-place finish at Lowe's, Burton had to rebound from being a lap down, but afterward he seemed more disappointed that he didn't make a stronger bid for the lead. He said he was too cautious leaving the pits, trying to prevent transmission problems that were plaguing his Richard Childress Racing teammates Kevin Harvick and Clint Bowyer, and stalled his car late in the race.

Still, his closest competitors didn't gain significantly on him in the standings. Even Kasey Kahne, who won the race and led the most laps, shaved just 25 points off his deficit to Burton.

Dale Earnhardt Jr. called Burton "the new Iceman," referring to Terry Labonte's remarkable consistency in winning championships in 1984 and 1996. But Earnhardt also said Burton is still beatable.

"He's not indestructible," Earnhardt told reporters after the race.

Burton agreed about not being indestructible.

"We've had at least one less bad-luck race than Jimmie [Johnson] and Kasey [Kahne] and those guys," he said. "If we have another one and they don't, then they'll be right there with us."

Slow drive for five

Jeff Gordon has said he hates the "Drive for Five" slogan that his backers have used in recent seasons to promote his run for a fifth championship in the Cup series. He'll likely have to hear more about it, especially after a blown engine in the Bank of America 500 sent him to 10th in the standings, 216 points out of the lead, with just five races left.

GORDON

"It is just not meant to be for us this year," Gordon told reporters at Lowe's. "We are happy to make the Chase, [but] from here on out, we try to win races. All we care about is going out there and getting the best performance that we can."

It's also looking unlikely that his Hendrick Motorsports team, which placed three drivers in the Chase, will win its sixth title. Jimmie Johnson heads to Martinsville Speedway seventh in the standings, 146 points behind leader Jeff Burton. Kyle Busch is ninth, 195 back.

Another young gun

While some NASCAR owners are opting to keep experienced veterans in their cars, Jack Roush is putting a rookie with little experience in his flagship No. 6 Ford.

David Ragan, who began his racing career nine years ago at age 11 in a tiny Bandolero car on the quarter-mile oval at Atlanta Motor Speedway, will take over next season for Mark Martin, who is leaving to drive a partial schedule for MB2 Motorsports.

It has been a remarkable and swift rise to the top for Ragan, 20, since those first few laps in a Bandolero, which is basically a go-kart with a small race-car body attached.

RAGAN

Ragan's father, Ken, ran 50 Cup races from 1983-1990. Soon after he stopped driving, he set out to make his son a racer. Initially, he moved the family from Unadilla, Ga., to Stockbridge, Ga., so David could be around AMS and the Legends racing program. When David turned 16, the family moved to Charlotte so David could run in NASCAR's Goody's Dash Series. But NASCAR imposed a minimum-age limit of 18 for its touring divisions, so Ragan's career rise was briefly halted.

But he persevered, won an ARCA race at Lanier National Speedway in Georgia last year, then made the finals of Roush's "Gong Show" tryouts. He has been racing this year for Roush in a mix of Craftsman Truck, Busch and Nextel Cup series events. He made his Cup debut at Dover last month and plans to run four more Cup races this fall.

Scenes from the track: A look at Martinsville history

Ever since 1949, when Red Byron won the first race at Martinsville Speedway for the division now known as Nextel Cup, there have been lots of stories from races at the paper-clip-shaped track known almost as much for its famous hot dogs covered in slaw, chili and onions as its racing.

The track itself is a pretty good story. It's basically an old-time race track in a relatively small market that has grown with the sport and kept its race dates while other old South tracks have lost them to new facilities in markets elsewhere.

Richard Petty leads all drivers with 15 Martinsville victories, while Jeff Gordon leads active drivers with seven. Ricky Craven is one of 23 drivers who have one Martinsville victory. His victory came in the Old Dominion 500 in 2001.

Craven, a popular but currently unemployed driver, several times has recounted his first return trip to Martinsville after his victory, his first in the Cup division.

He decided to drive to the track, which would allow him to relax en route and soak up some of the mountain scenery.

He stopped for a break at an old-time "filling station," the kind where old men sit out front and solve the world's problems.

On this day, the subject shifted to Martinsville Speedway and the exploits of drivers there.

CRAVEN

Craven listened intently as the old-timers talked about victories by drivers from bygone eras — names like Richard Petty, Curtis Turner, Jim Paschal and Junior Johnson.

Sensing the fellows either didn't recognize him or weren't up on recent events, Craven asked a question, something on the order of "Do you guys know who won the last race at Martinsville?"

One quickly replied in the affirmative.

"Yeah, you did," he said.

NUMERICALLY SPEAKING

13 Top-10 finishes in Nextel Cup races this season by Jeff Burton and Matt Kenseth (first and second, respectively, in the standings), tops among all drivers.

17 Top-10 finishes this season by Carl Edwards, tops among drivers not in the Chase for the Nextel Cup.

14 Top-five finishes this season by Matt Kenseth, tops among all Cup drivers.

7 DNFs (did not finish) this season by Jeff Gordon, more than any other driver in the top 20 in the standings.

Catching up with ... Bobby Ginn

Bobby Ginn, the resort owner who recently purchased the MB2 Motorsports team from Nelson Bowers, made headlines recently by announcing plans to add Nextel Cup veteran Mark Martin and motorcross standout Ricky Carmichael to his NASCAR team, which already includes Joe Nemechek and Sterling Marlin. Ginn recently met with members of the media, including Rick Minter of Cox News Service, to discuss his plans

GINN

On the rumors that he'll switch from Chevrolet to Ford next year: "I have this theory that if you haven't heard a good rumor by noon, just start one. ... But we're a Chevrolet team."

On Mark Martin moving from Roush Racing to Ginn's team: "It happened very quickly. We were very fortunate. We had the ability to be flexible with Mark. Our circumstances are quite different than what [Jack Roush's] were. ... We were able to give Mark what he wanted in a limited schedule, and we get a seasoned veteran and somebody who can help us not only on the track, but at the shop to turn our program around.

On how he plans to improve his team: "I made a long-term commitment to the plan. We started in the shop. We got some new equipment. We bought a seven-post shaker. We're putting that in now. We bought some computer equipment. Staffing was huge for us, so we started with that. We're going to start an extensive testing program in the offseason. We've got two great drivers in Joe [Nemechek] and Sterling [Marlin] and they can still win a lot of races. We've just got to put the right equipment underneath them. That's team-building. To have someone like Mark Martin come in is huge. He's demanding in a good way. He's got a vast knowledge, not only of racing, but also the shop and what it takes, and he's helped Jack [Roush] for 19 years to put his organization together, and we're going to be the recipient, hopefully, of those 19 years of experience."

On being in the business of NASCAR: "I've been a NASCAR fan all my life. And I wish my sons had spent as much time studying in college as they did in NASCAR. We're a huge NASCAR family. That doesn't make you a NASCAR team owner who's going to be good, but it fits into the fact that my business is my hobby. This is something I also enjoy. I'm serious about it. NASCAR fits into what we do.

We'll bring a new phase of not only sponsors, but also fans that currently maybe aren't exposed to it, to our business. And our business will profit from it because it's something else for people to do and do it with us. We have very loyal customers. NASCAR fits right into that program."

ELCA Women Hold Meeting

The Women of the ELCA (Evangelical Lutheran Church in America) held the monthly meeting on Oct. 11 at the church.

The study, "A God of Relationships," was led by Leota Baker. The lesson focused on biblical texts concerning God and relationships.

Devotions opened with the singing of the hymn, "Blest Be the Tie." Judy Stanton presided over the business meeting.

A letter of thanks was received from Rev. Arden Barden for the sweaters given from the clothing give-away to the Rocky Boy Indians in Montana. A thank-you card was also received from the Lutheran Home in Kane, Pa., for a donation of washcloths given by the Zion unit.

An announcement was made concerning the annual Women of the ELCA Fall Retreat for the Monongahela Valley Mountain and the Ohio-Kanawha Valley Clusters, held at Jackson's Mill, W.Va., on Oct. 14 and 15. The theme of the retreat was "Act Boldly: Balance Wholeness of Body and Spirit."

The annual collection of the "thankoffering" will be observed at the November meeting.

The quarterly offering was sent to the American Bible Society for the Bible-A-Month ministry.

All items for the Christmas giveaway package to the Rocky Boy Indians must be brought in by the first week in November.

The meeting was adjourned with the missionary benediction.

Advanced Excel Course Slated In Grantsville

Garrett College has scheduled an advanced Microsoft Excel course at the Northern Outreach Center in Grantsville on Mondays, Nov. 6-27, from 6 until 9:15 p.m.

The course will cover such advanced topics as importing and exporting data, using pivot tables, creating charts, and customizing workbooks and worksheets. The class will also explore the use of OLE, forms, and graphics. Alice Bosley-Watkins will be the instructor.

For additional information or to register, persons may contact Terry Beachy, center coordinator, at 301-895-4700 or tbeachy@garrettcollege.edu.

SGCR WOMEN'S CLUB PROVIDES SCHOOL SUPPLIES – The Southern Garrett County Republican Women's Club members launched their 2006 "No Child Left Behind" program recently, with donation presentations planned for eight local elementary and middle schools. The program, initiated by President George W. Bush, focuses on quality education for all children. Desk supplies such as calculators, protractors, paper, notebooks, pens, pencils, rulers, and more are purchased, packaged, and delivered to schools, where they are distributed to students at the principals' discretion. In the photos, the children are displaying some of the items received. So far, the club has made presentations to five schools. Pictured above left is Bloomington School. Standing, left to right, are principal Connie Uphold; eighth grade students Steven Holtschneider, Justin Shaw, Kameron Barnard, Vaughn Whiteman, and Christen Feaster; and SGCRW Club vice president Nita Roberts. Kneeling are Ashley Harvey and Ivy Smith. Pictured above right is Crellin Elementary. In the front are J.R. Upole, Maddie Welsh, and club president Anne Rebele. In the back are Karley Gibson, third/fourth grade teacher Debi DeWitt, and Alexis Kulcsar. Below left is Kitzmiller Elementary: principal Candy Opel, Katelynn Sweitzer, Jayson Tichinel, Brandon Welch, Rachel Scott, Colton Lucas, Juston Lipscomb, and Roberts. Below right is Yough Glades Elementary. In the front are Bailey Swinson and Ronnie Schrock. In the back are Rebele, Ms. Paugh, and Patricia Shreve. Club member Arzella Parsons also presented desk supplies to Broad Ford Elementary School principal Suzie Sincell. No photo was taken.

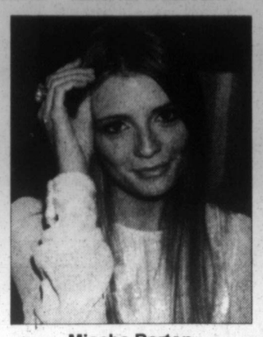
TV PIPELINE

'O.C.' is primed to return – minus Mischa

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it



Mischa Barton

Q: When and where will we see "The O.C." again? When will the third season come out on DVD? And does Mischa Barton have any plans for the future? –Thomas Scholz, Brookfield, Wis.

A: The Fox series is slated to start its fourth season Nov. 2. Except for the summer when the show premiered, the network has waited until its coverage of the baseball playoffs and the World Series is over to launch each of the drama's new years. Just in time for the show's return, Warner Home Video releases its third season on DVD this Tuesday, Oct. 24.

As for Ms. Barton, whose character Marissa provided the series with its biggest season-ending shocker last spring, she has completed a couple of films slated for release next year: "Closing the Ring" (directed by the esteemed Richard Attenborough) and "Virgin Territory," a revision of "The Decameron" with "Star Wars" alumnus Hayden Christensen. Barton also has committed to a New Orleans-set supernatural tale called "Hexxx."

Q: While watching "Dancing With the Stars," I spied George Lopez rooting for Mario Lopez and his partner. Are George and Mario related, or do they just share a surname? –Gail Blevins, Baltimore

A: Apparently, it's only the surname – and their presence in the ABC show – that they have in common. We can't find evidence of anything more.

Q: In "Studio 60 on the Sunset Strip," the Jordan McDeere character reminds me of an old show no one else seems to remember, maybe from the 1980s. It was about a young, female television executive or producer played by an actress with long, brown hair. Can you help me? –Shona Williams, Chicago

A: We're pretty sure you're thinking of "W.E.B.," which had a brief (as in one month) run on NBC in the fall of 1978. Pamela Bellwood, who would start a much longer television run several years later as Claudia on "Dynasty," starred as a fearless programming executive loosely modeled on the role that earned Faye Dunaway an Oscar in the 1976 movie "Network." Richard Basehart ("Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea") and Alex Cord ("Airwolf") also were in the regular cast.

In Focus

Initially filmed in 1978, a well-remembered TV movie gets an update as Mika Boorem ("Augusta, Gone") plays a college pledge involved with a sinister sorority in "The Initiation of Sarah," premiering Sunday, Oct. 22, on ABC Family.

After falling under the literal spell of the members of Alpha Nu Gamma, which her mother (Morgan Fairchild, who was in the first version) belonged to, Sarah is steered away by a faculty adviser (Jennifer Tilly). And that isn't good for either of them.

OCTOBER 2006
FILMED BY THE PROFESSIONALS AT HERITAGE MICROFILM, INC.

THEATRE PLAY TICKETS ON SALE

Southern High School will present John Patrick's Teahouse of the August Moon, a comedy about attempted U.S. reparations in Japan following World War II, from Thursday, Oct. 26, through Saturday, Oct. 28, at 8 p.m. on the school stage. Leading the cast of 25 students is Ian Macy as Captain Fisby and Karrina Beck as Sakini. Tickets are $5 and may be purchased at the door. The production is directed by Erin White and is made possible through special arrangement with Dramatists Play Service.

SHS ALUMNI CREATES DIRECTORY

Southern High School is proud to announce the production of its first alumni directory. The directory will be the most up-to-date and complete reference guide ever compiled on Southern alumni and will feature detailed personal and professional information of graduates from all class years – making it easier than ever to find old friends and network professionally. All alumni information is currently being compiled and edited by our publisher, Harris Directory, Data Services, and Internet Solutions. To ensure proper and accurate directory listings, persons may contact Harris to provide current details such as full name, address, phone number, and professional information. Graduates should contact Harris Graduate Connection via e-mail at gcupdate@bcharrispub.com or by regular mail at Southern Garrett High School Alumni Directory, c/o Harris Graduate Connection, 6300 Center Drive, Norfolk, VA 23502. Assistance with providing viable information regarding previously released reunion lists, class rosters or any other alumni resources are welcome and will be an invaluable contribution to this project, said a spokesperson.

SCHOLARSHIP OPPORTUNITIES: HORATIO ALGER SCHOLARSHIP

These scholarships will be awarded to 2007 high school graduates in varying amounts ranging from $1,000 to $20,000. State Park Programs

DEEP CREEK LAKE

The following activities have been scheduled for this week at Deep Creek Lake State Park. Further information can be obtained by calling the Discovery Center at 301-387-7067.

While In Season

Monarch Tagging Daily (if there are newly hatched butterflies). Join park rangers for this project of tagging monarch butterflies before they set off on their migration. Guests may call 301-387-7067 for tagging times. Learn of the butterflies' life cycle and see them in their various life stages. Adopt one and follow its journey. (30 min.)

Saturday, Oct. 21

• 1:30 p.m. – Snakes Alive! Learn about the snakes that are common to the area, and whether or not there are poisonous ones. See live specimens and touch them, too. (Approx. 45 min.)

• 6:30 p.m. – Halloween Fun! Find out what creatures make the eerie sounds and sights of Halloween. Find out what they really are and see some live in the Discovery Room. Gather for roasting marshmallows at a campfire before and after the program behind the Discovery Center. (1 hour)

Sunday, Oct. 22

• 10:30 a.m. — Got Cavities? Hike around the Discovery Center in search of bird and animal cavities, nests, and dens. (35 min.)

• 3 p.m. — We Got Worms. Meet in the Discovery Center to watch the naturalist feed some worms to toads, fish, and snakes, then head to the aviary and watch as park personnel care for and feed the red-tailed hawks and owl. (30 min.)

Garlic Ingredient Used Medicinally

Garlic is a perennial plant that is cultivated and does not occur in the wild. Known, for its full, strong flavor, it is commonly used to season foods while cooking. The bulb of the plant is used in cooking and for medicinal purposes. Garlic has been used in the treatment of high cholesterol, heart disease, and high blood pressure. While garlic has also been used to reduce the risk of certain cancers, this effect has not been evaluated thoroughly in clinical trials. While garlic contains numerous substances, alliin is responsible for the majority of garlic's health benefits.

Doses of garlic vary and depend upon the type of preparation and the condition being treated. While garlic is generally considered to be safe, side effects with garlic use include breath/body odor, heartburn, and upset stomach. garlic may have effects on blood clotting, and should not be used by people taking the blood thinner warfarin. Garlic may alter the effectiveness of drugs used to treat cancer, diabetes, high cholesterol, and high blood pressure. Discuss garlic with your healthcare provider before using.

By Hook or by Crook

"Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I fear no evil; for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff, they comfort me." Psalm 23:4

The psalmist David knew of the value of the shepherd. The life of the shepherd belonged to his sheep. If they wandered off blindly, his eyes were always open. If they lost their footing he rescued them with the crook of his staff. He cared for the sheep and the lambs. One way or the other, he saw to it that his flock was safe. The shepherd knew they depended upon his knowledge and skill.

Truly, the Lord is our Shepherd, for He knows we are not aware of the pitfalls and the rocky paths that we may blindly wander onto each day. We need only have the faith of the lowly sheep and God will give us peace of mind.

Become one of God's fold as you worship with His flock at your local church or synagogue. He will "watch over" you.

October Melancholy

As the days grow shorter and the leaves turn color and fall languidly from the trees, there is a peculiar melancholy which we are susceptible to at this time of year. October days are tinged with sadness and a sense of loss at the end of another summer, and yet this is combined with a feeling that the beauty of a crisp autumn day under a clear blue sky somehow redeems the loss of summer. The last monarch butterflies wearily flapping their exhausted wings, the flocks of geese heading south, and the vibrant colors of the leaves all presage a time of dormancy, when we will hunker down for the long, cold winter. Everyone probably has a favorite season of the year, but being able to enjoy each one with its different qualities is a blessing from God. And, perhaps this October melancholy is God's way of telling us to start conserving our energy. If we've been diligent all summer, and the harvest is plentiful, then just maybe, with the Lord's blessing, we'll make it through the coming winter, and live to see another glorious Spring.

Go to the ant, o sluggard:
consider her ways,
and be wise.
Without having any chief, officer or ruler, she prepares her food in summer, and gathers her sustenance in harvest.

Dogs and Cats Can Donate, Receive Blood

Q. I overheard a conversation today between two pet owners regarding a dog who needed emergency surgery. The dog's owner said that it had received a blood transfusion during the operation. How is this possible? Where did the vet get the blood to do a transfusion? — Curious in Boston

A. Many pet owners don't know that a blood transfusion can be done for dogs and cats just as it is done for humans, and has been a feature of veterinary medicine for at least 50 years. Today, with the many complex health issues that vets are treating, transfusion medicine is growing rapidly, with a greater need for donated blood from four-legged volunteers.

According to the Eastern Veterinary Blood Bank, blood components are used to treat disorders like anemia, parvovirus, pancreatitis and many other illnesses. This is in addition to emergency transfusions like the one described by the pet owner above. The need for whole blood donations by pets has led to the development of donor centers and blood banks nationwide.

A healthy pet of a certain age and weight can be considered for donation. Many benefits are offered by blood banks, including physical examinations, blood typing and chemistry profile, and tests for heartworm and other bloodborne diseases. Donations don't take long to make, are not painful, do not require sedation and only take a small percentage of a pet's blood.

Blood banks are located nationwide and serve cities, states or regions. However, no central organization exists to help pet owners locate the nearest donation facility. Owners can ask their veterinarian for information, perform a search online or check with schools of veterinary medicine to find out where a pet can donate and how a pet can qualify as a donor.

Stamp Collection

Q. I have my childhood stamp collection, which is about 60 years old. Where can I get a true estimate of its value? — Ginny, Lusby, Md.

A. One of the easiest ways is to purchase a copy of the Official Stamp Collector's Bible, written by Stephen R. Datz and published by House of Collectibles. It is the ultimate guide for all things philatelic and is certainly worth its $22 price. If doing your own homework isn't an attractive option, you must rely on the advice of others. There are stamp dealers throughout Maryland. Check the business pages of the phone books of larger metro areas and choose at least two or three to get a sampling of opinions.

Q. I have a nude statue and would like to know how much it is worth. — Charlotte, Rio Rancho, N.M.

A. You need to contact an art appraiser, and you should expect to pay a nominal fee for his or her services. To find a qualified appraiser near you, I suggest you contact the Appraiser Association of America, 386 Park Ave. S, No. 2000, New York, NY 10016; the International Society of Appraisers, 1131 SW 7th St., Suite 105, Renton, WA 98055; or the American Society of Appraisers, P.O. Box 17265, Washington, DC 20071. As I often have said in this column, a free appraisal generally is worth what you pay for it.

Q. I have a letter that was signed by Harriet Beecher Stowe in 1885. I have been offered $1,200 for it, but I think it might be worth more. — Lillian, Hastings, Neb.

A. A standard letter signed by Harriet Beecher Stowe should sell in the $200 to $500 range.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• Those who study such things say that the average lifespan of a computer is two years.

• Sea anemones have stingers covering their tentacles, and when a potential source of food comes into reach, those stingers shoot out to incapacitate the prey. Of course, fish are pretty fast, so the stingers have to be faster — and they are. Much faster. In fact, those stingers go from zero to 80 mph in 700 nanoseconds, demonstrating one of the fastest accelerations found in nature.

• Have you ever noticed that when you give yourself a minor cut with a razor, it doesn't hurt as much as when you get a similar cut from a piece of paper? It seems counterintuitive, but there's a reason: When a piece of paper cuts you, it leaves fibers and other particles behind in the wound.

• Pound for pound, a hamburger costs more than a new car.

• In this time of highly charged partisan rhetoric, you might want to keep in mind the following sage observation made by Senator Daniel Patrick Moynihan: "Every American is entitled to his own opinion, but no American is entitled to his own facts."

• Are you pardalina? Unless you're a large predatory feline, probably not. "Pardalina" means "spotted like a leopard."

• If you've got a leaky faucet that's driving you nuts with the constant drip, drip, drip, preserving your sanity isn't the only reason to get it fixed. One faucet leaking one drop per second can waste 165 gallons every month. Put another way, that's as much water as one person needs for two weeks.

Man Sentenced To 10-Day Jail Term For Theft

In recent District Court hearings, Judge Ralph Burnett handed Danny R. Shifflett, 25, Terra Alta, W.Va., a 10-day jail sentence after he pleaded guilty to the theft of $70, according to court records.

The victim discovered the $70 was missing after she had left home with her three children, following an argument with Shifflet. A police investigation discovered that Shifflet had admitted to neighbors that he had taken the money, but it was never returned, the court records showed.

In other court news, Jeremy Lee Crosco, 46, Oakland, pleaded not guilty and was found not guilty of second-degree assault.

The alleged assault occurred during a domestic argument in July in which Crosco allegedly elbowed the victim in the nose, while attempting to get money from her purse.

He was arrested and charged with second-degree assault, and subsequently found not guilty.

Denny Leonard Stallard, 24, Oakland, pleaded guilty to the possession of a controlled substance marijuana, and was handed a probation before (PBJ), a 30-day jail sentence with 28 days suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and $257.50 in fines.

Sheriff's deputies found a smoking pipe in Stallard's right front pocket after he was arrested on an outstanding bench warrant. The pipe contained what appeared to be a residue of marijuana.

Stallard was not prosecuted for possession of paraphernalia.

Robert Ervin McCrobie, 50, Oakland, pleaded not guilty to three counts of second-degree assault, and was handed a PBJ for each count.

In addition, Judge Burnett handed McCrobie a 30-day jail sentence for each of the three counts, but suspended each sentence. Burnett also ordered McCrobie to undergo one day of unsupervised probation for each charge.

Connie Ellen Kamp, 36, Lonaconing, was given a stet ruling by Judge Burnett for harassment.

The charge claimed that Kamp did maliciously engage in a course of conduct that alarmed and seriously annoyed Vicki Jo Duckworth, after a request to desist.

Vicki Jo Duckworth, 40, Grantsville, was also charged with harassment and received a stet ruling from Judge Burnett. Duckworth, who was formerly married to Kamp's husband, was charged with maliciously engaging in a course of conduct that alarmed and seriously annoyed her former husband, and his wife, Connie Ellen Kamp.

The following court cases were not prosecuted by the stat's attorney:

Michael S. Cosner, 28, Bayard, W.Va., was not prosecuted for writing a bad check of less than $100.

Linda Sue Holler, 33, Oakland, was not prosecuted for two counts of writing bad checks of less than $100.

Timothy Alan Baker, 52, Friedens, Pa., was not prosecuted on two counts of theft, each in the amount of more than $500 in value.

Baker was charged with stealing more than $500 of auto scrap and more than $500 of U.S. currency from Baker's Auto Repair.

Christa Marie DeWitt, 25, Oakland, was not prosecuted for writing a bad check of less than $100.

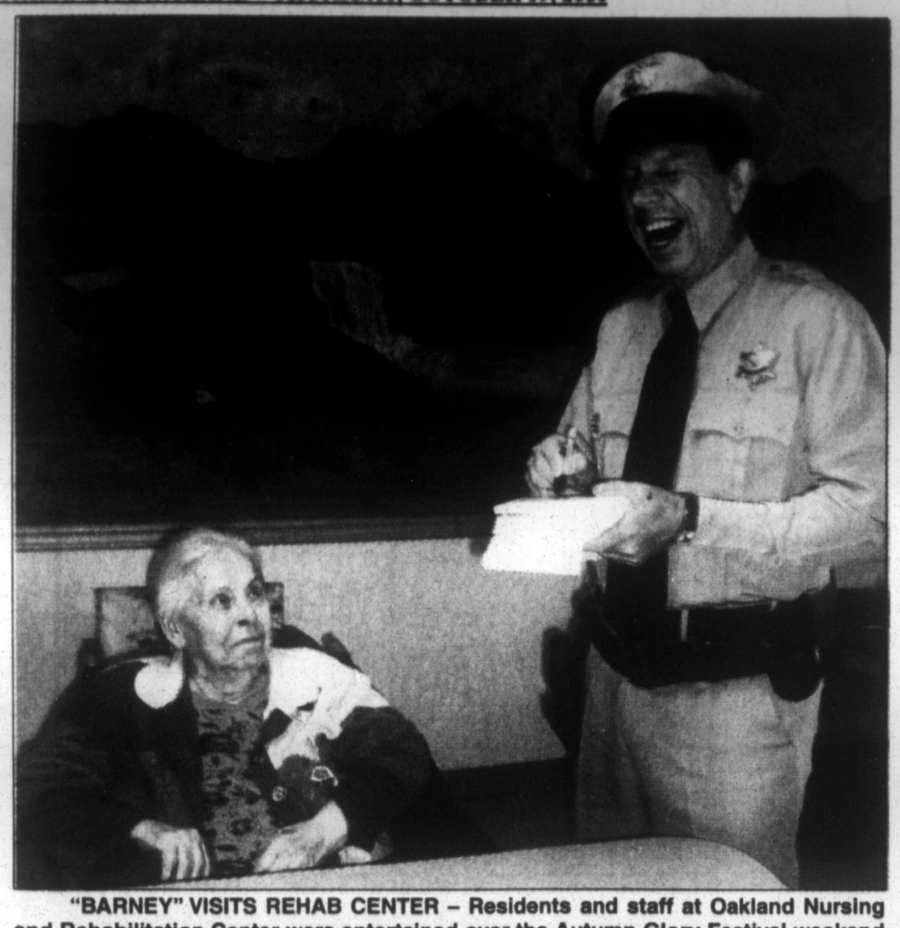
Audrey Sypolt, 74, Terra Alta, W.Va., was not prosecuted for unlawfully taking a motor vehicle and theft of more than $500 in value.

DUI AND DWI

Franklin Gerald Goldsborough, 36, W.Va., pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of alcohol (DUI) per se and was handed a PBJ, a $342.50 fine, and 18 months of unsupervised probation by Judge Edward Malloy Jr. Goldsborough was instructed to continue after-care counseling, pay all fines, and abstain from drugs and alcohol.

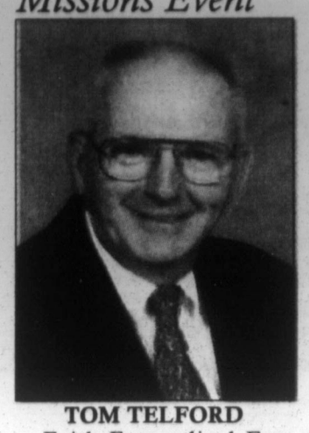
A bench warrant was issued for the arrest of Benito Juan Perea, 28, W.Va., after he failed to appear for his court date on charges of driving while impaired by alcohol, DUI, and DUI per se. A new bond of $2,500 was set and will be in effect when Perea is arrested.

Larry Paul Winebrenner, 26, Md., was deemed in violation of probation for DUI per se.



"BARNEY" VISITS REHAB CENTER – Residents and staff at Oakland Nursing and Rehabilitation Center were entertained over the Autumn Glory Festival weekend by David Browning, aka the Mayberry Deputy, aka "Barney Fife," the character made famous by the late Don Knotts on television's The Andy Griffith Show. He spent some time signing autographs, writing "tickets," and generally entertaining the residents and staff members. He is pictured above with resident Katherine Wilt.

Faith Evangelical To Hold Annual Missions Event



TOM TELFORD

Faith Evangelical Free Church's annual Missions Conference continues Friday through Sunday, Oct. 20 to 22. All services are open to the public. The church is located in along Maryland Highway in Mtn. Lake Park.

The keynote speaker for the event is Tom Telford, who will preach nightly at 7 p.m. and Sunday morning at 10:45 a.m.

"Mr. Telford is self-educated in missions and has invested his adult life in helping churches maximize their potential for world evangelization," noted a Faith Evangelical spokesperson.

He was missions chairman for 10 years at Berachah Church in Cheltenham, Pa., and missions director for five more years at Chelten Baptist Church in Dresher, Pa. Telford is currently the vice president of Mobilization for United World Mission. Prior to that he served 15 years with Advancing Churches in Missions Commitment as the northeast regional director and supervisor of regional ministries.

Telford has lectured on world missions and the local church at Seminary of the East, Philadelphia College of the Bible, Westminster Seminary, and Columbia International University. He is a regular lecturer of the course "Perspectives on the World Christian Movement."

He has co-authored a book with Lois Shaw titled Missions in the 21st Century and is also the author of Today's All-Star Missions Churches.

Also on the Missions Conference speakers list are Loren Faul, Paul Haney, and Ed and Charlotte Lochstampfor.

For further information on the conference, persons may call the Faith Evangelical Free Church office at 301-334-4172.

Habitat For Humanity To Dedicate Three New Homes In Deer Park

Garrett County Habitat for Humanity (GCHFH) will dedicate three newly built homes located on Route 135 just southwest of the Deer Park VFW, on Homewood Drive in Hopeland Village on Sunday, Oct. 29, at 2:30 p.m., according to Habitat executive director Doug Riley.

The Garrett County Habitat for Humanity will continue to help people of Garrett County realize the dream of home ownership. Habitat builds homes with partner families based on the "economics of Jesus" that states, "When lending to the poor charge no interest and make no profit," noted Riley.

Partner families contribute 250 hours of "sweat equity" per adult in the building of their homes and have a 30-year, 0 interest mortgage. For 2006, the following families have participated with Habitat in the building of their homes: the Bob Lewis, Jason Thomas, and Lisa Cassidy families.

"Over the past 23 years the Garrett County Habitat for Humanity has helped 54 families attain a decent, affordable place to live," said Riley.

GCHFH is part of the international organization, Habitat for Humanity, Inc., which has taken the lead in the rebuilding in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina. Habitat has announced "Operation Home Delivery," a program that is building homes off-site in New York, Jackson, Miss., and Los Angeles. Once built, the homes will be moved to the hurricane affected areas for those in need. Operation Home Delivery will include on-site construction in the near future. Additional information may be found online at www.habitat.org.

People interested in applying for a Habitat home should call 301-533-0600. Organizations, companies, or churches interested in knowing more about how to help the GCHFH, may contact Riley at 301-533-0600 or driley@garrett-cac.org.

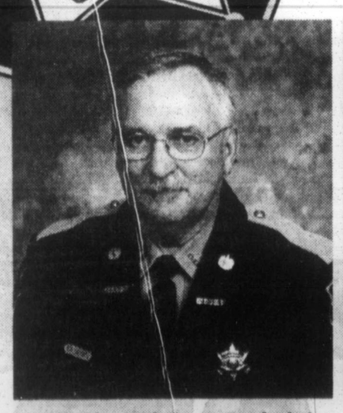
Sheriff Sanders Endorses Berkebile



Nine years ago I selected Gary Berkebile to serve as my Chief Deputy at the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. Chief Deputy is a position of tremendous responsibility and trust. During the ensuing nine years Berkebile has never let me or you, the citizens of Garrett County, down. I've known Gary since 1972; his integrity, dedication to service and his responsibility have never wavered.

The position of Sheriff is a difficult one requiring sound judgment and the ability to make good decisions, sometimes with limited information. Having served as your Sheriff, I know Gary Berkebile has what it takes to best serve the Sheriff's Office and the community.

Recently I underwent surgery which left me temporarily unable to fulfill my duties as Sheriff. Major Gary Berkebile, as Chief Deputy, has been your Acting Sheriff since July 6, 2006, and will continue to do so. I want to publicly thank him for the exceptional job he has done and continues to do while I recover.

Gary Berkebile places duty above politics. He is a tried and tested leader, and outstanding police officer, and an involved member of our community, even in off-election years. For these reasons I support Gary Berkebile and hope you will elect him as your next Sheriff.

DEMOCRATIC HEADQUARTERS OPEN – The Democrats of Garrett County had a ribbon cutting ceremony recently for the Democratic Headquarters, located along Third Street in Oakland, next to the Pizza Hut. Pictured cutting the ribbon are Betty Pritt, candidate for Garrett County commissioner, and Bill Aiken, candidate for the Maryland House of Delegates. Residents may stop by the headquarters to pick up various campaign information or to volunteer their services, organizers said. Pictured in the front from left are Larry Gnegy, Rosalee Finch, Doris Goldsborough, Annabelle Perando, Pritt, Aiken, and Zelma Neary. In the back, same order, are James "Smokey" Stanton, Carolyn Taylor, Wayne Caple, Phebe Neary, Kevin Swick, Joyce Andrews (partially hidden), Joe Harmon (hidden), Keith Caple, Ron Kruh, Tom Conlon, and Gary Berkebile.

Biblical Dramatist To Present Prog. At Local Church

Oak Park Church of the Brethren will host Biblical dramatist Norm Arrington on Sunday, Oct. 22, at 8:15 a.m., 10:30 a.m., and 7 p.m. and Monday, Oct. 23, at 7 p.m. The church is located at 110 Church Lane in Mtn. Lake Park.

Arrington will portray John the Baptist on Sunday morning, Nicodemus on Sunday evening, and Timothy the following evening. A retired minister, Arrington has researched and presented more than 85 biblical characters at revivals, pastoral conferences, and children's camps.

Having always been interested in drama, history, and the culture of biblical peoples, Arrington usually presents Old and New Testament characters in first person.

"Mr. Arrington shares their experiences by presenting gospel stories 'through their eyes,'" said an Oak Park spokesperson.

He uses the Bible as his first and main source of information, but also consults biblical encyclopedias, dictionaries, commentaries, archeological magazines, and Messianic Jewish writings concerning history, religion, culture, and language.

"He uses a little 'accent' and prefers to make his own costumes," said the spokesperson. "Parts of his wardrobe actually come from Israel."

Arrington has written and produced several Christian dramas, including The Bitter Cup, The Messiah, Shadow of the Cross, and The Martyr.

He and his wife Kay live in Princeton, W.Va. They have two grown children and four grandchildren.

The public is invited to this free presentation. Free-will offerings will be accepted to help defray Arrington's travel expenses.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN OPERATING HEADQUARTERS – Members of the Republican Women's Club met recently to review plans to "get the vote out" on Nov. 7. KITZMILLER NEWS

PUBLIC MEETING

There will be a public meeting held Tuesday, Oct. 24, at 6:30 p.m. at the Kitzmiller School to discuss the remedies for the vandalism at the school.

HEALTH PROGRAM

The Garrett County Health Department has applied for and received grant money that will be used to focus on presenting healthy lifestyle options to the community.

The Kitzmiller Assembly of God Church congregation has been designated to be part of the countywide program.

The development of the program by the health department is to center around heart health, encouraging participants to maintain a healthy weight, increase their physical activity, include more fruits and vegetables in their daily diet, and have their blood pressure monitored on a regular basis.

Kathy Elliott, prevention/outreach instructor for the health department, will be available at the church before Sunday morning activities to take blood pressure readings of those participating in the program. She will also provide nutrition and physical activity information on a weekly schedule.

The program is free to all participants.

As part of the healthy agenda, a walking program is available, and those who increase their physical activity during the six-month program will receive incentives for the achievement.

BIRTHDAYS

Among Kitzmiller residents celebrating birthdays this week are: Herb Whitacre, Michael Brantner Sr., Danny James, Jeannie Tichnell, Tammy Anderson, Rick Tasker, Katie Harvey, Jessica Nichols, Dixie Wilson, Margaret Sims, Rich Sherwood, Rob Brown Sr., and Shelby Stegall.

LEARNING ABOUT FIRE SAFETY – Kitzmiller firefighters Rick Armstrong, Missi Nesselrodt, and Sharon Paugh discussed safety with students in Headstart through second grade at Kitzmiller Elementary School last week. The Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire Department gave all of them a special fire prevention pack to help reinforce safety at home. National Fire Prevention Week was Oct. 8-14. This year's message was "Prevent Cooking Fires: Watch What You Heat." During the observance, firefighters throughout the nation helped spread the word that more fires start in the kitchen than in any other part of the home, and taught families and kids how to keep cooking fires from starting in the first place.

Last Mtn. Fresh Farmers' Mkt. Set For Oct. 28

The Mountain Fresh Produce Association has announced that the last farmers' market of the season will be held on Saturday, Oct. 28, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Oakland.

"Our vegetable and fruit farmers have had a pretty good year," said Willie Lantz, extension educator for agriculture and natural resources. "The weather cooperated for the most part, and we had lots of new customers at the markets."

Despite the hard frosts and freezes last week, items expected to be at the market the next two Saturdays include winter squash, pumpkins, greens, and gourds. Baked goods, crafts, and jams/jellies are available at the market each week.

"We'd like to thank all our customers for a great season," said Betty Bolyard, vendor and Mountain Fresh board member. "It is such a joy to have customers who are happy to see what we have grown at the farm each week."

For more information, persons may visit www.-MountainFresh.org or call 301-334-6960.

Senior Center To Hold Soup Sale In November

The Mary Browning Senior Center will hold an "all-you-can-eat" soup sale fundraiser on Friday, Nov. 3, from 4:30 until 7 p.m.

Soups offered will be cream of potato with bacon, tomato basil, vegetable beef, and bunkhouse chili. A complimentary tossed salad, a piece of cornbread or dinner roll, dessert, and a beverage are included.

Carry-outs will be available by the quart, and all proceeds benefit the Garrett County Meals on Wheels program.

For more information, persons may call Leona Lavin at 301-334-9431, ext. 133.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

MAGNETIC GIBBERISH
by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen

Q. Recently I visited a craft fair and saw magnetic bracelets and necklaces for sale, which are supposed to be very good for your health. Are those health-claims true?

The good news is that such jewelry won't hurt you. The bad news is that it's very pricey, for no real benefit at all.

A leading kind of magnetic jewelry is made of little round beads of the magnetic mineral hematite, which is iron oxide, chemical formula Fe_2O_3. The individual beads look like ball bearings. The bracelet closing mechanism is not a traditional clasp, but little magnets that stick together pretty hard. If you want to take it off, you rotate those two magnets 90° and it comes apart easily. Nifty gimmick.

You can decide whether or not wearing such jewelry looks nice. Basically, that would be the end of the story, except for the health claims that come with it. Written brochures from vendors summarize the various sales pitches:

In pitch A, you wear the bracelet and "Magnets increase the blood flow, therefore, oxygen is increased in cells; hence less pain and inflammation." Moreover, "My own rheumatoid arthritis eased dramatically within one day!"

In pitch B, you wear the bracelet and the iron oxide touching your skin gradually transfers iron across your skin, and "the iron is absorbed into your bloodstream, increases blood cells, and directly builds your immune system. As the oxygen enters your pores it starts to work increasing your circulation to your entire body.... Hematite can prevent and/or reduce symptoms of the following (list of 15 afflictions)."

Now for a dose of reality:

Magnetism is a force which is a cousin of electricity; electricity comes from electric charges, and acts upon electric charges; magnetism is due to moving charges, and likewise causes charged particles to move. Together, these two forces produce the electromagnetic field, which is practically everywhere and includes everything from X-rays to light to microwaves to TV and radio signals. Human beings have adapted very well to various parts of the electromagnetic spectrum over millions of years.

In recent years people have been known to willingly stick their heads inside a big machine with a huge magnetic field, in order to obtain a brain-map, via the medical test known as magnetic resonance imaging. Getting a suntan is a deliberate attempt to use a different portion of the electromagnetic spectrum to partially toast your skin. When we speak of "nuking" a slice of cold pizza in the microwave oven, yet another form of electromagnetism is put to good use.

In school, students often learn about electricity, particularly in high school physics classes, but too often magnetism remains at the "gee-whiz" level of amazing science. As a result, magnetism remains unknown, and carries with it a sense of mystery. Exploiting that popular image is the way that magical claims for magnetism can be sold to the public.

The fact is that without electric charges to move around, magnetism can't do much. Under very precisely tuned circumstances, magnetism can make electrons and nuclei spin around like little tops, and therein lies the principle behind magnetic resonance imaging. But a simple, steady magnetic field has no effect at all on the human body.

For the case of blood flowing inside your body, the hemoglobin cells often carry iron atoms (which are magnetic), but these are not charged particles, so a nearby magnetic field has no effect. Chemically, the bond of iron-to-hemoglobin is weak, but the effect of magnetic forces nearby are much weaker still. If you want to increase your rate of blood flow, go out and exercise. Wearing a magnetic bracelet will have an effect less than about one billionth the effect of walking down to the mailbox and back.

As for iron and oxygen diffusing through your skin: A pitchman once said that after you wear the bracelet for 15 or 20 years, you'll see that it's starting to wear down, because some of the iron and oxygen have gone inside your body. That claim is complete nonsense. The total number of atoms moving that way is absolutely negligible. Oxygen in large quantities goes in and out through your lungs all the time, and not significantly through the pores of your skin. If you walk around on sand, how many atoms of silicon will go through your legs into your blood stream? If you rub your hand against something made of iron (say, a frying pan), how many iron atoms go through your skin? Five? Twenty? Take a small sip of orange juice and get 100 trillion atoms of iron.

The numbers of iron atoms being transferred are so few as to be unmeasurable. However, that explains why no government agency has shut down the pitchmen. It is impossible to "disprove a negative." Nobody can prove that a dozen iron atoms are not doing something to you. A century ago, pitchmen at traveling shows would sell "snake oil" to cure whatever ails you. The persuasiveness of the pitch was based on the mystique surrounding snakes – the more unknown, the better. Selling magnetic gimmicks is virtually the same thing – the sales pitch relies on the customer having a "gee-whiz" feeling of awe and wonder where magnetism is concerned.

LOCH LYNN HEIGHTS

•Leaf pick-up has started in Loch Lynn Heights, and will continue as long as weather permits. Mtn. Lake Park is again using its leaf truck to pick up the leaves. Leaves need to be raked to the edge of the road, not the alleys, in the ditch line, and not more than 10' from the paved road. Those who collect leaves in bags or containers must empty them by the roadside. The leaf truck is designed to allow one operator to collect loose leaves. Collection of bagged leaves defeats the purpose and increases the cost of collection to residents, said a spokesperson. Residents should not put twigs or branches in with the leaves because this will ruin the equipment.

•Trick-or-treat will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 31, from 5:30 until 6:30 p.m. Residents wishing to participate should turn on their porch lights.

The next regularly scheduled council meeting will be Nov. 7 at 6 p.m. at town hall.

Sewer Rehabilitation Project Update (Phase I, II & III) – Operations on this construction project have been closed down for the winter months. Final clean-up on Phase I and construction on Phase II will begin in spring 2007. It is expected that Phase II will be complete by fall 2007. The town is applying for additional grant funding to finance Phase III of the project. Subject to funding, the town hopes to have Phase III, the final phase of the project, completed by fall 2008.

Crystal Spring Loop Trail Project – Subject to weather conditions, paving of this .41-mile trail is expected to be complete by the end of next week. This trail project has an estimated completion date of mid-November.

Looking Back...

April 10, 1885... The association instructed the superintendent to employ as necessary someone to erect a restaurant building, a dining hall 24 x 40, a kitchen 14 x 18, a family room 14 x 16, and a pantry 8 x 12. A cellar under the kitchen to be built on stone pillars. Second story to be floored, but otherwise unfinished. The cost of this building not to exceed $1,000 if possible. Two Types of Rhinitis

Rhinitis causes nasal congestion, sneezing, itching, and runny nose. This condition affects more than 50 million people in the United States. Rhinitis often occurs in people who have asthma. The two types of rhinitis are allergic and non-allergic. Allergic rhinitis occurs when allergens cause the immune system to release substances such as histamine and leukotrienes, which lead to the symptoms of rhinitis. Non-allergic rhinitis does not involve the immune system and usually occurs in adults. Symptoms such as nasal congestion, nasal inflammation, and runny nose occur year-round in non-allergic rhinitis.

Treatment of allergic rhinitis begins with a plan to identify and avoid triggers of symptoms for each individual person. Leukotriene antagonists may be prescribed to treat all the symptoms of allergic rhinitis. Antihistamines are also used to treat this condition. Nasal corticosteroid sprays and decongestant sprays are used to treat both types of rhinitis. Decongestant sprays should only be used for short periods of time as they may cause medication-induced rhinitis if used for long periods of time. Allergy shots may be considered for persons with persistent symptoms, and are administered over a 3 to 5 year period.

Applications For Grants Sought By Historical Trust

The Maryland Historical Trust (MHT), an agency of the Maryland Department of Planning (MDP), is accepting applications for fiscal year 2008 grants under the MHT Historic Preservation and Museum Assistance grant programs. These grant programs are funded through the MHT Grant Fund and include grants for Capital and Non-Capital Historic Preservation and Museum Advancement.

Governor Robert L. Ehrlich Jr. more than doubled the non-capital grant program this past year, from $266,000 to $458,000. The Maryland Historical Trust's budget now includes nearly $2 million in grants to Maryland's historical and cultural museums, and the governor's 2007 budget includes $30 million for the rehabilitation tax credit program, a $10-million increase from the year before.

Nonprofit organizations and local jurisdictions are invited to apply for historic preservation grants to fund capital projects. Business entities and individuals may also apply for Capital Historic Preservation grants when preservation of the property serves a high public purpose. Eligible projects include the acquisition, rehabilitation, or restoration of historic property in Maryland.

Only nonprofit organizations and local jurisdictions may apply for historic preservation non-capital grants. Non-capital projects may include a wide array of historic preservation activities, ranging from historic property research, to survey and documentation work, to the development of historic preservation educational programs and planning documents.

Nonprofit museums and those museums operated by local governments that have been in operation for at least three years may apply for Museum Advancement grants. There are three types of Museum Advancement grants: Education and Planning grants that support long range planning activities; Museum Project challenge grants that support museum projects; and Museum Enhancement challenge grants that support program enhancements based on a percentage of operating budgets.

Completed applications for Capital Historic Preservation grants are due on December 8, 2006. Non-Capital Historic Preservation and Museum Advancement grant applicants must first submit an "Intention to Apply" form, which is due by December 8, 2006. Completed applications for Non-Capital Historic Preservation and Museum Advancement grants are due on March 30, 2007.

The project selection process will begin in spring 2007, and grant awards will be announced in early fall 2007. The maximum grant

Mandatory Beef Weigh-In Set For 4-H/FFA Members

Local 4-H and FFA members who plan to sell steers at the 2007 Garrett County Agricultural Fair must bring their steers to a fall weigh-in event, according to Ann C. Sherrard, extension educator for 4-H youth development.

The dates for the weigh-ins are Saturday, Nov. 4, from 8 a.m. to noon, and Saturday, Nov. 11, from noon to 3 p.m. at the Garrett County fairgrounds.

If the weather is bad, cancellation announcements will be made on radio stations WFRB and WKHJ. If it is necessary to reschedule one date, the make-up date will be Saturday, Nov. 18.

At the weigh-in, the animal will be weighed and tagged, and a veterinarian will also do a health check and provide immunizations, if needed.

"The Livestock Association representatives who will be conducting the weigh-in understand that you have not had a lot of time to work with your animal," Sherrard said.

For the weigh-in and tagging to go as smoothly as possible, members should abide by the following guidelines:

Livestock Association helpers will be at the scales to assist with livestock, but animals should be wearing halters. This does not mean that the animal is expected to be halter broken, but the halter will be used for restraining purposes.

Members should work with animals enough that they are comfortable with them and controllable.

Any market livestock animals tagged for the 2007 project year that qualify for competition in the county bred program must be identified and registered as a county bred animal at weigh-in and tagging.

The County Bred Market Animal Certification card must be utilized to register 2007 market livestock animals for the county bred program. The card should be completed upon arrival for weigh-in and tagging.

Members are reminded that only animals born in Garrett County are eligible for competition in this class. The following examples might be helpful in determining the eligibility of a market animal:

Animals purchased at the stock yard will be eligible for the county bred program if they were born in Garrett County. The stock yard staff can provide names and contact information on animals sold through the stockyard to help determine eligibility.

Animals purchased from a producer outside of the county by a Garrett County resident and resold to a Garrett County 4-H or FFA member are not eligible for the county bred program because they were not born in Garrett County.

Animals not registered at the time of tagging will not be eligible for the county bred program at the 2007 Garrett County Fair.

"Beef Weigh-In is a mandatory event for all youth with the market steer project," Sherrard said. "Please share this information with anyone who may be planning to have a steer for the first time in 2007."

Forms can be obtained from the extension office. Any questions can be directed to the Livestock Association at 301-334-5941 or the extension office at 301-334-6960.

Milk Producers Informed Of Requirements

Dairy producers participating in the Milk Income Loss Contract Extended (MILCX) program must select the month they wish production payments to begin, according to Michael R. Kozier, executive director of USDA's Farm Service Agency in Garrett and Allegany counties.

"If producer's start month for fiscal year 2006 was never modified, then the production start month will remain in effect for this fiscal year and no action by the producer is necessary," Kozier said. "Also, if producers have already designated a production start month for FY 2007 and they do not wish to change it, no action is necessary."

Changes to the MILCX start month must be submitted to the county office on or before the 14th of the month originally selected as the start month or as the newly selected start month. If the 14th of the month falls on a weekend, as is the case this month, the dairy operation production start month selection must be made on the last working day preceeding the weekend. The start month designation cannot be changed if the new month being selected has already begun or already passed.

The Deficit Reduction Act of 2005 (the Act), amended the MILC program established by the Farm Security and Rural Investment Act of 220 (the 2002 Farm Bill), which authorized the original MILC program through Sept. 30, 2005. From Oct. 1, 2005 through Aug. 31, 2007, a dairy operation's monthly payment will equal the milk quantity sold in that month multiplied by 34 percent of the difference between $16.94 per hundredweight and that month's domestic Class I milk price. The 2002 Farm Bill originally set the payment rate factor at 45 percent.

USDA's Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) will make payments on an operation-by-operation basis, up to a maximum of 2.4 million pounds of milk produced and marketed by the dairy operation per fiscal year.

Eligible dairy producers are those who commercially produce milk in the United States. To receive program approval, producers must enter into a contract with CCC to provide monthly marketing data.

Dairy producers can apply for MILC at local FSA offices and online at www.fsa.usda.gov under Milk Income Loss Contract Extension (MILC-X).

More information on MILC is available at local FSA offices and at the website under Milk Income Loss Contract Program.

Grants Available To Help Promote Md. Agriculture

The Maryland Agriculture Council Inc. is now accepting grant applications for its 2007 awards. Projects receiving funding will promote Maryland Agriculture and may originate from individuals or organizations with requests up to $7,000.

The application deadline is Nov. 3. Awards will be announced at the Maryland Agriculture Legislative Dinner, to be held Thursday, Feb. 1, 2007, in Glen Burnie.

Applications can be obtained from the Maryland Agriculture Council Grant Committee chairperson, Frank Allnutt, at 301-432-2767, ext. 308, or fallnutt@umd.edu.

Special consideration will be given to applications that would maximize the value of the grant by using matching funds or in-kind donations, according to the council.

USDA Issues Final Direct 2006 Payments

The USDA's Commodity Creditor Corporation (CCC) has started to issue final 2006 direct payments to producers with base acres enrolled in the Direct and Counter-Cyclical Program (DCP) and final 2005 crop corn counter-cyclical payments to producers on enrolled farms with corn crop acreage bases in the program, according to Michael R. Kozier, executive director for USDA's Farm Service Agency in Garrett and Allegany counties.

"These direct and counter-cyclical payments are being issued on schedule," said Kozier.

The final 2005 crop corn counter-cyclical payment (CCP) rate is 35 cents per bushel. The 2002 Farm Bill authorizes partial CCP allotments in October and February, with final payments made at the end of the marketing year. Producers with corn base who accepted partial payments in October 2005 and February 2006 received 28 cents per bushel. They are due an additional 7 cents per bushel. The final marketing year price for 2005 crop corn is $2 per bushel.

Since the effective price for soybeans exceeds the target price, CCC will not issue any 2005 crop soybean CCPs. The final marketing year price for 2005 crop soybeans is $5.66 per bushel.

To receive direct or counter-cyclical payments, producers with base acres must be enrolled in DCP in the respective program year for an eligible commodity. Producers with base acres of the following commodities are eligible for DCP payments: barley, corn, grain sorghum (including dual purpose varieties that can be harvested as grain), oats, peanuts, rice (excluding wild rice), soybeans, upland cotton, wheat, and oil and non-oil varieties of canola, crambe, flaxseed, mustard, rapeseed, safflower, sesame and sunflower.

Direct payments are not based on producers' current production choices, but instead are tied to historical acreage bases and yields. For each commodity, the direct payment for each crop year equals 85 percent of the farm's commodity base acreage times the farm's direct payment yield times the direct payment rate.

The CCP rate is the amount by which a commodity's target price exceeds its effective price. The effective price equals the direct payment rate plus the higher of: (1) the national average market price received by producers during the marketing year, or (2) the national average loan rate for the commodity.

These payments also are not based on producers' current production choices, but instead are tied to historical acreage bases and yields. The CCP amount equals the CCP rate, times 85 percent of the farm's commodity base acreage, times the farm's CCP yield for that commodity. The Farm Service Agency distributes direct payments and CCPs on behalf of CCC.

For more information on the DCP program, persons may visit their local USDA Service Center or www.fsa.usda.gov.

PERSONALS

A surprise birthday party was held Wednesday evening for Pastor Joyce Anderson at Otterbein United Methodist Church, given by both Otterbein and Mt. Bethel Church of Kitzmiller, where Pastor Joyce is pastor. There were 46 persons in attendance.

Jamie, Ellida, and Warren Bernard, Warrenton, Va., visited family and friends over the weekend.

Richard and Renee Schofield and children, Williamsburg, Va., spent the weekend with family and friends around the Swanton area.

Leslie, Tracy and Anthony Beckman, West Farmington, Ohio, came Friday to spend the weekend with his parents and brother, Melvin, Dotty, and Andrew Beckman. They returned home Sunday afternoon.

Mary Moats is a patient at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Lynn Beckman is home recuperating after being a patient in a Morgantown hospital last week.

Chris Lee is home after being a patient in a hospital in Cumberland last week.

SWANTON GIRL SCOUTS ATTEND REUNION – Swanton residents Carolyn Livengood, on the left, and Linda Glotfelty, lifetime Girl Scout members, and their husbands John Livengood and Ross Glotfelty recently attended the Girl Scout Roundup Reunion in Button Bay, Vt. There they joined Girl Scout alumni from the United States and Great Britain. In addition to singing around the campfire and reminiscing, the weeklong camping experience included hiking on the Robert Frost Trail, visiting Middlebury's Frog Hollow art district and the Trapp Family Lodge at Stowe, learning to fly fish, touring Ben and Jerry's factory, sailing and cruising on Lake Champlain, and visiting Cold Hollow Cider Mill. In 1959 Linda (Teets) Glotfelty and Carolyn (O'Brien) Livengood were selected from the Tri Towns Girl Scout Lone Troop Association to be among the nation's Girl Scouts who would attend the Senior Roundup in Colorado Springs, Colo. Three other Roundups were held: Michigan in 1956, Vermont in 1962, and Idaho in 1965. Christa McAuliffe, teacher in space, attended the 1965 Roundup in Idaho, and in her memory, a documentary of her life was presented at the campfire which celebrated the girls who attended the 1965 Roundup.

GC Finds Support In Developing "Lights On Afterschool" Program

by Ann Sherrard, 4-H Youth Development Educator Garrett County Extension Office

"All across the country, "Lights On Afterschool" events were held during the second week of October. This initiative was an effort of children, parents, community, and after-school supporters to join together to call attention to the importance of after-school programs.

In Garrett County, the "Lights On" theme was celebrated by nearly 250 individuals at the 4-H camp near Bittinger. During the opening session, the many benefits of after-school participation were highlighted. Young people in after-school receive homework assistance, develop supportive relationships with peers and adults, have an opportunity for physical activity, and participate in cultural and community service projects.

Opening remarks and words of encouragement to the students were offered by Larry Gnegy, Denny Glotfelty, and Betty Pritt. The youth and parents attending the afler-school rally received a demonstration from Deputy Chris Helbig, Garrett County Sheriff's Office. Deputy Helbig provided an educational talk about the K-9 program and offered an exciting demonstration of his dog in action. Despite gloomy weather, the young people attending participated in nature hikes, a scales and tails presentation, and team building activities.

A highlight of the celebration was the introduction of each of five after-school groups in attendance. As each group approached the fireplace, its after-school coordinator gave a description of the luminary constructed at its site. Next, each site gave a review of its recent activities, and participants were given an opportunity to add to the bonfire. The message was that each of the participants, and leader, add their own special glow to the program.

The Lights On Afterschool event was coordinated by staff from Community Action, the Garrett County Health Department, the Garrett County Extension Office, and the Partnership for Children and Families. Each of these organizations provides support to after-school programs throughout the county. In addition, staffing support was provided by AmeriCorps members and representatives of the Allen Hall Stars from Frostburg State University.

Marvin Beckman, afterschool coordinator for the Partnership for Children and Families, stated, "Many families can benefit from afterschool care for their children. Young people in after-school programs are not only safer but are more likely to have success in school. Providing quality programs is a priority for the county."

Support for after-school programs in Garrett County is a collaborative endeavor. The Partnership for Children and Families administers the MSDE 21st Century Community Learning Centers and the Governor's Office for Children's Early Intervention and Prevention grants, covering six sites as well as the School Community Centers Program (SCCP). The Garrett County Community Action Committee supports the Grantsville site through the Collaborative Supervision and Focused Enforcement (C-SAFE) Initiative of the Governor's Office of Crime Control and Prevention. Both the Garrett County Cooperative Extension Office and the Garrett County Health Department provide learning activities and programming at after-school sites in the county, and the Garrett County Board of Education administers the SCCP programs at all county elementary schools. People may contact Linda Green at 301-334-9431 for information about Partners Afterschool at Loch Lynn, Overlook, Friendsville, and Grantsville. People are asked to contact Sam Moon at 301-334-7730 for information about Partners Afterschool at Accident, Kitzmiller, and Southern Middle and Northern Middle schools.

Tammy Humberson, 4-H Afterschool coordinator, said, "This year the 4-H Aflerschool program is focusing on environmental education. The camp is a great location for this type of programming. We were pleased to host this important Lights On Afterschool event." The after-school activities provided by the 4-H staff are funded by a grant from the United States Department of Agriculture.

Real Estate Facts by...

INSURING THE PAST!

Title insurance is among the costs of successfully closing a real estate transaction, but many people don't understand what this is for, or why they must pay for it. First of all, realize that title insurance works differently from traditional insurance policies in a very important way.

Other types of policies may protect you from future events, and you must continue to pay the premiums for as long as you want that protection. Title insurance is (usually) a one-time purchase that actually protects you against losses arising from hazards from the past.

Why is it so important to own clear title to a property? Last year, the biggest issue that title insurers covered was obtaining releases or pay-offs for liens that were discovered during a title search (like unpaid prior mortgages, taxes, child support, etc.) You wouldn't want to buy a home, and then have creditors show up and say, "Sorry, but the previous owner owes us and this house was the collateral."

If you question the cost of title insurance, keep in mind that many companies often search records back fifty years or more to discover and correct problems, often without even involving the homebuyer.

Be sure to ask the real estate agent any questions you have about title insurance or other fees included at closing. A little knowledge can go a long way.

If you'd like to buy or sell a home, but feel "out of touch" with what's happening in real estate, give me a call today!

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

BUCKWHEAT-PANCAKE DINNER

Just a reminder about the buckwheat-pancake dinner with sausage, sausage gravy, and syrup to be held this Friday evening, Oct. 20, at the Bittinger fire hall between 4:30 and 7 p.m. It is sponsored by the Bittinger 4-H Club. It will be the first one without the help of Donald Sealing. I am sure everyone will feel the loss of him; not just his physical help, but also his support of the 4-H program in Bittinger and the county.

ORDINATION

Linda Buckel, Ruth DiPaolo, and Cindy and Sam Stanton attended the ordination for Randolf Richardson on Saturday at Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church, Wheeling, W.Va. Pastor Randy began his new pastorate Sunday morning with three church services in the Bittinger Parish. We extend a heartfelt welcome to his wife Cindy and him to our beautiful county.

The worst thing about fall is the lack of the birds singing to wake me up in the early morning hours. My ex and I used to debate when we thought the autumn colors were at their peak. We are enjoying a long period of peak colors, with several weeks of gorgeous colors. Even though some leaves fell from the trees very early, most trees are still hanging onto their leaves. You can't go in any direction from my home without seeing some sensational scenes, especially in Brenneman's Grove, which was featured in a photograph in last week's Republican. But you really can't capture its beauty, as I have tried many times. It is even harder to paint. Even though I understand the construction of the split-rail fence, it never just looks right in my paintings. That does not mean I will stop trying to paint it.

Even though the beaver dam is dried up, I still wish I could see it in its autumn glory as I did for dozens of years.

It was good to see Jim Leyland looking happy instead of having the worried look when his Detroit Tigers won the American League pennant. It is not as good as if it were the Pirates winning, but it is something to root for in October. Actually, it seems like our Pittsburgh Steelers are finally getting their act together after a dismal start. They couldn't do any wrong against the Kansas City Chiefs.

I enjoyed some company during Sunday's afternoon football session. My brother Barry and cousin Mike Englar spent some time with me watching the exciting game.

I certainly hope we do not get any early, frozen precipitation. I would be very unhappy if all these colored leaves would bring their limbs down like they did a couple years ago, even though the colored leaves with a thin coating of ice make a beautiful sight. I remember when my mother returned home from a cruise the trees were broken down and lay on the roads, and she had to take some detours to get home, only to find no electricity for too many days. That winter she decided to buy a generator.

I see in the news that many people are buying generators in the New England area due to the recent two feet of snow in the Buffalo area.

Bill and Sheila Southerly joined some of Bill's classmates and David and Donna Buckel from Lexington, Ky., at the West Virginia University homecoming celebration at Morgantown on Saturday. The Mountaineers, after a slow start in the first half of the football game, finally got rolling in the second half and recorded a significant victory over Syracuse.

The weather has been so beautiful with the blue sky and sunshine, but that cold northern wind kind of ruined it by bringing down a lot of leaves. It felt downright bitter.

Pam Poholsky from Murrysville, Pa., was a weekend guest of Sally and Lenny Poholsky.

Brent, Kelley, Wyatt, and Teagan Beachy of Bethlehem, Pa., were weekend guests of Dave and Nancy Beachy.

Ferne Beachy visited with Mabel Stanton recently.

Anna Marie (Raley) Messick celebrated her 80th birthday with dinner at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club on Saturday. Relatives attending were Bill and Thelma Emory, Gary and Kathleen Fratz, Jean Wright, Lenny and Sally Poholsky, and Ferne Beachy.

Ruth DiPaolo spent several days this week with Betty Sacra in Winchester.

FIRST SuGO EVENT DEEMED A SUCCESS – Pictured above are the winners and finalists of the first Autumn Glory SuGO Event. From left to right are the winners, Andrew Beitzel, John McGettigan, and A.J. Stork; and second place finalists, the "Sumo Trio" team of Kris Moon, Becca Lee, and Mik Ruggiero. The teams were provided with a basic set of Lego parts to get them started, but then they had tables full of other parts to choose from to make a unique design that was powerful enough to push their opponent off the Sumo table. A light sensor detected the white border around the board and told the robot to back up. The "eye" sensors on the front of the robot told the robot to go forward after the opponent's robot. Justin Ziefel, Sadie McCartney, and Dusty, Emily, and Rachel Huxford also received Innovation awards for using unique ideas in building their robot. Justin's robot used twin chains to create a powerful 4-wheel drive system. "The event was a great success and a lot of fun," said a spokesperson. The students of the county's FIRST (First Inspiration and Recognition of Science and Technology) Robotics and FIRST Lego Leagues (FLL) sponsored the event. These groups are also organizing the Garrett Engineering and Robotics Society (GEARS). This SuGO event was the first of many GEARS family events to encourage all ages to learn more about math, science, engineering, and robotics. There were 15 teams with a total of 39 members who attended this event at Garrett College. GEARS plans to be in its permanent Accident location in November for an FLL practice competition and then plans to host another SuGO event over the Christmas holidays. Persons may visit the SuGO web site (sugo.TheGEARS.org) for competition photos and future updates.

Grants Sought

award for Capital and Non-Capital historic preservation grants is $50,000.

A dollar-for-dollar match is required of local jurisdictions, individuals, and business entities for capital grants, and of all local jurisdictions for non-capital grants. Nonprofit organizations are not required to provide a match for either of the historic preservation grant programs; however, those projects that do include funding from other sources will be more competitive in the grant selection process.

Applicants for Museum Project challenge grants and Museum Enhancement challenge grants must provide a dollar-for-dollar match. Matching funds are desired but not required for education and planning grants.

MHT funding priorities for FY 2008 include an emphasis on the application of the U.S. Department of the Interior's Standards for Rehabilitation, National Register significance of the property, and consistency with MHT's goals of encouraging heritage resource protection and increasing public awareness and appreciation of Maryland's architectural, archeological, or cultural heritage.

For information, applications, and copies of the open project selection criteria, persons may contact the appropriate MHT staff member. For capital projects, persons should contact Claudette Sherman at 410-514-7633 or csherman-@mdp.state.md.us; for non-capital projects, persons should contact Nicole Diehlmann at 410-514-7625 or ndiehlmann@mdp.-state.md.us; and for museum advancement grants, persons should contact Mary Alexander at 410-514-7622 or malexander@mdp.-state.md.us.

Persons may also write to the Maryland Historical Trust at the Maryland Department of Planning, 100 Community Place, Crownsville, MD 21032-2023. Applications are available to download from the Internet at www.marylandhistoricaltrust.net under "forms and documents."

BERKEBILE FOR SHERIFF
OUR CHILDREN ARE OUR FUTURE
Vote
Both of my daughters have attended the Garrett County School system and Garrett College, giving me not only the community perspective, but also the view and interest of a parent. I have become familiar with the school officials as a law enforcement officer and as a concerned parent. This has given me a unique perspective on the needs and concerns of our public school sytem.
Protecting the youth of Garrett County is at the core of my commitment to you. As your Sheriff, I will continue to meet regularly with school officials to constantly seek new ways to keep our children and our schools safe.

AURORA/EGLON

JAMISON TO MARK 100TH BIRTHDAY

The family of Fern (Elsey) Jamison invites her relatives, friends, and former students to join them on Oct. 28 to celebrate her 100th birthday. Her party will take place at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building from 2 until 4 p.m. The family asks that gifts be only in the form of cards.

Mrs. Jamison taught both in Rowlesburg and Aurora schools and has many former students in this area. Those who can't make it to the party may send cards to her at RR 1 Box 353C, Aurora WV 26705.

BOLYARD BIRTH

Caden David Bolyard was born Oct. 12, 2006, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital to Cheryl Minnick and Christopher Bolyard of Gormania. He weighed 7 pounds, 11 ounces at birth, and his Eglon grandparents are Dayton and Betty Bolyard.

PERSONAL MENTION

A Saturday celebration of the 80th birthdays of Dale Harsh and Wilda Harsh of Aurora was attended by about 50 family members. Dale was released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital to attend, and on Monday was transferred to Health South Rehab in Morgantown for further physical therapy.

A three-vehicle collision at the Aurora U.S. 50 and Fox Road/Stemple Ridge Road crossing called out the local fire departments and Union Ambulance on Oct. 9. The following evening, a harvesting machine caught fire in one of the fields just south of that same location. Quick action from the Aurora firemen saved that situation from spreading into the corn.

A West Marva District Church of the Brethren Fall Rally for women of the churches brought out 73 ladies who traveled to Moorefield to attend. "Using Our Talents for the Children" was the day's theme and was enhanced by Suzi Fike as she spoke about the Sucre, Bolivia, orphanage, "Shalom is My Home." Many local men and women have been involved in this project, particularly with the building, but the sponsorship of one of the children there is also needed. The various groups brought their kits for Church World Service, along with money for purchase of blankets and tools, and sent offerings to both Sucre and Sudan. Attending from Brookside were Connie Baker, Lois Waybright, and Donna Moats, and from Maple Spring were Dorothy Spaid, Kathern Walker, and Jean Winters.

A new program of "Lights On After School," sponsored by Project ISAAC and Preston County After School Explorers, was held Oct. 12 at the Kingwood Civic Center. County elementary schools sponsored crafts and activities. Aurora School's exhibit was a "Sheep-to-Shawl" demonstration, with Mark Teets providing the sheep, David Moran spinning, and Marie Teets knitting.

Eileen Rembold, Jean Kontas, and Virginia Kania came from Pittsburgh on Oct. 11 to view the fall colors. They stopped for a short visit with Eileen's sister and brother-in-law, Wilma Mae and David Teets, at Horse Shoe Run, and returned to Pittsburgh that afternoon.

Elora Nowery was 3 years old on Oct. 14, and celebrated with a birthday party at the home of her parents, Jason and Amanda Mowery, at Horse Shoe Run. Also attending were her brothers, grandparents Paul and Karen Teets, great-grand-parents David and Wilma Mae Teets, uncles, aunts, and cousins Rita and Dave Harsh, Joe, Elma, Ethan and Jolena Slaubaugh, and Jessica and Jaryn Teets.

Ken and Linda Brockel of Neptune, N.J., were visitors Sunday to Wednesday of last week with her aunt, Jessie Fedorow, in Aurora.

Visiting with Mark and LaDeana Teets at Amboy this weekend were their son, Tom Teets of Fairfax, Va., and his fiancée.

Mary Lou and Mike Miller of Franklin, N.Y., were Sunday overnight guests of her parents, Wilma Mae and David Teets, Horse Shoe Run, as they made a return trip from visiting her son in Tennessee.

A family reunion was held last week at the Doyle Roth home in Eglon. Here were Doyle and his friend,

Ladies Aux. Post 6735 Set To Hold Special Meeting

The Ladies Auxiliary VFW Post 6735 in Mt. Storm will hold a special meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 24, at 6:30 p.m. at the VFW Post. The purpose of this meeting will be to plan the annual Veterans Day bean dinner. All members are encouraged to attend.

The auxiliary reported that president Denise Sirk and treasurer Ila Crumbaugh attended the fall conference held in Martinsburg on Sept. 23. The auxiliary received recognition for its publicity and Americanism reports at that time.

Committee reports given at the regular October meeting stated that Americanism chair Debbie Harvey has visited schools in both Mt. Storm and Elk Garden and presented pre-school children with coloring sheets and books, handouts on the proper care of the flag of the United States, and copies of the national anthem and the Pledge of Allegiance. Each student is working on learning the pledge and will be presented with flags and pledge pencils when they have completed this. Harvey also reported that the information on the VOD and Patriot's Pen essay contests have been given to teachers at Union Educational Complex to be shared with their students.

Pre-school students at UEC made cards that were sent to the veterans' hospital. Cancer chair Charlene Junkins shared bags filled with items promoting breast cancer awareness with all members present at the meeting. Patriotic instructor Ramona Hanlin shared copies of "Why The Flag Is Folded" with all who were present. Delores Cox reported that several cards had been sent out to auxiliary and post members to let them know they were in the thoughts of the auxiliary members.

School supplies were collected and taken to UEC to be given to students who were in need. A donation was made to the Shoebox for Veterans Fund to purchase needed supplies. Sponsorships were also sent to the Mt. Storm Food Pantry and to the Mt. Storm Methodist Church for fruit baskets for the elderly in the community.

The auxiliary will raffle a $200 Wal-Mart gift card in December.

The November meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 14, at 7 p.m. All members are encouraged to attend, and members who have not submitted their membership dues of $17.50 are encouraged to do so.

TA Nazarene Church Set To Hold Revival

The Terra Alta Nazarene Church on Brandonville Street will hold a revival from Oct. 24 through Oct. 27 at 7 p.m. nightly and on Sunday, Oct. 29, at 11 a.m., with Dr. Ron Roth from Springfield, Mo.

Roth is a "fervent preacher who believes the Bible is inspired in all of its parts and thus infallible and inerrant," said a spokespersons. "He is convinced that the Second Coming of Christ is near."

TERRA ALTA NEWS

CLEAN-UP WEEK

Clean-up Week will start on Oct. 30. The town staff, with the help of volunteers, will offer free pick-up of refuse items on Tuesday, Oct. 31, and Thursday, Nov. 2. Residents are asked to contact town hall at 789-6664 for the pick-up of large Freon-free items.

This clean-up effort is supported and endorsed by the mayor and town council, Terra Alta Betterment Inc. (TABI), the VFW, Alpine Lake Beautification Committee, Terra Alta Civic Club, Terra Alta Moose Lodge, and Terra Alta Economic Development.

Persons are encouraged to discard junk cars, old appliances, scrap lumber, trash and other unnecessary items from their properties. Residents are reminded that a town ordinance requires property owners to maintain clean and safe properties. A complete copy of the ordinance can be viewed at the town hall.

High Country and Clear Mountain Bank have donated Buckwheat Festival hogs to be raffled off by TABI and the town. They will raffle off 1/2 hogs at $1 per ticket or 6 chances for $5. There will be three chances to win in the drawing, which will be held at the Tree Lighting Celebration on Dec. 1 at the Community Building. Proceeds will go toward the concrete work at the new bathrooms and steps for the Shaw Pavilion.

TABI is currently looking for someone to organize the Ceremony at the Park Christmas Parade. Interested persons should contact Joyce Cotter at 789-6229 or Carol Burdick at 789-6864.

A get-together hosted by the local Democratic Party and Congressman Alan Mollohan will be held at the Community Building on Friday, Oct. 27, at 6:30 p.m.

CRANBERRY GARDEN CLUB

The Cranberry Garden Club will meet on Nov. 16, 7 p.m., at the WVU Extension Office in Kingwood to learn more about the cultivation of cranberries, West Virginia cranberry heritage, and special health benefits of cranberries. As part of the program, members will learn how to make some cranberry relishes and chutneys.

Officers for the Garden Club were elected over the summer. Susan Sisler is president, Mildred Lindley is vice president, Phyllis Teets is the treasurer, and Nat McCarthy is the secretary.

The Cranberry Garden Club of Preston County, which is open to men and women, meets generally on the third Thursday of the month in the Terra Alta and Kingwood areas. Dues are $15 per year. For more information, persons may call 329-1117.

NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH

A Neighborhood Watch meeting will be held this evening, Oct. 19, at 7 p.m. at the town hall.

CORNERSTONE SUNDAY

Reverend Michael Daniels of the Terra Alta First United Methodist Church has announced Sunday, Oct. 29, as the church's celebration of the 106th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone. A distinctive morning worship service is planned, including special music featuring both adults and children.

A covered dish dinner will follow in the Fellowship Hall with entertainment through the early afternoon.

The congregation is encouraged to wear period clothing, circa 1900.

The Preston County Chorus rehearsals for this year's Christmas concert will be at 7 p.m. on Tuesdays at the First United Methodist Church under the direction of Wayne Williams. The concert will be given on Dec. 8, 7 p.m., at

G'ville Business Group To Hold Planning Session

The Greater Grantsville Business Association will meet on Wednesday, Oct. 25, at 8 a.m. at Penn Alps Restaurant to set a course for 2007. Members will discuss their business concerns and ways to address them.

"We want to get as much input as possible from our members and associate members so we can more effectively support our business community," said GGBA president Peggy Santamaria.

Enhancing the GGBA web site will top the agenda. "We currently have a really good informative web site with many links to member businesses and other organizations. Most people use the Internet to plan travel and to find services and goods. We want to be sure that all our members are well positioned on the web for the greatest possible access," Santamaria explained.

Members will be asked to suggest topics they would like addressed by speakers at future monthly meetings. "Lack of access to affordable health insurance is a major issue and should appear on our agenda. We may be able to help our members explore the alternatives in the marketplace. If members are interested, we may be able to establish some sort of purchasing co-op for office and business supplies," Santamaria said.

In recent months the GGBA has offered members the opportunity to advertise cooperatively for better buying power and increased recognition as a business community.

"We would like to hear from members about other areas of interest and hope that as many people as possible will attend the October meeting," she added.

ANNUAL HALLOWEEN PARADE SLATED – The 2006 Halloween parade, sponsored by the Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club to benefit the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, will be held on Thursday, Oct. 26. The parade will form on Center Street in front of the Mary Browning Senior Center at 6:30 p.m. Judging will take place on Second Street between Green and Alder streets. Prizes will be awarded to the best costumes in each age group. All prize winners will pick up their prizes inside the fire hall. Parade participants may return to the fire hall to receive a bag of treats. The fire hall will be the site for games and cake walks and food service. Chances for a 20-inch flat screen TV with built in DVD player will be available from Lions Club members and at the door. "Please come and support your local fire department," said a spokesperson.

Ice Cream Social Set At Pa. Church

St. John's Lutheran Church, Main St., Addison, Pa., is sponsoring an Ice Cream Social on Sunday, Oct. 29, beginning at 4 p.m.

Soups, sandwiches, drinks, pies, and ice cream will be served. Thrivent Financial for Lutherans will match funds raised for the window restoration.

For more information, persons may call 814-395-5725.

AURORA/EGLON

Muriel Parsons, Joann and Mahlon Fissel, Altoona, Pa., Glenn and Norma Lantz of Simpsonville, S.C., and Lowell and Marlene Taylor of Modesto, Calif. All of these, plus local relatives Sandra and Bill Hauser, Joe and Stephanie Hauser and children, Wade Hauser, Mary, Shawn and Craig Rembold, and Gary Roth met at Gary's home for a dinner.

"LIGHT THE NIGHT" EVENT SET

The Maple Grove Assembly of God will sponsor a "Light the Night" evening in conjunction with trick-or-treat night on Oct. 31, from 6 until 8 p.m. at the parsonage.

There will be games, prizes, and treats for all children up to 12 years of age who stop by the parsonage at that time.

SCHOOL NEWS

The Aurora School float placed first in its class at the Buckwheat Festival in Saturday's parade. Sponsoring businesses included Coastal Lumber Co., Miners and Merchants Bank, Clear Mountain Bank, Alternatives 2 Wood, and Mountain Lions Club.

Todd Arnold and crew donated materials and built a realistic barn for the playground at Aurora School.

Trick-or-treat night in the Aurora area will be Oct. 31 from 6 until 8 p.m. As in the past, outside porch lights will need to be on to indicate that residents are handing out treats.

Saturday, Oct. 28, is the date for the Fall Festival which will run from 5 until 8 p.m. Turkey dinners will be served and other goodies will be available. Games will begin at 5:30 p.m. There will also be a haunted house and a fortune teller for the children's enjoyment. Harvest Basket tickets are being sold by students.

Donation jars have been placed in local businesses to receive donations for playground equipment. The students voted on a piece of equipment they would like and are working toward that goal.

PERSONAL MENTION

Hancell "Jake" and Mildred Teets of Aurora went recently to Shepherdstown, where their immediate family gathered at the home of Ron and Judy Kepple. Mark, Lisa, Ashton, and Juliana Kepple of Wheeling, Andrew, Jill, and Claire Lutz of Williamsburg, Va., and Scott and Sharon Teets of Jefferson City, Tenn., were either attending a wedding reception for a friend and neighbor or babysitting the younger set.

In addition to the children of Dale Harsh being here for their father's and stepmother's 80th birthdays, Mrs. Harsh's sister and brother-in-law, Beatrice and George Dean of Concord, Calif., spent last week here.

Stanley Harsh of Amboy has been a patient at Garrett County Memorial Hospital and is awaiting transfer to a nursing home.

Medicare Part D Information Session Slated

A presentation about Medicare Part D will be given at the Mary Browning Senior Center in Oakland on Monday, Oct. 23, at 11:30 a.m.

Persons who have questions about the care plan are encouraged to attend. Persons who wish to stay for lunch afterward should make a reservation by 9 a.m. that day by calling 301-334-9431, ext. 135.

Soup, Salad Luncheon Set

The Westernport Church of the Brethren will hold a soup and salad luncheon on Friday, Nov. 3, from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m.

The menu will be vegetable, chicken noodle, or broccoli soup, salad bar, homemade rolls, dessert, and drink. An "odds and ends" table will be available with various items for sale.

Persons wishing to place orders for soup should contact Bill Shimer at 301-359-9745 no later than Wednesday, Nov. 1, for pick-up after 11 a.m. on Friday, Nov. 3.

The public is invited to attend. The church is located at 198 Oakview Drive, Westernport.

Church Event For Children Set For Sat. At Deer Park

A special program for children called "Heroes Unmasked" will be held this Saturday, Oct. 21, at the Deer Park Community Building from 4 to 6 p.m.

Sponsored by Mt. Top Christian Assembly of God Church, Heroes Unmasked is an "all-fun, no-fear Bible adventure and learning experience," noted a church spokesperson. Children and their families will encounter costumed Bible hero actors, play carnival games, eat snacks, and collect Bible hero cards to trade and treasure.

"Meeting the costumed Bible hero actors and interacting with the themed games is huge fun. All kids have heroes," said Pastor Daniel Winters. "At the Heroes Unmasked event, kids will meet heroes worth having — and have a ball at carnival games as well."

Heroes Unmasked is for children of all ages, and provides a way for them to learn more about God's love, according to Pastor Daniel Winters.

All are welcome to attend. Admission is free. For more information, people may call 301-334-8422.

"TRIALS AND TRIBULATIONS" OF WORKING FOLK TO BE PRESENTED – Audiences will learn the history of coal miners, railroad workers, iron and steel workers, labor heroes, and the villains who robbed them through original folk songs that present the true stories of the trials and tribulations of working class citizens on Monday, Oct. 23, at 7:30 p.m. at the Folk Meeting House in Springs, Pa. The event is sponsored by the Springs Historical Society. Gregory Zaborowski will relate the events through original music, dress, and story. A commonwealth speaker for the Pennsylvania Humanities Council and folk musician, Zaborowski received the Freeman Tilden Award for excellence in interpretation and education. He is currently historian and education specialist for the National Park Service in Johnstown, Pa. His presentation is a program of the Pennsylvania Humanities Council, supported in part by the National Endowment for the Humanities and its "We the People Initiative." The Folk Meeting House is located along Rt. 669, Springs Road.

GARRETT COUNTY
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
October 31, 2006

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will conduct a Public Hearing to obtain the views of citizens on community development and housing needs, and to offer citizens the opportunity to hear and review plans for applications which the Board of Garrett County Commissioners proposes to submit to the State. These projects include a transit facility to be developed on Route 135, the Adventure Sports Center on Marsh Mountain and an application to support the Garrett County municipal codes program. The hearing will be held in the Garrett County Commissioners meeting room in the Courthouse at 203 South Fourth Street in Oakland on October 31, 2006 at 10:30 a.m.

The Maryland Community Development Block Grant Program is a federally sponsored program designed to assist units of general local government with activities directed toward neighborhood and housing revitalization, economic development and improved community facilities and services.

Maryland's Program is administered by the Department of Housing and Community Development, in close cooperation with the Department of Business and Economic Development.

The Maryland Program reflects the State's economic and community development priorities and provides public funds for activities which meet one of the following national objectives, in accordance with the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended: (1) give maximum feasible priority to activities which will benefit low and moderate income persons and households having an income equal to or less than the Section 8 lower income limits established by HUD; (2) aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight; (3) meet other community development needs of an urgent nature, or that are an immediate threat to community health and welfare.

Efforts will be made to accommodate the disabled and non-English speaking residents with five days notice to Duane Yoder at 301-334-9431.

SUBSTITUTED TRUSTEES' SALE OF VALUABLE FEE SIMPLE DWELLING PROPERTY KNOWN AS NO. 106 MITCHELL DRIVE OAKLAND, MARYLAND 21550

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Michael P. Zambernardi and Elizabeth T. Zambernardi to B. George Ballman, Trustee(s), dated March 2, 2005 and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County in Liber No. 1103, folio 251, and Declaration of Substitution of Trustees dated September 21, 2006 and recorded among the aforementioned Land Records substituting Thomas P. Dore, Mark S. Devan, Jennifer Matthews Herring, J. Patrick Gill and Kristen K. Haskins as Substituted Trustees under the Deed of Trust aforesaid, Mercantile Mortgage Corporation being the current holder of the Note(s) secured thereby, and default having occurred under the terms thereof, the undersigned Substituted Trustees will offer for sale at public auction, at the Courthouse door, Alder Street entrance, Oakland, Maryland on Tuesday, October 31, 2006 at 2:30 PM.

All that lot of ground and the improvements thereon situate in Garrett County, State of Maryland, and described as follows:

BEING all that property described in a Deed of Trust dated March 2, 2005 and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County in Liber No. 1103, folio 251.

The improvements thereon being known as No. 106 Mitchell Drive.

The improvements thereon consist of a dwelling.

The property will be sold in "As Is" condition, subject to any existing building violations, etc. and also subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting same, if any. Neither the trustees nor their respective agents, successors or assigns make any representation or warranties, either expressed or implied with respect to the property including without limitation, description, use, recorded or unrecorded leases or other occupancy agreements, if any, operating and management agreements, physical conditions or to the environmental conditions of the subject property. The Substituted Trustees shall be required to convey insurable title.

A Statement of Mortgage Debt has been filed in the foreclosure case in the approximate amount of $142,000.00.

TERMS OF THE SALE: Cash or certified check deposit in the amount of $21,500.00 will be required of the purchaser (other than the above-named Holder) at the time and place of sale, balance in cash, immediately within twenty (20) days of the final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court of Garrett County, time being of the essence, and to bear interest at the rate of 8% per annum from date of sale to date of settlement. In the event the above-named Holder purchases the property at the sale as the high bidder thereat, no deposit will be required and the requirement of interest on the balance of the purchase price shall be waived. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of the interest. If the purchaser defaults, in addition to all other remedies including but not limited to attorney fees, the Substituted Trustees may declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of both sales, attorney fees and all other charges due and incidental and consequential damages. Taxes, water rent and ground rent, if any, to be adjusted to date of sale. All other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges to be adjusted for the current year to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps and transfer taxes shall be borne by the purchaser.

Purchaser shall have the responsibility of obtaining possession of the property. In the event the Substituted Trustees do not convey title for any reason, purchaser's sole remedy is return of deposit. The Substituted Trustees shall have the right to terminate this contract in the event the Holder has entered into any agreement with or accepted funds from or on the behalf of the mortgagor. Upon termination of the contract, Purchaser's sole remedy shall be return of the deposit. Purchaser agrees to pay a deed preparation and document review fee of $350.00 to the Substituted Trustees.

2878 Oakland Sang Run
Oakland, MD 21550

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust dated May 23, 2003, and recorded in Liber 975, Folio 687 among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, with an original principal balance of $117,000.00 and an original interest rate of 9.625% default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., at the Court House Door, Oakland, on November 8, 2006 at 2:05 p.m.

ALL THAT fee-simple LOT OF GROUND, together with the buildings and improvements thereon situated in Garrett Co., MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property, which is improved by a dwelling, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $12,000 in the form of cash or readily available funds acceptable to the Trustees required at the time of sale. Balance of the purchase price, together with interest on the unpaid purchase money at the current rate contained in the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received by the Trustees, payable in cash within ten days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER. Adjustment of current year real property taxes will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incident to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. All transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be paid by the Purchaser. Purchaser is responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property, and assumes risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale. If ratification or settlement is delayed for any reason there shall be no abatement of interest. The sale is subject to post-sale audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of the deposit without interest. If Purchaser fails to settle within ten days of ratification, he agrees to pay attorneys' fees in the amount of $750.00, plus costs, if the Trustees have moved to resell the property. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of the sale. If Purchaser defaults under these terms, deposit shall be forfeited. The Trustees may then resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulted purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds resulting from said resale even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulted purchaser. If Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or marketable title, or if the sale is not ratified by the Circuit Court for any reason, the Purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit without interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to the Seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents.

If ratification or settlement is delayed for any reason there shall be no abatement of interest. The sale is subject to post-sale audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of the deposit without interest. If Purchaser fails to settle within ten days of ratification, he agrees to pay attorneys' fees in the amount of $750.00, plus costs, if the Trustees have moved to resell the property. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of the sale. If Purchaser defaults under these terms, deposit shall be forfeited. The Trustees may then resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulted purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds resulting from said resale even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulted purchaser. If Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or marketable title, or if the sale is not ratified by the Circuit Court for any reason, the Purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit without interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to the Seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents.

SUBSTITUTED TRUSTEE'S SALE OF
2878 Oakland Sang Run Road, Oakland, Maryland 21550

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a Deed of Trust dated March 3, 1999, from Sheila C. Kitzmiller to Scott B. Hansen and Philip M. Webb, as Trustees, and SunTrust Bank, successor to Crestar Bank, as Beneficiary, recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber 766, folio 667, which was given to secure a loan on the real property described therein, and default having occurred under the terms and conditions thereof, the undersigned Trustee will sell at public auction at the front door of the Courthouse for the Circuit Court for Garrett County, 203 South Fourth Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, on Monday, October 23, 2006, at 11:30 am., the following:

All that parcel of land situate in Election District No. 14, Garrett County, Maryland, which is described as follows:

Beginning at a stake standing, North 57° 30' West, 642.95 feet; thence North 38° 30' East, 1230.00 feet from the beginning corner of the Everett B. Weimer 107.2 acre tract described in Liber No. 214, folio 275, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland; and running thence from said beginning corner, South 38° 30' West, 200.00 feet to a stake; thence North 76° 00' West, 998.23 feet to a stake in the east margin of the county road; thence with said road, North 16° 45' East, 175.35 feet to a stake; thence leaving said road, South 76° 00' East, 1074.00 feet to the beginning, containing 4.31 acres, more or less.

TOGETHER with the buildings and improvements thereon and the rights, roads, ways, waters, privileges and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in anywise appertaining.

From sources deemed reliable, but not guaranteed, it is believed that the property is improved by a dwelling.

Terms of Sale

The property will be sold in "as is" condition, subject to any and all covenants, conditions, restrictions, easements, rights of way and limitations of record, and with no warranties. The property will be sold subject to any building or housing violations, easements, agreements, restrictions, terms, rights of way, covenants, conditions, rights of redemption, and other encumbrances, if any, affecting the subject property, whether or not of record.

A deposit of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000.00) will be required of the purchaser in the form of certified or cashier's check on the day of sale. The Beneficiary of the Deed of Trust, if a bidder, shall not be required to make a deposit. Interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum shall be paid on the unpaid purchase price from the date of sale to the date of settlement if the property is purchased by someone other than the Beneficiary. The balance of the purchase price shall be paid in cash within twenty (20) days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, time being of the essence. If compliance with the terms of sale does not take place within twenty (20) days after final ratification, the deposit shall be forfeited and the property resold at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser. Taxes, water rent, and all other public charges and assessments payable on an annual or periodic basis, including sanitary and metropolitan district charges and special paving taxes, and condominium fees, if any, will be adjusted as of the date of sale and thereafter shall be paid by the purchaser. The costs of all recordation and transfer taxes, any agricultural use or transfer tax, and any and all other costs incident to the recording of the deed to the purchaser shall be borne by the purchaser.

The Trustee reserves the right to reject any and all bids in his sole and absolute discretion and to extend the settlement date. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss to the property immediately after sale and shall be solely responsible for obtaining possession of the property.

Conveyance of the property shall be by substitute trustee's deed, without covenant or warranty, express or implied, unless otherwise required by statute, court rule or the Deed of Trust. If for any reason the Trustee is unable to convey title, the purchaser's sole remedy at law and equity shall be limited to the refund of the deposit to the purchaser. Upon refund of the deposit, the sale shall be null and void and have no further force and effect, and the purchaser shall have no claim against the Trustee, Beneficiary, or Auctioneers.

The information contained herein was obtained from sources deemed to be reliable, but is offered for information purposes only. The Trustee, Beneficiary and Auctioneers make no representations or warranties with respect to the accuracy of this information, and the purchaser waives and releases the Trustee, Beneficiary and Auctioneers from any and all claims the purchaser or purchaser's successors or assigns may now have or may have in the future relating to the condition of the property, including, but not limited to, the environmental condition thereof. This advertisement, as amended or supplemented by any oral announcements during the conduct of the sale, constitutes the entire terms upon which the property shall be offered for sale.

Access to the site is from Westernport Road, 0.4 mile northwest of the Allegany/Garrett county line.

Surface of the area to be mined is owned by Moran Coal Company, Inc., P.O. Drawer E, Westernport, Maryland 21562, and Luke Paper Company, 300 Pratt Street Luke, Maryland 21540. The mineral is owned by Moran Coal Company, Inc., PO Drawer E, Westernport, Maryland 21562.

The permit area is located within the US Geologic Westernport, MD 7.5 minute quadrangles, the boundaries being as shown on the attached sketch.

The application includes plans to construct one (1) pond to control sediment and stormwater on the mining area. In addition to a surface coal mining permit the construction of the pond will require a separate small pond approval from the Bureau of Mines.

A copy of the application, which includes the pond plans for the small pond approval, is available for public review at the Maryland Department of the Environment (Bureau of Mines) Office, 160 South Water Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532, during normal office hours. Questions concerning any aspect of the application may be directed to: Robert L. Dugan, Jr. DUGAN ASSOCIATES, 301-689-1568, or the Maryland Bureau of Mines, Permit Section, 301-689-6405. A public hearing will not be held on this activity unless requested. Written comments, requests for a public hearing, and requests to be included on the interested persons list regarding this application, will be received until December 02, 2006, by the Director, Maryland Bureau of Mines, 160 South Water Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532. Attention: OPA-06-76.

Future notices about this application will be provided by mail to those persons who submit comments, request a public hearing, or request to be included on the list of interested persons.

POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT

JOB TITLE: Utility Operator
Garrett County Department of Public Utilities

SUMMARY:
Operator responsibilities include, but not limited to, all aspects related to the treatment of wastewater and production of drinking water that meet all state and federal regulations. Collects weekly and monthly samples to be analyzed at the county's lab for compliance with the Safe Drinking Water Act and Self-Monitoring reports for wastewater discharge permits. Also must oversee repairs in the systems he is responsible for. Operator will be on call for emergencies and may be required to work weekends, rotating shifts, and/or second shift.

EXAMPLES OF WORK:
Complete daily compliance testing of water and wastewater facilities before distribution or discharge to streams. Calibrate and maintain all testing equipment and records of calibrations. Determine chemical dosages for treatment of water and wastewater. Record all chemicals used in the processes. Take readings of pump hours, flow meters, temperature rain gauges, and weather conditions for the operating report and logbook. Troubleshoot operating and mechanical problems in plant and prepares work orders for the repairs. Respond to customer complaints and make reports of said complaint to operations manager or utilities clerk. Other duties include flushing fire hydrants, installing water meters, line locates, water line leaks, and quarterly water readings. Supervise repairs completed by maintenance and put all operation of treatment plant back on line as to assure it is done by certified personnel. Other duties may be assigned.

QUALIFICATIONS:
Conscientious, self-motivated, and must have operator certification equivalent to the plants assigned. Mechanically inclined, and be able to work alone.

EDUCATION and/or EXPERIENCE:
High School diploma or GED is required. Two (2) years of experience in maintenance, construction, or related field is required for this position.

SALARY AND BENEFITS INCLUDED:
This is a Classified Service position. A competitive salary and traditional County employee benefit package is included.

APPLICATION PROCESS:
A Garrett County Government application is required. Qualified individuals may apply by sending an application to: Garrett County Government, Office of Human Resources, 203 South Fourth Street, Room 206, Oakland, MD 21550. Applications are available at this address or will be mailed by calling 301-334-8975. Applications are also available on our website at www.garrettcounty.org. Deadline for application is October 20, 2006.

Garrett County Government is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Qualified applicants are considered without regard to race, color, creed, religion, gender, national origin, age, marital status, or the presence of a non-job-related medical condition or handicap. 33-2t

Grant Will Help Families Learn About Finances

Garrett County Community Action recently received a "Strengthening Rural Families" grant to initiate the Money Smart Jump Start project for Overlook Judy Center Partnership families. The grant is the result of an initiative of the Rural Maryland Council, with funding from the Annie E. Casey Foundation.

"The overall goal of the project is family economic success through asset development for families," said a center spokesperson. "The project is using a series of five 2½-hour workshops to help families develop financial skills and develop positive banking relationships."

Seven families completed the first series. Two more workshops are scheduled. One will be held in January and the other in March 2007.

"A financial incentive component insures the success of the project," said the spokesperson. "Eligible participating families are awarded a $200 bonus for completion of the workshop series."

The workshops are based on the "Money Smart" curriculum designed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. Barbara Pentz is facilitating the classes and will be available for individual financial counseling.

To help project families become financially successful, Community Action has an existing Individual Development Account (IDA) program that can "jump start" families toward building assets and increasing their wealth. Families will invest their $200 bonus in an IDA account. They can then continue to invest in the account, and Community Action will match $2 for every $1, up to $2,000 per family.

In addition, Community Action operates a first-time home buyers program and a micro loan program that are available to the families. The agency is also the site for the Garrett County Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program.

"The Housing Department, Head Start, Early Head Start, and Judy Center have knowledgeable staff who are available to assist the families in identifying resources to put them on 'the Credit Path' and move from being check cashers to being savers, borrowers, and owners," said the spokesperson.

For more information about future workshops, individuals may call the Judy Center at 301-334-4211.

COMPLETE FINANCIAL SKILLS WORKSHOP – Several local residents recently completed a "Strengthening Rural Families" workshop. The goal of the project is to help families develop financial skills. See story for details. Pictured, left to right, in the front are Margaret Kinch, Joni Alexander, and Michelle McCann. In the back are Patti Stottlemeyer, Justin DeWitt, Naomi DeWitt, Rick Pelland, Madonna Pelland, and Lisa Murray.

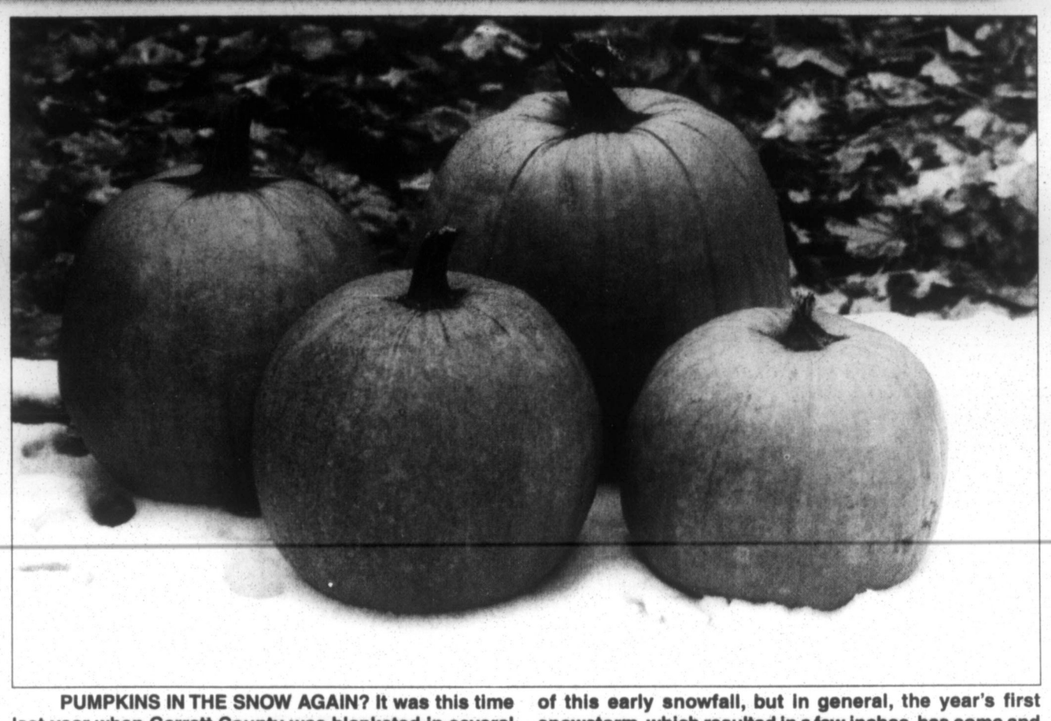
Housing Article Correction Noted

Last week's article titled "Housing Projections Will Help Garrett County Plan for Development Needs" contained an error. The article stated that "As many as 124,000 new housing units would be built in Garrett County in the next 25 years, based on growth capacity projections being conducted by state and local planning commissions. In the Deep Creek Lake watershed alone, the total capacity may be 20,298."

The 124,000 and 20,298 figures, however, are the total number of housing units capable of being built in the county sometime in the distant future, not within the next 25 years. Director John Nelson, Garrett County Department of Planning and Land Development, stresses that could mean 100 or even 200 years from now.

The total number of housing units that the planning commissions project may be built in the county during the next 25 years is between 6,750 and 8,750.

The Republican regrets the error.



PUMPKINS IN THE SNOW AGAIN? It was this time last year when Garrett County was blanketed in several inches of snow, the weight of which broke millions of branches and knocked out power to thousands of residents. This week brought snow again, although not with the severe consequences. A few lawn chairs and deck umbrellas were covered, perhaps, and there was most likely some grumbling over the inconvenience of this early snowfall, but in general, the year's first snowstorm, which resulted in a few inches, has come and gone. But surely residents are now inspired to get the firewood gathered, dust off the snow-blowers, and find those long johns. The weather should be mild again for Halloween, with much more traditional temperatures of 40s and 50s expected. Photo by John McEwen.

Absentee Ballot Applications Due Next Tuesday

Director Steve Fratz reminds residents that Tuesday, Oct. 31, is the deadline for the Garrett County Board of Elections to receive absentee ballot applications. They must be received at the board office by 4:30 p.m. or by midnight if faxed.

After the deadline, all absentee applications will be considered late and must be applied for in person.

Once the board receives the signed application, it will issue the absentee ballot to the voter. The deadline to receive the ballot is the day of the general election, Nov. 7, by 8 p.m.

The Garrett County Board of Elections office is located at 2008 Maryland Highway, Mtn. Lake Park. For more information, persons may call 301-334-6985.

Readers Advised Of E-Mail Problem

The staff of The Republican experienced ongoing e-mail problems this week. Readers should be aware that several items may not have been received.

Persons who e-mailed stories, photographs, advertisements, letters to the editor, or any other material for the newspaper but who do not see these items in the paper today are advised that the omission may very well have to do with the e-mail problem.

It is hoped that the problem is now repaired.

Bear Season Closed Tuesday; Officially, 41 Bears Harvested

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) announced that the 2006 Maryland Black Bear hunt was closed as of Tuesday, Oct. 24, at 9 p.m.

The 2006 bear season opened Monday, Oct. 23, one-half hour before sunrise in Garrett and Allegany counties. As of Wednesday, Oct. 25, the official number of bears harvested was listed at 41. The state set a quota for the 2006 bear hunt season of 35-55 bears.

The estimated average weight of the bears taken this year was 161 pounds. The largest was a 464- pound male bear taken by William Corbin of Oakland.

The official hunt by the numbers were: 41 bears harvested, 39 from Garrett County, two from Allegany. Seventy-eight percent of the bears were taken on private land, and 63 percent of the successful hunters lived in the hunt area. There were 451 hunters who participated in the hunt, and 2,402 hunters applied for a permit.

Maryland had banned bear hunting in 1953, and in 1972 the state had placed the bear on its endangered species list because over hunting had almost eliminated the bear population.

When bear hunting resumed two years ago, controversy erupted. A legal challenge to ban the bear hunt failed. When anti-hunting lawmakers failed to pass legislation that would stop bear hunting, protestors with signs stood outside the gate of Mt. Nebo to declare their opposition to the hunt.

In an effort to better understand the dynamics of the hunt, West Virginia University decided to track the hunters who hunt the bears. Forty-seven hunters volunteered to be wired with Global Positioning Satellite (GPS) units to determine how effective they were in finding the bears. Nine bears have been fitted with radio collars which help researchers track their movements.

Ed Arrow, a graduate assistant at the university, said a large number of hunters stick close to the roads, but some are venturing into the wetlands where the bears congregate.

For more information, persons may contact Karina Blizzard, Wildlife and Heritage Services, at 240-446-4357.

DHR Grant Will Help GC Parents Enter Workforce

The Maryland Department of Human Resources announced yesterday the award of $1 million in grant funding to 18 social services departments throughout the state for Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF) demonstration projects. Locally, the Garrett County Department of Social Services will receive $21,800 for its Adult Career Technical Academy proposal. Garrett College has partnered with DSS on this initiative.

The program provides job training for residents re-ceiving temporary cash assistance, specifically those with children under 1 year of age. Tom Rosser, assistant director of the Family Investment Program at the GC Department of Social Service, noted that persons receiving cash assistance are required to participate in a work program.

Those with a child under 1 year can be exempted for up to one year. After that time, however, they have to participate in a program that requires 40 hours of work each week.

"It's better to prepare for the future than to not know what to do once the one-year exemption is over," Rosser said.

Four parents have indeed opted to prepare for future employment and have volunteered to participate in the first Adult Career Academy session at Garrett College. Delilah Miller is instructing the classes, which end next month.

"Our hope is to have another session the first part of 2007," he said. The DHR grant will cover the cost of the current and next ses-

Two Charged With Baiting A Black Bear

The Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) arrested two Jessup men Monday morning and charged them with baiting a black bear while hunting on private property off Cranesville Road near the Youghioghgeny Mountain Resort.

Kendall T. Hayden, 51, and Frederick C. Wieland Jr., 42, were charged with hunting black bear with the aid of bait after NRP received an anonymous tip from a concerned citizen. When officers arrived in the area they observed Hayden allegedly hunting from a tree stand over a baited area covered in cookies and cakes. The baited area was approximately 40 by 50 feet and 30 to 40 yards from the stand.

A person may not hunt or attempt to hunt black bears by the aid of baiting, or on or over any baited area. According to the NRP, baiting involves placing, exposing, depositing, distributing, or scattering of shelled, shucked, or unshucked corn, wheat, or other grain, salt, or other feed that would lure, attract,

Mtn. Laurel Garden Club Honors Hanst

Polly Hanst was honored at the Oct. 17 meeting of the Mountain Laurel Garden Club for her many contributions to the organization and the community. A charter member of the organization, which was founded in 1988, Hanst is now approaching her 100th birthday in December.

"Polly — always planting seeds, bulbs, and flowers, yes, but also faith, hope, and love," said Carol Craver, who spoke at the special event. "With her lifelong love of and curiosity about flowers and plants, Polly and 23 others formed the Mtn. Laurel Garden Club in 1988. Now there are 86 members enjoying and learning from that group. Thank you, Polly."

Hanst attended the gathering last Tuesday, which was held at the Pleasant Valley Community Center. She was informed that a large number of flower bulbs will be planted in her honor at her church, St. Mark's Lutheran in Oakland, and a plaque commemorating her contributions will be placed there as well.

Fall Celebration Set At Spruce Forest Artisan Village Saturday

Spruce Forest Artisan Village will hold its Fall Celebration on Saturday, Oct. 28, to premiere its new documentary, Spruce Forest Artisan Village: An Appalachian Gem. A full day of events is planned for visitors.

Artisans will be in their open studios, ready to talk and share their work from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Other activities will include a quilting demonstration in John's Little House, the newest historic house at Spruce Forest. Living History re-enactors will also be on the village grounds.

The hourlong film will be shown at 4 p.m. in the Village Church.

"This documentary tells the Spruce Forest story through film, photos, song and script," said Rita Hummel Crowe, president of Spruce Forest's board of directors. "Artisans and others who have been instrumental within the village are interviewed. Dr. Alta Schrock, the visionary founder of Spruce Forest, is highlighted through her own words, rare film clips, and the memories of others."

Each of the historic log and plank buildings is shown and described, along with historic Stanton's Mill, Penn Alps, and the Casselman Bridge. Each of the artists-in-residence talk about their art and their work at Spruce Forest from within their studios.

Civic Club, The Republican Launch 9th Annual Warm The Children

The ninth annual Warm the Children program, hosted and operated by the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland and The Republican newspaper, is now under way. The program provides new winter clothing and footwear for local children in need.

"We are excited to start another successful program for our local children," said Betty Ellington, volunteer coordinator for the program. "We are ready to go."

Warm the Children is a program in which the newspaper publishes advertisements asking for donations. As the donations come in, they are put in a savings account (a fee-free account from First United Bank & Trust). Applications for the service are distributed with the help of the Garrett County public school system and other child-related agencies. The applications are received at the Department of Social Services, not because the program is affiliated with the DSS, but because Dora Hanlin of that agency volunteers her assistance each year in the screening process.

Once the families are selected to be served, Ellington and other club volunteers work to link the families with volunteer shoppers. The shoppers and the families then meet at Wal-Mart in Oakland or in LaVale, and go shopping for warm clothes and footwear, with a certain amount of money allotted for each child of the family.

Lisa Broadwater, the manager of The Republican's satellite office in Grantsville, is the coordinator for the trips to LaVale, as she has been since the beginning of the program. Mary McEwen, senior writer and vice president of the Sincell Publishing Co., is the overall director, serving in that

American Red Cross Will Host 15th Annual Holiday House Tour

The Western Potomac Chapter of the American Red Cross will host its 15th annual Home for the Holidays house tour on the first weekend in December. Ticketholders will have the opportunity to visit four homes on Friday, Dec. 1, from 4 to 9 p.m., and on Saturday, Dec. 2, from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.

In conjunction with the house tour this year, a holiday fashion show will be held on Saturday, Dec. 2, at Our Town Theatre, beginning at 4 p.m. More information and ticket prices will be announced.

The houses on the tour this year are those of David and Dorothy Tuel, John and Brenda Rathgeb, Jack and Libby Riley, and Rick and Beth Rodak.

Tickets for the tour for all ages are $8 in advance and $10 at the door. They will soon be available for sale at the following locations: Proudfoot's, Gregg's, and Deep Creek pharmacies, and Arrowhead Market. All proceeds from the ticket sales will go to the local chapter of the American Red Cross.

Directions to the homes will be printed on the back of each ticket, and directional signs will be placed at intersections to help find the homes, a spokesperson said. A Red Cross sign will also be placed in front of each home.

Local businesses have donated items to be used as raffle prizes at each location. As in the past, all guests will be asked to remove their shoes before entering the houses. No photographing or videotaping will be allowed.

More information may be obtained by calling 301-334-3153 or 301-334-9727.

MTN. LAUREL GARDEN CLUB THANKS HANST FOR HER VISION — The Mountain Laurel Garden Club hosted a birthday celebration and special recognition event for Polly Hanst, who will turn 100 in early December. Hanst is a founder and charter member of the club, which began in 1988 with 24 members and now involves nearly 90. Hanst, a resident of Oakland and the Goodwill Mennonite Home in Grantsville, was presented with gifts and a cake. See story. Hanst is pictured seated. CARE PACKAGES SENT TO STUDENTS – Members of the Garrett County Tobacco-Free Coalition assembled care packages for college students at their October meeting. The care packages include various health promotion incentives that are useful for college students such as toothbrushes, stress balls, post-it notes, and ink pens. The care packages will also have specific tobacco prevention information that is geared toward college students. Parents of college students are encouraged to call 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111 to request a care package be sent to their son or daughter. "As a parent of two college students myself, this effort is especially significant to me," said Rodney Glotfelty, coalition chair and health officer. "We know that the tobacco industry is now focusing on the 18-24-year-old age group because of the extreme criticism they have received for marketing to minors. And their efforts, unfortunately, are working, as college students have the highest smoking rate among all adults. We hope these care packages will remind students that we want them to make healthy choices, and that includes not using tobacco." Pictured above, from left to right, are coalition members Kimberly Miltenberger, Tenna Taylor, Kendra Todd, Shirley Guinn, Kendra Thayer, Donna Aspinall, and Kathy Elliott.

4-H Days Event Held For Youth

The Garrett County 4-H program held its third annual 4-H Days event recently for youth ages 5 to 18. Sixty-four youth and adults attended the all-day event at the Western Maryland 4-H Education Center located along Route 495 near Bittinger.

The day offered a series of active sessions, including constructing bat houses, archery bottle rockets, several craft projects, an entomology unit, marksmanship, and cooperative games. Participants were able to select and attend sessions of their choice.

Special events were planned for youth ages 5 to 7 years.

Along with the active sessions, a presentation on "Bats, Bugs and Boxes" was given by Liz McDowell of Elk Ridge NatureWorks.

Instructors included Josh Frick, High Mountain Sports; Clarissa Harris, DNR; Abbi Kifer, educator; Lena Fratz, program assistant; Tammy Humberson, CYFAR Afterschool program assistant; Bryan Barnard; Tammy Grove; Jackie Fratz; Mike Brady; Dylan Fowler; and Sarah Fowler.

The event is one of many held during the month of October to celebrate National 4-H Week. 4-H Days was open to all current 4-H members, and also to any young people interested in learning more about what 4-H can offer.

"Although new members are always welcome, this is a great time of year to join 4-H," said Ann Sherrard of the Garrett County Extension Office. "If a new family is considering 4-H membership, they can select a 4-H club now, attend two monthly meetings, and be ready to enroll for 2007."

In January, all members will choose a new slate of projects for the coming year. To learn more about 4-H or to locate a 4-H club, persons may contact the Extension office at 301-334-6960.

READY FOR LAUNCH — 4-H Days participants Saylor Wampler and Matthew Moll are pictured above as they prepare to launch a bottle rocket as part of their aerospace class. The Garrett County 4-H program held the third annual 4-H Days recently, with 64 youngsters and adults for youth ages 5 to 18. The all-day event took place at the Western Maryland 4-H Education Center located near Bittinger. See story.

Teens Reminded Of Halloween Coffee House

All area teens are reminded that a Halloween Teen Coffee House will be held at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in the "Upper Room" on Friday, Oct. 27, from 8 to 11 p.m., hosted by the Episcopal Church in Garrett County and St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland.

This coffee house is open to high school as well as middle school students.

DJ Jonny Rock will play music and offer karaoke, and there will be refreshments and various activities. There will be no religious activities.

The Upper Room is located in the upstairs of the church's parish hall. The church is located at the corner of Second and Liberty streets in Oakland. There will be a $3 cover charge for each guest. The event will be chaperoned.

For more information, persons may call St. Matthew's at 301-334-2510 or St. Mark's at 301-334-2668.

Man Arrested And Charged With DUI After Car Accident

A 75-year-old Oakland man was arrested and charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol, driving while impaired, and unsafe backing of a motor vehicle after his car drifted backwards into another vehicle last Saturday at approximately 7:35 p.m., according to the Oakland Police Department.

After Granville Park Halterman Sr. had stopped his 2002 Toyota pickup at the stop sign on Eighth Street and Memorial Drive, his truck drifted back and hit a 2004 Dodge Durango operated by Terry Wayne Chapman, 42, that had pulled behind Halterman's vehicle.

Upon arrival, the Oakland Police detected an odor of alcohol coming from Halterman. He was asked to take the field sobriety tests, and the police concluded that the defendant was unable to perform the test to the satisfaction of the witnessing officers.

Halterman was arrested, charged, taken into custody, and released after signing the appropriate citations.

Lateness Of Paper Ballots Creating Problems For Co. Election Boards

by Megha Rajagopalan
Capital News Service

After electronic glitches made a mess of primary elections in some places, voting officials vowed that general elections would progress without a bump.

But with less than two weeks remaining before the Nov. 7 general election, many county elections boards have received only a small fraction of the paper ballots they need for use as absentee ballots or standby provisional ballots – a troubling turn in a year that has brought the most requests for the ballots in the history of non-presidential races in Maryland.

County election officials, many of whom say that paper ballots have nev-er been this late in coming before, are increasingly worried that they will not be able to get absentee ballots out to voters on time. Some are so desperate they have begun photocopying paper ballots on office copiers so they will have something to give to voters.

"It's really terrible," said Robert J. Antonetti Sr., elections administrator in Prince George's County. "Time is running out. It's going to deny people the right to vote."

A flood of requests for absentee ballots was prompted by leading politicians, including Gov. Robert L. Ehrlich, Baltimore mayor Martin O'Malley, and Montgomery County executive Douglas Duncan, who have urged voters to avoid the polls because of the foul-ups that marred the Sept. 12 primary.

Diebold Election Systems Inc. – the company many say is responsible for the electronic glitches that marred the primary election – is also the company that is printing the paper ballots. Earlier this month, Diebold said that despite the publicly expressed concerns of election officials, the printing of the paper ballots was on schedule, and all counties would have them by Oct. 14.

Instead, county officials say the paper ballots have trickled in, a box or two a day, far outnumbered by thousands of requests for them.

Prince George's and Anne Arundel counties have received only 20 percent of the ballots they requested, county election officials said. Howard County has received only 18 percent, Montgomery County has received 60 percent, and Baltimore City has received "less than half" of the ballots requested.

A spokeswoman for Diebold said the ballots are late because such a large number of paper ballots for use as absentee and provisional ballots – 1.5 million – was requested. The demand for absentee ballots this year is close to demand in a presidential race, and on top of that, officials requested thousands of extra ballots to be used as provisional ballots to have on hand in case the touch-screen voting machines experience glitches.

There is no difference between paper ballots to be used as absentee ballots and those to be used as provisional ballots, election officials said.

All counties should receive all their paper ballots by Monday, a spokeswoman for Diebold said. But county election officials are skeptical.

"They said we'd get them Monday, they didn't come Monday, so then we were supposed to get them Wednesday," said Armstead Crawley Jones, president of Baltimore's board of elections. "I'll believe it when I see it. That's how I am now. We've been promised and promised and promised."

On top of the overall delay, some county boards haven't received any ballots for certain districts. That means no absentee voter in those districts has received a ballot yet, and absentee voters in those districts who have left town may not receive them in time.

"If they don't get their ballots in time, and if they're not sent back in a timely fashion, their vote is not going to count," said Jacqueline McDaniel, director of the Baltimore County Board of Elections.

Before the 2002 elections, county boards were responsible for getting their own ballots printed. Now Diebold prints all the state's paper ballots, the bulk of them at a plant in Washington state.

"When we had to provide them, the state raised hell if we didn't have them 30 days before the election," Jones said. "Now we have to rely on them to give us everything. That's one of the worst things [the state] did."

Typically, county elections boards receive paper ballots about a month before elections. The ballots are then sent to voters who request absentee ballots. Voters must send them back by the day before the election.

This year's delay has created a host of difficulties for election officials. For one thing, Marylanders who are voting by absentee ballot from abroad need to be sent ballots about 30 days before the election, Antonetti said. This year, because most of the ballots haven't arrived in several counties, that hasn't been possible.

County election officials say they have scrambled to make sure voters who are out of the country get their absentee ballots before anyone else, but sometimes, there aren't enough ballots to send out.

For instance, Montgomery and Prince George's counties were reduced to photocopying ballots on office copiers in an effort to get them out on time to voters who are abroad. Once the copies come back, election officials intend to transcribe them by hand onto official ballots – a time-consuming process.

"This band-aid approach is terrible," said Antonetti. "It's unbelievable that this should happen. It's a plain mess."

Using photocopies in lieu of ballots is unusual but legal, according to the office of the attorney general. But traditionally, ballots are only transcribed if they are damaged.

Also, a program in which county elections workers visit nursing homes to help residents with their ballots is suffering, Antonetti said. Because the ballots are arriving so late, some nursing homes may not get visits.

County election officials worry a backlog of absentee ballots, the bulk of which are expected to pour in this week to many counties, will create a time crunch and absentee voters will not receive their ballots in time.

"By Thursday, we could have a tremendous backup,"

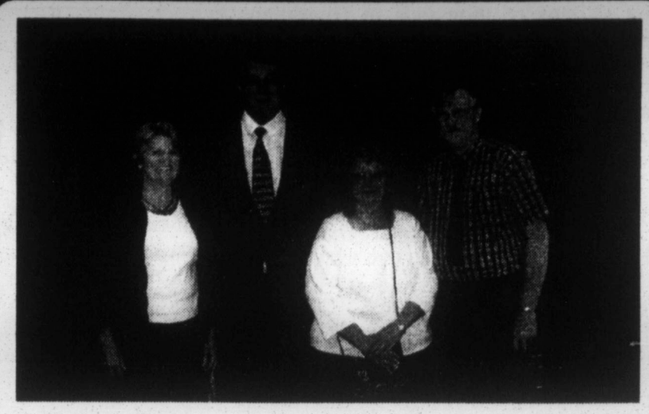
BENDER RECOGNIZED AT BOARD OF ED – Lisa Bender, this year's Garrett County Teacher of the Year, was recently presented with a plaque from the Garrett County Board of Education. Bender was also recognized for her accomplishments at the board's meeting earlier this month. Bender was also named a finalist for the Maryland Teacher of the Year. Bender is pictured above, on the left, with Madeleine Collins, representing the Board of Education.



The Fund for Children and Public Education (FCPE) proudly endorses Bill Aiken for Maryland House of Delegates – District 1A. We believe Bill is the right candidate for the people. He is a leader who listens. He believes that people deserve the opportunity to earn sufficient income to have health insurance, retirement plans, and the ability to own a home. He believes in the issues of the working class and that we should provide a quality education, and that we should maintain a school system that prepares our children for the future. These are just a few of his many beliefs. In the photo are: Jane Gibson, Co-chair of the FCPE, Bill Aiken, House of Delegates Candidate for District 1A, Vonda J. An Obscure Anniversary...

Every day, every week, represents an anniversary of some kind. There are many events of the past which may be forgotten or unknown by most people, but that nonetheless had a major impact on life in today's world.

It was 50 years ago this week that Soviet Union tanks rolled into the Communist bloc country of Hungary and killed nearly 30,000 people because a Hungarian by the name of Imre Nagy was encouraging revolt against the regime. What followed was the fleeing of tens of thousands of Hungarians into neighboring nations.

The host/actor of a successful television show in the United States was outraged at the attack and the subsequent refugee situation, and at the end of his program he said, "Ladies and gentlemen, about 160,000 Hungarian refugees have reached safety in Austria. More are expected to come. These people need food, clothes, medicine, and shelter. You can help." He said that people could make donations to the Red Cross or to churches that were participating in relief efforts.

Further, the host vowed that if ever he were in a position of power, he would not allow a repeat of this brutality by the Soviets, whether in Hungary or any other Soviet bloc nation.

Not only would the man get that opportunity, but he made good on that promise. When the Soviet troops were poised once again some 30 years later to squelch an "uprising" known as the Solidarity movement, led by a Pole named Lech Walesa, then-President Ronald Reagan – the former host/actor – put a stop to it, threatening the Soviets with a military strike if they didn't back off.

Not only did the Soviets retreat, but shortly thereafter the entire Soviet/communist regime came completely unraveled, resulting in freedom for millions of people.

Thus we remember this week the unwavering resolve of President Reagan in his crusade for liberation from communist control, as well as the 30,000 Hungarians who had the courage to sacrifice their lives for freedom, a sacrifice that was clearly the beginning of the end of Soviet oppression for millions of people.

To the Editor:

I would like your readers to be informed of the way that they can aid the Amish of Lancaster County, Pa., because of their recent tragedy.

Check or money orders should be made payable to "Mennonite Central Committee" and sent to P.O. Box 500, Akron, PA 17501. The payment should indicate that it is for "Amish Recovery Fund."

Sincerely yours,
Ronald C. Brubaker
Red Creek, W.Va.

To the Editor:

This letter is in response to the letter to the editor from Denise McDonald of Jarrettsville last week regarding the Garrett County Democratic float.

This was the first year I participated in the preparation of the float for the Garrett County Democratic Club for the Autumn Glory Parade. I was making a concerted effort to follow proper flag etiquette including height and order of succession when preparing the float. I made a mistake when I hung the Maryland state flag, and I apologize.

It was our intent to honor those who serve and protect us and give a "hats-off" salute to our heroes. This year the Democrats have two candidates who have served in Iraq. Andrew Duck, candidate for Congress, and Anthony Brown, candidate for lt. governor. They are two of many who have served in the military.

Garrett County has a long and proud history of many men and women stepping forward to serve their community, including the military, law enforcement, fire and rescue. Throughout this country there are thousands of communities where men and women step forward to serve. We at the Garrett County Democratic Club are especially proud of our Garrett County heroes.

We salute you!

To the Editor:

On the eve of the most significant election in recent years it is imperative to recognize that no government, anywhere, can operate for "the good" of the country and represent its citizens with just one side of any given issue. Not Sunni. Not Shiite. Not Republican. Not Democrat. Extreme or fundamentalist views only polarize the discussion and manifest themselves in a roadblock to progress.

We need to foster a "collision of ideas" to sort out the best answer. To that end I propose and hope that we can achieve a broader balance by electing a Democratic majority in one of the houses of Congress. The ultimate challenge for any government should be to insure that its policies benefit its people in the broadest sense and not be driven by power, greed, or partisan politics. With a two-party Congress we would have the check and balance we so desperately need now. Our obligation as citizens is to fully understand the issues and make choices based on forthright information and not the rhetoric of fear.

We have Americans serving and dying in Iraq. The least we can do is to honor their service with an educated, well-informed and balanced vote on our country's future.

Celebration

The documentary was developed by Dr. Kara Rogers-Thomas, folklorist at Frostburg State University, and James Egan, director and cameraman. It was funded by a Maryland Traditions grant from the Maryland State Arts Council. Dr. Rogers-Thomas and James Egan will be available for a discussion following the viewing.

Copies of the documentary in DVD format will be available for sale at $15 each, as a fundraiser for Spruce Forest.

As a prelude to the film premiere, two musical groups will entertain with Irish and Appalachian/Celtic music in the Village Church. Jeff Thomas and John Neral, a new musical duo in the region, will offer Irish traditional music from noon to 2 p.m. Jeff is a concertina player who recently relocated to the Frostburg area from Asheville, N.C., where he was a leading figure in that city's strong Irish music scene. He has teamed up with John Neral, also from Frostburg, to bring this energetic Irish music to the area.

At 2 p.m., Aurora Celtic will perform on the Village Church stage. This group plays Appalachian and Celtic music, and includes Mike Broderick on fiddle and mandolin, Alice Fleischman on a variety of Irish flutes and pennywhistles, and Abe Folmsbee, an award-winning guitar and mandolin player from Accident.

At 4 p.m., the winning raffle ticket will be drawn for master bird carver Gary Yoder's "Magnolia Warbler on a Maple Branch." The raffle, a fundraiser for Spruce Forest, offers an opportunity for someone to own a Yoder original valued at $4,500 for the price of a $5 raffle ticket. Yoder works on a commission basis, and the waiting list for one of his birds is many years long.

Gary's story is also highlighted in the Spruce Forest documentary. He began carving at the age of 11, with encouragement from Dr. Alta Schrock. He has been an artist-in-residence at the village since he was 13 years old. He has won five world championships at Salisbury's Ward Foundation Wildfowl Carving Competition. His sculptures have been shown in the Smithsonian Institution, the Ward Foundation Museum of Wildfowl Art, the Leigh Yawkey Woodson Art Museum, the Bruce Museum, the World Bird Carving Exhibition in Japan, and the Maryland State Capitol Building.

Raffle tickets will be sold all day until the drawing takes place, and the winner need not be present to win. Tickets are $5 each, or three for $10.

For more information about the Fall Celebration or the documentary, persons may visit the Spruce Forest web site at www.spruceforest.org, or call the office at 301-895-3332.

DHR Grant

sions.

The assistant director noted that once participants complete a work program, DSS can further help them with the Wheels-to-Work program; purchasing uniforms, career clothing, or tools; acquiring certain licenses; and child care.

"We have a large support system," Rosser said.

The other counties receiving DHR grants for TANF projects are Allegany, $30,000; Caroline, $49,776; Carroll, $129,659; St. Mary's, $45,000; Harford, $100,000; Montgomery, $81,200; Washington, $110,000; Wicomico, $94,000; and Worcester, $40,000.

DHR received a total of 18 demonstration grant proposals from local departments of social services throughout Maryland. Each proposal was reviewed and scored according to the ability to place customers in jobs or a federally defined countable work activity and project innovations, as required by recent federal legislation.

DHR Secretary Christopher McCabe and the executive director of the DHR Family Investment Administration, Kevin McGuire, will travel to the counties in the next 45 days to present symbolic checks to the grantees.

"I applaud the Department of Human Resources' support for 'out of the box thinking' to address the challenges of our vulnerable citizens to find employment," said Gov. Robert Ehrlich. "This funding will support local communities as they provide assistance to citizens in need. Working together, we are making communities stronger."

Lisey's Story

by Stephen King

c. 2006, Scribner, $28, 528 pages

Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

How in-tune are you with your significant other?

Can you read his thoughts across the room? Do you know exactly what she needs, almost before she knows it herself? Can you finish his sentences or anticipate what she's going to do next?

Lisey thought she knew her late husband Scott quite well, but in the new novel Lisey's Story by Stephen King, there is much more to Scott's (after)life than Lisey can ever possibly imagine.

Prize-winning author Scott Landon has been dead two years now, and though she realizes "it's time," his widow Lisey has been resisting a chore she knows will eventually need to be done: clearing out the study that once belonged to her late husband.

Old fans and university professors are clamoring for his papers, which might harbor an unfinished novel or unpublished manuscript. The reality is that Scott's old files are a jumble of half-nonsensical notes filed haphazardly in his study upstairs in the barn that sits behind their Maine home. Scott's awards are there, too, as well as a ceremonial silver shovel that he got for a groundbreaking event that almost killed him a decade-and-a-half before he ultimately died of pneumonia.

So now Lisey is trying to clean out Scott's rooms, and old memories flood her mind. She remembers their honeymoon, and the wintry picnic they had during an unexpected snowstorm. She recalls the way Scott held her in his arms as he told her why they could never have children. And – as much as she'd like to forget – she remembers the things Scott told her about his childhood.

At age 3, Scott was able to read and decipher clues that his older brother Paul devised. The boys called it a bool. A riddle. A pirate-treasure hunt with clues, the end prize being an RC soda or a candy bar. They did it to amuse themselves when their abusive father was away.

But now the bool is on Lisey. A man with a southern accent keeps calling her, and he's demanding that she release Scott's paperwork. He threatens to harm Lisey if she doesn't comply.

Can the memories of Scott – or even Scott himself – help Lisey to survive?

Hmm.

On one hand, Lisey's Story represents a return of Stephen King goodness that his earliest fans came to love. This new novel is big, bold, and tells a detailed story that will make you think before you get all the nuances. The creepiness is there, but it's subtle, just like The Stand and The Shining.

On the other hand, Lisey's Story feels like a tale with a sore backside: it moves, but painfully slowly. The set-up takes about a fifth of this 500-plus-page book, and I lost interest three times before I got my first whiff of malevolence.

If you never miss a Stephen King book and you can stick with Lisey's Story, you'll be rewarded with a finely creepy tale, a la vintage King of the early-to-mid 80s. If [illegible] only a casual [illegible] though, pick somebody else's role from the beginning.

The advertisement asking for donations will appear in next week's issue of The Republican newspaper. Persons who wish to donate before next week may send checks or money orders (made out to Warm the Children) to Warm the Children, The Republican newspaper, PO Box 326, Oakland, MD 21550. The donations may be made in honor or in memory of loved ones, and donors' names will be published in a thank-you ad which will appear each week as the program continues through the fall. Specific donation details will be included in next week's donation advertisement.

The Civic Club has worked with the staff at The Republican on Warm the Children from its beginning in 1997. Now the club handles much of the program, from selecting and training volunteers and organizing shopping trips to writing all donation thank-you notes and handling much of the paperwork. Ellen Fritz heads up the letter writers, and Helen Earles and Dorothy Cathell assist with billing and paperwork. McEwen receives the donations and manages the bank account, as well as the thank-you and donation advertisements in the paper.

"The beauty of this program is that every single penny donated goes toward the purchase of new, warm winter clothing for local kids. We have no overhead costs, as the advertising is provided by Sincell Publishing, and the administration is handled entirely by volunteers. People who donate to our fund can be secure in the knowledge that they are basically buying new clothes and boots for kids who really need them."

The deadline for donations this year is Dec. 8. While donations are accepted at any time of the year, the deadline is set in order to put a time-frame on the program, which allows volunteers to be able to finish the work and have time to shop for themselves in December.

said Barbara Fisher, director of the Anne Arundel County Board of Elections, adding that she expects the ballots to go out later than usual. "We're crunched for time."

Election workers expect to work weekends and overtime to make sure all the absentee ballots are sent out when they come in, officials said.

"This election has cost us more in overtime than we've ever had to pay," Jones said. "Our method of counting them has regressed. We're going to be hand-feeding absentee ballots into a machine."

On top of that, county elections boards are fielding calls from angry voters who requested absentee ballots weeks ago but still haven't received them.

"We get complaints all day, every day," McDaniel said. "Everybody is calling about them."

Election officials say they hope the ballots arrive this week, as Diebold has promised. But many remain skeptical.

"Their track record is not good," Antonetti said. "Maybe they'll get here, maybe they won't. But you can't run an election on a maybe."

Officers seized as evidence Hayden's firearm and issued both individuals citations for hunting black bear with the aid of bait. Hayden was also charged with failure of hunter to wear daylight fluorescent orange. A January 18, 2007, trial date is currently scheduled for both individuals in Garrett County District Court.

EMILY D. PITTMAN

Emily Duvon (Kitzmiller) Pittman, 52, Benson, Ariz., died Sunday, Oct. 22, 2006, at her childhood home on Fingerboard Road, Oakland.

Born Oct. 20, 1954, in Oakland, she was a daughter of Inez D. (Harvey) Kitzmiller and the late Earl H. "Bill" Kitzmiller. She was also preceded in death by two brothers, Timothy A. Kitzmiller and William E. "Billy" Kitzmiller.

Emily grew up on the family farm near Oakland, where she had many years of fun and adventure. She was the third of eight children. She graduated from Southern Garrett High School in 1972, and went to work for the U.S. Department of Commerce in Washington, D.C., at the age of 17 as a physical security assistant/secretary for the director of security. She attended Southeastern Bible College in Lakeland, Fla., from 1974 to 1975.

Through the years she worked as a legal secretary and most recently as a sales associate at Kartchner Caverns gift store in Arizona. She traveled to many places including the Philippines, where she lived for 27 months. Her proudest accomplishment in life was raising her son Justin. She loved him beyond love. She loved the simple things in life – riding horses, cooking, going to the beach, music and singing, laughing, and being with her family. Life will never be the same without Em, but heaven just became a lot more fun.

In addition to her mother, she is survived by her husband, Johnny M. Pittman, Benson; one son, Justin Garrett Hinson, Tucson, Ariz.; two stepdaughters, Melissa Billow, Newville, Pa., and Johnna Reece, Chattanooga, Tenn.; three sisters, C. Ranae Kitzmiller Little and husband Jerry, Clifton, Va., Lora Leigh Kitzmiller, Falls Church, Va., and Melody Dawn Kitzmiller, Arlington, Va.; two brothers, Gary H. Kitzmiller and wife Theresa, Greenback, Tenn., and Roger C. Kitzmiller and wife Cindy, Oakland; five nephews, Brandon T. Kitzmiller, Nathan R. Kitzmiller, Clinton R. Kitzmiller, Matthew H. Kitzmiller, and Christopher W. Kitzmiller; one niece, Jennifer D. Kitzmiller; and one great-niece, Salem E. Kitzmiller.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland.

A service was held at the Lakeside Assembly of God Church today, Thursday, Oct. 26, with the Rev. Robert Collette and Rev. J. Lowell Harrup officiating.

Interment was in the Garrett County Memorial Gardens, Oakland.

Pallbearers were Brandon Kitzmiller, Matthew Kitzmiller, Christopher Kitzmiller, Nathan Kitzmiller, Clinton Kitzmiller, and Randy Harvey.

(Paid Obituary)

N. ANN KIGHT

N. Ann Kight, 50, Oakland, died Friday, Oct. 13, 2006, at Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va.

Born May 21, 1956, in Oakland, she was the daughter of the late Willis C. and Marjorie (Stahl) Stump. She was also preceded in death by her second husband, Earl Kight, in 1999; one granddaughter; and one brother, Willis Stump.

She is survived by three daughters, Kimberly Strawser, Swanton, Melissa Alexander, Crellin, and Mikaila Strawser, Terra Alta, W.Va.; two sons, John Strawser Jr., Swanton, and Shawn Strawser, Oakland; three brothers, David Stump, Cumberland, Donald Stump, Terra Alta, and Dennis Stump, Oakland; her first husband, John Strawser Sr., Terra Alta; and six grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland, where a service was held on Tuesday, Oct. 17, with Barbara Fike officiating.

Interment was in the Oakland Cemetery.

(The above obituary was reprinted because of an incorrect date in last week's edition.)

Honors Hanst

Carol Craver and Sandy Zakaluzny, president of the club, presented Polly with a birthday cake. Craver spoke about the numerous accomplishments of Polly's life, the foremost being her family. She was married to George Hanst, who died in November 1991. They had three children, George Jr. (also deceased), John, and Jane Brown. Polly has eight grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Hanst became involved in 4-H at the age of 11, and later became the organizer of the first 4-H camp in Clay County, W.Va. She graduated from West Virginia University with a degree in home economics. Early in her career, she was a contributing editor and associate editor for the Farmer's Wife magazine, and wrote an advice column for that publication. Polly organized the Monte Vista 4-H Club, and was the first woman of the West Virginia, Western Maryland Lutheran Synod to be elected president of a church council (St. Mark's).

Hanst was the fourth woman to be selected to the Order of the Vandalia, the highest award given to alumni of WVU. She served as the president of the Garrett County chapter of the American Association of University Women, and was the first woman named to the Cornerstones of Excellence group for her lifetime of contributions to 4-H. She was a member of the first steering committee for the Garrett County Fair, and was the only woman on the committee for the town of Oakland's centennial celebration. She was also the chairperson of the county's 1976 Bicentennial Pageant. She also taught home economics at Northern High School.

"There's more," said Craver, "but I will skip along to her great love of young people and 4-H'ers. Wherever she goes — restaurants, stores, church — she is always surrounded by those young people, swarming around her to absorb her positive, enthusiastic attitude that 'kids are terrific.' Better take a number if you want to talk to Polly after church.

"Her lovely garden brought her much joy, and she always said that bulbs mean hope. We know they bring joy when their bright, reliable heads come above the cold spring ground," Craver said, which is the reason the club will plant the bulb garden at St. Mark's church.

"The garden will be for all to see and be reminded of you and your bright and shining example," Craver said, "for all time."

CIVIC CLUB HOSTS ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL ANTIQUE SHOW – The GFWC (General Federation of Women's Clubs) Civic Club of Oakland hosted its 33rd annual Autumn Glory Festival Antique Show and Sale over the festival weekend of Oct. 13 to 15, with thousands of guests touring the exhibit and purchasing items. All proceeds will go toward the club's fund that supports a wide range of local civic, service, and arts organizations. Part of this year's event was the traditional quilt raffle, which was won by Joyce Pyle from West Virginia. The photo above was taken just after the drawing. Standing from left are Jackie Johnson (event chairperson), Betty Ellington, Flo Royer, Helen Earles, and Anne Horowitz, all club members. Courtney Boyle, a 15-year-old Pittsburgh resident, is pictured in front. She was asked to draw the winning ticket. The kitchen help is pictured below. From left are Sherri Bradshaw, Paul Royer, Flo Royer (kitchen manager), and Betty Ellington (kitchen manager).

In loving memory of

Terry A. Artice

10/16/71 - 1/3/06

On October 16, 1971, God brought him to earth,
Giving him his birthday for everything that it's worth.
Unfortunatly he's not here to have a celebration,
But it's okay because he's looking down at the situation.
He knows we didn't forget, he knows we remember,
He knows we'll never forget, not now, not forever.
The day that he died is a bad day perished,
And the day he was born is a day that is cherished.
It's a shame he's gone, a guy who we loved so dear,
But as the years will go by, we still wish he's here.
No matter how much cake we buy or that goes to waste,
At least we ate a piece for him that he now can't taste.
There's a saying on earth, "You can't have your cake and eat it too."
But there's a saying in Heaven and that's something Terry will do.
We miss and love him so much, that's how it will stay.
But don't forget to look up and tell Terry, "Happy Birthday."

We love and miss you,
Your Sisters Vanessa & Brandy

Introducing the Candidate

Gary Berkebile was raised on a farm, the 10th of 11 children. He has been serving the public as a police officer for 37 years. Gary and his wife Nancy (nee Rush) reside near Accident with their two daughters. Lacie is a graduate of Garrett College and is attending Frostburg State University, and Becky is a recent graduate of Northern High School. Gary's oldest daughter Cindy Kendrick resides with her husband Darren in Arkansas with their two children.

Gary is an experienced law enforcement professional and has been serving Garrett County for 37 years. His experience began in 1968 when he joined the Metropolitan D.C. Police Department as an officer and spans almost four decades. In 1972 he joined the ranks of the Maryland State Police and for 22 years as a Trooper served the citizens of Garrett County. Gary is experienced in patrol, investigation, K-9, and as a supervisor with the MSP. In 1996, after 25 years, he retired having attained the rank of Sergeant. Many believe he has served the longest continuous employment as a trooper in Garrett County.

In 1997 Sheriff Dick Sanders selected Gary as his Chief Deputy saying, "He is the only choice." Gary possesses all the attributes necessary for the Chief Law Enforcement Officer for Garrett County. As the Chief Deputy for the last nine years he has supervised 55 employees of the Sheriff's Office and Detention Center. He has continued to gain the confidence, respect and trust of those employees. Gary is a firm, but caring supervisor with the reputation for "getting the job done." He recogizes the importance of competent leadership for a well managed law enforcement agency. Gary is committed tot he diligent pereformance neccessary to continue to improve the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, and to best respond to the needs of all citizens of Garrett County.

Aspirations

For the past nine years, I have worked closely with Sheriff Dick Sanders as his Chief Deputy. During this time we have polished the reputation of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. We are now a well respected, professional police department dedicated to public service. I will remain committed to the honest and professional operation of the Sheriff's Office.

Garrett County is experiencing rapid growth and will see many changes in the future. The Sheriff's Office will need the leadership to prepare for and adapt to these changes while remaining proactive in the years to come. I am prepared to provide this leadership.

Accomplishments

- Winners—A drug abuse prevention program directed at young children. A program that deals with local trends and problems. The program is presented to 6th through 9th grade students in the Garrett County Public Schools. The program is also directed to parents and teachers to keep them aware of new drug trends that emerge in our community.
- Garrett Bureau of Investigation (GBI)—A criminal investigation unit comprising 2 Maryland State Troopers and 3 Deputy Sheriffs to work collectively on crime trends in Garrett County. Prior to the inception of GBI, Maryland State Police and Sheriff Deputies worked criminal cases separately many times, causing a duplication of work. Under the GBI concept criminal cases are screened for similarities and assigned to the appropriate investigator, thereby causing a more efficient utilization of police resources.
- Garrett County Narcotics Task Force—As drug abuse increased in Garrett County it was evident that a unit comprising two state troopers and one deputy was inadequate to handle the work load. Recognizing that drugs contributed to the increase in other crimes two additional Deputies have been assigned to drug investigations since 1998.
- Town Patrol—Assigned a specific Deputy to each municipality in Garrett County to attend meetings and to follow up on any concerns in the town. This provides an open line of communication between town officials and the Sheriff's Office.
- Mtn. Lake Park Patrol—Worked closely with the Mayor and Town Council of Mtn. Lake Park and Garrett County Commissioners to institute a program where a deputy is assigned to patrol 40 hours per week in Mtn. Lake Park. Mtn. Lake Park reimburses Garrett County for the cost of the Deputy.

AURORA PIONEERS
by Daniel O'Connor, secretary

The monthly meeting of the Aurora Pioneers was held on Oct. 4. Members present were Marissa Bachtel, Daniel O'Connor, Ryan Rocha, Haley Rocha, Amber Watts, Samantha Ford, Amber Arnold, Sarah Wiles, Lena Mersing, Wyatt Snyder, and Emily Snyder.

Marissa called the meeting to order. Haley, Amber Watts and Samantha led the group in the song "Tarzan." For devotions, Marissa read "True Love," and Ryan read "A Friend."

Under old business, the Haunted Trail was canceled.

Wyatt gave a report on the Buckwheat Festival and his animals he showed.

County Achievement Day is set for the first Sunday in November.

Marissa welcomed the new members and told them about 4-H. The new members are Sara Wiles, Lena Mersing, and Emily Snyder.

Under new business, nominations were accepted for officers. Voting was then held. The new officers are president Marissa Bachtel; co-vice president Ryan Rocha, co-vice president Michael O'Connor; secretary/reporter Daniel O'Connor; treasurer Haley Roch; game leaders Amber Arnold, Wyatt Snyder, Dylan Radford, Sara Wiles and Isaac Cole; song leaders Amber Watts and Lenae Cole; health officer Samantha Ford; and conservation officer Hunter Radford.

Marissa will hang the 4-H banner in the Aurora post office to celebrate 4-H week. She also let the group know Bachtel Enterprises bought a lamb at the Buckwheat Festival and will donate the proceeds to the club.

The results from the West Virginia State Fair Photo Contest were announced. Samantha Ford won fourth place in the junior division.

Haley, Amber Watts, and Samantha reported on their third-place win in the Lamb Dressing Contest at the Buckwheat Festival.

Fern Jamison To Celebrate 100th Birthday

Fern Elsey Jamison, retired Preston County teacher and long-time resident of Aurora, W.Va., will celebrate her 100th birthday on Saturday, Oct. 28.

Born in Clarksburg, W.Va., she attended Salem College and held her first teaching position in the rural town of Diana in Webster County. Later attending West Virginia University, she taught and served as a guidance counselor in Aurora and Rowlesburg.

In her retirement, Mrs. Jamison has remained active and involved with the community. She and her family were among the first residents of Youghiogheny Forest, where she continues to maintain her home in the 1930s log cabin that she moved to as a young wife and mother nearly 70 years ago.

In commemoration of her birthday, her family is hosting a reception on Saturday, Oct. 28, at the United Methodist Memorial Building, located along U.S. Route 50, Aurora, from 2 to 4 p.m. All friends, neighbors, and former students are invited to attend. The family requests no gifts.

OPEN HOUSE PLANNED FOR KELLEYS

The daughters of Robert "Leon" and Delores Kelley of Leadmine are hosting an open house in honor of the couple's 50th wedding anniversary. It will be held at the YMCA Camp Horseshoe Lodge on Sunday, Oct. 29, from 2 to 4 p.m.

The Kelleys are the parents of four daughters, Sharon and Paul Cassidy, and Becky and Joe Haddix, all of Leadmine; Susan and David Sharp of Arbovale; and Melissa Kelley and Lee Evans of Bridgeport.

Their grandchildren and step-grandchildren are Paul Cassidy Jr., Amanda and Chris Cassidy, Jim Haddix, Beth and Wade Puffinburger, Jonathan Rodier, Jenna Haddix, Robert "Bobby" Sharp, and Logan Evans. They also have 3 step-great-grandchildren.

JAMISON BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Fern Jamison of Aurora will be celebrating her 100th birthday this Saturday afternoon, Oct. 28, with an open house at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building. Her party is planned by her family, and they invite all of her friends and former students to stop by to wish her well.

FALL FESTIVAL

The Aurora School and PTO will host a fall festival at the school on Saturday, Oct. 28, from 5 until 8 p.m. A turkey dinner will be served. A haunted house and fortune teller are also planned. Games begin at 5:30 p.m.

Playground donation jars have been placed at area businesses for new equipment.

TRICK-OR-TREAT NIGHT

October 31 is the time for trick-or-treat night in the Aurora area. It is to be from 6 until 8 p.m. Residents are asked to have a porch/outdoor light on if they are handing out treats.

The Maple Grove Assembly of God will be having "Light the Night" in conjunction with trick-or-treating in the Accident Community. There will be games, prizes, and treats for all children up to age 12 who stop by the parsonage on Oct. 31 from 6 until 8 p.m.

BUCKWHEAT DINNER

The Mountain Lions Club will have its annual buckwheat cake and sausage dinner on Nov. 18 from 11 a.m. until 7:30 p.m. at the Mt. Grove Memorial Building. Donations will be $6 for adults, and $3 for children under 12. Members will be selling sausage, seasoned or unseasoned, for $2 per pound in 5 lb. or 10 lb. bags. Persons may call Jean Calcamp at 735-3141 or Alton Auvil at 735-3900 to place an order. The cut-off date for placing orders is Nov. 13.

BUCKWHEAT CAKES AT MAPLE SPRING

The youth of the Maple Spring Church are having their annual buckwheat cake and sausage dinner on Saturday, Nov. 4, from 4 until 8 p.m. Donations are $6 for adults, $3 for children 5-12, and children under age 5 may eat free. Proceeds benefit the youth and their programs. Maple Spring Church of the Brethren is located about 1 mile south of Eglon on WV24.

SHEPHERD GRADS REUNITED

Five graduates of Shepherd College's class of '63 met for a reunion luncheon on Oct. 16 at the Arthur (W.Va.) home of Betty Hills. The "girls" range in age from 73 to 76, and all are now retired from teaching careers. Attending the carry-in meal and an afternoon of visiting were sisters Joan Wilson and Rosalie Glison of Frederick, Md., Lila Franklin of Thurmont, Md., and Naomi "Patsy" Nair of Aurora. Mrs. Nair was accompanied by her son Michael, and Mrs. Hill's son Charles was also present.

BOLYARD BIRTHDAY

The children of Alice and Jim Bolyard, Amboy, brought dinner to their home in celebration of Mrs. Bolyard's birthday on Oct. 15. A special surprise was the presence of their eldest daughter, Angie, of Lewes, Del. who was a weekend guest. Those there for the Sunday dinner were Angie Deakyne, Lewes, and Doris, Jennifer, and Joshua Sullivan, Jessica Stemple, Robin Hartman, Ron, Teri and Jessica Bishoff, and John, Shari, Ashley, and Jonathan Mauldin and his friend Rachel. The birthday cake was also for Angie, who celebrated her birthday the following week.

AURORA CEOS

Ten members of the Aurora Community Education Outreach Service (CEOS) met on Oct. 17 at the Aurora Community Building. President Opal Myers chaired the meeting. Mary Jane Hanline read "A Sunday School Lesson," and "Humility," and closed her devotions with prayer.

The subject of study was "Public Speaking," which was addressed by Ressie Conrad.

The president requested members bring pictures and newspaper items to the next meeting in readiness to complete Issue Committee reports. It was reported that the Buckwheat Festival exhibit placed 4th. Michelle Reeves created that project. The Relay for Life meeting for chairpersons, captains, and other interested persons was Oct. 21 at Heartland in Kingwood.

The club is participating in the Santa Tree project by fulfilling the "wish lists" of 10 children. The CEOS Christmas dinner will be held Dec. 9 at the Aurora fire hall at 6 p.m. The community tree-lighting date, in which they cooperate with the Aurora Pioneer 4-H Club, is tentatively planned for Dec. 3 at 5 p.m. at the Aurora Community Building. The public is welcome.

An Achievement Day is planned for early spring 2007. The Cancer Awareness Tree was placed in the Aurora Post Office for the month of October.

The vice president, Ressie Conrad, discussed "instant comfort" items. The special feature, shown by Dee Douglas, was a set of nesting dolls purchased during her visit in St. Petersburg, Russia.

The next meeting is set for Nov. 27 at 1 p.m., with Dee Douglas providing the devotions and Virginia Martin responsible for the special feature.

UNION SENIORS

There were 35 members and one guest present for the Oct. 12 meeting of the Union District Senior Citizens. The Pledge of Allegiance and blessing for the meal preceded the carry-in dinner.

Bernadine Bachtel led devotions using a scripture from Deuteronomy and readings "Morning Bliss," "Autumn," and "I Like to Keep Autumn." She then closed with prayer.

Plans were finalized for the county Halloween Party, which is Oct. 31 at noon. Aurora is hosting the meeting and preparing the meat. All other clubs attending are asked to bring dishes for a potluck dinner, either vegetable or dessert.

On Nov. 9 the Union Seniors will have their Thanksgiving dinner, for which Linda Liston will prepare the turkey. Members are encouraged to invite a friend or relative. A shopping trip is set for Nov. 15 to the Meadowbrook Mall near Clarksburg.

A trip to the Pennsylvania Opry is planned for Nov. 16, and a Nov. 10 trip will take visitors to see the lights and laser show at Wheeling, with a stop at Cabella's. Persons interested in either trip may contact Bernadine Bachtel at 735-5192.

KELLEY ANNIVERSARY

The four daughters of Robert "Leon" and Delores Kelley of Leadmine will host an open house in honor of their parents' 50th wedding anniversary. It will be held at the YMCA Camp Horseshoe Lodge this Sunday, Oct. 29, from 2 until 4 p.m.

The couple are the parents of Sharon and Paul Cassidy and Becky and Joe Haddix, both of Leadmine; Susan and David Sharp of Arbovale; and Melissa Kelley and Lee Evans of Bridgeport.

Their grandchildren and step-grandchildren are Paul Jr., Amanda and Chris Cassidy, Kim Haddix, Beth and Wade Puffinburger, Jonathan Rosier, Jenna Haddix, Robert "Bobby" Sharp, and Logan Evans. They also have three step-great-grandchildren: Hailee, Tristen, and Andrew.

NORTHERN BAND TAKES TOP HONORS AT SOUTHERN'S SHOW — The top scorer in Group I at the 29th annual Western Maryland Tournament of Bands was the Northern Garrett High School Marching Band. With a score of 79.25, Northern easily topped the only other Group I competitor, Westmar High School, which scored 71.7. Northern also earned the specialty awards for best percussion, best drum major, and best auxiliary. The tournament is hosted annually by the Southern Garrett Marching Band, which, as host, performed in exhibition. Northern band leaders, pictured from left as they receive their awards from Southern band members, are Hannah Hare, Andrea Moss, Bailee Martin-Selders (drum major), and Scott Bass. The Southern band members from left are Jackie Skeweris, Stefany Glotfelty, Kayla Knox, and Tiffany Bernard (drum major). A total of 11 bands performed at the show, with the Frostburg State University Bobcat Band performing in exhibition.

Both SHS, NHS Bands Compete At Baldwin High

Both the Northern and Southern high school marching bands took part in a field show competition Saturday at Baldwin High School near Pittsburgh, Pa.

The show, titled the Baldwin High School Tournament of Bands, involved nine bands in Group I, the division in which both local bands compete. Southern earned a score of 84.35, placing fourth in the competition, and Northern came in sixth, with a score of 79.45.

Southern's drum major, Tiffany Bernard, came in second in Group I, and Northern's drum line was 2nd in Group I.

Both bands are attempting to accrue compiled scores high enough to make them eligible to compete in the Atlantic Coast Tournament of Bands Championship, which is slated for the weekend of Nov. 10 and 11 in Scranton, Pa.

Currently, Southern Garrett is ranked 12th out of the 81 Group I bands vying for placement in the championships. Northern Garrett is currently ranked 30th.

Richard Clever, director of Southern, said he was not pleased with the band's performance at Baldwin.

"We had a great morning practice. We just didn't put it on the field that night," Clever said. But at the school's home show, held at Southern on Oct. 14, Southern performed in exhibition but was judged, and earned a score of 83.35, and Drum Major Bernard received the highest score over all 10 participating high school bands.

"We cranked out the best show that we could have for our home crowd," said Eric Jacoby, show coordinator.

"Hearing comments like, 'they sounded just as good as the group 4 bands' really makes me proud of our kids," Clever added.

This Saturday Southern will travel to Musselman High School for the Big Apple Tournament of Bands. In the evening they will participate in the West Virginia State Marching Band Championships, marching in exhibition but receiving a score that can be included in the season's record.

Aquila Theatre Bringing Romeo & Juliet To FSU

The Aquila Theatre Company will return to Frostburg State University with a new production of Shakespeare's classic Romeo and Juliet on Sunday, Nov. 5, at the Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Romeo and Juliet depicts the compelling events that unfold out of the ancient rift between two Italian families. Set in the city of Verona, two star-crossed teenage lovers follow their passion for each other against all odds in an ultimately tragic but beautiful story of eternal love, a spokesperson said.

Founded in London in 1991 by Peter Meineck, the company is now based in New York City and features British and American artists dedicated to classical drama.

To purchase tickets or for more information, persons may call the FSU Cultural Events Box Office at 301-687-3137 or toll free at 1-866-TIXX-CES, or visit online at ces.frostburg.edu.

This engagement of Aquila Theatre Company of London is a Mid Atlantic Arts Foundation Tour funded by the Foundation in partnership with the National Endowment for the Arts Regional Touring Program and a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council and is funded in part by an award for the National Endowment for the Arts.

Pirate Adventure Novelist To Be In Oakland Today

Pavanne LeJeune Pettigrew will be featured with her new book, One More Breath, a fast-paced pirate adventure at the Oakland Train Station today, Thursday, Oct. 26, from 4 until 7 p.m.

Pettigrew was a featured author in the Headline Books booth at the West Virginia Book Festival this past weekend.

"Author Pettigrew, 'Long Hair LeJeune' as she is known to her pirate compatriots, is a startling writer with full command of the English language and will keep your attention from start to finish," said Cathy Teets, president of Headline Books.

Pettigrew has been on a successful book tour since July, and her books are "flying out of the stores," Teets said.

One More Breath is set in the "Golden Age of Piracy." Captain "Blackjack" Bellamie, a buccaneer of Romany descent, is wounded while fleeing the king's men. He struggles into the hinterlands of Jamaica to the mansion of Lady Chloe Smyth Caruthers, widow of the island's lieutenant governor.

Before he has recovered, though, Chloe and her small staff learn that an intensified manhunt for him will soon be at their door.

The pirate cannot remain at the estate, yet he is not strong enough to travel alone, so Chloe, who has fallen in love with him, elects to flee with him on foot through the wilderness. They are profoundly changed by their brief relationship and the agonizing dilemma that follows, but rather than solving problems, their separation complicates and even endangers both lives.

A native West Virginian, Pettigrew has lived in the Charleston area for the past 20 years, having moved to the capital city to pursue a career as a professional musician and university music instructor. She was also the classical music critic for The Charleston Gazette for several years.

Since 1990, after receiving her master of science degree and making a career shift, she has been an environmental geologist in hydrologic and groundwater protection for mining.

A childhood experience with a band of Gypsies established a lifelong fascination with the Roma that is manifest in nearly every piece of fiction she writes, as is an obsession with pirates and the romance of the tall ships that is almost as long-standing. She is currently working on her next novel.

For more information, persons may visit online at ppettigrew.com, publisherpage.com, and/or headlinebooks.com.

The BookWorm

Books for Halloween

The weather is cooler. The nights are much, much longer. The trees are naked, and when the wind howls through the branches just so, it can send a chill right down your spine.

Hmm. Must be time for Halloween, and these books will also send shivers down your backbone.

When the doorbell rings at your house Tuesday night, the tall guy in the fur costume might not be an extraordinarily large kid. It could be Bigfoot. In the new book Sasquatch: Legend Meets Science by Jeff Meldrum (Forge, $27.95), you'll read about the Big Guy, where he's been seen, who's snapped pictures of him, and whether or not he really exists.

And if he rings your doorbell on Halloween night, it's advisable to be generous.

Everywhere you go, there are ghosts. Comforting thought, no? In the new book Haunted Lives by Jeff Belanger (New Page Books, $14.99), you'll read a series of interviews with everyday people who've seen spirits in unusual places. And if that doesn't scare you enough, Ghosts of the World by Susan Smitten (Lone Pine, $11.95) will take you on a terrifying trip around the world with spectres and spirits and things that go bump in the castle.

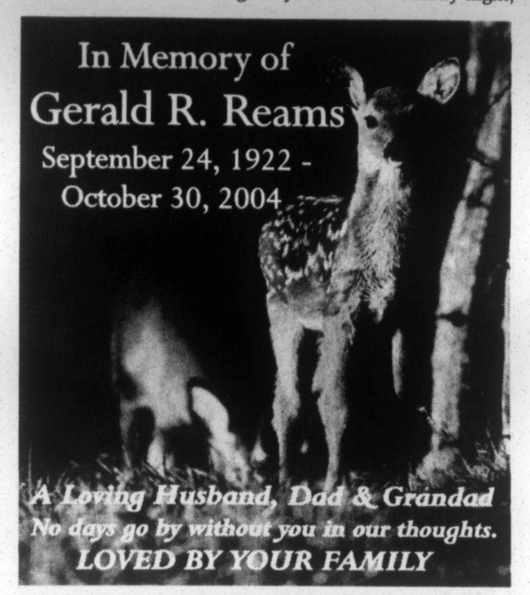
If you have e-mail, you've probably seen pictures of pets in costume; there are several forwards going around. Some pets love Halloween. Others just like to bark at the door.

If the late Max or the long-gone Samantha loved October 31st, you might just get a visit this week from a doppelganger dog or a frightening feline. In the book Pet Ghosts by Joshua P. Warren (New Page Books, $14.99), you'll read about visitations from beyond the creepy kennel.

So, okay. You scoff at Halloween. Ghosts don't exist, you say. Bigfoot is a guy in a hairy suit, the Loch Ness Monster is a log, and a werewolf is a very talented German shepherd. There is no such thing as a banshee or a haunting, and only wimps get scared. Why not get into the spirit of things anyhow with a book about real dead people? In Postmortem: How Medical Examiners Explain Suspicious Deaths by Stefan Timmermans (University of Chicago Press, $30), you'll read some things that will make even the most hardened skeptic shiver on a dark and stormy night.

After the trick-or-treaters are gone this Halloween, turn off the lights, grab one or all of these books, and try to ignore the scratching on the window. It's only one of the naked trees and the howling of the wind.

Or is it?



The Republican POETIC LICENSE
Garrett County, Maryland

The following poem, "Sand Castles in the Sand," written by Sharon Kight appears on page one of the book Timeless Voices, released last week by the International Library of Poetry. Kight also won the Editor's Choice Award for Outstanding Achievement in Poetry in August. This is her sixth published poem.

Sand Castles in the Sand

Like a young child playing along the beach making sand castles in the sand.
The tide shifts and the mighty waters rush to the shore, soon the sand castles will be no more.
Our lives are like sand castles in the sand;
Our lives are only for a short time.
Then the mighty waters of death come swiftly to take us away.

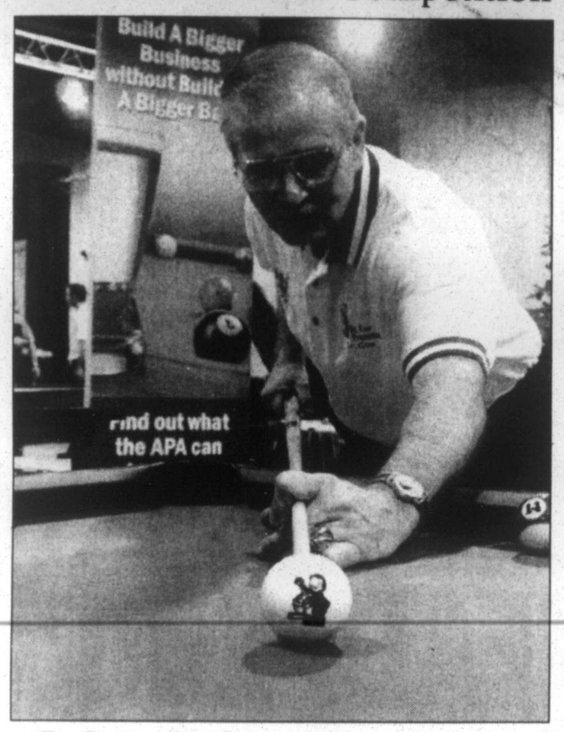
"Dr. Cue" Practices Trick Shots In Garrett Co. For Competition



"Dr. Cue," as Tom Rossman is known around the world, was runner-up in the seventh annual Trick Shot Magic Competition on Oct. in Las Vegas, Nev. Billiards fans will have a chance to see his "magic tricks" soon on ESPN2.

Rossman and his wife Marty have been coming to Garrett County for 17 years to promote artistic pool entertainment shows. He was first introduced to the county in 1989 when Manning Smith, former dean of students at Garrett College, invited him to do his show at the college's student center.

Dr. Cue has returned every year since then to provide entertainment to colleges in the surrounding area by demonstrating the twists and turns/dips and dives of pocket billiards in a humorous and contagious table-trotter style, Smith said.

The Rossmans primarily live "on the road" and travel overseas for nine months out of the year. But each September they stay at Manning and Kathie Smith's home in Mountain Lake Park.

Two months ago Marty called the Smiths and asked if there was a nine-foot billiards table nearby that Tom could practice on for the upcoming invitational tournament. Oakland area resident Douge Helbig willingly offered his table for a week of practice.

That practice apparently paid off, as results were favorable for Dr. Cue at the tournament. Each player had to complete two skill shots and eight artistic shots in a format that posed a challenge to the opponent.

Rossman won the semi-final contest over Luke Szywala of Poland, and only lost by one point in the final to Mike Massey of the United States.

ESPN2 will air the semi-final and final on Sunday, Nov. 5, at 2:30 and 4:30 p.m., respectively.

Further information about Dr. Cue is available online at drcuepromotions.com. For a complete rundown of the tournament, persons can visit azbilliards.com.

Huskies Rack Up 357 Yards On The Ground; Mash Panthers 35-0

In a dynamic performance, the Northern Huskies varsity football team utilized a powerful running attack and a hard-hitting defense on the way to a domineering 35-0 victory over Hancock last Thursday at Hancock.

Powered by the running of Corey Carr and Blair Silbaugh, the Husky offense scored five touchdowns on the ground and racked up 357 yards rushing, 187 alone in the first quarter. Not to be outdone, the Husky defense shut down Hancock's ineffective offense, allowing them a total of 24 yards rushing, 11 yards passing, and two first downs for the entire game.

"Defensively, I thought we played real well again," said Husky head coach Phil Carr, "but I think that's been the case the last couple of weeks. That should help us in the next three games, and we're going to need it."

Carr, who rushed for 106 yards and two touchdowns on 14 carries, got the Huskies on the board at 9:01 in the first quarter with a one-yard plunge. The Huskies attempted and made the two-point conversion on a pass from Garrett Gulledge to Brock Glotfelty, giving Northern an early 8-0 lead. Silbaugh, who picked up 102 yards on 14 carries, scored the first of his two touchdowns on a one-yard run with 4:17 left in the first period. Bryce Menges caught a two-yard pass from Gulledge for the extra point, as the Huskies increased their lead to 16-0.

The Huskies did not slow down in the second period as Gulledge scored at the 10:38 mark on a three-yard run, and Silbaugh's five-yard scamper with 18 seconds left in the period gave Northern an 18-0 halftime lead.

Carr scored again with 6:12 left in the third period on a 13-yard run, then kicked the extra point to put the Maryland 35 point rule into effect. The rule states that if a 35-point differential exists in the second half, the clock will not be stopped when: a) the ball goes out of bounds, b) a forward pass is incomplete, c) the score or touchback occurs (unless it reduces point spread to less than 35 points, and d) a fair catch is made or awarded.

"I thought we executed very well — the best up to this point. We were doing the right things offensively and defensively; it all came together pretty well," Carr said. Northern had 21 first downs and no turnovers.

TOMORROW

Northern (3-4) will play the Westmar Wildcats (2-5) this Friday. "They are smaller than some of the other teams we've faced," Carr said, "but they have some speed on offense and some athletes who can make big plays."

Westmar runs a shotgun offense with four and sometimes five wide receivers, and they rely on their short passing game.

"The key to stopping their offense lies in the kind of pressure we can put on their quarterback. We need to keep him contained," Carr said. Returning from last year to lead the Wildcat offense is junior quarterback Jeremy Shingler (5-7, 155).

According to Carr, Shingler has a nice arm and, if given time, can make the throws. One of his favorite targets is junior split-end Marcus McGinnis (5-10, 150). "He's got good hands, and he's fast," Carr said, "and he's not afraid to catch the ball across the middle."

Junior Adam Kolberg (5-5, 125), a wide receiver, is another play maker the Husky coach wants to contain. Senior Kaleb Smith (5-9, 185) is the starting running back for the Wildcats. "They use him on swing passes and flares, and on the occasional running play," said Carr.

Westmar uses a 53 defense and may jump into a 65 scheme on short yardage plays. Carr expects the Wildcats to play them tight and force them to throw. "They blitz and do have some quickness," Carr said. Westmar's defense is led by linebackers Smith and Shingler.

Carr said that this will be the last time the Huskies play at Westmar. (Next year Westmar and Beall will combine to become Mountain Ridge High School.) The game will be played this Friday at 7 p.m. in Lonaconing.

The Husky jayvees will play Bishop Walsh Monday at BW. The Hancock and Hampshire games were canceled.

Ram Gridders Edged 8-6 In Defensive Clash With Falcons

The good news for the Southern High varsity football team and fans last Friday night after the Rams' game against host Frankfort was that the SHS defensive unit did not allow a single point to be scored by the Falcon offense.

The bad news was that the often potent running game of the Rams was all but completely stopped by the Falcon defense, as the SHS running backs managed a total of three yards for the game.

The end result was an 8-6 loss to the Falcons, whose defensive unit scored their only touchdown of the game. The successful two-point conversion run by Brandon House would ultimately win the game, as the Rams rallied for a touchdown in the fourth quarter, but were unsuccessful on their pass for the conversion.

The Rams were aided by six fumbles by the Falcons, three of which resulted in turnovers. The Rams had two turnovers via interceptions.

After several drives were stopped, either by turnovers or stingy defensive play by both teams, the Falcons finally put their only points of the night on the board with 7:09 remaining in the third quarter when the Rams were forced to punt from deep in their own territory. Dean Dayton blocked the punt and the ball went into the end zone, where Frankfort's Corey Weaver recovered it for a touchdown.

House, Frankfort's freshman quarterback, carried the ball into the end zone untouched for the extra two points.

Punts-average	8-26	5-32
Fumbles-lost	1-0	6-3
Penalties-yards	7-50	8-68

After more stalled drives and turnovers, the Rams had possession of the ball late in the fourth quarter. A 22-yard pass from Adam VanBogelen to Ryan DeWitt on a third-and-16 play put the ball on the Falcons' three-yard line. After a one-yard loss and a five-yard penalty for a false start, there was a fumble on the exchange, but Ram Justin Ratliff picked up the loose ball and carried it into the end zone with 4:09 left in the game.

VanBogelen's run for the extra two points, which would have knotted the score at 8-8 and likely sent the contest into overtime, was no good, as he slipped and fell on the wet field.

The Ram defense gave the offense another opportunity in the closing minutes, stopping the Falcons yet again on the ensuing drive and forcing them to punt. But after a sack of VanBogelen, the Rams faced a fourth-and-20 situation, and VanBogelen's pass was knocked down, which iced the win for Frankfort.

It was the third win in eight starts for the Falcons, and the fourth loss in seven games for the Rams.

Frankfort finished with a 127-63 advantage in total rushing.

"The bright spot for us was that our defense played as well as it has all year," stated Ram coach Steve Savage.

"We just could not get our running game going, though, as Frankfort put nine or 10 guys in the box and shut us down," he said. "Then when we had to go to the air, our receivers were unable to hold on to the ball. Five of Adam's first seven passes were right in their hands, but dropped. It got very frustrating, especially for Adam, and later in the game he was a little reluctant to throw the ball."

Savage said that, despite the inability to move the ball offensively, he was pleased with VanBogelen's effort.

"Adam actually played maybe his best game of the year," he said. "Because he was forced to throw more, it gave him some valuable experience that may come in handy in some tight games later on.

"And our receivers have really responded well this week in practice," he said. "They knew they had a bad game, and they have worked very hard this week to correct that."

Savage said that they have been dipping the ball in water during practices since Friday night looks to be another wet night, according to weather forecasts.

"The kids are still working hard, but it's been a very tough week because of the

Lady Lakers End Season; Win Pair Over Allegany And BCCC

The Garrett College women's volleyball team closed out its season on a winning note and set the tone for next year by scoring a thrilling 3-2 come-from-behind victory over Allegany and a 3-0 sweep of visiting Baltimore City Community College on Saturday.

The Lakers took the first game from Allegany, 30-23, but fell behind as the Trojans came up with big wins in games two and three, 30-25 and 30-19, respectively.

But the Lakers would not quit. Led by Danielle Glotfelty's 27 points and four aces, Garrett came from behind to tie Allegany in game four, 30-20, and then won game five, 15-10, for the match victory.

In addition to Glofelty's performance, Jayme Miller recorded 20 service points and 20 digs, Gabrielle Vera added 20 digs, Mindy Sharp contributed 19 kills and four blocks, Eugenna Carson had 15 kills and seven blocks, and Jenna Wagner had three aces.

With the victory, the Lakers improved their record to 5-20.

In Garrett's final game of the season, Glotfelty again led the Lakers with 19 service points and nine assists in a three-game sweep over visiting Baltimore City Community College on Saturday.

Jayme Miller also had a big game for the Lakers as she recorded 19 service points and 12 digs. Mindy Sharp added nine kills, Eugenna Carson had eight kills, Julia Bosley pitched in nine digs and eight aces, and Nicole Kovach had a team-high 15 assists. The Lakers ended their season with a 6-20 overall record.

Rams Net Perfect 14-0 Season; Sweep Westmar And Northern

The Southern Rams girls' volleyball team finished its regular season with a perfect 14-0 season by sweeping Westmar and Northern in recent Western Maryland Interscholastic League matches.

Sarah Stephens had 11 service points, seven aces, and 20 kills, as the Rams took three straight games from Westmar on Monday evening, 25-8, 25-16, and 25-15.

Alex Barnard added 10 points, three aces, and five kills, and Adrienne Yoder pitched in 19 assists and three kills. The Ram jayvees also swept Westmar in two games, 25-12 and and 25-13.

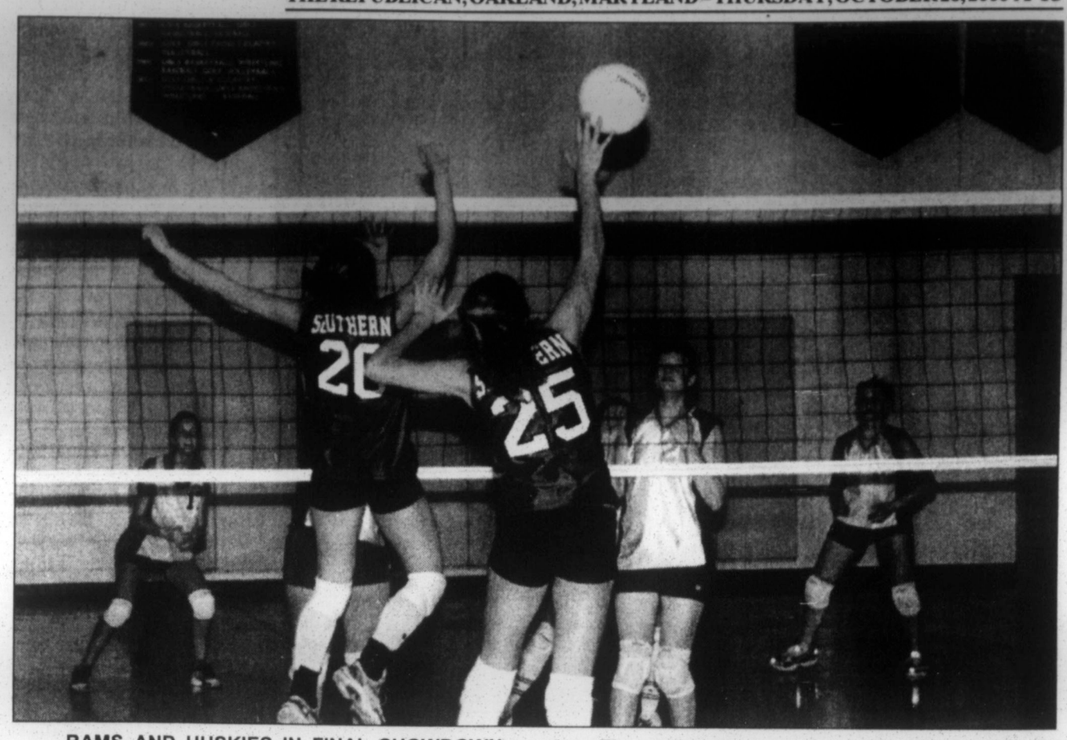
In the final match of the season, Southern swept Northern at home, 25-17, 25-10, and 25-4. Yoder contributed 23 service points and 14 assists, Stephens pitched in nine kills and 11 digs, Barnard and Paula Renteria added four kills each.

For Northern, Emily Sisler had five points and Jackie Rodeheaver added three points, five hits, and two assists.

The Ram jayvee team defeated Northern, 25-19 and 25-20, as Marissa Aronhalt had six points with two aces and Alicia King added six points. Bethany Shaw scored 13 points with three aces for Northern, and Courtney Humbertson had five points with two aces.

Southern has a bye in the first round of the Maryland Class 1A West Region playoffs and will host a quarterfinal match on Monday, Nov. 6. Northern finished the regular season with a 5-10 record and will be notified of its first-round playoff date following Monday's playoff draw.

The Southern junior varsity will play in the Fort Hill tournament this weekend.



RAMS AND HUSKIES IN FINAL SHOWDOWN – The Southern Rams achieved a perfect 14-0 record sweeping the Northern Huskies girls' volleyball team in the last match of the regular season, 25-17, 25-10, and 25-4. Southern has a bye in the first round of the Maryland Class 1A West Region playoffs and will host a quarterfinal match on Monday, Nov. 6. Northern (5-10) will be notified of its first-round playoff date following Monday's playoff draw. Rams Fare Well In Tournament But Lose In Finals

Competing against 12 teams from around the state, the Southern Rams girls' volleyball team advanced to a six-team playoff in the Thomas Jefferson Tournament in Frederick last weekend before they were defeated by Francis Scott Key High School (FSK), 25-21 and 25-19.

To start the tournament, Southern was in pool play with Thomas Jefferson, Severna Park, and Westminster. The Rams defeated Westminster, 25-13, 25-10, and 15-11, and then swept Severna Park, 25-18, 25-21, and 25-11. However, against Thomas Jefferson, the Rams met their match. They lost the first game 25-14, won the second 27-25, but lost the third 15-12.

Southern and Thomas Jefferson finished pool play with 7-2 records, and advanced to six-team playoff spots. Southern was defeated by FSK, 25-21 and 25-19.

For the Rams, Sarah Stephens, who was selected to the all-tournament team, recorded 24 service points, 42 kills, and 41 digs. Paula Renteria pitched in 23 service points, five aces, 37 kills, and 27 digs. Adrienne Yoder contributed 25 service points, five aces, 43 assists, six kills, and 21 digs. Alex Barnard had 15 kills, while Jade Ream added 27 digs.

"This was a great tournament for us to participate in," said Southern coach Susan Newton. "There were some big schools at this tournament and we played well against them. This was good competition to get us prepared for the upcoming regional playoffs."

cold weather," Savage said. "Plus we really got banged up in the Frankfort game, and several of our players are dealing with strep throat this week."

These problems do not bode well for the Rams this week, as they must travel to Greenway Avenue Stadium in Cumberland to face heavily favored Fort Hill, a team that is stinging this week after sustaining its first loss in seven starts last Friday night, falling to Martinsburg.

"Fort Hill is the typical Fort Hill – the same very physical, smash-mouth team that they always are," Savage said. "Everyone knows exactly what they are going to do. There are no surprises. They just come right at you and dare you to try to stop them."

The wing-T Sentinel offense is led by 230-pound fullback Scott Rice, halfback Drew Yurko, who gained 116 yards in a losing effort last Friday, quarterback Rich Shook, and lineman Cody Heavner.

"Rice is a very tough runner, Yurko is extremely quick, Shook does a very nice job running the team, and Heavner is a big, strong guy on the line," Savage said.

The same personnel lead Fort Hill's 6-2 defense, with Rice at either linebacker or nose tackle, Yurko at the corner, and Heavner on the line.

Savage said that he expects to have to once again put the ball in the air more against the Sentinels.

"We've added a few wrinkles to our shotgun game this week, trying to expand our passing attack a little bit," he said.

"But this is one of those games where you just put it all out there. We have nothing to hide and nothing to lose. Few people believe that we will win the game, so we will take it as an opportunity to just go out, have fun, and play hard without having to worry about any expectations," he said.

Friday's kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

OFF TO A SLOW START, but making a big finish against Fort Hill Tuesday evening was the Northern High girls' varsity, as the Huskies were locked in a scoreless tie at intermission, but then erupted for five goals in the second half to win 5-0. It was the final regular-season game for the Huskies, who won a share of the Western Maryland Interscholastic League championship (with Beall) and will take a record of 11-1-1 into next week's 1A West Region tournament. Brittany Stein had a hat trick in the match. Also scoring a goal was freshman Adria Graham, pictured above (#5) racing for possession of the ball against an unidentified Sentinel. NHS Girls Finally Lose Match, But Bounce Back For Two Wins

The unbeaten streak of the Northern High School girls' varsity soccer team finally came to an end last Thursday night, as the Huskies were nipped 1-0 in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League match by Beall at Frostburg State University.

The Huskies bounced right back into the win column with a pair of shutouts, however, handing host Bishop Walsh a 3-0 defeat on Saturday and then blitzing visiting Fort Hill on Tuesday, 5-0, in another WMIL contest.

The results left Coach John Milbourne's Huskies with a final regular-season record of 11-1-1 and a WMIL record of 8-1-1, giving them a share of the 2006 WMIL championship with Beall.

The Huskies were ranked #1 in the area going into last Thursday's match against #2 Beall, a team Northern had defeated by a 3-1 score earlier in the season.

The only goal of the match was scored when Kierstin Stevenson put the ball past Justine Harvey off an assist by Holly Fiorita with 14:43 to play in the first half.

The Huskies nearly tied the score on two occasions in the second half, but Beall keeper Jena Delaney made a pair of clutch saves.

The Huskies trailed in shots on goal by a 9-7 margin and in corner kicks, 4-3. Harvey had eight saves for Northern, while Delaney recorded six for the Mountaineers.

The Huskies took out any frustration they may have had from the loss on their next opponent, Bishop Walsh, Saturday afternoon, out-shooting the Spartans by a lopsided 27-5 margin.

Brittany Stein put Northern on top 9½ minutes into the match with a goal off an assist by Erin Brenneman.

The score remained 1-0 until the 19:28 mark of the second half when Sarah Voelkel scored an unassisted goal for the Huskies.

Freshman striker Adria Graham tacked on an insurance goal for Northern off an assist by Stein with 6:17 to play.

Harvey had three stops in goal while recording her fourth shutout in the last five matches. Sharon Saku was credited with 11 saves for the Spartans, who lost their seventh straight match and fell to 6-12.

The Northern junior varsity team was also victorious in the first match, winning 2-1 behind goals by Kara Savage and Stephanie Shapiro. Scoring for the BW jayvees was Alex Breeding.

The match Tuesday night at home against Fort Hill was played in frigid conditions at the Cove, with wind chills well below freezing, and it took the Husky offense the entire first half and nearly five minutes of the second to finally put a goal on the board.

The Husky defense was even more stubborn though, and kept the Sentinels from scoring the entire evening.

Finally, Brittany Stein recorded an unassisted goal at the 35:19 mark of the second half, igniting a five-goal run for the Huskies.

Graham followed with a goal four minutes later off an assist by Erin Brenneman to put the Huskies up 2-0.

Stein scored her second of the night off another feed by Brenneman with 26:41 to play.

Just over a minute later, Sarah Voelkel put the Huskies up 4-0 with a goal off an assist by Bethani Gillum.

Finally, with just 1:06 to play, Stein completed a hat trick for the night, scoring unassisted.

Justin Harvey had five saves in earning her seventh shutout of the season, and her fifth in the last six matches.

Rebecca Sajdel had seven saves for the Sentinels, who fell to 5-8-1 overall and 1-8-1 in the WMIL.

Stein's hat trick was not the only one of the evening for Northern fans, as Kara Savage led the jayvee Huskies to a 5-2 victory in the first match by scoring three goals. Susan Thatcher and Stephanie Shapiro each scored one for the Huskies,

Southern Girls Edge Sentinels, But Lose To Wildcats, Campers

The Southern High School girls' varsity soccer team concluded its regular season this past week by recording a 2-1, Western Maryland Interscholastic League victory over visiting Fort Hill last Thursday, dropping a 4-3 WMIL match to visiting Westmar Saturday afternoon, and falling to host Allegany last night, 5-0, in another WMIL clash.

Coach Sara Nawrot's Rams, who finished with an overall record of 5-9 and a WMIL mark of 1-9, will play at Northern next Tuesday in a 1A West Region quarterfinal match.

The Rams fell behind Fort Hill 1-0 in Thursday's match when Cassie Donahue scored an unassisted goal for the Sentinels about two minutes into the match.

But that would be the last score for the visitors. Lauren Neville knotted the score when she put the ball into the net off an assist by Brittney Scheffel with 3:38 to play in the half.

What would be the winning goal did not come until the 16:25 mark of the second half when Lauren Shue scored for the Rams off a feed by Kayla Petrella.

The other statistics of the match were as close as the score, as the Rams finished with a 12-10 edge in shots. Each team had two corner kicks.

Jessica Petrella had nine saves in goal for Southern, and Rebecca Sajdel turned away 10 of the Rams' attempts.

The varsity Rams let a 3-1 lead in Saturday's match evaporate in the final 22 minutes of play, allowing the Wildcats to score two goals to tie the score, and while Nicole Whitman and Katherine Huber each recorded a goal for the Fort Hill jayvees.

The Huskies will host Southern next Tuesday in a first-round match of the 1A West Region playoffs.

Northern Boys Blank Wildcats Before Hammering Sentinels

A pair of convincing victories were recorded this week by the Northern High School boys' varsity soccer team, as the Huskies concluded their regular season with a 5-0 win over host Westmar last Thursday and an 8-1 thrashing of Fort Hill Tuesday evening in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League match played in Cumberland.

The Huskies, who finished with an overall record of 9-4-1 and a WMIL mark of 7-2-1, will host Williamsport in a 1A West Region playoff contest next Tuesday.

Recording two goals each in Thursday's shutout of Westmar were Elijah Lais and Zac Beitzel.

Lais also had an assist on the first goal of the match, as he fed Zac Cupler who scored nine minutes into the contest.

Lais made it 2-0 with a goal off a feed by Daniel Warnick with 7:15 to play before intermission.

It became 3-0 at the 29:40 mark of the second half when Lais scored on a penalty kick.

Beitzel followed with two goals in just a 10-second span, scoring off an assist by Ryan Bowser with 18:05 to play, and then getting his second on a penalty kick at the 17:55 mark.

The Huskies finished with a 20-9 advantage in shots and led in corner kicks, 4-1. Zach Trautwein was credited with seven saves in goal for Northern, while Justin Baker had a dozen saves for the Wildcats (1-9, 1-7 WMIL).

Zac Beitzel recorded a hat trick and an assist in Tuesday's easy victory over Fort Hill, while Lais finished with two goals and four assists.

Putting the first goal on the board was Northern's Jeremy Beitzel, who scored off an assist by Lais at the 36:22 mark of the first half.

Ryan Bowser made it 2-0 just two minutes later, hitting a goal off a feed by Zac Beitzel.

Bowser returned the favor less than two minutes later, feeding Zac Beitzel for his first goal of the night with 32:35 left in the first half.

Lais followed with his two goals, one unassisted at the 20:29 mark, and his second off a feed by Zac Beitzel 5:29 before intermission, which gave the Huskies a commanding 5-0 lead.

Zac Beitzel scored his second goal just 1:40 into the second half, again assisted by Lais.

Fort Hill finally broke onto the board when Garrett Appel hit an unassisted goal with 26:38 to play.

Zac Beitzel completed his hat trick at the 8:48 mark with a goal off an assist by Lais, and Zack Lipscomb concluded the scoring with just 46 seconds to play, hitting a goal off the fourth assist by Lais.

Trautwein had eight saves in goal for the Huskies. John Means and Ian James had four and three saves, respectively, for the Sentinels, who fell to 4-9-1 overall and 2-7-1 in the WMIL.

The Northern junior varsity was edged in the preliminary match, 3-2.

Ram Jayvees Blanked 40-0 By Frankfort

The junior varsity football team of Southern High School was shut out 40-0 by host Frankfort Monday night, as the Falcons recorded their seventh win in eight games.

Derek Sisk ran for a pair of first-quarter touchdowns, on runs of 10 and 40 yards. Sandwiched in between was a three-yard TD run by Skyler Minke. Three successful conversion kicks by Joe Readd gave the Falcons a commanding 21-0 lead, still in the first quarter.

Shawn Gillespie also scored two touchdowns for the home team, on runs of 85 and 40 yards, and Dalton Brown accounted for the other six-pointer on an eight-yard carry. Isaac Turner also booted an extra point.

The Ram jayvees will host the Tucker County junior varsity on Monday, with the kickoff set for 7 p.m.

then a third goal in overtime to record the 4-3 win.

Westmar (7-6-1 and 5-4-1) took a 1-0 lead about 3½ minutes into the match when Danielle McGinnis scored off an assist by Lacey Hitcheson.

Lauren Shue answered with an unassisted goal at the 29:58 mark to tie the score.

Kayla Petrella gave the Rams their first lead of the match with a goal off a feed by Lauren Neville with 14:59 remaining in the half.

The score remained 2-1 until the 33:46 mark of the second half, when Morgan Anderson scored an unassisted goal to give the Rams their 3-1 lead.

Back came the Wildcats, with Molly Cheshire scoring off an assist by Ashleigh Colmer at the 21:56 mark to cut the Rams' lead to 3-2.

A goal by Westmar's Katie Sloan with just 2:11 left in regulation sent the contest into overtime, and the Wildcats won in the sudden-death extra period when McGinnis scored off a feed by Sloan at the 8:30 mark.

Jessica Petrella had six saves for the Rams, and Abby Rawlings was credited with four for Westmar.

The Southern junior varsity was blanked in the preliminary match, 2-0. Caitlyn Clark scored both of the goals for the jayvee Wildcats, with Nicole Nightengale and Annie Dawson each recording an assist.

The major nemesis for the Rams last night against Allegany at Greenway Avenue Stadium in Cumberland was Detonia Degross, who scored four of the Campers' five goals.

Her first came at the 21:15 mark of the first half, unassisted, and her second was scored with 8:37 remaining in the half off an assist by Jaclyn Braithwaite.

She earned her hat trick at the 31:37 mark of the second half, scoring off a feed by Jaclyn Boor.

Boor followed with a goal of her own, unassisted, with 17:09 to play, and Degross tacked on yet another unassisted score at the 10:00 mark.

Jessica Petrella was credited with eight saves in goal for the Rams, while Chantae Dicken had four for the Campers.

The win gave Allegany a final regular-season record of 9-5 and a WMIL mark of 6-4.

Edwards Goal Gives Southern Boys 1-0 Win Over Wildcats

A goal scored about midway through the first half would be the only goal of the night Tuesday in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League match between the Southern High boys' varsity and Westmar, and it was Southern's Michael Edwards who recorded the winning goal in a 1-0 win for the Rams.

The match was the final of the regular season for both teams, as regional playoffs will begin this Friday.

Southern, which finished with a 6-9 overall record and a 3-7 mark in WMIL play, will play at Boonsboro this Friday in a 1A West Region contest.

Tuesday's clash with Westmar saw the Rams finish with a 16-12 advantage in shots, while the Wildcats led in corner kicks, 3-1.

Edwards' goal was recorded unassisted at the 23:44 mark of the first half, and the rest of the contest was scoreless defense. A shot into the net by the Wildcat offense was ruled no good because of an offsides call.

Southern keeper Drew Proudfoot had four saves, and Justin Baker stopped seven of the Rams' shots for Westmar.

The Wildcats finished with a 1-12 record overall and 1-9 in the WMIL.

Heather Lander Singles Champ In Major Event

Garrett County's Heather Lander, a senior at Elizabethtown College, Elizabethtown, Pa., and a member of the E'town women's tennis team, captured a singles title in the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Corporation Individual Singles and Doubles Championships, held this past weekend at Lehigh University in Bethlehem, Pa.

The event included teams from all of the schools that compete in the Commonwealth Conference, as well as all those that compete in the Freedom Conference.

Lander, seeded second in the event, won the #5 singles championship for the third straight year by defeating Molly Coursey of Juniata College, Caitlin Gerlach of DeSales University, and top-seeded Jennell Yelito of Moravian College in the final match, 6-0, 6-3.

Lander and freshman teammate Jessica Russell, who were unseeded in doubles, placed second by upsetting both the third- and top-seeded teams before falling to another unseeded duo.

Lander, a graduate of Northern High School who holds the Elizabethtown record for singles victories, also broke the Blue Jays' career doubles win record with 60 victories. The previous record was 57.

Overall, the Elizabethtown women captured one singles title, two doubles titles, and four runner-up finishes out of nine flights in the tournament.

Rams Crushed By Ridgeley 54-8; Then Fall To Steelers 26-0 In CAYFL Action

In a lopsided 54-8 loss, the Oakland Rams had no answer for the offensive power and versatility of the undefeated Division I Ridgeley Rams in a Cumberland Area Youth Football League (CAYFL) contest on Sunday.

Ridgeley's halfback Joey Luciw could not be stopped, as he scored every time he touched the ball. On two carries, he racked up 110 yards on the ground, rushing in the second quarter for a 45-yard scoring run, and racing again from his own 35-yard line in the third period for a 65-yard TD. As if that were not enough, Luciw also caught a pass from Brian Bills, and raced 70 yards for a third score.

Bills's performance was equally impressive as he completed three passes, all for scores, for 145 yards. Steven Knott caught a 10-yard TD pass in the first quarter and Colby Joiner pulled in a pass at his own 35 yard line and raced for a 65-yard score.

Justin Sachs got in on the action as he ran for a 35-yard score in the second quarter. Ty Bowers and Matt Grabenstein ran for scores in the fourth quarter — Bowers on a four-yard sprint and Grabenstein on a 25-yard scamper. Bowers ended the game with a total of 95 yards rushing and a 40-yard punt return.

The Oakland Rams had one bright moment — Bryson Knox took a handoff on his own one-yard line, turned on the burners, and raced 99 yards for a TD — the only score for the Rams.

The Division II Oakland Rams fared better as they zipped past Ridgeley 21-6. Zack Knots ran for two scores and sacked a Ridgeley ball carrier in the end zone for a safety.

Oakland will host Northern on Saturday.

In other recent CAYFL action, Jason Bosley racked up 88 yards on five carries and scored three touchdowns in leading the Division I Northern Steelers to a win over the Oakland Rams, 26-0.

Bosley got the Steelers on the board in the first period with a 45-yard touchdown run. The extra point kick failed, giving the Steelers a 6-0 lead.

Bosley scored again in the second quarter on a 20-yard run, and Zach Meyers kicked for the two-point conversion, putting the Steelers ahead 14-0. Garrett Rayner finished the scoring in the first half when he ran for a seven-yard TD, giving the Steelers a 20-0 half time lead.

Bosley scored again in the third period on a 17-yard run. The extra point kick failed, giving the Steelers a 26-0 victory.

Standouts for the Steelers' defense were A.J. Beitzel, Matt Thomas, and Kameron Kamp. Bryson Knox, Ben Dicks, and Tyler Alt played well for the Rams.

The Steelers finished the regular season with an 8-1 record and will play Bishop Walsh in the semifinals of the CAYFL Playoffs at 2 p.m., this Sunday, at Northern High School in Accident.

Josh Mason ran for two touchdowns and kicked an extra point in leading the Division II Steelers past the Oakland Rams 15-0.

Mason, who carried the ball 18 times for 118 yards, scored on a 24-yard run in the second period, and ran 26 yards for the final score in the last quarter.

Defensive standouts for the Steelers were Kyle Rosenberger, Derek Yoder, and Tyler Bittinger.

For the Rams, Mason Dick, Derek Getson, and Zack Knotts were cited for their outstanding play.

The Steelers finished the regular season with a 7-2 record and will face the Ridgeley Rams in the semifinals of the CAYFL Division II Playoffs at 4 p.m., Saturday, at Ridgeley.

Four Players Score In 25-13 Maddawg Win

Four different players scored touchdowns as the Northern Maddawgs defeated the Cumberland Saints 25-13 in recent Pee Wee League action.

A. Rodeheaver scored a touchdown in the first quarter and kicked the extra point to even the score at 7-7. Robert Hill and Brian Ferrell scored touchdowns in the second quarter to give the Maddawgs a 19-13 half time lead.

The third quarter was a defensive struggle in which neither team could score. However, Tyler Yutzy scored in the final stanza to give the Maddawgs the 25-13 victory.

Sea Otters Will Hold Intra-Meet, Swim-A-Thon

The Cumberland Sea Otters youth swim team, which has several members from Garrett County, will hold its annual Orange and Black Inter-Squad meet this Sunday, Oct. 29, at the Cumberland YMCA Riverside complex from 2:30 to 4 p.m.

Warm-ups will begin at 2 p.m. All friends, family, and anyone interested in competitive swimming are invited to attend.

The Sea Otters will hold their annual Swim-A-Thon fundraiser the week of October 29 through November 5. Swimmers will pick one or two days during this time to record the number of laps swum during practice. Coaches will record and verify these laps.

The Sea Otters will ask for sponsorship from friends, family, co-workers, etc., to support the YMCA competitive swim program. Sponsors may donate a flat amount or an amount per lap swum. For more information and/or sponsor sheets, persons may contact Coach Jamie Miller or Jean Harmon at 301-722-7313.

Hunting Season For Upland Game Set For First Saturday In November

Hunting seasons for upland game species, including cottontail rabbit and bobwhite quail, are set to begin on Saturday, Nov. 4.

Rabbits are abundant in brushy, weedy areas, and can be hunted with or without dogs. Based on annual bobwhite surveys, the lower Eastern Shore and certain areas of Southern Maryland hold the highest densities of quail, affording hunters in those regions the greatest chance for success. Although quail numbers have declined significantly, research shows that hunting is not the cause.

"Habitat loss is the number one problem facing our quail populations," said Bob Long, Department of Natural Resource's (DNR) Upland Game Bird Project Manager. "Quail thrive in brushy, weedy fields, and hedgerows — habitats that were once common but have declined with changing land use in recent years."

There are a number of programs that provide incentives for landowners and farmers to establish quail habitat. A relatively new program called "Habitat Buffers for Upland Birds" has great potential to provide much needed habitat.

DNR continues to explore a variety of research and management options, and has initiated a habitat restoration project at the Millington Wildlife Management Area (WMA). As a result, bobwhite quail hunting at the Millington WMA will be prohibited during the 2006-2007 hunting season in order to assess the benefits of ongoing management strategies. Hunting of other upland game will not be affected on Millington WMA.

Hunting season for rabbits will remain open until Feb. 1, which coincides with the season closing date for quail in the eastern zone. Quail season in the western zone will close Jan. 15.

For more information on upland hunting regulations and public lands opportunities, visit www.dnr.state.md.us, or consult the Guide to Hunting and Trapping in Maryland 2006-2007. For more information on ways to improve quail and farmland wildlife habitat, persons may contact Bob Long, DNR's Upland Game Bird Project Manager, at 410-221-8838, ext. 106.

Turkey Season Slated To Open This Saturday

Maryland's fall turkey season will open Saturday, Oct. 28, and close Saturday, Nov. 4. As in the past, the season will only be open in Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties with a bag limit of one turkey.

Wild turkeys are traditionally abundant in the western mountains, and this year should be no exception," notes a spokesperson for the Depatment of Natural Resources. Field surveys conducted by DNR field staff suggest that wild turkey reproductive success in the western region was slightly above average this past summer. Typically, fall harvest varies greatly from year to year depending on reproduction, weather, mast crops, and hunter participation. Reproductive success is probably the most important; it influences the number of turkeys in the field, which in turn affects hunter success and total fall harvests.

Although fluorescent orange is not required for turkey hunters, hunters are advised to always take safety precautions. Hunters are encouraged to wear a fluorescent orange hat while moving, as well as tie an orange ribbon around a nearby tree at calling locations. It is also important, DNR advises, for hunters to positively identify their target and never stalk or sneak up on turkey sounds; it may be another hunter.

Hunters should be aware of three regulations changes affecting fall turkey hunting: 1) motorized or electronic turkey decoys are now prohibited, 2) handguns are now legal for fall turkey hunting, and 3) fall turkey hunters using shotguns are restricted to shot sizes #4, #5, or #6.

Any turkey or deer harvested must be registered with DNR by calling 1-888-800-0121 or visiting www.gamecheck.dnr.state.md.us. New and improved field tags and butcher/taxidermy tags are located on pages 28 and 29 of the 2006-2007 Guide to Hunting and Trapping in Maryland. This season's tags provide a superior writing surface material and a more tear-resistant hole, said the spokesperson.

DNR made these changes in response to suggestions from the Maryland hunting public. Unused field tags and butcher/taxidermy tags from last season are still valid for tagging deer and turkey during the coming hunting seasons.

Those interested may consult DNR's web site, www.dnr.state.md.us, or the 2006-2007 Guide to Hunting and Trapping in Maryland for more information on tagging and checking requirements, fall turkey regulations, and public land opportunities.

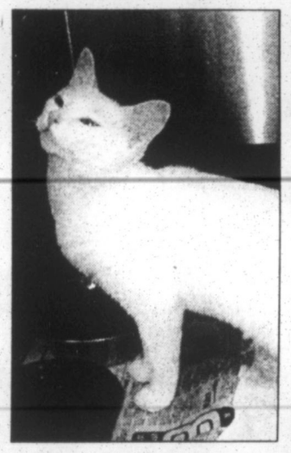
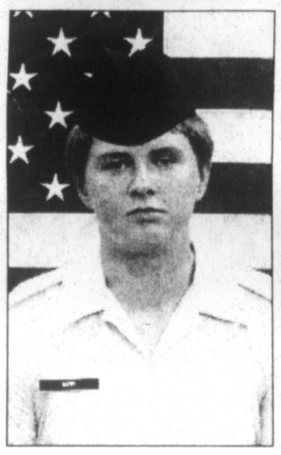
BIG EARS' SISTER LOOKING FOR A HOME – This female basenji mix was picked up as a stray in Grantsville and is currently housed at the Garrett County Animal Shelter. "We think that she may be related to 'Big Ears,' who was featured in this section several weeks ago," said a Humane Society spokesperson. Also looking for homes are a young female short-haired white cat, above right, a young female long-haired white cat, below, and a large male tabby, who would prefer a home without any other pets. Last week's Lab mix and a large grey cat were reclaimed by their owners. "Please put bedding in your outdoor pets' 'boxes' to help insulate them from the cold," said the spokesperson. "Also, if you have rabbit pens, make sure they have boxes and a wall or tarp on one side to help keep out the cold wind!" For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553.





U.S. Air Force Airman Kayla L. Kipp has graduated from basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

During the six weeks of training, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization, and military customs and courtesies; performed drill and ceremony marches, and received physical training, rifle marksmanship, field training exercises, and special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Kipp is the daughter of Dwight Kipp of Shade Hollow Road, Grantsville, and Brenda Kipp of Friendsville. She is a 2006 graduate of Northern High School.

Garrett College Hayride To Help House Of Hope

Garrett College students are celebrating Halloween by hosting a Haunted Hayride for the community and to help the House of Hope The event will be held Friday, Oct. 27, at 7:30 p.m.

"You can bring a canned good food donation for entrance," said Michelle Holler, freshman representative. The cans will be donated to the House of Hope.

The hayride will start behind the Center for Adventure and Outdoor Sports, which is located near the residence hall off Mosser Road. A tractor trailer will pull the wagon.

"The Student Government Association members and other clubs at the college are putting it all together," Holler said about arranging the hayride.

SGA officers are Krista Joosep, president; Zumra Balihodzic, vice president; Heidi Hare, secretary; Lasma Kanele, historian; Gabriel Leggett, treasurer; Sami Smith and Holler, freshme representatives; and Tim thy Cole and Jody Bake sophomore representatives

Governor Ehrlich says...

"I am pleased to endorse Republican Candidate Wendell R. Beitzel for the Maryland House of Delegates for District1A. Wendell will do an excellent job representing the interest of the citizens of Western Maryland as our Delegate in Annapolis. Wendell has been an active member of the Ehrlich team and clearly possesses the requisite academic and intellectual abilities to be in the House of Delegates as he has demonstrated through his commendable public service career and involvement in public and civic affairs. He is an active member of his community with an extensive history of small business ownership and has shown superb leadership skills and initiative in all of his political pursuits. Therefore, I highly recommend him for the Maryland House of Delegates and give him my full and unqualified support. I know Wendell Beitzel will bring civility, principle, and commonsense to Annapolis so we can return your government to the people it is supposed to serve."

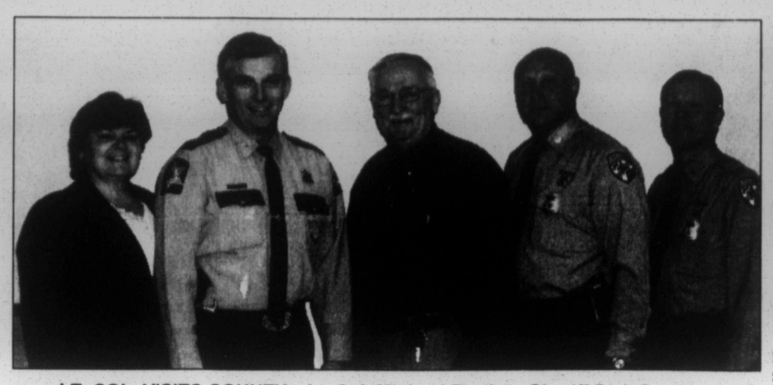
Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

For quite a few years I noticed many ladybugs in my house when the cooler weather came around. Sheila Southerly reported to me that she and Bill saw a swarm outside in their yard. I did see some ladybugs outside during the summer, but just one at a time and never in a swarm.

The Southerlys have a guard cat and it acts crazy when a bear ventures near their house. Sheila's Aunt Beulah had her bird feeders destroyed by a bear recently. The kids on the school bus saw a big black bear at the side of mother's house recently. On Friday, the 20th, it was so damp and cold outside that it should drive our bears into their dens to hibernate for the winter. Actually they are still foraging and filling their bellies for their winter fast. I am pretty sure they will wait until the snow starts flying to go to sleep. I hope we will not have to deal with our black bear population for a while. Of course they have never ventured onto my house's area.

Beulah feels different about the changing weather. I doubt it if very few Bittinger folk look forward to wintry weather. Even when I was a very enthusiastic cross-county skier, I didn't wish for an early snowfall. My skiing could wait as late as possible. I admit when we got a fresh light snow I would wish it would be enough to go skiing. That was after mid December.



LT. COL. VISITS COUNTY – Lt. Col. Michael Fischer, Sheriff Dick Sanders, and Major Gary Berkebile discussed the "great cooperation" between the Sheriff's Office and the Maryland State Police this week. "Garrett County is a great example of the law enforcement partnership we enjoy in Maryland," said Fischer. "The Garrett Bureau of Investigation and the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force are two very visible examples. The Garrett County Narcotics Task Force often leads the state with its enforcement efforts and because of the Garrett Bureau of Investigation, the Sheriff's Office, the Maryland State Police, and the State's Attorneys Office are working together to keep Garrett County safe." Pictured above from the left are state's attorney Lisa Thayer Welch, Berkebile, Sanders, Fischer, and Lt. Rick Narron, commander of the McHenry MSP Barrack.

Unfortunately, it is not a rare event to have a Halloween snow in Bittinger or Garrett County. Our leaves are flying off our trees, especially in the high winds we have had.

The other day when I went up Rock Lodge Road, I saw a Beitzel sign blowing away on the lawn of the Darby family. I can't wait for election day, as I am so sick of campaign signs. Do people really make their voting decision from the number and location of signs? It is not surprising that Rock Lodge Road is peppered with Beitzel signs because they do not want to make waves. Perhaps they think that not putting up those signs would be a rude slight to a local boy.

It is not any different in the Accident area, which is covered with Aiken signs, or in Grantsville, where most properties have a sign out for Holliday or in the area of the Fairgrounds that is peppered with Glotfelty signs. It is a shame that our local channels are from Pittsburgh so we don't get any coverage or commercials for the Maryland state candidates.

Speaking of the Pittsburgh station, I saw an ad for Lynn Swann for governor for Pennsylvania urging people to vote for a citizen soldier instead of a politician. Who really believes that a former NFL star is a citizen soldier? He made millions during his football career. I believe he has more concerns about the wealthy, as he doesn't know what it is like to not have enough money to just pay bills and buy groceries. I was an admirer of Swann when he was a star player for the Steelers, but I don't think he is qualified as a public servant. My brother Barry commented a couple weeks ago during a Steelers game that he used to feel sorry for the teams trying to score against our "Steel Curtain." I can't say that I ever felt that way, but it did spoil me, as I expect the Steelers defense should be a steel curtain.

I am pleased to have a team that I can root for in the October madness, meaning the baseball playoff season with the Detroit Tigers. I can't believe that the Pittsburgh Pirates did not resign Jim Leyland a few years ago when they had the opportunity.

Is it just me that thinks this autumn is one of most beautiful ones in a long time? It seems the colors are more brilliant, particularly because of some green leaves contrasted with the yellow, orange, reds, and browns. We have also had some especially blue skies.

I am afraid the couple mild days we had last week was our Indian summer. I hoped it would not come yet, but could we really expect a mild stretch in November? It is not any use to worry about the upcoming winter because it will come anyway and just as bad if we don't worry about it. The recent rain brought out another nice crop of meadow mushrooms. In fact, I picked the nicest specimens that I got this year, a button about as big as a child's fist.

Meredith and I enjoyed a weekend visit with our Claire. Meredith got her learning permit, so she drove us to church. We returned to a most delicious lunch of sautéed mushrooms. Cooked in butter they are delicious, but my perfect young horse mushrooms are simply divine. We better enjoy them now because the buzz at the Bittinger 4-H buckwheat dinner was that we are in for a snow soon. I can believe it, from the chilly Sunday morning wind. The leaves on our trees are shivering.

A reminder that this Sunday, October 29, there will be a joint worship service for the Bittinger Lutheran Parish at St. John's Church, Meadow Mountain, beginning at 8:45 a.m. We will be celebrating Reformation Sunday. We do not lose an hour's sleep to attend an hour earlier service at St. Johns, as we turn our clock back one hour at midnight. You all know the saying "fall back, spring forward." Then at 4 in the afternoon an installation service will be held at Emmanuel for Pastor Randolf Richardson. A dinner will be held at the Bittinger fire hall following the installation.

I believe that it is good to keep our big fat Lab close to home because she does resemble a black bear. Anyway, my girls always tell her that they love her beautiful bear face. If anyone plans to hunt for bears near my house, watch out for a black Lab with a purple collar. By the way, someone found a male terrier, white with black and brown markings, in the Rock Lodge Road area last weekend. If you have lost that kind of a dog, call 301-463-2903.

We had an unusual visitor in our house – a wooly worm with a tiny brown spot before its front black stripe. What does that mean in terms of a winter forecast? I never saw that kind of a pattern before. On the other hand, I saw a solid brown one on the road.

I guess Lenny Poholsky probably had to utter a few bad words last Sunday during the Pittsburgh Steelers and Atlanta Falcons game. I know I did. But it was quite a game, with many lead changes, overtime, etc. I did think it is wrong that a toss of the coin can determine the outcome of a game. Atlanta won the overtime toss and the Steelers didn't even get a chance to have the ball. I was very impressed with the performance of the Steelers' backup quarterback Charlie Batch after Big Ben took a bad hit on the heat. This loss hurt our playoff hopes. I was surprised when my Meredith turned on the Redskins game because she hoped to see one of our favorite former Steelers player, Randal El.

But the biggest news the first thing Monday was a sign of a snow cover plus an evil wind. The snow is keeping on falling. Yes, it is light, but it still too much too soon. It is the kind of a day that I deeply regret that I don't have a garage.

Speaking of a garage, my favorite current commercial is for National Car Insurance. If you haven't seen it watch for it. What is not funny for me is fear. I don't like the television show "Fear Factor."

This snow came too early and has brought out all of my fears. I am afraid I will fall between my door and my car. I am afraid of the snow-covered roads. But something even scarier than fear to me is the necessity to get out in the winter for some basic necessities, like dog food and for me, coffee.

I will not have a jack-o-lantern for Halloween this year. My daughters were too busy with other things to do one for me. Another casualty of our kids growing up is the Peat Bog Monster. Ten years ago this part of Bittinger had dozens of kids to make Halloween fun. You could be assured that plenty of goblins and ghouls would come for treats. We were very lucky that our neighboring homes were safe for little ones who were trick-or-treating. Not many locations could claim that now. No one in our community would put razor blades or poison in their treats looking to hurt our children. I think the saddest aspect of today's society is that parents have to examine their kids' treats and that you can't bake homemade cookies because they are considered unsafe.

Although one reader wrote in a letter to the editor about this column and said it made him feel like he would like to move to Bittinger, you have to be a special kind of person to fit in in Bittinger. I know, because I never felt like I fit in. People with suburban mentality will not, for sure. Among the best things about Bittinger are our farm life style, and 4-H dinners at the fire hall, not lots of dinners at expensive restaurants, even with the scent of fresh spread manure and four-generation family farms. Heirloom lilac bushes and deep family roots exist here. A woman who never did home canning does not belong here. I do not worry about a low class of people moving in my neighborhood or not in any neighborhood. They will find out they are not up to the challenge of living in Bittinger.

October 24, 2006

Attn: "Letters"

Dear Sir:

I am responding to the article in the Cumberland Times-News on October 14 2006, " Hunters Lodge Complaints about No Firearms Zone on Savage River State Forest." Mr. Mike Dreisbach, owner, purchased 45 acres in 1990 in the middle of 640 acres of Savage River State Forest, one of the best hunting areas in Garrett County. It looks like he doesn't want any hunters on his property. If this is the case why did he buy this land right in the middle of hunting territory? Maybe the lodge would be better suited in the Deep Creek Lake area? Several citizens and concerned hunters held a meeting at Olin McKenzie's farm. About 75 people were present as well as Del. George Edwards. I met with Mr. McKenzie at his farm and I also met with many hunters. The hunters informed me that Mr. Dreisbach, lodge owner, had received permission from the Department of Natural Resources to put signs up on a 150 yard restricted zone– NO HUNTING NO WEAPONS ALLOWED. I was also informed that the 150 yard zone has grown in size. Mr. Dreisbach also got permission to cut hiking trails on this state land, which is illegal. Mr. Dreisbach started running people off the trails, which is also illegal.

The second article was written on Oct. 17, 2006. Del. Leroy Meyers has taken full responsibility. Why would a delegate from District 1 C have the right to make this call? Del. Meyers also said that he and Mr. Dreisbach are old friends from down east – Surprise, surprise. The message is our delegation in Western Maryland is saying that they do not care about the citizens who live here. They are only concerned about newcomers moving into the area. It seems that they have more rights than we do. State Forester Steve Koehn said the restricted zone is only on state property. My question is, If we hunters cannot use this state ground why should the residents of Maryland pay the taxes on this now dead land? Maybe our delegates can ask Mr. Dreisbach to pay the taxes since they are such good friends and he thinks he owns the land. Better yet, let our delegates pay the tax bill. As much as hunter and sportsmen rights are being stepped on, the list just grows as to how much of our rights they are stealing from us.

My name is Edward Evans and I am the President of the Lonaconing Trap Club. The politicians and the Maryland Department of the Environment are stripping us of our rights. I hope the above mentioned articles are an eye opener for the citizens of Western Maryland, more particular the Hunting and Shooting Clubs. Del. Edwards said just do what the rule book says: That it is illegal to shoot a firearm within 150 yards of a dwelling. The politicians threw the rule book out the window years ago except for old friends. They make the rules as they go. Case example, the Lonaconing Trap Club. Two people move in right beside us. Our politicians feel that they have more rights then we do. That is incorrect. October 2004 we met with George Harman, MDE, Senator Hafer and G. Edwards. Mr. Sportsman himself Mike Sawyers from Times-News was present. I wanted to talk about the laws. Mr Harman waived the COMAR regulations in everyone's face on sound levels. I asked him how can the State of Maryland make a state wide law and omit certain counties? Under COMAR all shooting cubs are exempt from sound noise regulations except 8 counties and GARRETT, ALLEGANY, and Washington counties are three of them, three of the state's biggest hunting money generating counties. Every firearm that is fired produces a noise level above the 65 dbs limit. Every time you fire your firearm in Western Maryland you are violating state law but the rest of the state can fire firearms 24-7 with no sound restrictions. This law just makes gun collectors out of us because it is illegal to pull the trigger in these counties. I also point out the fact in 1991 when the COMAR laws were drafted and passed into law Del. George Edwards along with Kevin Kelly and Cas Taylor were in office. So much for that under the table Parris Glendening deal. They needed more grass seed money for Rocky Gap and gave Parris the big wink and sold us for more of Glendening's gun laws. The noise level, that the Scenic Railroad train produces as well as the Cumberland Race Track far excede the 65 dbs sound limit, but Mr. Harman had no answer for us.

Thus far we have had two hearings in Allegany County Circuit Court. I have the upmost respect for the law until I saw the injustice of this case. What has happened to the ethics and principles of our state. Nothing but politics and deception – what a joke. Under the representation of our attorney Mr. Jason Buckle we have appealed our case to the Maryland Court of Appeals and are waiting for their decision. Where is the Allegany Garrett County Sportsman Association through out all of this. Do not bother them, they are too busy rolling out the Red Carpet for Del. Edwards.

Another issue that all of us are involved with: The Flush Tax. To the tune of about $30 a year. Why should septic owners pay such tax? Bowling Green residents upgraded their system because of the new prison. Residents in Garrett County beyond the Eastern Continental Divide, their waters flow towards the Mississippi. Our Delegation at work again. Just pucker up and pay out, Mr. and Mrs. tax payer. They say this tax money is used to clean up the Potomac River and the Chesapeake Bay. What are they doing about the water coming from the Susquehanna River? It starts in New York, flows through the state of Pennsylvania, then into Maryland into the Potomac River and it is a sewer river.

Another issue MDE says is illegal: Outdoor wood boiler furnaces. They stepped on our rights again. Kiss 'em all good bye. IT'S THE LAW! We can make this state a better place to live in. Elections are just around the corner. Get out and vote. CLEAN HOUSE. It is time for a change. Also do not forget the power of the WRITE IN VOTE.

Respectfully,
Edward Evans

UP THE NOSE IT GOES – More than 700 Garrett County children are now armed against influenza, as the Garrett County Health Department (GCHD), in partnership with the county board of education, has completed the administration of the FluMist® vaccine to 44% of the eligible population (approximately 751 children). Seven teams of registered nurses from GCHD and the school system, parent and RN volunteers, student nurses from Allegany College, and administrative support staff were deployed Tuesday morning to all 11 public elementary schools in the county. Flu-Mist® is a live virus vaccine that provides protection against the flu. A live vaccine gives the actual virus in a much weakened state to the recipient, whose body then manufactures antibodies to protect against the disease. FluMist® is given as a nasal spray, so it does not require an injection. Children who are 8 years of age or younger who have never been vaccinated previously for influenza will require a second dose of FluMist® to be administered in six weeks. The teams will be deployed a second time on Dec. 5 to administer this follow-up dose. If school is closed that day because of snow, a make-up day is scheduled for Dec. 6. Pictured as they receive the vaccine are Mikolas Ruggiero, left, at Grantsville Elementary, and Clay Todd, at right, at Dennett Road.

Woman's Plea On Drug Charge Draws PBJ, Fine

In recent District Court news, Kandy Sue Rosenberger, 39, Markleysburg, Pa., pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ), one year of unsupervised probation, and a $100 fine by Judge Edward A. Malloy Jr., according to court records.

Bailiff Chuck Nolan searched and found a metal smoking pipe containing burnt residue of marijuana on Rosenberger after she had passed through the security check station in the district court building to testify as a defendant in a court case in June. Det. D. Teets of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office also found marijuana in Rosenberger's purse, court documents showed. Rosenberger was not prosecuted for possession of drug-related paraphernalia.

In other court news, Brian J. Boyle, Rochester, N.H., pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana, and was ordered to serve one day of unsupervised probation, and pay $300 in fines and court costs, according to court records.

Boyle was the passenger in a vehicle that was pulled over for a traffic violation in July. After the police found marijuana and drug paraphernalia in the vehicle, Boyle was arrested and charged with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia, according to court records. Boyle was not prosecuted for possession of drug paraphernalia.

George Joseph Brodak, 66, Oakland, pleaded guilty to selling alcohol to a minor, and Judge Malloy handed the defendant a PBJ, one day of unsupervised probation, and a $50 fine, according to court records.

Brodak was charged after selling six-pack of beer to Cadet S. McCarty, an under cover police officer, last March at Brodak's Liquors.

The state's attorney did not prosecute the following cases:

James William Shoemaker, Shenandoah, Va., was not prosecuted for allegedly conspiring to commit first-degree burglary and allegedly conspiring to the theft of property in excess of $500. The charges were filed for the alleged theft of a four-wheeler in June, and the state's attorney dismissed the case because the evidence was insufficient to result in a conviction of the defendant, according to court documents.

Karol DeWane Meyers, 66, Friendsville, was not prosecuted for second-degree assault. Charges were filed after Meyers allegedly threatened to hit the 15-year-old son of his next door neighbor if the boy made a disturbance again by riding his motorcycle in the driveway after 6 p.m., according to court records.

In the following court cases the state's attorney for Garrett County submitted petitions to withdraw the outstanding warrants that were over five years old, and all efforts to locate and serve the defendants had been exhausted.

Kenneth Dubois, 32, Lowell, Ma., had been charged in June 1996 with unlawfully and knowingly taking a motor vehicle and not returning it when requested to do so by the owner. The petition to withdraw the warrant was granted by Judge Malloy, according to court records.

Summer Lynne Coscia was charged with the alleged possession of marijuana and related drug paraphernalia in August 2000. Judge Malloy granted the state's attorney's petition to withdraw the warrant.

An outstanding warrant for Cara Louann Steyer, 25, Oakland, was withdrawn by the court. Steyer had been charged in September 1996 for the alleged theft of over $500 of household items.

Judge Malloy allowed the outstanding warrant for Charles Joeseph Atemose, 38, Behtlehem, Pa., to be withdrawn. Atemose had been charged with the alleged possession of marijuana and possession of paraphernalia after a traffic stop in April 1998, according to court records.

HISTORY IN THE MAKING – Friday, Oct. 13, may be an unlucky day for some, but it was a lucky day for Ralph Janoske of Oakland. He is the very first patient to receive dialysis at the new Garrett Dialysis Center below the Regional Eye Center on Memorial Drive in Oakland. He has been on dialysis since May 20, 1997, and has had to travel to Cumberland three days a week for the past nine years. "Words cannot describe how elated we are to make such a short trip to Oakland," said Vivian Janokse, Ralph's wife. "We want to thank each and every person who made this dream possible." Pictured below with Ralph are his wife Vivian and niece Lisa Janoske.

New, Small Business Event To Be Held

New and small businesses of Garrett and Preston counties will hold an event on Saturday, Nov. 4, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. at the Pleasant Valley Community Center.

Door prizes wwill be given and samples will be available. Persons with questions may call Kathleen S. Harman at 301-334-1136.

Items include Avon, Pampered Chef, Longaberger Baskets, wood products, and health and wellness/environmentally safe products.

"Garrett and Preston counties have very creative people scattered all around the area," said Harman. "Now you can meet many of them and learn about their varied talents and the small businesses they run. Perhaps a new business opportunity might catch your fancy."

Read, then recycle.

Support Group To Discuss "Cancer And Nutrition"

Irmgard Koscielniak, a recently retired senior educator in family and consumer science and professor for the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, will speak at the Tuesday, Oct. 31, meeting of the Garrett County Cancer Support Group. The event will be held at the Garrett County Health Department, Memorial Drive, Oakland.

Koscielniak holds a master's degree from Hood College in home economics and community services. She has also attended seminars in gerontology and in nutrition and health-related aspects. Her topic will be "Cancer and Nutrition: How Far Have We Come in 25 Years."

"Advances in medicine have been tremendous," she said. "Knowledge and understanding of nutrition also have greatly advanced. We have food quantities unheard of in our history. However, the composition of manufactured foods brings ingredients to us that our bodies do not recognize and have a difficult time working with. Since the enterprise of manufacturing foods is profit driven, we have to know what to eat and why to stay healthy."

She will present a chart showing how food consumption has changed in the last 25 years for the support group members to discuss.

A cancer survivor herself, Koscielniak will share some of the things she does or has avoided that help her.

"I have developed a lifestyle where I do not have to worry about gaining or losing weight and have learned to manage stress," she said.

Anyone interested in this topic is welcome to attend. The group meets the last Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m. at the Health Department.

For questions, persons may call Mona Schultz, 301-334-5274, or Caroline Lake, 301-387-7231.

Yough Glades Elem. To Host Fall Carnival

Yough Glades Elementary School will host a fall carnival on Friday, Oct. 27, from 6 until 8 p.m. Everyone is invited to attend, and all children must be accompanied by an adult.

"Wear your costume, come hungry, and bring your friends," said a school spokesperson. There will be games, a haunted house, and food.
